KODIAK KUT-UPS

Another Front In Tax Fuss

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The cigarette tax emerged today as the next battleground for legislators attempting to balance the state's red-ink budget with a "mini-package" featuring income tax withholding.

A Democratic-sponsored proposal supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan which would impose withholding starting Jan. 1 was approved Tuesday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

"We're going to be banging the income taxpayer with a one-two punch," remarked one committee member, Sen. John W. Holmdahl, D-Oakland, referring to the initial double tax that withholding would cause.

The bill was sent on a voice vote to the Senate Finance Committee, where chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, promptly announced he will try to amend it with a cigarette tax increase.

The author, Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, said he was opposed to a cigarette tax hike because "not everybody would pay it. It's unfair to finance the state by taxing just that segment of the public which smokes."

But Collier, an ardent nonsmoker who has banned smoking from his committee room, said cigarette and other "sin taxes" should be increased to assure that the legislature won't have to raise taxes again next year.

BOOST TAXES

Stiern's bill would boost taxes by an estimated $343 million for the remainder of this fiscal year, just barely enough to plug a revenue gap in the $6.8 billion state budget. But it would fall roughly $110 million short of balancing the following year's budget and even more than that during the 1973-74 fiscal year.

"I'm not going to vote for a tax increase to cover a deficit expected three years from now," insisted Holmdahl, who presided over the meeting. "If the recession gets worse we're going to need more money anyway. If it gets better, we won't need as much."

The Revenue and Taxation Committee, chaired by Stiern, declined to approve a rival "mini-package" by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, which would have balanced budgets for the foreseeable future and increased cigarette taxes by 3 cents a pack.

Bagley estimated by raising the cigarette tax from 10 to 13 cents a pack the state could pull in another $57 million annually.

REAGAN VIEWS

Reagan aides said the governor would support a cigarette tax increase, but also probably would sign the Stiern bill without it. The main thing, they emphasized, was to enact withholding and level out the state's erratic cash flow situation.

How to implement the federal pay-as-you-go system without overburdening citizens with initial double taxation dominated the committee's debate.

The double tax would occur because citizens would be having their taxes withheld for current income starting next January and still face a lump sum tax payment in April for their previous year's wages. Thus, without a tax "forgiveness," they would pay two year's taxes in one 12-month period.

The committee amended the Stiern Bill to provide a 30 per cent credit on taxes owed for 1970 income.

EX-AIDE TO REINECKE CHARGES TILL TAPPING

Says Former Boss Using State Funds For Governor's Bidding

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The former top aide of Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke today accused him of spending hundreds of thousands of taxpayer dollars to campaign for governor and of conducting an "undercover" conspiracy against Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The charges by Hal Steward, No. 1 assistant to the lieutenant governor, were contained in a letter released today to newsmen and sent Reinecke yesterday.

Steward said he wanted to explain why he "resigned" his $20,000-a-year post as special executive assistant. Other top aides privately said he was fired.

Reinecke said Steward, on the job only seven weeks, left by "mutual consent." The shakeup followed a dispute over release of a prepared speech text in which Reinecke criticized state employe efficiency and salary increases.

Reinecke and other top aides were not immediately available for comment on Steward's letter.

Steward told Reinecke he "resigned" because:

"The use by you and members of your staff of hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxpayers' money solely to conduct a campaign for your election to governor in 1974."

"Your refusal, despite repeated recommendations and urging by me to attempt to identify with or consider the ethnic problems and aspirations of members of California's minority groups."

"The blatant cynicism practiced by you and the senior members of your staff in regard to public issues where your and their only motivation was whether your position on the issues would help get you elected governor rather than an interest in the concern and needs of the citizens of California."

"Your refusal, despite my repeated urgings, to do your homework and keep yourself prepared on the vital issues . . . "

Rehnquist Gains An Ally

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., charged today that William H. Rehnquist had been "badly persecuted" by some witnesses seeking to kill his appointment to the Supreme Court.

Eastland, who had said little previously during hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which he heads, on the nominations of Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell to the Supreme Court, spoke out and said he intended to rectify some of the "falsehoods" which have surfaced.

Eastland called Rehnquist, who is being opposed by organized labor and civil rights groups, "an honorable man."

"He is an outstanding lawyer and he will become an outstanding justice," said Eastland. He also said "I think he is a badly persecuted man, persecuted by those opposed to him."

The committee chairman said he would enter into the panel's records later today statements to rebut what he described as falsehoods uttered against Rehnquist.

Eastland made clear that he was not referring to testimony of an AFL-CIO spokesman, Andrew Biemiller, who was testifying at that point, but to the strong opposition in charges made Tuesday by representatives of civil rights groups.

Eastland did not indicate what "falsehoods" he referred to but both Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP and Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., legal counsel for the National Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, charged that Rehnquist up to 1968 went out of his way to keep blacks and poor people from voting in two Phoenix election precincts.

Biemiller, joining the Leadership Conference, the NAACP and the Americans for Democratic Action in opposing Rehnquist, called Rehnquist a right wing zealot and urged his rejection by the Senate.

Like the other groups that have forcefully opposed Rehnquist, Beimiller's position paper for organized labor took no position on Powell's nomination.

"We do so because Rehnquist's public record demonstrates him to be a right wing zealot whose sole distinctions in public life are that he was the only major person of stature who opposed the Arizona civil rights bill in 1964 and that he has been one of the prime theoreticians of and an apologist for this administration's root and branch assault on the constitutional system of checks and balances," Biemiller said in his prepared statement.

The only reason Rehnquist's name was submitted for the Supreme Court, Biemiller said, was because he had demonstrated his "complete fealty" to Nixon administration programs.

Anne Ellinwood To Seek Wornum's Spot On Board

With the June election still seven months away, Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood yesterday announced her candidacy for the Marin County Board of Supervisors Third District seat now held by Michael Wornum of Mill Valley.

Miss Ellinwood, rumored to be contemplating running for supervisor for some months, previously had announced she would not seek reelection in April to a third term on the Tiburon council.

She said she had become increasingly concerned about what she termed "leadership lag" on the present board and added:

"The times require a recognition by elected leaders of what the accelerated rate of change is doing to our society. We need leaders who will lead in meeting that change."

Miss Ellinwood, 52, of 1810 Mountain View Drive, served on the original Tiburon City Council from 1964 to 1966 and was elected to her present term in 1968. She is chairman of the City-County Planning Council and a member of the Board of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

ANNE L. ELLINWOOD
Seeks supervisor job

She said Wornum's "decision-making pattern has been one on equivocation and accomodation. This is not what the people of the third district have come to expect from their supervisor. 'Followship' has replaced leadership."

She said she is "disappointed the incumbent has dropped the baton. As an architect and planner we looked for continued imaginative leadership from him in fighting the conservation-environment battles." That leadership failed to materialize, she said.

Miss Ellinwood was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with an economics degree. She has lived in Tiburon since 1954.

INCIDENT AT ORLY

Red China's Paris 'Capitulation'

PARIS (UPI) —Communist China's delegation to the United Nations arrived today on its way to New York—and lost its first diplomatic confrontation.

The confrontation was over use of the VIP lounge at Orly airfield. Shortly before the delegation, led by deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua, flew in from Shanghai and Cairo, Chinese embassy officials sought to take over the entire three-room suite at the airfield.

They were turned down. Mrs. Ne Win, wife of the prime minister of Burma, was due in from Rangoon about the same time for a shopping trip to the French capital and had reserved one of the rooms long in advance.

Burmese officials supported by Orly airport authorities refused to give it up to the Chinese—although China is a neighbor of Burma. The Chinese capitulated and when the 44-member Chinese delegation arrived, wearing Mao suits, they squeezed into the remaining two rooms of the suite.

On hand to greet them was Huang Hua, former Chinese ambassador to Canada, who flew in 2 1-2 hours earlier from Montreal so the entire delegation could arrive together in New York Thursday.

The Chinese arrived amid heavy security that recalled the measures taken to protect Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev when he visited France last month.

Heavy details of riot police surrounded the VIP lounge and cordoned the area from newsmen. Other armed police lined the highway from the airport when the Chinese, in a motorcade led by four embassy Mercedes limousines, sped into downtown Paris.

The Chinese officials made no statements, unlike their stopover in Cairo earlier today when, according to Egypt's Middle East News Agency, they told Cairo officials they will back the Arab side against Israel in the United Nations.

In Cairo, they were greeted by Mohammed Riad, director of the prime minister's office, who told them Egypt felt "pleasure and relief" for China's admission to the United Nations.

Supervisors Say Townhouse Plan Too Big For Upper Lcas Valley

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday rejected as controversial, a townhouse proposal from Kaiser Aetna Co. of Oakland and ordered it scaled down. (Other supervisors stories, page 7.)

The proposal, which called for construction of 145 townhouse units on 18 acres in Marinwood, was returned to the county planning commission for modification to 108 units.

The action culminated a three-hour hearing and was applauded by some 80 Marinwood residents who complained that a higher-density development would adversely affect their community.

Last month, many of the same residents urged the planning commission to limit the size of the development but were only successful in getting the commission to reduce the number of units by nine.

Kaiser Aetna attorney Albert Bianchi of San Rafael told the board yesterday it had to consider "the greater good" the project offered in providing badly needed moderate-income family housing.

In urging the development be approved for 145 units, Bianchi said the homes would range from $27,000 to $33,000 with 70 per cent in the lower price range. Buildings would be clustered, with one-story townhouses mixed with two-story structures.

He added that Kaiser Aetna also would agree to 21 units to be administered by a nonprofit organization and made available to low and moderate income families.

However, he ran into stiff

Salfen Quits In Wake Of Squabbles

Cotati City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen has resigned after months of disagreement with the city council.

Salfen said today he submitted letters to each of the councilmen making his resignation effective on Jan. 31, 1972. He had been city manager since July 1970 after having been assistant city manager at Milpitas.

Disagreements between Salfen and the council have grown in recent months with several closed sessions held to discuss charges of unfair dealings with other city employees and enforcement of city policies.

The council also has held sessions in an attempt to iron out a reported rift between Salfen and police chief Tony Locarini on what authority a city manager has over the operation of the police department.

The council will meet in a special closed session at 7:30 p.m. today to consider Salfen's resignation and has scheduled action to follow in open session.

Tax-Forms Job Awarded Oregon

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—State tax forms which about 3 million Californians will use to report their 1971 incomes will be printed in Oregon.

The California State Printing Plant, which has cut back its work force during the past few years, says it is unable to handle the entire job of printing 8 million state tax forms for 1971.

So, part of the job will be undertaken by the Daily Journal of Commerce in Portland, Ore. a spokesman for the State General Services Department said.

Another Sausalito Schools Aide Quits, Criticizes Board Actions

Sausalito School District trustee Robert A. Thompson resigned from the board yesterday, saying he's "lost effective contact with some of the board members" and his activities therefore were becoming "counterproductive."

"I just ran out of steam, so I decided it was time to move on," said the 40-year-old San Francisco attorney, elected in September 1970. His resignation was contained in a handwritten letter given to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg early yesterday at the close of Monday's board meeting.

The surprised resignation was the second in slightly more than a month. Nathaniel Johnson, the final member of the board which integrated the district in 1965 and generally considered the board's lone liberal, quit Oct. 6, citing personal reasons.

Thompson, one of the most outspoken members of the board's conservative majority, said he thought the board "was beginning to indulge in endless and repetitive confrontations, interminable and indecisive dialogue and we appeared to have lost the ability to come to grips with the problems, make a decision and move on."

ROBERT A. THOMPSON
'Ran out of steam'

Thompson and Robert R. Lyon came to office in a special election in September 1970 to replace C. Gerald Clear and James E. Muldoon, who resigned following the recall of two other trustees, David E. Freedheim and Martha Freebairn-Smith. Board president Delta Christ and Jerry L. Whitcomb were elected to replace the ousted trustees.

The elections of Mrs. Christ, Thompson and Lyon were considered victories for the more conservative factions in the school district. Lyon since has resigned to be replaced by Warren Hansen, also considered a conservative.

Thompson blamed the schism between himself and other trustees on "the apparently irresistible urge of most board members to be somehow loved by everybody while doing a particularly thankless job. Thus they were spending an extraordinary amount of time addressing themselves not to the imme-

Span Collapses; 12 Feared Dead

COBLENZ, Germany (UPI)—Part of a new bridge being built over the River Rhine collapsed into the river today blocking traffic along Europe's biggest waterway.

Police said at least 12 workers were feared killed and 18 injured when the collapse plunged them about 56 feet into the river among the falling masonry.

Unofficial reports circulating at the scene of the disaster in Coblenz said the death toll might be as high as 20.

Most of the victims were foreign construction laborers, mainly Turks and Yugoslavs.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Media Takeover

LIMA (UPI) — The government announced officially today it is taking over radio and television stations, a move it said was necessary for reasons of "security and for mass education."

The new law passed by the military government was published in the official government newspaper El Peruano today. It said the government would take over at least 51 per cent of the shares in the 17 private television stations and at least 25 per cent of the 209 radio stations.

There were indications in the new law that some private radio stations would be allowed to continue functioning. However, all radio stations must broadcast at least one hour of educational programs daily.

Okinawa Violence

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Rioting students beat an Okinawan policeman to death today during a general strike by 100,000 Okinawan workers protesting plans to maintain U.S. military bases on the occupied island after it reverts to Japan.

The death came when 12,000 demonstrators were marching towards the headquarters of the U.S. civil administration which governs Okinawa, the only Japanese territory still occupied by U.S. troops from World War II.

Troops Angered

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops, angered by the death of 36 of their comrades this year, carried out widespread searches today for suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists they blame for the killings.

The raids, carried out by nearly 1,000 troops in Roman Catholic areas of Belfast and the countryside, were the second in two days.

Two teen-age girls accused of dating British soldiers reported today they had been assaulted by crowds yelling "soldier lover" and that their heads were shorn. One was tied to a post by three masked women, shorn and tarred and feathered to the encouragement of a crowd in a Roman Catholic area of Belfast. The other was threatened with death.

An Ailing Jersey Joe Sworn In

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Famed ex-heavyweight boxing champion Jersey Joe Walcott was released temporarily from a local hospital Tuesday to be sworn into office as New Jersey's first black sheriff.

Walcott

The 57-year-old Walcott, whose real name is Arnold Cream, took the oath of office on the steps of the Camden County Courthouse in 30-degree weather. He returned almost immediately to Cooper Hospital where he has been recovering from what his doctors say is exhaustion resulting from his campaign.

The ex-champ's son, the Rev. Vincent Cream, pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church in nearby Woodbury, delivered the invocation and held the Bible.

Court Denies Citizenship Plea

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The next stop for Thomas G. Jolley, 27, a man without a country, likely will be Canada. How long he can remain there is a question.

Jolley

Jolley was left in his position by the Supreme Court, which yesterday denied his appeal to be allowed to stay in the United States.

A native of Greensboro, N.C., and currently a courthouse reporter for the Tallahassee Democrat, Jolley left the United States and went to Canada in 1967.

When his Selective Service Board refused to reclassify him a conscientious objector and instead made him 1A, he formally renounced his U.S. citizenship.

But he later returned to the U.S. and was charged with illegal entry. He is fighting deportation, claiming he renounced his citizenship under the duress of his desire to avoid breaking U.S. draft laws.

Funds Defeated

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — For the seventh time in two years, voters yesterday rejected a tax hike to finance schools. The schools in this Kansas City suburb, home of former President Harry S. Truman, stayed closed today for the 12th straight day.

The school board closed the system to the city's 17,000 students after classes Oct. 29 and has not opened them since, saying there was not enough money in the budget to pay faculty salaries.

The 95-cent tax increase, which needed a two-thirds majority to go into effect, was soundly defeated yesterday, 9,107 against the measure to 8,846 in favor. It was the worst defeat in the seven elections going back two years.

A Smog Alarm

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Air-Quality Committee of the Environmental Quality Study Council yesterday asked the governor to require all motor vehicles operating in the Los Angeles Basin be converted to use natural gas or propane within five years.

The council, created by Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature to recommend environmental action, said the state's Emergency Services Act gives the governor power to make such a demand.

Under the act, the governor could require conversion of all motor vehicles by declaring a state of emergency, which could be called if "conditions of disaster or of extreme peril to the safety of persons and property within the state are caused by such conditions as air pollution."

Rare-Book Sale Report Denied

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Reports that the Reagan Administration recommended the University of California's libraries sell some of their rare books have been denied by state Finance Director Verne Orr.

Orr, commenting on the widely published reports, said Tuesday the book-selling idea was one of a series of "comments" sent to UC officials by Finance Department auditors who reviewed the university's operations.

But, he said, "these are not recommendations. These are comments that our audits division sent over for reply by the university in rough-draft form."

Cong Hit Cambodia Airport

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas carried out coordinated attacks today against Pochentong International Airport and a nearby radio transmitter and blew up a major bridge north of Phom Penh.

The attacks killed 30 persons, including seven children and five women, and injured 20 others. The destruction of the bridge cut all roads north, northeast and northwest out of Phnom Penh.

It was the heaviest attack against Pochentong, Cambodia's only international airport, since January. The barrage of morta and six-foot-long 122mm rockets destroyed two of Cambodia's six UH1 Huey helicopters, two L19 observation planes and a C47 gunship. Two other helicopters were damaged.

A YEAR AGO

The Viet Cong in its attack nearly a year ago wiped out 75 per cent of Cambodia's small air force.

The heaviest loss of life was at the radio transmitter, which was not damaged.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said "damage to equipment is practically none but the toll in personnel is terrible."

The director of the station and his wife were killed as they fled a hail of Communist B40 rockets only to find their bunkers filled with rainwater, soldiers said. Seven children were killed when the Viet Cong tossed a grenade into another bunker.

NEWSMEN BARRED

Newsmen were barred from the military side of the airport where most of the damage was caused by a barrage of 50 122mm rockets. The Cambodians called in two C47 Spooky gunships from South Vietnam. They sprayed the ungle at the edge of the airport with machinegun fire until dawn.

Later the airport reopened to civilian and military air traffic.

Am Rong said the casualties at Pochentong were six killed, five of them women, and five wounded.

The Viet Cong blew up a bridge on the main road north out of Phnom Penh, killing four Cambodians, including one child.

Flag-Burner's Sentence Upheld

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the four-year prison sentence of a Dallas man convicted of burning the American flag, rejecting arguments Tuesday he was exercising his right of free speech.

"Such an act does involve a rather crude form of communicating a person's belief," the court held, but added flag-burning "is not essential to any exposition of idea."

Judge Wendell A. Odom said in the court's unanimous decision that the First Amendment to the Constitution protects certain forms of "symbolic conduct" but "a sufficiently important governmental interest can justify incidental limitations on the right of expression."

The court upheld the conviction of Garry Allen Deeds, 20, who burned a flag in a Dallas park during a demonstration April 19, 1970.

Guilty Verdict In Mass Slayings

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (UPI)—Douglas Dean, 19, was convicted Tuesday on five counts of first degree murder in the slayings of his mother and four other persons.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated a little more than an hour before returning the guilty verdict.

Dean was charged with the July 19 murders of his mother, Mrs. Hildegarde Dean, his girlfriend's mother, Mrs. Naomi Rammer, 45, and Mrs. Rammer's three sons, Thomas, 10, Paul, 11, and John, 16.

(UPI Telephoto)

Assassins Kill Ally Of Thieu's

SAIGON (UPI) — Terrorists today assassinated Nguyen Van Bong, a leading South Vietnamese politician. Bong, 42, was killed when a time bomb exploded in his automobile.

Bong generally has been a supporter of President Nguyen Van Thieu, although when the campaign for the presidency turned into a one-man race he declined to actively support Thieu on grounds the one-man election was illegal and improper.

The plastic explosive charge went off as Bong and three bodyguards were driving home for lunch, police said. The blast also killed one of his three bodyguards.

Spokesmen for the Progressive party, of which Bong was cochairman, said Bong was heavily protected because of frequent threats on his life.

It was the first slaying of a progovernment politician in South Vietnam since the firebombing death of Education Minister Le Minh Tri in early 1969.

27 Die In Bus Crash

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said today 27 people were killed when a bus collided head-on with a truck Monday on the American-built Friendship Highway near Korat in northeast Thailand.

U.S. Jets Destroy N. Viet Missile Site

SAIGON (UPI) — American jets crossed into North Vietnam and destroyed a Communist antiaircraft missile emplacement in the fourth attack north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) in as many days, the U.S. command said today.

The U.S. command said Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets reacted after the Communists fired a missile at American B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in nearby Laos.

The Thailand-based F105s struck the surface-to-air missile site three miles inside North Vietnam and 45 miles north of the DMZ near Ben Karai Pass, a major Communist infiltration route into South Vietnam.

"Reports indicated that the site was destroyed," the U.S. command said.

Military spokesmen said the F105s were on a mission to protect B52s on the mission over Laos and they got "visual and electronic confirmation" that the North Vietnamese had fired one of the 30-foot-long "flying telephone pole" missiles against the U.S. planes.

Earlier this week, U.S. planes attacked Communist gun positions at three points inside North Vietnam in what the command said were reactions to the Communists' firing at unarmed U.S. photo reconnaissance planes.

The U.S. command earlier announced that four waves of B52 bombers dropped more than 350 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troop positions in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

In neighboring Cambodia, Viet Cong commando units killed 25 persons and wounded 16 others in coordinated attacks early today against Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport, a radio transmitting station and a major bridge, which was blown up.

The attacks destroyed two of Cambodia's six UH1 Huey helicopters, damaged two others and destroyed two observation planes and a C47 gunship. The bridge blown up is 12 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Amchitka Test Aids Science

AMCHITKA, Alaska (UPI)—The five megaton nuclear test under Amchitka Island has left behind clues which may help man predict and control future earthquakes.

Seismologist E. R. Engdahl of Alaska's Palmer Observatory said Tuesday the explosion provided the "best data in the world—the best we've ever had" on earth stresses.

The data may help man determine whether earthquakes can be prevented by relieving natural earth strains, he said.

Also left after the explosion Saturday were dead birds, sea otters, seals and fish found in the area around the island. Autopsies were ordered to determine what killed them.

Another scientist, Dr. Phil Romeg of the Colorado School of Mines said, "We hope, by use of our instruments, to move toward a solution to finding a way to predict earthquakes."

DESTRUCTION

Before the explosion, environmentalists argued that the blast could cause earthquakes and tidal waves and destroy sea life.

When it was finally triggered a mile below the surface of the island Saturday, the ground shook, dust flew and trailers overhead tipped, but there was no earthquake or tidalwave. A crater formed on the island Monday when the surface soil crumbled inward.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists scouring the area have found dead birds and sea animals in offshore kelp, and were attempting to determine if they died from effects of the blast or a windstorm which battered the island Friday.

In Houston, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said, "There may have been a few injuries from the impact, however the reaction of the biological life has been very light."

'A STRAIN'

"The tests are a strain for the country," he said. "But you have to realize that if we make an investment in nuclear devices as this country has been forced to make, they have to be properly tested. Otherwise, you have no idea of the value of your investment."

Romeg said he was anxious to retrieve his "superduper yard-sticks" — quartz devices he used in an attempt to measure earth strain.

Elusive data on animal and marine migrations, inaccessible terrain and mineral deposits will be provided by the earth resources technology satellites.

Generation gap? We never heard of it.
Orson Welles and his daughter Rebecca are both performers. Different generations. But with the same love for their craft. The Beams too have a craft—the distilling of Kentucky Bourbon. And for 6 generations, sons have followed fathers with a love for that craft. The result is a proud Bourbon. Smooth, light, mellow. The world's finest since 1795.

Eight Arrested In Drugs Raids

A scion of the Levi Strauss clothing family and seven others were jailed yesterday after raids on two Marin Homes netted almost $40,000 in marijuana and cocaine.

Booked on suspicion of possessing narcotics and marijuana and marijuana for sale was Walter Jerome Haas, 21, of 76 Fair Drive, San Rafael, son of Walter A. Haas Jr., board chairman of Levi Strauss and Co.

Arrested with Haas on suspicion of the same offenses were Rebecca White Burgwin, 21, and Charles Frederick Weck, 21, of the same address; and Sereno Samuel Scranton III, 22, of Santa Barbara. All were released on $3,000 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court Friday.

Lt. James Schwedhelm, who heads the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau, gave this account of the roundup:

Narcotics agents got a call from the sheriff's office in Port Orchard, Ore. that they had picked up two people with a small amount of hashish and about $18,000. They told officers that Haas had sent them to Oregon to buy a boat.

Marin drug agents, aided by federal agents and San Rafael police called on Haas who invited them inside. They noticed some marijuana, got a search warrant and found about 10 pounds of marijuana and some cocaine and hashish. Agents said marijuana sells for as much as $175 per pound.

During the search, agents noticed Scranton trying to hide a book match under some cushions. On it was a telephone number of a Mill Valley home. Agents called the home at 65 West Blithedale Avenue, negotiated for purchase of some cocaine and paid a mass call.

Working with Mill Valley police, the agents picked up 200 pounds of marijuana and two ounces of cocaine, which sells for about $1,000 per ounce. They arrested Phillip Leroy Boardman, 25, Jonathan V. Smith, 20, and Guy Thomas Irvine, 25, all of 65 West Blithedale Avenue; and Mary Catherine Judd, 22, of no known address.

These four were held in Marin County Jail for federal authorities on suspicion of marijuana and cocaine possession.

Judge Opens Transcript On Bingham

Attorneys for the father of missing East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham may see the transcript of proceedings that led to Bingham's indictment in connection with the August violence at San Quentin Prison, Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire ruled yesterday.

But the decision was immediately appealed to the state district court of appeal in San Francisco by deputy Marin district attorney Vernon F. Smith.

Smith claimed the elder Bingham's attorneys do not represent the son who has been missing since shortly after his Aug. 21 visit to inmate George Jackson.

Young Bingham is accused of smuggling a gun to Jackson with which Jackson allegedly launched an escape attempt which ended in his death.

Stuart R. Pollak and Robert Treuhaft, attorneys for the father — former Connecticut state senator Alfred M. Bingham — want to see the transcript of the proceedings that indicted young Bingham and six San Quentin inmates on charges of murder, conspiracy and assault rising from the Aug. 21 shooting at the prison that left six dead.

McGuire previously sealed the transcript from release to the public or press. That seal was scheduled to run out Nov. 15, but the judge yesterday extended it to Dec. 10.

The seal was extended he said, because new attorneys have been appointed in the case and they want to read the transcript to see if they want portions of the testimony kept sealed.

Vista Point Ideas Sought

The state Division of Highways has asked tourist businesses and groups for plans for kiosks bearing tourist information and advertising of tourist businesses have been solicited for all rest areas in the Bay Area, and nothing has been specifically planned for Vista Point.

In a letter to Gov. Ronald Reagan, Mailliard said any building at the scenic turnoff would be "totally incompatible" with the campaign to create a Golden Gate National Recreation area covering the Marin Headlands.

Sausalito Girl, 2, Hurt In Collision

A 2-year-old Sausalito girl was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a cut forehead after a car in which she was riding rear-ended another in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police said Erinn Levin of 815 Spring Street was injured at 2:45 p.m. when a car driven by Michael P. Kircher, 20, of 100 H Lane, Novato, hit another driven by Fred Schoolman, 25, of 210 San Francisco Boulevard, at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and El Cerrito Avenue.

He said it is "impossible to attempt to win love, trust and admiration from all the citizens and still run the school district. Instead of being the leaders of public opinion, it was my impression the board wished the public to tell it what to think. I am not the willing follower."

Since the election of Thompson, Lyon and Mrs. Christ, board meetings, which often had been disrupted by angry audiences, had settled into a more routine pattern.

Thompson praised Lindberg and principals Armando Renzullo and Henry Hopkins, calling them "outstanding." In his 14 months in office, he said, racial tension in the district had diminished, board meetings are run "like business meetings" and the district "has a reading program which is the envy of many school administrators in the county."

As an example of "interminable, indecisive dialogue," Thompson cited the question of the Sausalito Art Center lease, which has been before the board since July 11 when the federal government informed Sausalito the lease was invalid.

The board should have given the center a choice between a new lease acceptable to the district and the government or eviction, Thompson said. Instead, trustees are "still unable to issue notice to this intransigent tenant."

Meeting Set On Engineering

The Marin chapter of the California Society of Professional Engineers has set a meeting for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the College of Marin to explain engineering to Marin students.

The college said the meeting will be in Room 115 of the college's new Science Center. All high school and college engineering students are invited, the college said.

Loan Will Keep Home Care Going

Financially troubled Marin Home Care nursing service has been granted a bank loan to carry it through January, its board of directors was told last night.

According to Ray K. Bolinger, first vice president of the service, Wells Fargo Bank has agreed to loan the agency about $6,000 to see it through the first of the year when federal funds are expected to reimburse the nursing agency for losses treating Medicare patients.

Bolinger said he didn't have the exact details of the loan, but said it will enable the agency to continue operation.

Last month, Executive Director Patricia Ferjanesik told the board she was doubtful the agency could meet its November payroll without outside financing.

The nonprofit agency was created in 1965 and offers home nursing care to both private and publicly supported patients who require post-hospital care.

Basically it operates on reserve funds throughout the year and is reimbursed each January by the federal government for losses incurred on Medicare patients.

This year, however, reserve funds ran out because of inflation and increased cost in operation, Mrs. Ferjanesik said.

opposition from James Winter of the Marinwood Homeowners Association who said he didn't quarrel with development of the area in general but rather the Miller Creek Townhouse project as proposed.

He said his main objection was that the project's high density two-story buildings would destroy the character of Marinwood's single-family residential neighborhoods.

He also complained that the added residents would overtax recreational and fire protection services while adding little in the way of taxes.

To emphasize community opposition to the development, he presented a petition containing 1,299 signatures against and another petition containing one signature for.

"The residents of Marinwood and Upper Lucas Valley are opposed to it," Winter said. "It's a dangerous development."

They were supported by Supervisor John F. McInnis who said the planning commission had originally approved the project based on concepts in the yet unadopted preliminary county-wide plan.

"It's my belief that Lucas Valley is a product of the finest planning that Marin County has ever done," he said of the tract home communities, adding they have kept their neighborhood atmosphere.

He added that until the preliminary county-wide plan is adopted Marinwood development should be based on the existing master plan which calls for less density on the Kaiser parcel.

McInnis said he felt Marinwood residents would not object to a 108-unit project, providing it blended in with the rest of the community and provided no serious traffic problems.

He was supported by Supervisors Arnold Baptiste and Peter R. Arrigoni, but was opposed on the motion by Supervisor Michael Wornum and chairman Louis H. Baar who didn't feel the board should set a maximum number of units before another review by the Planning Commission.

ACCUSE

ert H. Finch went to Washington with President Nixon, has announced his intention to run for governor in 1974.

Steward, a retired Army information officer and former assistant communications director for the state Department of Human Resources, charged that Reinecke knew "the personnel and resources of your tax-supported office are being used almost entirely to operate a long-term political campaign to get you elected."

He said the state Department of Commerce under director Ed Gillenwaters "is solely a political campaign headquarters. An examination of the travel expenses, correspondence and activities of Gillenwaters will support this."

He said Gillenwaters' office time and travel was "devoted entirely to political matters" and was in effect "a full-time political and campaign finance chairman for you while drawing a salary paid by taxpayers."

Steward charged that while Reagan was visiting in the Far East and Reinecke was acting governor last month members of Reinecke's staff "with your knowledge and certainly without any objection from you, attempted to launch an undercover conspiracy against Gov. Reagan, his administration and his staff."

He said that another reinecke aide, Ron Frankum, told Reinecke at a two-hour lunch "how the governor's office and the state legislature had planned to take advantage of you while you were acting governor.

"His proposal to counteract his imagined conspiracy by the governor's office and the legislature was for you and your staff to engage in a counterconspiracy. You expressed no opposition to Frankum's proposal and he attempted, fortunately unsuccessfully, to execute it during the 16 days you were acting governor."

"If Frankum had succeeded you would have both signed and vetoed legislative bills that would have run counter to what you had agreed on with Gov. Reagan in a cabinet meeting shortly before the governor departed on his trip to the Orient."

The below-the-surface friction in the lieutenant governor's office boiled to a head publicly Tuesday when it was disclosed that Steward had been severed from the office payroll.

Reagan's office defended Reinecke against Steward's unprecedented attack. "We're not aware of any conspiracy against the governor," said a Reagan spokesman. As for spending taxpayers' money to run for governor, the spokesman said "the lieutenant governor's conduct of his office is obviously entirely proper and correct."

$15,000 To Mill Valley For Land

The developer of Shelter Ridge apartments in Mill Valley agreed last night to donate $15,000 to the city in exchange for permission to declare part of the project off-limits to the public.

Tom W. Newton, director of community development, said the planning commission voted to allow Security Capital Corp. to enlarge Shelter Ridge's private recreation building and pool and build two tennis courts.

The changes will remove about one-acre of land from the public greenbelt in the development, Newton said, so commissioners said the developer must do $15,000 worth of improvements to a city-owned baseball diamond near the small craft harbor in exchange.

The diamond, off Kipling Drive at the base of Shelter Ridge, which now consists of a dirt field and backstop, will be levelled and seeded.

OBITUARIES

Grant B. Thompson Jr., 39

Grant B. Thompson Jr., a Fairfax resident and former San Anselmo police sergeant, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 39.

Thompson, who lived at 119 Olema Drive, moved to Fairfax 16 years ago after six years in the Army.

He joined the San Anselmo police shortly after his arrival, but left the force two years ago and went to work for Pacific Telephone.

He was born in Gary, Ind., and left there at 17 to join the Army.

He was a member of the George S. Ladd Pioneer Radio Club of San Francisco, the Ross Valley Camera Club, the Sierra Club, and was treasurer of the Mill Valley Church of Christ.

Surviving are his wife, Barbara A. Thompson of Fairfax; a son, Matthew A. Thompson of Fairfax; a daughter, Ruth Thompson of Fairfax; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant B. Thompson Sr. of Gary, Ind.; and a sister, Mrs. John Brown of Terre Haute, Ind.

Funeral is pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

The family asked that memorial contributions be made to the Linear Accelerator Fund of Marin General Hospital or to the Christian Studies Center Memorial Fund of his church.

CATHERINE MAGUIRE

Catherine Maguire, 81, of San Rafael, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Barrow, England, and worked as a waitress in Scotland before emigrating to the United States in 1950. She had lived in California since 1953 and moved to Marin seven years ago.

She lived at 1111 Fourth Street, San Rafael, until entering a convalescent hospital in May. She leaves no immediate relative.

Mass of the Resurrection will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, with burial at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

G. O. HANSEN

Gustave O. Hansen, 80, a retired San Jose glass blower, died yesterday at a Marin convalescent hospital after a short illness.

A native of La Salle, Ill., Hansen came to the Bay Area to work as a glass blower. He fabricated neon lighting for over 40 years in San Jose, retiring in the 1950s.

A year ago, Hansen came to San Rafael, where a son, Alfred, lives. He had been in ill health the past three months at a local convalescent home.

He was a member of Local 332, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and San Francisco Elks Lodge 3.

Besides his son, business representative for Operating Engineers Local 3, Hansen is survived by a brother, Cud Hansen of Santa Cruz; a sister, Elizabeth, a granddaughter and a great-grandson.

Funeral will be held at 11:00 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel in Novato. Inurnment will be private.

MRS. JONES

Blanche W. Jones, 83, of 50 Gregory Drive, Fairfax, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Jones, widow of Peter Colburn Jones, was born in Belton, Mo., and lived in Marin the past 18 months with a son, Edwin.

Private funeral was held yesterday, followed by inurnment and scattering of her ashes at sea.

H. H. HOEFENER

Private family services were held Monday for Herman H. Hoefener Jr. of 1862 Novato Boulevard, Novato. Hoefener, 59, died Sunday in a local hospital following a long illness.

Hoefener was a native of New Jersey but had spent most of his life as a warehouseman in Marin and Sonoma counties. For many years he worked for J. B. Rice Co. in San Rafael, then later at the company's Santa Rosa location. In recent years he had been a warehouseman at McNear Brickyard on San Pedro Point.

He is survived by a stepdaughter, Mrs. Leona Powell of San Rafael.

MRS. HEIDEMANN

Private funeral was held in San Anselmo today for Helen Heidemann of Fairfax, a 25-year resident of Marin County.

Mrs. Heidemann, widow of Henry Heidemann, a carpenter, died Saturday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 86.

Mrs. Heidemann, a native of Oslo, Norway, lived at 60 Taylor Drive.

Survivors are two sons, Donald T. Thompson of San Anselmo and Arthur M. Thompson of Ellensburg, Wash., and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Crab Catch A Disappointment

Crab season opened yesterday for Bay Area fishermen, but it was a bitter disappointment.

Rough seas severely restricted catches.

Joe Sturiale of Sturiale Bait Co. near Marinship said two boats went out from Southern Marin but only one returned with crabs — and that catch totaled 13.

He said foul offshore weather continued today and fishermen stayed in port.

In West Marin, Lloyd Williams at the Frank Alioto Fish Co. in Inverness said one of eight boats returned this morning from a two-day fish with 600 pounds of crab, at least 400 pounds below what he described as a good day's catch. The other boats, he said, didn't go out.

Frustrating Day in Court For Both Magee And Visiting Judge

San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, who has been trying "for eight long years," to get his 1963 conviction overturned, yesterday spent a day in court that was probably equally frustrating for him and the judge.

Magee has repeatedly attacked his conviction for robbery-kidnapping in Los Angeles and a retrial two years later as a "railroad" which put him into San Quentin. He has based his defense in his murder-kidnapping conspiracy case stemming from the August 1970 shoot-out on claiming he was illegally in prison at that time.

At issue yesterday were what Magee terms the "fraud transcripts" of his 1963 Los Angeles trial and 1965 retrial. He claimed he cannot proceed with his attempts to reopen the old case through a writ of habeas corpus unless he can get accurate transcripts.

Judge Leonard M. Ginsberg, visiting jurist from Tulare County sitting in Marin Superior Court, yesterday went along with Magee's discard of papers filed in the case by an attorney adviser because Magee said they were based on the "fraud transcripts."

However, when the convict wanted permission to have two "court runners" allowed to visit him at San Quentin so he could send them to Los Angeles to buy new transcripts, the judge balked.

Ginsberg said he did not understand why Magee couldn't either send by mail for the transcripts or ask one of his court-appointed attorneys to get them.

Magee replied he had "no business in having trust in lawyers" and "if you stop me from seeing my peoples," he couldn't get accurate transcripts.

Althought the judge told Magee that one of his attorneys, Ernest L. Graves, who had filed papers in the habeas corpus matter had done a "thorough and scholarly job" which could be of great benefit to him, Magee was unconvinced.

The judge then agreed to take up the matter of the "runners" on Dec. 6, when he will again try to decide whether to reopen the old case.

Frustrated, Magee first tried to dismiss the whole action and then tried to disqualify Judge Ginsberg, as he has many other judges.

The judge denied the first action and announced, "court's adjourned" in response to the second request.

Tiburon Plea On Ferries On Agenda

The joint transportation and finance-auditing committees of the Golden Gate Bridge District board will consider a City of Tiburon request for morning and afternoon ferry stops at a meeting at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the bridge toll plaza.

Also scheduled for discussion are fares and budget for the district's bus operation.

Library Design Firms Selected

Trustees of the San Rafael Library in closed session Monday night chose two architectural firms to recommend to the city council, asking that it choose one to design expansion of the city library.

The library board had interviewed representatives of 30 architectural firms during the last three months.

In its regular session, the board voted to inaugurate a Friends of the Library organization with an open house at the library during Christmas holiday week.

GOP Chorus Urges Nixon To Run Again

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Nixon looked and sounded like a candidate but did not give the official word last night when his supporters from coast to coast, led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, raised a chorus urging him actively to seek a second term.

In a jet age swing, Nixon appeared at $500-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinners in New York and Chicago, sweetening the party coffers by nearly $5 million. Nixon's appearances were linked by closed circuit television to 18 other Republican dinners across the country.

In San Francisco, about 350 prominent Northern California Republicans put out $500 a plate at a dinner.

The dinner included Martha Mitchell, wife of Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Presidential Aide Peter Flannigan, and Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill.

She called the president "such a marvelous man" and predicted California "is going right ahead with the president in 1972 as it did in 1968 and 1960."

Outside the St. Francis Hotel banquet, four protesters garbed in black hoods and capes, their faces in white greasepaint, maintained a silent vigil against American involvement in Vietnam.

Nixon's trip to Chicago, regarded by many as the launching pad of his 1972 candidacy, was not without stormy sidelights.

An estimated 2,500 persons opposed to the Vietnam War and Illinois welfare cuts massed in front of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, scene of the riots of the 1968 Democratic National Convention, hours before the president's arrival.

They threw bottles and there were three arrests, but by the time the president slipped in a side door of the hotel, the number of protesters waiting in the chilly night had dwindled to 50.

Union demonstrators were on hand outside the New York Hotel where Nixon spoke.

Agnew sounded the keynote when he told some 1,800 Republican faithful at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel, "let tonight be the moment we launch a united effort to urge a great president to seek reelection."

It was worthy of a nominating convention. But Nixon played it cool.

Taking his turn at the Chicago podium, Nixon heaped praise instead on the vice president in terms that appeared designed to dispel talk of a "dump Agnew" move.

"May I say tonight that I know that all of you will agree with me that this country is fortunate in having as its vice president a man who is loyal, a man who is courageous, and a man who is competent in handling his duties at home and abroad."

Illegal Abortion Kits Bring Fine

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Abortion crusaders Patricia Maginnis and Rowena Gurner have been fined and placed on probation for distributing "do it yourself" information kits.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley fined the women $500 each and placed them on one year probation. He upheld immediate imposition of the penalties to give defense attorneys time to appeal.

The two women three years ago were convicted of the same charges —illegally distributing abortion kits and "do it yourself" information —but the verdict was overturned on appeal.

CLEARING MILL VALLEY HAZARD

High over Miller Avenue and east Mill Valley, a bulldozer begins the job of clearing tons of dirt and rock that caved in more than two years ago, creating a major headache for the city. The Miller Avenue landslide occurred on Feb. 11, 1969, blocking part of the street, and Mill Valley has been trying since then to get the mess cleared up. Cleanup work started yesterday when this bulldozer moved on the scene to push dirt down the hill to a waiting truck loader. The job began five days after a Marin Superior Court judge gave the city the right to cross private property to gain access to the slide.

County Plan Board Aide Quits Post

Marin County Planning Commissioner Edward Hageman of Sleepy Hollow has resigned because of poor health and business pressures.

Hageman, a 55-year-old building designer, was named to the commission in June 1970 to fill the unexpired term of Michael R. Praszker.

He was reappointed earlier this year to another two-year term.

Additions To Middle School Are Approved

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved plans and called for bids for additions and remodeling Santa Venetia Middle School in order that about 300 additional students may attend next year.

The new students will be bused from San Pedro and Glenwood school areas, making a total of about 700 pupils in the middle school, which includes sixth, seventh and eight grades. (Davidson School will also go on a sixth, seventh and eighth grade schedule next year. It currently serves only seventh and eighth grade pupils.)

Architect Chester Bowles last night showed the board plans for the school additions, which include three new classrooms, two locker rooms and a gym platform as well as remodeling of about 5,000 square feet of existing building.

The entire project is estimated to cost about $130,000. Board president Paul L. Jones asked Bowles about the possibilities of frequent glass breakage in the school which will have many large windows.

Bowles replied that "you can't build a fence someone can't climb over" and school officials said there has been little breakage at the present school.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

BOOK — Learned that the controversial book, "Movement Toward a New America," used in a San Rafael High School class, will soon be referred to a committee for study and a report will probably be given at a board meeting in December.

SALARIES — Agreed that teacher salary increases of at least most of the approved 5.75 per cent will be given under Phase II of the Wage and Salary Freeze.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Kathleen Stapp, an instructional aide at Davidson School, who plans to accept another position.

HIRED — Approved hiring of Bette Conrad as a matron in the high school district at $3.11 an hour; David Gibbons, substitute bus driver, $3.11 an hour; Jeri Hutchison, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour; Isabel McPherson, bus driver, $3.11 an hour; Kathleen Stapp, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour, and Anne Tillotson, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour.

Hongisto Police Pension Lawsuit Was Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Sheriff-elect Richard D. Hongisto has scrapped a lawsuit seeking a $553 monthly police pension, court records showed Tuesday.

The suit was dropped five weeks before he was elected to succeed longtime Sheriff Matthew Carberry.

The 35-year-old criminologist filed the suit in Superior Court against the San Francisco Retirement Board on July 2, less than a year after the panel denied his request for a disability pension.

Hongisto said he suffered back injuries on the job while a San Francisco patrolman in 1962, 1968 and 1970.

Health Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress has passed and sent to President Nixon legislation to establish a three-year $3.7 billion program of federal grants and loans to train more doctors, nurses and other health personnel.

Petaluman's Hearing Set

Preliminary hearing for Mark D. Souza, 32, of Petaluma, accused of assault with intent to commit murder, has been set for tomorrow in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set the hearing after receiving a report from Sonoma County Superior Court that Souza had been adjudged sane as a result of psychiatric examinations.

San Rafael High Teacher Calls Campus Patrol Duty Too Much

A San Rafael High School teacher, who said "this district has not come to grips with integration," last night asked that a policy of assigning teachers to patrol the campus be abolished.

Instead, said Angelo Duvos, representing the American Federation of Teachers, the school should hire additional personnel to police the campus if this is necessary to prevent disturbances.

Duvos said teachers at other Marin high schools and in San Francisco are not required to give up conference periods to patrol the campus and he did not think San Rafael High teachers should be required to do so either.

Although a recent policy of having women teachers supervise girls' restrooms in order to prevent petty extortions has ended, Duvos said the board should be prepared to hire more than teacher aides to solve problems created by modular scheduling.

The school's principal, Dr. Peter Palches, defended patrolling by teachers, saying the "potty patrol" has now been replaced by teachers on a "ready reserve basis" who are standby for trouble.

He said disorderly conduct has decreased under regular supervision and that spending one hour a week on such patrol can be advantageous to teachers.

Palches called the matter a "standing problem" because of modular scheduling which allows students free time during the school day. He said no other Marin high school has such scheduling.

Trustee Herman L. Childress also cautioned Duvos that adding two "matrons" to the high school staff might mean increasing teacher loads and that pending legislation may cause larger classes and "fewer frills."

Interviews Tonight For Water Seat

Applicants for a vacant seat on the Marin Municipal Water District board will be interviewed by the board at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the district office.

The seat is that of Ray W. Foreaker Jr. who resigned when he was named Marin County public works director.

Eleven persons filed for the seat. Calvin B. Colt of San Rafael, a research project director for the East-West Institute Inc. in Oakland, was the final applicant to file before last Friday's deadline.

Following tonight's interviews, the district board is expected to make the appointment at its regular meeting Nov. 24.

McGovern Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., has announced that Richard S. Dougherty Jr., New York bureau chief for the Los Angeles Times, will join McGovern's presidential campaign staff as a press aide.

Controversial Book Will Be Discussion Topic

"The Movement Toward a New America," a controversial book to be used at San Rafael High School, will be discussed on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Panelists will be Virginia Franklin, San Rafael High School social science teacher who plans to use parts of the book in class; Lothar Salin, who has reviewed the book and has a daughter in Mrs. Franklin's class; and James W. Kirchanski, president of 3 R School and Jameson Hall High School in San Rafael. A fourth panelist will be announced.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday. Listeners may telephone questions during the live broadcast tomorrow.

37th Transplant At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Richard W. Mueller, 38, a New Berlin, Wis., printer has become Stanford University Medical Center's 37th heart transplant recipient.

Mueller, an assistant foreman for the Journal Publishing Co., Milwaukee, was in satisfactory condition today. He received his new heart in an operation Monday after waiting several days for a donor to become available.

Fifteen of Stanford's transplant recipients, including Mueller, still are alive, including one man who was operated on more than three years ago.

Smallman Sentences 10 Drivers

Ten persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Sentenced Nov. 4 by Judge Robert A. Smallman were:

Paul K. Clark, 63, of San Francisco, arrested Sept. 12 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $250.

Jerald Ashley Jr., 28, of 255 Canal Street, Apt. 24, San Rafael, arrested June 13 in San Rafael, placed on probation for a year and fined $200.

Emma Lee Robbins, 43, of 1287 Parkwood Drive, Novato, arrested April 3 on South Novato Boulevard, placed on probation for a year and fined $182.

Peter Mural Cosey, 42, of San Francisco, arrested Oct. 29 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $302.

Kenneth Wayne Johnson, 31, of 71 Central Avenue, Sausalito, arrested Aug. 27 in Sausalito, placed on probation for a year and fined $302.

Reginald Wahrgren Shugru, 42, of 261 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, arrested Aug. 17 in San Anselmo, placed on probation for a year and fined $175.

Thomas Eaman Montgomery, 39, of San Francisco, arrested July 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

'72 County Fair Dates Are Set

Marin County supervisors yesterday set Aug. 31 through Sept. 4 for the 1972 Marin County Fair at Civic Center.

The dates were approved without protest from operators of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, who last week suggested different dates be set to avoid conflict with their production scheduled to begin the same weekend.

Marcelle B. McCoy told the board the Labor Day weekend appeared to be the best possible time to attract fair-goers since many would spend the holiday at home as school starts that week.

Also, she said, it would allow time to prepare the fair site properly and would give home gardeners more of the gardening season to grow exhibits.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

LAND SWAP — Approved trading a parcel of county land at the rear of 911 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard for a strip in front needed for widening the street in front of the College of Marin. Owner of the property is John DeVries of Kentfield.

SEASHORE — Received a letter from the National Park Service expressing its interest in a transportation study at the Point Reyes National Seashore. The letter also indicated favor to expanding the area to be designated for wilderness.

CABLE TV — Declared a forfeiture of Storer Cable TV's license to install cable television to West Marin since the company reported no way of installing a profitable system in the lightly-populated area. It was also reported that the area possibly receives better reception with "rabbit-ear" antennas than with cable.

SANDBAGS — Authorized the purchase of 2,000 sandbags for use by county residents threatened with flooding during the winter rainy season.

FIRE RATING — Authorized the purchase of about $2,000 worth of fire hose and nozzles for fire equipment in the Santa Venetia and Point Reyes Station areas so as to reduce their fire insurance rating from nine to eight.

WEED CONTROL — Awarded contract totaling $8,802 to six bidders for weed control chemicals.

PINE TREES — Agreed to pay the contractor of the Stafford Lake Park project an additional $170 to save 19 pine trees located on the construction site.

WATER CHILLER — Awa.ded a $34,000 contract to Aladdin Heating Corp. for a second "water chiller" for the Marin Veterans Memorial Building air conditioner.

LAND PURCHASE — Approved a contract with the Marin County Redevelopment Agency for purchase of about four acres of Marin City land as a fire station site.

CREEK PROJECT — Approved an agreement with the Ross Valley Sanitary District to continue its sewer line installation along Phase 4 of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

EDITORIAL — Heard a report from County Administrator John F. Barrows that Friday's Independent-Journal editorial on crowded jail conditions erred in saying the jail was not constructed to hold sentenced prisoners. Barrows said it was, but that the prisoner population has simply increased over expectations. (Ed. Note: It was not the editorial which made that assertion, but Sheriff's Lt. Newell D. Snyder who did so.)

Clinic To Stop Smoking Is Set

A free five-day clinic to help persons stop smoking will start at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Novato General Hospital dining room.

The clinic will continue four successive nights, sponsored by the Novato Seventh-day Adventist Church and Novato General Hospital.

Dr. Ralph J. Weseman, Novato doctor, will describe the physiological aspects of nicotine addiction and the practices necessary to break the habit.

Mauritz Peterson, pastor of the Novato Seventh-day Adventist Church and an ex-smoker, will discuss stabilizing features that reduce the psychological trauma in breaking the habit.

Youth Dies From Mauling By Tiger

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—A 12-year-old boy died in a Bombay hospital Tuesday night after being mauled by a circus tiger that leaped into the audience following a performance, authorities reported.

They said the boy, Hiren Mehra, died several hours after being admitted to the hospital. The circus ringmasters and an attendant who got the tiger back into its cage also required hospital treatment.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1:31 p.m., Novato — Burned pot of beans on stove at home of S/Sgt. Raymond Crockett at 687 Morgan Drive, Rafael Village; both Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base fire departments responded.

2:50 p.m., Petaluma — Fire caused extensive damage to garage and contents at the home of Rodney L. Cameron, 1537 Lauren Drive; cause under investigation; no estimate of damage available.

3:02 p.m., Mill Valley — Grass fire at 172 Tamalpais Avenue burnt area 200 by 60 feet; fire deliberately set; no damage.

3:35 p.m., Santa Venetia — Roof fire responed to at 605 Galerita Way; fire caused by sparks did $20 damage to roof.

9:01 p.m., San Rafael — Box alarm sounded at Belle Avenue and Rafael Drive; no fire found.

TODAY:

8:21 a.m., San Rafael — High voltage transformer fire opposite San Rafael High School; cause unknown; no estimate of damage.

Ironworkers To Train Blacks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Ironworkers' Union, in an unprecedented court agreement, will active seek, hire and train blacks in California.

The five-year agreement was approved Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Stanley Weigel in a civil rights action filed in May by the civil rights section of the Justice Department.

The International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers—with help from contractors and the steel companies—will train 170 Negroes a year.

Cats No Longer Mice Catchers

WARRINGTON, England (UPI)—Luxury meals from a can have reduced the average cat from a hungry mouse catcher to a lazy snoozer, according to public health inspector Norman Buckley.

In his annual report, Buckley said Monday that the town's mice infestation has risen 33 per cent—and much of the blame is due the family cat who is a pampered, overfed layabout.

Supervisors' Flap Over Student Paper Dies; A Cordial Session

The county youth commission's controversial newspaper "Free Youth" gained unexpected support yesterday from the Marin County Board of Supervisors which last week called the paper "repugnant and objectionable." (Another supervisors' story, page 1)

But controversy didn't materialize as supervisors told anecdotes, joked about their age and wished the commission "good luck" with its dabblings in journalism..

Last week, all but Supervisor Michael Wornum expressed disenchantment with the newspaper's first issue which was financed with $65 of youth commission funds.

Of particular concern was the paper's "statement of purpose" which proclaimed: "— most kids really get screwed over if they get pregnant, ripped-off, bored, strung out on drugs. . ."

"I will not have it go out on county masthead on county time," Supervisor John F. McInnis vowed last week as the others agreed.

But tensions died yesterday as young Paul Cohen, chairman of the youth commission, explained that while some phrases have one meaning to adults they have a completely different meaning to teen-agers.

"Most of the language used is colloquial," he said adding that "screwed over" doesn't have the sexual connotation to him that it apparently has to some adults. Rather, he said, it means "being messed up."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni agreed and received prolonged applause when he commented that "what is obscene to my 75-year-old grandmother may not be obscene to me and what is obscene to me may not be to you."

He added that the matter probably wouldn't have come up if the board had been given, as it was recently, a redrafted "statement of purpose" which pointedly omits any "colloquial phrases." Other supervisors agreed.

Supervisor Arnold Baptiste said he supported the concept of the paper but warned against it "becoming the tool of any special interest group."

Baptiste, 35, said he would be watching the paper and warned against articles using obscenities, or advocating the breakdown of the family or the overthrow of the government.

"After Arnold's views from a 35-year-old I wonder if a 58-year-old should even say hello," said McInnis, who went on to say county funds shouldn't be used permanently to finance the paper.

He was assured by Cohen that the commission was only trying to get it off the ground.

'Draft Mills' Drive Opens In Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backers of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills D-Ark., have launched their drive for a national Draft Mills for President campaign by opening a Washington office.

Conforming to style, Mills, officially a noncandidate, did not show up at Tuesday night's opening attended by several dozen House members, including Speaker Carl Albert and the entire House Democratic leadership.

GOODS FROM RED CHINA

Bid On Park Play Area Rejected

The Novato City Council last night rejected the only bid for construction of the play area in Pioneer Memorial Park and then authorized the city staff to negotiate with that bidder for a lower contract.

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael with a bid of $19,150 was the only bidder. Previously, the city received no bid.

Clifford E. Temps, public works director, said that the city had only $14,000 to spend on the project. He said that the city crews could work with Ghilotti Brothers on grading and drainage and save approximately $5,000 on the contract. The council authorized Temps to negotiate with Ghilotti Brothers on a contract not to exceed $14,150.

Councilman David Price Jones said that he had heard that the vandalism which had been occurring at Lions Park was now being done at Pioneer Memorial Park.

Police Chief Allen V. Klemme reported that the police had had two cases of assault in the park and that most of the vandalism had been carving on tables.

The Novato City Council Also:

CONTAINERS — Postponed until Nov. 23 consideration of any proposed ordinance banning nonreturnable containers in the city. This was to give the staff time to see if any city or state had been successful in doing this.

PROJECT — Approved adding $623 to the Chase-Cherry Street project to complete it. The money will come from gasoline tax revenues.

PARADE — Authorized Novato High School to hold a homecoming parade Saturday down South Novato Boulevard from Diablo Avenue to Arthur Street and up Arthur to the high school.

DIAGONAL PARKING — At the request of the Downtown Merchants Association and the chamber of commerce, postponed for four months consideration of eliminating diagonal parking on the south side of Grant Avenue between Fifth and First streets. This would eliminate approximately 21 parking spaces.

RETIREMENT — Approved an amended contract with the public employees retirement system to include new city employees immediately after their hiring.

AUDIT — Approved the 1969-70 audit by Robert P. Simmons, Corte Madera accountant, and hired him to make the audit for the current year at $2,250.

SIDEWALKS — Approved eliminating sidewalks on the south side of Mendocino Lane in Mendocino Gardens, south of Novato Boulevard and west of Eucalyptus Avenue for Herman Bauer.

JUNIOR MISS — Referred a request by the Novato Jaycees for $300 of the $750 needed for the Dec. 12 Junior Miss Pageant to the Novato Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees have received money during past years from the $8,000 given to the chamber, by the city to conduct the pageant.

MASTER PLAN — At the request of Richard W. Fowler, introduced an ordinance changing the San Marin master plan to allow three lots of 6,500-square-feet on San Mateo Way, north of San Marin Drive where one acre lots had been designated.

CROSSROADS — Introduced an ordinance changing from planned residential to planned commercial for about six acres in the crossroads development at the northwest corner of Highways 101 and 37 for McKuhn Construction Co. This rezoning was based on an agreement yet to be drawn that the shopping center would not be developed before the remaining residential area.

PLANS — Introduced an ordinance approving development plans for a seven unit apartment east of Railroad Avenue at Grant Avenue for Fred Mauroni, but postponed until Nov. 23 consideration of plans for three apartments on San Marin Drive and San Mateo Way for F and F Enterprises.

APPOINTMENT — After a 20-minute closed meeting, named James R. Gordon of 415 Country Club Drive to fill the unexpired term of Paul A. Oatis on the planning commission. The term runs until Dec. 31 of this year. Gordon is a landscape architect with the state Division of Highways.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m., next Tuesday at the Novato Community House to take up the matter of the city seal.

Petaluma Principals Appointed

Two new high school principals were named last night by the Petaluma Board of Education.

Gerald J. Dadey was promoted from acting principal to principal at Petaluma Senior High School and William T. Anderson, principal at San Antonio High School, was named to head the new Casa Grande High School.

Dadey, 42, had been acting principal since Dr. Dan Montgomery left in September to head a steering committee study on a 12-month school plan. It is expected Montgomery will remain on the superintendent's staff.

Dadey received his bachelors degree from Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash. and masters degrees from the University of Oregon at Eugene and Portland State College.

Anderson, 38, has been principal at the continuation high school since it opened in 1967.

He received his bachelor and masters degrees from San Jose State College and taught at Kenilworth Junior High School and Petaluma Senior High School before being named principal at the continuation school.

Firm Makes Pitch For Natural Gas-Run Bus

A handful of Golden Gate Bridge District officials took a ride yesterday on a five-year-old, much-traveled bus. Its makers claim it is more modern than the district's shiny new fleet that will start rolling early in 1972.

The Flxible bus is powered by liquefied natural gas. Its engine, a converted diesel, is the only engine now existing that can meet the California vehicle pollution standards that will take effect in 1975, according to Rohr Corp. of Chula Vista, San Diego County.

Right now, the only place a vehicle driver could pull in and order a tankful of the stuff is San Diego, Flxible regional manager Richard V. Davis explained.

The demonstration bus's 125-gallon tank is good for more than 350 miles at highway speeds, Davis said.

On its way to the demonstration ride around the Golden Gate Transit District bus yards in San Rafael, the bus ran handily up the Waldo Grade at 45 miles per hour.

George Nelson, shop foreman for the bridge district fleet, said he had some experience with vehicles powered by liquefied gas when he worked for Pan American Airways.

Among the difficulties that firm encountered were short range — liquefied gas, pound for pound, supplies less energy than gasoline or diesel fuel — and mechanical difficulties with storing and refueling with the highly compressed, volatile stuff.

Liquefied natural gas is better than conventional fuels or propane, Davis said, because it vaporizes instantly and rises into the air to disperse.

Onlookers observed what seemed to be faint wisps of smoke coming from the forward section of the bus, where the liquefied gas is stored at 276 degrees below zero in a giant, steel vacuum bottle. Davis opened a hatch to show that the "smoke" was condensing water vapor.

80 Strep Cases During Last Week

Eighty streptococcus infections were reported in Marin last week, according to Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Half the cases were in Novato.

Also reported were 31 cases of gonorrhea, three of syphillis, one of salmoneila and five of infectious hepatitis.

Petaluma Board Fears Study On Schools Doomed Before Hearing

The Petaluma Board of Education said last night it fears rumors and misinformation may doom the 12-month school study plan before it's given a fair hearing.

Board members said they had heard reports that some Petalumans feel a decision has already been made to extend the school year to 12 months. All said they had no preconceived views about the plan and would await reports from the steering committee before making a decision.

The board agreed it was definitely giving the plan serious consideration since it named Dr. Dan Montgomery to head the 23-man steering committee with the 1972-73 school year as the possible implementation date.

Board members said that both the feasibility of the plan and the starting date would depend on reports from the committee.

Board member Arthur L. Lafranchi said he also heard reports that educators dominate the committee and were "leading" lay members.

Montgomery said that 10 of the 23 members were appointed by local organizations, 10 are connected with the school district although not all educators and three students.

He said the committee has had only one meeting and that he hoped rumors would subside as meetings progress and more questions can be answered. Montgomery said he would participate in a speaker's bureau to take information about the study to local organizations.

Lay committee members and their appointing organizations include Pat Loomis, American Association of University Women; Mrs. Clyde Nelson, Petaluma Council Parent-Teachers Association; Rev. Roland Bond, Petaluma Ministerial Alliance; Michael Serpelio, Petaluma Chamber of Commerce; John Nolan, City of Petaluma; Lester Petersen, City of Cotati; Oscar Petersen, Sonoma County Taxpayers Association; Robert Brown, Sonoma County Central Labor Council; William Russell, Northern Educational Advisory Council. Montgomery said the City of Rohnert Park has not yet named a representative.

Others on the committee are Margery Baur and Julia Caldwell, Association of Petaluma Area Teachers; Ronald Russell, California School Employees Association; Susan Appleton, Cotati School District; Glen Whitney, Petaluma Federation of Teachers; Carlton Reinaldo and Daniel Ongaker, Old Adobe School District; school principals, Gene Dornbush, Douglas Arthur and Robert Daggett; Robert G. Evans, Sonoma County Office of Education, and students Lisa Colwell, Michael Champlin and James Lahti.

Montgomery told the board that many methods of extending the school year will be studied by the committee with a feasibility recommendation to be made in early February.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

STREET — Awarded the contract for street widening on Casa Grande and Ely roads to Teichert Construction at the low bid of $248,363. The work will be done in front of Casa Grande High School.

LUNCHES — Approved a policy to extend bag lunches to all elementary students. Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said hot dog sales by the parent-teacher association would become illegal in January, but that the district would reimburse them for lost sales. Proceeds normally finance field trips.

ELECTION — Asked Meyer to report at the Nov. 23 meeting on the prospects of holding a tax rate increase election next year for the elementary district.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Dale Nelson, a part-time teacher at Rancho Cotate High School, who will move from the area to seek full-time teaching.

Inmates Plead Innocent To Pot Charges

Two Marin County Jail inmates have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges stemming from the discovery of marijuana in their cell last Wednesday.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday for Dennis James Angelica, 20, of Novato, and Stephen Robert Carrino, 24, of San Rafael.

The two, both serving sentences for burglary, are charged with possessing pot, possessing it in jail, being under the influence of marijuana and being in a place where it was smoked.

They were booked on the new charges after jailers smelled the odor of burning marijuana coming from the cell area.

Petaluma Theft

John C. Petersen, 920 Middlefield Drive, Petaluma, told police that items totaling $220 in value were stolen from his car Monday. The items included binoculars, a watch and sunglasses.

Officer Kayoed In Car Wreck

A Rohnert Park policeman was injured at 4:20 a.m. today when his patrol car struck a bridge abutment during a high-speed chase of suspected vandals.

Larry Lewis, 29, was reported in good condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with head injuries. Police said he was found unconscious in his patrol car at 4:28 a.m. when it had struck the bridge on Snyder Lane.

Police said Lewis had been on routine patrol when he apparently saw vandals damaging cars in the parking lot at Rancho Cotate High School. They said he was apparently chasing them on Snyder Lane when the accident occurred.

Salvador Way Can Remain A Dead End

Salvador Way can remain a dead-end street for the time being, the San Rafael Planning Commission decided last night.

Extending Salvador Way to connect with Los Gamos Road has been a long standing requirement of the city's master plan, and the planning commission asked that the extension be incorporated in the multimillion-dollar development by Firemen Fund. But neighborhood residents and representatives of the fund persuaded the commission to withdraw the requirement and accept instead a buffer zone at the end of Salvador Way.

Jo Ann Flath of 19 Corte Miguel and and president of the San Rafael Park Civic Association, reported that the developer and the association had agreed that Fireman's would set aside a one-acre perpetual buffer zone below the end of Salvador Way to separate expected development from surrounding homes.

Thomas Nardi of 36 Salvador Way, who said he had paid $2,000 extra for his traffic-free lot, asked whether the city would extend his street down the hill to Las Gamos Road.

"Why, yes," said commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, "that's what the master plan states." O'Toole went on to describe fire safety needs while Nardi pointed out the dangers to school children if traffic was diverted onto the extension instead of existing Las Gallinas Avenue.

Noting that few if any in the large audience favored the road's extension, commissioner Albert J. Boro said, "We shouldn't shove this plan down their throats."

The audience applauded Boro. Commissioners found the necessary language to make the fate of Salvador Way less specific in the zoning plan.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

AUTO ROW — Requested owners of Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury and Dominic's restaurant make a joint agreement by Nov. 23 over future access route(s) to their two properties. Delayed until then decision to lease city controlled (state owned) land to Marin Bay for expanded car pad area.

OUTDOOR ANTIQUES — Granted permission to John W. Fearn to hold one more outdoor sale at Northgate Park Antique and Used Furniture, 4240 Redwood Highway, with condition he submit a complete outdoor advertising plan to council.

NYE STREET PARKING — Permitted Warren E. Nute to set up monthly leased parking at his 903 Mission Avenue lot and connect it to adjoining parking property at 907 Mission.

SCHOOL — Granted Anthony Schools of Marin, 4380 Redwood Highway, permission to continue real estate school in the Margarita Plaza, with no more than 30 daytime students.

MIRAMAR AVENUE — Unanimously denied Charles J. Freeman of 246 Miramar Avenue to convert his single family home into a duplex. Existing structure was nonconforming and posed parking problems.

CAR WASH — Approved construction of a 10-by-18 foot concrete block storage building at rear of self-service car wash, 1290 Second Street.

SHOWROOM — Granted Al Lamperti permit to use existing warehouse at 60 Belvedere Street as a wholesale showroom.

PHONE SHACKS — Granted Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. permission to construct two small metal storage sheds at 220 Shaver Street yard.

SIGNS — Postponed to Dec. 7 discussion of shopping center sign regulations. Crocker Bank and Standard Brand Paints have been unable to put up new signs in Montecito Shopping Center because no sign standard applies at the center.

PHONE BOOTHS — Postponed to Nov. 23 discussion of color and style compatibility of telephone booths with city's new design standards.

COURTHOUSE — Reviewed city plan to construct 83 leased stalls and 65 metered spaces on the old courthouse lot. Parking was to be landscaped and screened by a park along Fourth Street. Made no recommendation.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned at 12:02 a.m. to Nov. 23 to complete remaining agenda items and new business.

Committee Due Power On Decisions

The Larkspur Planning Commission learned last night it cannot delegate any decision-making authority to its architectural review committee, but took steps to give it more say in commission decisions.

City Atty. Robert W. Elliott ruled against delegation of power to make design decisions, according to building inspector Graham Lang.

The city staff had recommended that the architectural review committee be given authority to make binding decisions. At present the planners hear all architectural supervision requests after the committee makes recommendations.

Robert H. Lee, chairman of the planning commission, said the commission will not rehear presentations already made to the committee in the future, but will rely more heavily on the committee's recommendations.

Lang said the action amounted to an informal agreement that the committee's recommendations will be binding. He said that in the past year the commission has accepted 95 per cent of the committee's suggestions.

The planners also set an adjourned meeting for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss left-over items from last night's meeting, Lang said. These include a proposal for a Larkspur Creek nature preserve, parking regulation revisions and discussion of revising the sign ordinance sections pertaining to the downtown area.

Rubber Check Plea Is Innocent

Robert Lee Lissi, 39, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to three counts of passing bad checks.

Preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 23.

Lissi, also known as Robert Ritti Jr. and Robert Dalton Ricci, was arrested last Wednesday on a warrant charging he passed three bad checks in Marin in 1966 and 1967.

A TEEN-AGER DISCOVERS HIS CALLING

I-J Special Report

SEATTLE — Allen Mitchell's future was changed because, when he applied for a summer job as a custodian in the Neighborhood Youth Corps office, he was directed to "Operation Waterlog."

Allen, a soft-spoken black teen-ager, found Waterlog was a marine-biology course sponsored by Pitch In and the Youth Corps. He, like 40 others, was paid $1.60 an hour to gather marine specimens for the University of Puget Sound.

The director of the project called Allen his "star pupil" and now this 17-year-old has found a new interest and a new direction: He wants to become a marine biologist. Steve Romero, his teacher, is sure Allen will realize his ambition.

Van Hine Enters Innocent Plea

Paul Martin Van Hine, 24, of 20 Meadow Way, San Geronimo, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges he possessed marijuana and cocaine and carried a loaded weapon in public.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 7.

Van Hine was arrested Oct. 4 after a Sausalito police officer noticed him hitchhiking on Bridgeway and thought he appeared "nervous." When the officer slowed to turn around, Van Hine ran across the street and started to reach into his coat, as if for a weapon, police said.

A search revealed a loaded .22 caliber derringer under Van Hine's belt, police said. Also found were eight packets of cocaine and a plastic bag of marijuana in his jacket pockets, police said.

Muir Beach Pair Plead Innocence

William Mansfield Graham, 21, and Jeffery James Morse, 26, both of Muir Beach, have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to possessing marijuana, possessing it for sale and selling it.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 7.

They were arrested at their residence Sept. 29 after a San Francisco undercover agent arranged to purchase a large amount of marijuana in Marin.

Marin agents raided the residence while the San Francisco agent was inside working out the sale. About two pounds of the weed was seized, agents said.

Fulbright Hits Aid Maneuvering

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., accused the Nixon Administration today of trying to revive foreign aid by promoting the program as a boost to the domestic economy.

Fulbright charged that the Agency for International Development (AID) has conducted an "absurd" campaign by release of statistics to show how much each state and city derived from the program.

"I object to this high-pressure public affairs campaign. I think it's an absurd waste of money."

Fulbright said that, in effect, the government was subsidizing American business "to buy something to give away."

The assistant Senate Democratic leader, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said foreign aid must be stopped.

He said Americans were "foolish if we ever believed we could buy friends" by giving billions of dollars to other nations. All it has brought the United States is a $400 billion national debt, he said.

In the House, leaders called up a resolution to allow (AID) and other federal agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations to continue spending at the levels of the fiscal year which ended June 30.

George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations committee in charge of steering the resolution through the House and on to the Senate, said he hoped members, regardless of their feelings about foreign aid, would allow both chambers time to put together a substitute for the aid authorization recently killed by the Senate. The continuing resolution, which would expire with the end of the current congressional session, would do that, he said.

"I can't see how we can responsibly do anything but continue the program until we decide what to do," Mahon said before the debate.

The beginnings of that decision were taking place in the Senate.

Aid supporters there warily made to plans to seek an increase in the separate $1.2 billion military and $1.1 billion economic aid bills that were fashioned out of the wreckage of the Oct. 29 Senate defeat of the $2.9 billion aid bill.

Their fear was that the aid package might collapse again if they added too much to it. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., was leading the fight to increase the economic aid measure. He planned to start with an amendment to strike a section of the bill that the administration claims would wreck the development assistance program. This provision, which the Senate adopted before the earlier bill was defeated, would bar loans at a lesser interest rate than U.S. government must pay to borrow money itself.

Innocent Plea To Heroin Sale

Roger Wayne Ploof, 22, of San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to two counts of selling heroin.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 14.

Ploof is charged with selling the drug to an undercover police officer Aug. 2 and 3, both times near Ploof's residence at 10 Broadview Street.

Series Of Hearings On Clean Air Act Set

The California Air Resources board will hold a series of hearings, commencing Dec. 7, on implementation of the federal Clean Air Act.

A Bay Area session will be held Dec. 20 at 10 a.m. in Room 1194 of the State Office Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. It will consider the state's general plan and a plan submitted by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Financial Committee Approved

The Lagunitas School District board, in response to a resident's suggestion, has decided to create a standing citizen advisory committee on finance.

Supt. William E. Johnson, in reporting the board action at Monday night's meeting, said the group would serve apart from a special finance committee to be created in connection with a planned tax rate election next June 11.

Johnson said the board acted on the recommendation of Jack Felson, who supported more citizen involvement in district financial affairs. Felson was named chairman pro tem of the panel by the board. Other members will be picked later.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

BALLOT — Formed a committee, whose members will be named later, to draw up a ballot argument in favor of the June 11 election. It will be composed of teachers, parents and board members. On June 11, voters will be asked to extend for two years a special 90-cent rate approved last year.

HIRED — Named Lisu Ekberg as a noon playground supervisor at San Geronomio Valley School at a salary of $2.62 hourly.

BUS — Decided to seek bids, on a date not yet specified, to obtain a new school bus.

GOALS — Was told the next meeting of a "town hall" group establishing overall district goals would be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at San Geronimo Valley School.

WORKSHOP — Set Dec. 7 for another in a series of teacher board meetings to dicuss general problems.

PURCHASE — Directed Johnson to write the county schools office indicating the district's interest in a joint purchasing operation among Marin school district.

Term In Jail For Burglary

Richard Sheldon Knowles, 20, of San Rafael has been sentenced to nine months in Marin County Jail for burglary.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for a year.

Knowles was arrested July 19 when San Rafael police said they found him and an 18-year-old girl carrying property from the residence of Roy H. Warden at 70 Forrest Avenue, San Rafael.

The girl's case was transferred to Marin Juvenile Court.

Bicycle Safety Tips For Cotati Students

The Cotati School District board approved a plan last night to bring bicycle safety instruction into the classroom.

Dennis F. Hays, Rohnert Park safety officer, said he planned to visit each classroom to review safety rules with youngsters. He told the board the visits would be very casual with classes sitting on the floor discussing why it is important to follow safety rules.

He said the plan also includes using students from Rancho Cotate High School as safety patrolmen for elementary students. Hays said that monthly safety tips would also be sent home for parents.

The board commended Hays for his work and also asked him to survey schools during his visits to see if further steps can be taken to reduce bicycle thefts.

The district board also named Waldo Rohnert School principal Richard Lyman as acting superintendent when Schools Supt. James Davidson is out of town. Lyman will receive $504 extra pay per year for the assignment.

The board named Marjorie Lewis of Rohnert Park and Eugene Bennett of Cotati to the Citizens Advisory committee and voted against membership in the California School Boards Association, despite urgings to join from Dr. Walter Eagan, Sonoma County schools superintendent.

Nobel Winner To Get Heart Award

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Earl W. Sutherland Jr., a 1971 winner of the Nobel Prize, will receive the American Heart Association's 1971 research achievement award, it was announced Tuesday.

Sutherland, a professor of physiology at Vanderbilt University school of medicine, Nashville, Tenn., will get the award at the group's annual scientific meeting Thursday.

LBJ Opens Exhibit Dedicated To Himself

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson helped open an exhibit dedicated to him Monday at Southwest Texas State University where he went to college.

The "Lyndon B. Johnson at San Marcos" exhibit emphasized Johnson's interest in education. The exhibit was housed in a restored home in which Johnson lived when he was a student.

Japan Clubs Sure Gauge Of Economy

TOKYO (UPI)—One of the surest gauges of the Japanese economy is the nightclub activity which thrives on the glittering Ginza in downtown Tokyo. When the economy slumps, the nightclubs feel the pinch.

And there are no tougher times than now for the nightclub owners who say that business has dipped by more than 20 per cent since Aug. 15, the day President Nixon slapped on the 10 per cent surcharge on imports.

The import surcharge coupled with the flotation of the yen has forced Japan's big business concerns to revamp their expense account rules. To the middle-range Japanese worker, such a clampdown means a virtual cut in pay, because his overall salary is based on a certain amount of expense account latitude.

"Our company set up new guidelines on expense accounts in early September to reduce our expense accounts," says one trading official who asked not to be quoted.

Japanese companies are notoriously secretive about their expense accounts. One reason may be suspicious wives who must spend their evenings alone while their husbands are entertaining.

Another reason is that the size of the expense accounts here is becoming a national scandal. The national tax agency reports that Japanese business firms spent $2.28 billion on expense accounts in 1969, the latest year figures were available.

That total very nearly equals the total funds spent in Japan for education and scientific research the dame year.

Because of the slowdown of expense account spending, some cabaret owners are trying to broaden the range of their clientele.

Hideo Kageyama, 31, owner of the "Queen Bee" nightclub says he is planning a new program to attract the average worker instead of the business executive.

"Our business has gone down 20 per cent since the middle of August," Kageyama says. "Because of our sluggish business, we are not projecting a new program to induce the average person to come intothe club rather than the high brow businessman."

Whether the average person can afford Kageyama's prices is another question. It costs about $300 for two men to spend a period of four hours in his club, being entertained by a minimum of two hostesses.

Kageyama's club located in the Ginza, is one of the smaller, more exclusive caberets in town. He employes about 120 hostesses.

"We are not suffering much from the Nixon decision," Ota said. "But our sales are slower than the activity before Nixon announced his new economic policy."

A spokesman for the national tax agency said projected tax revenue figures have been cut due to the new American economic policies, but he declined to specify how much revenue would be lost.

An official from the Tokyo metropolitan tax office said tax revenues from entertainment establishments in the month of July totaled about $20 million.

"The consensus is that the total tax revenue this year from entertainment sources will be much lower than he had originally estimated," the metropolitan official said. "But I would hesitate to say how much."

Cranberry Muffins A Treat

Muffins made with fresh (or frozen raw) cranberries are a treat. The trick in making muffins of any type that are light and tender, with medium-fine grain and rounded, pebbly tops is not to overmix. Too much stirring overdevelops flour gluten, causing loss of carbon dioxide.

This results in tunnels and uneven grain in the muffins which are likely to be heavy and tough and have smooth, peaked tops. By using more sugar than is necessary for sweetening, and extra fat, the gluten development is better controlled and the effects of overmixing lessened.

Fifteen stir-strokes, including those used in filling the muffin cups, is enough to mix these rich cranberry muffins. To make about 12 to 18 large or small sizes halve 1 cup of washed and drained cranberries. Mix in ¼ cup of sugar to sweeten and to develop more of a cranberry flavor.

Then make up a plain muffin recipe using proportions for 2 cups flour (with 3 teaspoons of baking powder and ½ teaspoon of salt) but increase sugar to ⅓ cup in this variation to reduce gluten development. For better distribution of fat particles, cut ⅓ cup butter or margarine into the sifted dry ingredients instead of melting and adding with the combined liquids 1 beaten egg, ¾ cup milk, and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix quickly, stirring only enough to moisten dry ingredients, lumpily. Fold in the sugared cranberries plus ⅓ cup chopped nuts. Spoon into greased muffin cups until ⅔ full. Bake at once in a preheated 400-degree oven for about 15 to 20 minutes.

Impressive For Holiday Serving

Impressive to serve during the holidays are these easy to make, individual fruit cakes.

Combine 1½ cups biscuit mix, one teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves and ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and allspice. Cream ¼ cup butter with one cup brown sugar. Beat in one egg. Add ¼ cup grape jelly, ¼ cup brandy and the dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly. Stir in one cup each raisins, mixed candied fruit, candied fruit cherry halves and coarsely chopped walnuts. Fill paper lined muffin cups ¾ cup full. Top with walnut halves.

Sprinkle tops with a bit of sherry. Store in air-tight container. Makes two dozen 2-inch cakes.

DATE-FILLED CAKE

A Rich Dessert For Your Table

Pilgrim persimmon pudding cake is a rich dessert to serve to a dozen dinner guests or to give to neighbors and friends during the holidays.

The moist, date-filled cake will be served at "Pilgrim's Folly," a benefit dance and buffet dinner sponsored by Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Women's Club on Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. in Mill Valley, and the recipe from Mrs. George Lino is shared with I-J readers.

PILGRIM PERSIMMON PUDDING CAKE

- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup persimmon pulp (two persimmons)
- 1 cup dates, pitted and chopped (or raisins)
- ¾ cup walnuts, chopped
- 1½ tablespoon milk
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ teaspoon salt

Peel two persimmons and mash or put them in blender.

Mix in mixer, butter, milk, sugar, vanilla, persimmon pulp. With spoon stir in dry ingredients. Batter will be stiff.

Pour into greased, floured, small loaf pan, 2 x 4 x 8 inches or a four-cup pudding mold. If you use a mold, lengthen cooking time by 15 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Serves 12. Recipe may be doubled.

For Christmas giving, this cake may be made a week ahead and refrigerated.

What's The Holiday Without Eggnog?

Holiday times means special buffet dishes and egg nog.

MOLASSES EGGNOG

- 4 eggs
- ¼ cup molasses
- ¾ to 1 cup rum
- 3 cups milk
- 1 pint heavy cream
- Nutmeg

Beat eggs and molasses in a bowl. Stir in rum, milk and ½ pint cream and spoon over top. Sprinkle with nutmeg.

YIELD: 12 half-cup servings.

FRUITCAKE BONBONS

- ½ cup molasses
- ¼ cup water
- 1 package (15 ounces; raisings
- 1 jar (1 pound) mixed candied fruit
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
- ⅛ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¼ cup orange juice or rum
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Blend together molasses and water in a large, deep sauce pan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add raisins; bring to a boil again to plump the raisins. Reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Remove from heat; stir in candied fruit. Reserve. Cream together butter and sugar. Blend in eggs one at a time. Sift together flour, soda and spices; add to butter mixture alternately with orange juice (or rum). Add molasses-fruit mixture and chopped nuts; blend. Line a ¾-inch cupcake pan with paper cups. Spoon in fruitcake mixture. If desired, garnish with pecan half or additional candied fruit. Bake in 325 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool before storing.

YIELD: 5 to 6 dozen fruitcake bonbons.

HOT SPICED CIDER

- 4 lemon slices, halved
- 12 whole cloves
- 2 quarts cider
- ½ cup molasses
- 2 cinnamon sticks, 2 inches long
- Juice of 2 lemons

Stud lemon pieces with cloves. Combine cider, molasses, cinnamon and lemon slices in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove cinnamon sticks. Add lemon juice. Serve hot in mugs.

YIELD: 8 one-cup servings.

Prepare This Entree In Advance

Another hearty but caloric entree that can be prepared in advance and popped into the oven a half hour before serving:

ASPARAGUS HAM AU GRAS

- 1 cup (1 pound 3 ounces) green asparagus spears, drained
- 2 cups cooked ham, sliced or cubed
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon each black pepper and cayenne
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Arrange asparagus in a buttered baking pan (9 x 12 x 2 inches). Lay slices of ham over asparagus. Season rice with 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and cayenne. Add pimiento and toss lightly. Spoon over ham. Add remaining salt, dry mustard, and cheese, to the whipped cream. Spread over top of rice. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Cream Storage

Milk and cream may be stored in original containers and should be refrigerated at 40 degrees fahrenheit until used. Unopened cans of evaporated or sweetened condensed milk may be stored at room temperature.

Alas, poor Adult Nut, you have but little chance of ever going to a party.

Sad, but true. We've seen it happen time and time again.

You buy a can of Sun Giant Almonds, the Adult Nut, for the big bash and your big lug of a husband can't keep his hands off the can.

By party time, the Adult Nut is long gone.

No more crisp-roasted kernels of goodness, no more dry salted tidbits of taste.

All that remains of a once-great party snack is a sad, empty can and a full, happy husband.

But rejoice. Elation is but an extra can of Sun Giant Almonds away.

Next party, buy two cans of the Adult Nut. One to throw your husband off guard, and the other to guard against dull snacking at the party you're going to throw.

But be certain to hide the second can well; lest you end up with naught but two sad, empty cans and an even-fuller, even-happier husband.

LUNCH BOX treats can be nourishing as well as good. One such combination is a fresh pear and a few Crunchy Oatmeal Bar cookies. The cookies are easy to make and keep well.

Tempt Your Lunchbox Toters — Try Some Crunchy Oatmeal Bars

Tempt your lunchbox toters to peek in their packets before the noon buzzer sounds and reward them with a fresh pear and a couple of Crunchy Oatmeal Bars. The pears need no preparation since the skins are tender enough that there is no need to peel them.

Fresh winter pears become available on the Pacific Coast at the time when other fruits are in limited supply from October through May. The varieties of winter pears are easily recognized. The Anjou pear is round and full with a light-green skin. Bosc pears have long tapering necks and warm russet-colored skins. Comice has a full plump shape and yellow-green skin, sometimes with a red blush.

Crunchy Oatmeal Bars, quick to make and bake ahead, are loaded with the universal favorite —chocolate bits. Add a pear, a tasty sandwich, some relishes and a thermos of milk and you've provided a healthy happy noontime meal.

CRUNCHY OATMEAL BARS

- ½ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup shortening
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 1 cup rolled oats

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Spread into greased 8-inch-square pan. Bake at 375 degrees 25 minutes. Cut while warm into 1 x 2-inch bars. Makes 32 bar cookies.

Puchero? It's Argentine Version Of Boiled Dinner

Almost every country has its version of a boiled dinner. New Englanders have one; so do "old" Englanders. The French call theirs pot au feu. In Argentina they serve an especially colorful and hefty one called puchero.

It takes a while to cook puchero, although actual preparation is fairly simple. This isn't a dish you'll make every day but rather one you'll save for occasions when you want to entertain friends casually. Unlike most party dishes, puchero won't break the bank. Start by simmering beef short ribs with tomato sauce with mushrooms, water and garlic; the tomato sauce adds rich color to the stock and blends the flavors of meat and vegetables. At subsequent intervals add a plump young chicken and smoked sausage or chorizos. Spanish sausages, chorizos, are traditional, but we suggest your using the kind of smoked sausage you particularly like.

Also add onions, potatoes, carrots, garbonzo beans, cabbage and crookneck squash.

Serving puchero is half the fun. Lift the meat and vegetables from the broth and arrange in a heated serving platter; spoon a bit of the broth over the meat and vegetables to keep them moist and place the platter in a very low oven to stay hot.

Ladle the broth into soup cups or bowls and serve as a first course. Then bring out your meat and vegetable platter. Serve with crusty bread and avocado and grapefruit salads. For dessert flavor chilled vanilla pudding with nutmeg; fold in sliced bananas and whipped or sour cream. Spoon into individual sherbet or dessert dishes and keep chilled till serving time.

PUCHERO
Argentinian Meat and Vegetable Stew

2 pounds beef short ribs
1 quart water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1 broiler-fryer (1½ to 2 pounds), cut up
1 pound smoked sausage or chorizos
8 small white onions
4 potatoes, pared and quartered
4 carrots, pared and quartered
1 can (1 pound) garbanzo beans, drained
1 head cabbage, cut into 8 wedges
2 yellow crookneck squash, quartered, if desired

In large Dutch oven or kettle bring short ribs and water to boil; stir in tomato sauce with mushrooms, salt and garlic. Simmer, covered, one hour. Add broiler-fryer, sausage, onions, potatoes and carrots; simmer an additional 45 minutes. Stir in garbanzos, cabbage and squash; cook about 10 minutes more. Skim off fat. Arrange meat and vegetables on heated platter; spoon some of broth over and keep warm. Ladle soup into bowls or cups and serve separately. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

A Dessert Treat For A Special Autumn Occasion

There's no trick to preparing a dessert treat to serve for a special autumn occasion such as Thanksgiving. Simply blend together pumpkin, molasses, spices, ice cream and pecans. Pile this filling in tart shells and freeze.

FROSTY PUMPKINETTES

1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 quart vanilla ice cream
⅓ cup chopped pecans
6 baked pastry tart shells

Combine pumpkin, sugar, molasses, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Soften ice cream and fold into pumpkin mixture. Mix well. Place ½ cup mixture into each tart shell. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Freeze until firm.

Descriptive terms for oven temperatures are (in degrees fahrenheit) 250 to 275, very slow oven; 300 to 325, slow oven; 350 to 375, moderate oven; 400 to 425, hot oven; 450 to 475, very hot oven; and 500 to 525, extremely hot oven.

Some Mashed Yams With New Flavor

Try Grandmother's old fashioned mashed yams with a new flavor. Drain a 30-ounce can yams. Place in mixer bowl and beat until smooth. Blend in ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup melted butter, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ¼ cup chopped walnuts.

Place half of mixture in buttered casserole. Drain an 8-ounce can apricot halves. Arrange on top of the potatoes. Top with remaining mixture. Garnish with walnut halves and 5 or 6 marshmallows. Bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

Audience Hears Many Fields Of Medicine Wide Open To Women

By BARBARA HOSMER

New areas and fields in which men are not interested hold the most promise for the woman in medicine and othersciences, Dr. Linda Hawes Clever of Tiburon said last night.

Speaking in the series, "Women: Past, Present, Future," the physician suggested that the fields of health education, epidemiology, community health, nutrition, public health and sanitation were areas in which men scientists have showed little interest and thus offered more opportunity for women.

SHE EMPHASIZED that the allied health professionals in speech and hearing therapy, counseling, social work, and radiology technicians, medical secretaries, lab technicians and other such assistants were vital to recovery and well-being of a patient and his family. Women, she said, can do well in these fields.

"In many ways they are much more responsible for the patient getting well than a physician, who is with a patient probably only briefly," said the internist who is medical director of St. Mary's Hospital diagnostic and treatment center in San Francisco and is associate physician and clinical instructor at the University of California Medical Center.

She added that new fields such as the nurse practitioner, who takes care of patients with chronic stable illnesses, will grow to meet the shortage of physicians and require less training, so that they offer a more readily open field to women.

As a physician who is also a wife and mother, she warned that medicine combined with family is a difficult career and any woman who would be "doing anything hard" would have to have an exceptional husband.

"THE REASONS I chose internal medicine as a specialty are that I like to solve problems, making diagnoses, and that I can work three or four days a week," Dr. Clever said.

She said that the life of a doctor is lonely — "you haven't much time for friends" — and as a woman you must be prepared to be unpopular with some people. She said she met the most antipathy while at Stanford Medical School and on into her internship and residency from the wives of fellow students.

"But it is a definite advantage to be married. I avoided the unnecessary business that an unmarried medical woman might get," she said.

Dr. Clever mentioned women who have made large contributions to medicine and science, yet generally received little recognition for their efforts.

SOME WERE Dr. Tausig, who with Dr. Blaylock made contributions in the study and treatment of "blue babies," — she as the engineer and he as the technician on the projects — yet he was elected to the National Academy of Science and she stayed an assistant professor for 15 years afterward.

She also mentioned the development by Dr. Apgar of the Apgar Score, a quantitative system to assess a baby immediately after birth; Dr. Judy Pool, who developed a safe method for treating hemophiliacs; Dr. Paine, who discovered that white blood cells had types as red do; Alice Hamilton, who pioneered the occupational medicine field; Florence Sabin, who described the lymphatic system; Dr. Pennington, who developed requirements for food refrigeration that has led to our enjoying foods imported from other areas all year; Dr. Lillian Gilbreath, who studied and devised industrial psychology; Dr. Florence Siebert who developed the current tuberculosis test; and Margaret Mead, who was the first anthropologist to study a culture by living in it.

Women have a very special contribution they can make to sciences, she said.

Albuquerque Housewife Bucks Tradition — Wins A City Post

By JOHN A. WESTER

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—A 40-year-old housewife who ran for office "just to get my feet wet and find what it was like to be a candidate" found out quickly. She now is this city's first woman commissioner.

"I think being a woman made a difference," said Mrs. James A. Koch. "The timing has a great deal (to do) as far as any candidate is concerned. I think Albuquerque was ready to have a woman as city commissioner and I just happened to be there at the right time." Nancy Koch, mother of three and wife of a physician, bucked tradition in gaining a 19-month term to fill an unexpired one. Not only had a woman never won a commission post before, but Mrs. Koch ran as an "independent" in a field of 30 candidates.

NANCY KOCH
Campaign expert

ALTHOUGH CITY elections are non-political, groups of candidates frequently combine forces to run as a slate. And traditionally, persons without a slate fare poorly at the polls.

During her campaign, Mrs. Koch repeatedly stressed communications—"communications within the commission itself, between the commission and City Hall and between the commission and citizens."

She believes a woman commissioner will help—"I think a woman is generally a good mediator. I think we get used to the role as wife and mother."

Then there is the time element. She believes she will have more time for the unsalaried post than a man. "As I see it, a man has three responsibilities, to his job, his family and to the commission. I only have two, to my family and to the commission."

THE CAMPAIGN was very much a folksy, family style matter — at the start. "We just wanted to get our feet wet and find out what it is like to be a candidate.

"My husband was my campaign manager and the children helped. At Candidates' Day (at an Albuquerque shopping center) they were there talking to people and saying, "Come meet my mother who is running for the city commission."

"Then," she said, "we began to get all these offers of help." She estimated that by election day, there were about 200 volunteers, mostly women, working for her.

"We also wanted to prove the day was not gone when a candidate could run successfully without vast sums of money," she said. Her starting campaign fund was $8, but she found women donating "which is a phenomenon...

"IF THERE is to be a political contribution from a family, it almost always comes from the husband. And you could talk yourself blue in the face to them (husbands) and they would just sort of walk the other way."

The new commissioner said that naturally she would be interested in matters of importance to women but would not serve to represent "women any more than I would expect a man to represent men."

Mrs. Koch said she believes the role of women in politics is increasing rapidly. "I'm not a card carrying member of a women's liberation group," she said, "but I feel I'm doing very much what they're talking about, which is becoming involved."

BEVERLY SISLER
To be married

Spring 1972 Wedding Set

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sisler of San Anselmo announce the engagement of their daughter Beverly Rae to Steven Randall Rikala, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. W. Rikala of San Carlos.

A wedding in the spring of 1972 is planned by the couple, both graduates of the University of California at Davis.

Beverly is the sister of Edmund, Diane and John Sisler, and her local grandmother is Mrs. Edmund C. Kain of Aptos. She is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School.

The future bridegroom is the brother of Susan Rikala. He was graduated from San Carlos High School and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at U.C. Steven is a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Sausalitans Back For African Tour

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford of Sausalito have just returned from 23 days in Africa, describing their trip to Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda as "the greatest trip we have ever had."

They flew first to London for four days and then to Nairobi, where they began their safari in minibuses. Most amazing, Mrs. Rixford says, was the way the luxurious hotels, such as the Mount Kenya Safari Club, were located near natural water holes and a constant stream of wild animals.

The Rixfords were also impressed with Dr. Leakey's excavations, where early evidence of man was discovered by Dr. Leakey's wife, Mary.

Dr. Rixford took more than 1,100 pictures of the scenes they saw.

MRS. SAMUEL F. B. Morse and Milton C. Coburn were married yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Kennedy in Kentfield.

The Kennedys, who are long time friends of Mr. Coburn, entertained for the couple at a luncheon following the 11:30 a.m. ceremony.

THE FRANK J. Enzenspergers, who are home in Sausalito from nearly a month in Japan, say that they fell in love with that country.

The main purpose of their trip was to visit their son, James Enzensperger, his wife, Marie, and their children, Steven, Jason and Martha Mary, who are living in Yokohama for two years.

Among other places in Japan the Enzenspergers visited were Tokyo, Kobe and Schimizi, an historic place where they stayed in the famed Japanese inn that is said to be 400 to 500 years old.

THE GEORGE R. Chapmans have returned to Sausalito from a trip to Europe they had planned 10 years ago but were unable to take until this year.

In New York they joined a group of 28 people who flew to Rome and visited among other places in Italy Sorrento, Capri and Florence.

Going by train to Switzerland, at Lake Lucerne they had one of the most interesting experiences, going to the top of Mount Pillatus. From Zurich they flew to London and Paris.

On their return trip they stopped at Rumson, N.J., where they were entertained extensively by Mrs. Chapman's cousin and other relatives.

SANTA ROSA WOMAN

Prime Mover For Nursing Program

By DYANNE FORTNER

Registered nurses with an associate of arts degree or its equivalent will be accepted for a two-year upper division nursing program to begin next September at Sonoma State College. Mary W. Searight of Santa Rosa has been named chairman of the program, the first of its kind in California.

During the year, Mrs. Searight, a registered nurse for more than 30 years and former University of California at Berkeley faculty member, will prepare a feasibility study for the program's needs and develop proposals for nursing as a major for Sonoma State's faculty and the state college system chancellor. In addition, initial accreditation from the California State Board of Nursing Registration must be received.

"Everyone is entitled to all the education she is capable of achieving," says Mrs. Searight. I firmly believe a nurse should be allowed career mobility. To accentuate the mobility of a nursing career communication, independent decision making, self awareness, the process of change and beginning teaching skills will be emphasized throughout both years of the integrated program.

"The graduate will develop an aptitude to teach not only patients but families and staff as well. They also will be in a position to plan and implement patient care as well as provide leadership for those less well prepared," she added.

She said that the student's initial focus will be upon the promotion of community health. A core course incorporating current concepts from physics, chemistry and physiology, and a course on group processes to include theory and practice will be required. Upper division chemistry, physics or biology can be selected as electives if the student plans to study episodic nursing. For those interested in distributive nursing, psychology, sociology, anthropology, ethnic or environmental studies may be selected.

DURING THE second year contractual study is planned. This might include field studies, surveys, clinical practice, leadership projects or investigatory studies. All students will participate in a seminar in current nursing problems. Under consideration will be a required course in concepts of change in the field. The student will qualify for a baccalaureate degree and certification as a public health nurse upon completion of the two-year program.

Community health facilities of neighboring counties will be utilized, as will extended care facilities, the visiting nurses association, outpatient clinics and schools for the handicapped and mentally retarded.

Nursing department chairmen throughout Northern California meet regularly with Mrs. Searight and the chairmen of Sonoma State's division of natural sciences — of which the nursing department is a part. Dr. Joe Brumbaugh and Dr. Wesley Ebert along with Lyla Cromer, College of Marin; Margretta Fortuin, Santa Rosa Junior College; Ellen Gibson, Pacific Union at Angwin; Doris Zylinsky, Napa Junior College, and Donna Harris, Solano Junior College, are planning cooperatively for an orderly advancement of each student so there will be no duplication of experiences.

"A high priority of the committee is to seek staff members with creativity and interest in new, innovative teaching techniques," said Mrs. Searight.

Acknowledging that it will be necessary to allow people to meet the equivalent of an AA degree, Mrs. Searight said that junior colleges will determine a student's status by examinations. Licensed vocational nurses and corpsmen will be allowed to take the nursing courses and take the evaluating exams.

"This approach is to avoid the usual snags one might encounter when going into the diploma program because of the frequent lack of articulation between various nursing programs. Persons need a better idea of what to expect and where to begin," Mrs. Searight said.

MARY SEARIGHT said that she always wanted to be a nurse. A graduate of Chico High School, she enrolled in the three-year nursing program at San Francisco's St. Francis Memorial Hospital school.

Following graduation, getting out into the field was of more interest to her than taking more courses and her first assignment was with the Tulare County Hospital. During her five years in Tulare she drifted into extension courses.

"I realized I wanted to know more about other things," she said. "Twenty years later I received my bachelor's degree."

Marriage, children and career accounted for her lapse in studies.

She enjoyed a stint as an industrial nurse during World War II at the Kaiser shipyards and nursed for a year at a sugar plantation hospital on the island of Maui, Hawaii.

"Years went by trudging around working, going to school and I made up my mind finally to go to school full-time and finish in one year," she said.

She subsequently enrolled at the University of California at Berkeley and there became interested in future nursing clubs and senior scout groups. She organized a hospital experience program for young people at the Concord Community Hospital.

"THIS EXPOSURE to students stimulated my interest in teaching, and the following year I entered the master's program for a junior college credential," she said.

PREPARING FOR the opening of Sonoma State College's new Department of Nursing next fall, its chairman, Mrs. Mary Searight (right) consults with Mrs. Lois Simpson, director of nursing for Sonoma County's health department. Community health will be emphasized in the new program, using health care facilities in the area.

There were only 10 junior colleges in the state at the time and Mrs. Searight remembers that many of her colleagues felt it uninspiring to teach at that level. She was instrumental in organizing the nursing program at Merritt College in Oakland and served on its faculty for five years. From this experience she determined that nursing programs had to fulfill certain obligations for their students.

Soon after, Mrs. Searight was invited to join the U.C.faculty to prepare graduate students for junior college teaching. She admitted that it was "a wonderful opportunity" to travel in the U.S. and meet other educators.

Mrs. Searight also has spent several summers at the University of Minnesota, serving on its nursing faculty.

The new chairman left the U.C. faculty five years ago to enjoy a brief retirement. The Searights' 16-year-old daughter attends Piner High School and their son is a graduate of Evergreen College in Olympia, Wash. Mrs. Searight's husband is a stationery store owner in the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center.

She is the author of "Your Career In Nursing;" one of a series of career books aimed at junior and senior high school students. Her professional memberships include the Sonoma County board of directors for comprehensive health planning; Sonoma County health facility planning committee; Sigma Theta Tau; American Nurses Association; California Nurses Association, for which she serves as publicity chairman and a member of its education committee, and the Santa Rosa chapter of American Association of University Women.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Hope Your Freeloader Friend Has Taught You A Good Lesson

DEAR HELEN:

I treat my expensive deer rifle like a member of the family, and lend it only to people I can trust — even then, grudgingly.

This guy at the office is not in that category. He freeloads everything from cigarettes to weekends at your beach house (he just shows up), and he's good at turning "No" into "Yes."

When he asked to borrow my rifle for a deer trip, I made my big mistake. I didn't give a flat "No!" because his cousin (a guy I can trust) has used it the week before, which put me in an embarrassing spot. So I implied every way I could that he should go rent a gun: told him mine was worth $350 and could he afford a replacement? Said it didn't have a scratch on it — and besides I needed it in five days. I figured I'd discouraged him. But the next morning he came by the house and told my wife he was there to pick up the gun I'd so kindly offered him. Assured her he'd have it back by the time I needed it. What could she do? She lent it to him.

Well, the night before my deer trip, I called his house and his wife said, "Didn't you know? John won't be back till Sunday!"

I suppressed some choice phrases and asked, "What am I going to do without my rifle?" She suggested I go out and rent one!

The gun came home two weeks later (I went after it!). There's a big scratch on the stock and the scope is knocked out of line. I spent a whole day cleaning it and must take it to the shop for other work, perhaps major.

Would any jury convict me if I did what I'd like to do? — SEEING RED

DEAR S.R.:

Don't take a chance: all jurors aren't gun buffs.

Instead, send John the repair bill, plus an added fee for rent. And if he doesn't kick through, keep reminding him at the office — in front of your coworkers.

When people stop being polite to freeloaders, maybe they'll start paying their own way. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The neighborhood alley cat crawls in my car when it's parked outside. The other day I took off in a hurry and suddenly there was a screeching clawing fiend on my neck. (The cat likes cars, hates riding.)

Trying to fend the beast off, I lost control and rear-ended the car in front of me, which in turn hit the car in front of it.

I'm judged at fault, but the cat is the culprit. My insurance company may raise my premiums, not to speak of getting slapped with damage suits, plus having my car wrecked, and out of commission.

No one claims the cat. He just appeared one day, and scrounges food from people on the block. I can't sue an animal with no master. What recourse do I have? — CAT HATER

DEAR C.H.:

You need a lawyer, not a columnist! My only advice would be: find a home for that darn cat — perferably 500 miles away! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a suggestion:

As well all know, hospitals and nursing homes are notoriously understaffed. They epsecially need semitrained people who ill take the load off nurses. Patients need more tender loving care between shots and professional visits. There's also a shortage of janitors.

States are troubled with unemployment, spiraling relief rolls, etc. Why not put these unemployed persons to work where they could do the most good: in hospitals? If hospitals were unable to pay them, then let welfare recipients earn their checks. There's plenty to do! — SADLY NEGLECTED PATIENT

(This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

From Posh White House Post To Viet Scene

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Air Force officer is leaving a posh post at the White House to put in her stint in Vietnam. She hopes to become a general some day.

Capt. Darlene Brewer, 28, of LaHabre, leaves her job as White House social aid in December to take on her new military chores in Saigon as a communications officer.

Of her life at the White House, she said, "It's been a fantastic experience. But I'm leaving at a very good time — while I really enjoy it."

Captain Brewer wears dress uniforms for her duties at the First Lady's teas and receptions and she dons a long blue skirt with a matching jacket when she helps out at state dinners.

SHE IS one of five or six women who serve as presidential aides among some 20 other bachelor officers from the different services.

What impressed her the most was the First Family.

"They're so real," she said, "so down to earth. People in power are so warm."

Her job was to make guests feel at home in the White House and to see that the plans for the evening were carried out according to protocol.

She confesses that her evenings at the White House cut into her own personal night life, but they did not inhibit her. She found time at the end of the parties to get out on the dance floor for a few rock and roll numbers.

SHE IS a graduate of the University of California, where she majored in philosophy and minored in math.

But she said that she decided to join the military because "I wanted to do something. I believe in America. I had to be a helpful part."

Asked if she would like to reach the rank of general some day, she replied: "I would very much. That's what I'm shooting for."

Nader's Aid: Help From The Citizenry

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — During a question-and-answer session after announcing his massive probe of Congress, Ralph Nader was asked, "What do you consider the single most important shortcoming in this nation today?"

There was not the slightest pause.

"That's easy," he said. "It's abdication of citizenship."

HE WENT on to explain that he was not merely talking about the duty of voting in elections every few years.

"We can't just wait for elections in order to rid the country of pollution and other major problems," he said.

Nader said he was concerned about "the absence of small commitments from all kinds of people."

Also needed, he said, is the help of "full-timers."

"Part-time citizenship cannot work," he said, "if full-timers don't help. This is the essence of the democratic system."

He suggested that hordes of volunteers are needed to perform relatively minor roles in the larger struggles for improved living conditions and outlined how they could start the job.

He charged that Congress has abdicated its function of representing the people by allowing itself to be manipulated by special interests and government bureaucracy itself.

"MANY OF its (government) noblest programs are squandered or looted by the corporate state or turned into shocking opposites of what they were supposed to achieve," he said.

What is needed, he said, is a sweeping investigation of Congress. His aim is to furnish information to the public.

"What does the public know of Congress? he asked. "Not much at all."

He ventured an opinion that past efforts at internal reform by some Congressmen had failed "because they were largely undertaken with little understanding and less participation by citizens."

He called Congress "the prime lever of change and justice in our country."

"NOTHING REMOTELY compares with the Congress," he said, "as the hope of reclaiming America. In reclaiming the Congress, American revolutionizes itself. For in so doing, there is a required emergence of citizenship, expertise and stamina such as this country has never seen.

"It is every citizen's right and duty to strive for such development. And it should not have to be the equivalent of reaching for the stars . . .

"Traditionally, the political system in this country has led Americans to look to the Presidency for inspiration and leadership. But the Congress can be a more effective leader and shaper and receiver of democratic values in just action . . .

"IF INFORMATION is the currency of democracy, it is time to apply that principle to the sinews of citizenship involvement with their representatives in Congress. Who is to say that our Congressmen and Senators would not welcome the participation of the people?"

One questioner asked if he had any ambitions to become President.

None whatever, he said. "I am not interested at all in elective or appointive politics."

He said his goal was to work for "responsible citizenship, full-time!"

THIS FESTIVE Thanksgiving table decoration is made with chicken wire covered with a fabric impregnated with plaster of Paris. The cornucopia can be painted with a gilt paint and filled with fruits, flowers or decorations.

Festive, Economical Thanksgiving Look

The base is chicken wire or wire screening about 18 inches square, rolled diagonally to form a cone. Fasten edges with wire or twine so they do not spring apart. When cone is finished, twist the narrow end into the curling shape of the horn. Bend the wide edges of the wide mouth section back to form a rolled edge.

Cover the cone with eight-inch strips cut from a fabric impregnated with strong plaster of Paris available in three-inch rolls at hobby, art supply and department stores. Dip each strip in water, wring out gently and apply it over wire base. Smooth each strip with your fingers so that it blends and adheres to the wire and to adjacent strips. Continue until the entire horn is covered.

Allow the material to dry completely. This will take about 12 hours. To shorten drying time the finished cornucopia may be placed in a moderate oven, 300 degrees, for about one hour or it may be dried under a heat lamp.

The cornucopia can be painted with a gilt spray paint. However, a brushed-on gilt paint, enamels, oil based or latex base paints will work equally well.

Vows Said By Couple In San Rafael

Karen S. Zile and Capt. Albert V. Sangermano were married in San Rafael on Thursday.

Karen is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Glen E. Zile, and Captain Sangermano is the son of Mrs. Margaret Sangermano of Novato and Albert V. Sangermano of Glendale, Md.

The bride's only attendant was Michelle Courtz of Fairfax, and Tony Cahill of San Rafael served as best man.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and College of Marin. She was employed at the Emporium in Northgate. Donald G. Zile of Novato is her brother.

The bridegroom was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is the brother of Anna Maria Sangermano of Novato.

Dental Society Group Elects New Slate

Mrs. George S. Payne, a dental hygienist and wife of a Santa Rosa dentist, has been named prsident of the Women's Auxiliary to the Redwood Empire Dental Society.

Mrs. Payne has been a member 11 years and formerly served as hospitality, publicity and dental health chairman.

"Promoting the spirit of friendliness among dental families and seeking better dental health for children and adults is the prime purpose of the auxiliary," the new president stated.

Activities planned for the coming year include a joint meeting with the Napa Auxiliary; presentations of the Toy Dental Office in the Sonoma County Public Schools; a bookmark contest among elementary school students, and appearances of "The Magic Words," its puppet show. Any woman whose husband is a member of the Redwood Empire Dental Society is welcome to join.

Marilyn Payne is a native Californian. She is a graduate of the University of California and its dental school program for hygienists. The Paynes have been Sonoma County residents for 12 years and are the parents of Warren, 13, Janice, 12, and 10-year-old twins, Brian and John. She is a member of the Northern California Dental Hygienist Association. Her special interests include cooking, sewing, winter skiing, tennis and bicycling.

Serving with Mrs. Payne are Mmes. Robert Weis, president-elect; James McCartney, treasurer; Dudley Moore, corresponding secretary; Elwyn Thompson, recording secretary; Ray Olmo, dental health chairman; and Leo Lane, publicity and historian.

Mrs. Ralph Bright Is Head Of P-TA Unit

Petaluma Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association has named Mrs. Ralph Bright as its president.

Activities planned for the coming school year include a Christmas program and spring fashion show for students. Mrs. Bright states all parents are welcome to join the association and its primary purpose is to help the students.

A P-TA member for eight years, Marilyn Bright previously served as librarian, hot dog chairman, room mother and corresponding secretary for the McNear elementary school P-TA. She lists her special interests as children and being a primary teacher for the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints. Born in Susanville, she is a graduate of Corning Union High School.

The Brights are the parents of Timothy and Steven and have lived in Sonoma County 17 years. Mr. Bright is a counselor at Rohnert Park Junior High School.

Serving on the board of directors with Mrs. Bright are Mmes. Arthur Hagopian, vice president; Robert Stimson, secretary; and William Montgomery, treasurer.

Engagement Is Announced

Dr. and Mrs. David S. Sowell of Atlanta, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth to Lawrence L. Hoenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hoenig of San Rafael.

The sister of Jenny, Julie, Susan and David Sowell, the future bride was graduated from high school in Atlanta and from Vanderbilt University School of Nursing in Nashville, Tenn. She is employed by the Georgia Mental Health Institute in Atlanta.

Lawrence is the brother of Peter R. Hoenig. He was graduated from high school in Grand Junction, Colo., and from the University of Denver. The future bridegroom is in the Army stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga.

The couple plans to be married Jan. 16 in East Point, Ga.

Reason For Weight

No one food alone can cause an increase in weight, it is the excess in total calories over and above the body's needs that is stored as fat in the body, say nutrition consultants from the Dairy Council of California. For this reason, no one food or food group should be eliminated from the daily diet. You need foods from the milk group, the meat group, the vegetables and fruits group, and breads and cereals group.

A BREATH OF SEA AIR

Opera Star Simon Estes Finds Time To Experiment In Kitchen

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Horatio Alger himself couldn't have topped Simon Estes' life story as a poor boy who made good.

Estes, an opera star, is grandson of a slave and a pioneer labor organizer and son of a poor coal miner who became a school dropout in the third grade.

At high school in Centerville, Iowa, young Estes won letters for football and basketball and became the school's leading high-jumper and starting baseball pitcher. He sang regularly in both the school chorus and his church choir.

He washed dishes to work his way through college, won a full scholarship to New York's prestigious Juilliard School of Music, and paid for his room and board there by more dishwashing and working the 5 a.m. shift on a building demolition crew.

AFTER LEAVING Juilliard, he won the silver medal of Moscow's First International Tschaikovsky Vocal Competition. He sings with many of Europe's and America's leading opera companies and symphony orchestras. The National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C., chose him as soloist with Antal Dorati for a performance of William Schuman's "A Free Son" on the opening night of the concert hall of Washington's John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. This summer he presented a concert in Marin County.

Along the way, he also learned to cook.

In an interview here, Estes said he had to learn "for survival on a limited budget in college."

He added the he still enjoys cooking as a hobby. That in fact, it can't be separated from his singing career.

"We opera singers have to watch our diet. We have to eat well to have the energy to sing well.

"All the foods I cook are terribly fattening. You burn up so much energy performing, studying and rehearsing." Engagements throughout Europe and America mean a lot of eating out.

"I don't really go in for complicated cooking when I'm on tour," he said. He usually eats in restaurants on European tours. But if the engagement is a long one, he sometimes sets up housekeeping.

ESTES SAID he does most cooking in the kitchen of his upper Fifth Avenue apartment here, with ingredients from a nearby supermarket. "I like basic foods, a nice meat loaf, spaghetti, chili, fillets of sole, steak, pork chops, soul fried chicken.

Estes said his ideas for cooking come from his mother. But he's innovative. He uses sirloin instead of a cheaper cut of beef for both chili and meat loaf. He cooks meat loaf only to the medium stage, so it's still pink in the center. He sometimes skins chicken before preparing it for frying, and he uses butter for the more traditional lard or vegetable shortening in frying it. Sometimes, he also substitutes garlic salt for plain salt.

He surely didn't learn that from his mother.

No, said Estes with a smile.

One of his favorite recipes is for mashed potatoes. Even they differ from the usual. He said he uses about eight red-skinned spuds about two or three inches in diameter, plus one-fourth pound of butter and an unspecified amount of heavy cream. He boils and mashes the unskinned potatoes, first by hand and then with a battery-operated gadget. This amount serves four.

He cooks them in authentic skillet size with a filling of raw apples, cinnamon and sugar. Powdered sugar is the usual topping, but he sometimes uses blue cheese instead.

Estes said that cooking is fun, but it is not his major hobby.

"I know it sounds corny, but my biggest hobby is people. I like to see them get along."

Drawing on his college studies in behavorial sciences, he lectures to university and high school groups. The subjects he covers include narcotics and social relationships between blacks and whites, between religious groups and between students and faculty, students and parents and students and students.

ON THE AGENDA

International Food And Drink Festival Is Scheduled Saturday

The League of Women Voters of Southern Marin Gala International Food and Drink Festival will be held Saturday at 5 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William McDougal in Sausalito.

Foods from 10 countries are being prepared by Mmes. McDougla, David Rose, Jules Becker, Lowell Chamberlain and Rahn Ruedy.

Committee chairmen are Mmes. Ruedy, decorations; Philip Pease, reservations; and Charles McGranaghan and Samuel Hock, publicity.

A CHRISTMAS bazaar and luncheon will be held Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. at Burgar Hall in Fairfax to benefit the joint Christian education programs of the Fairfax Community Church and St. Augustine's Episcopal Church in Fairfax.

Handmade articles and home baked goods will be for sale.

WANDA RAMEY will moderate a panel discussion, "A Shared Neurosis," tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Edna Maguire School in Mill Valley.

The program is the last in the Search for Identity series sponsored by Marin YWCA and the Marin Jewish Community Center.

THE PETALUMA Newcomers Club monthly coffee will be held tomorrow at 10 a.m. at the home of Mrs. Ernest Mitchell in Petaluma.

Mrs. Nicholas Romaine is reservations chairman.

SEVERAL HUSBANDS will take over operation of the Sausalito Salvage Shop tomorrow so their wives, who usually run the shop, can attend a luncheon honoring Mrs. Cyril G. Hansen, who has served as chairman of the shop for three years.

Husbands of the volunteers who will work are W. L. C. Brown, Trudell and Arthur Smithies. J. F. Valley, who lives across the street from the shop, will also work.

DRAMA-LITERARY Section of the Tamalpais Centre Woman's Club will hear a review by Mrs. Margaret Sanborn of the book, "The Divine Mistress," by Samuel Edwards Friday at noon at the clubhouse in Kentfield.

Mrs. Sanborn is the author of two books, "Robert E. Lee, A Portrait," and "Robert E. Lee, the Complete Man." Edward's book is the biography of Mme. Emilie du Chatelet, mistress of Voltaire.

ROSS VALLEY Council of the Parent-Teacher Association will have a panel discussion by local educators discussing "Financing in Our Schools" at the meeting tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at Redwoods Presbyterian Church in Larkspur.

GUESTS ARE invited to gather around a fondue pot at the Belvedere home of Janet Sawyer tomorrow night at 6 o'clock at a party to benefit Planned Parenthood Association.

Chairman Mrs. Ian White is assisted by Mmes. B. M. Flemming, Richard Finnie, Frances Lowry, Christian Gronbeck, Lawrence Jett, Phillip Lamoreaux, Ellis Stephens, William Stout and Miss Phillipa Denning-Kemp.

Hosts are Drs. Leo Wagner, W. J. Dawson and Julian Lifschiz and Messrs. Charles Gompertz, Theodore Martin, Laurence Higbie, Robert Johnson, Van Norden Logan, John Mueller, Peter Palmer, Douglas Quiett, James Reed III and Edward Thomson.

THE NOVATO High School Parent-Faculty Club will meet tonight at 8:15 o'clock at the high school. The program will be a dramatic production by Russell A. Dreosch and a panel discussion on vocational education.

Panel members will be Mayor Joseph Gargiulo, coordinator of adult, vocational education and work experience with the Novato Unified School District; Douglas Moore, director of vocational education, Marin Career Education Program; Sue Weinheimer, counselor, Terra Linda executive committee of the Marin County Industry, Education Council; Mary D. Milbrandt, secretarial instructor, Novato High School, Robert C. White, vocational auto mechanics instructor, Novato High School, Christopher M. Radovan, vocational plastics instructor, Novato High School, Robert J. Eddy, counselor; and Stanley V. Onderdonk, principal, Novato High School.

THE TAMALPAIS Valley School Parent-Teacher Association will hold a book fair Friday and Saturday at the Tamalpais Valley Improvement clubhouse from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. both days.

Toys and records will also be sold as well as books, and refreshments will be available for shoppers.

Art Center Gets A Chance On Tenancy

The Sausalito School District board has given the Sausalito Art Center one more chance to settle its differences with the district and retain its tenancy in the old Bayside School.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the board Monday directed him to prepare a written lease with the center and bring it back at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district office.

If the board approves, the lease will be sent to the art center board for approval. If the lease has not been returned to the district by Nov. 22, Lindberg said, the board said it will evict the art center.

The squabble over the lease began July 11 when the board voted to evict it within 30 days because a lease signed in April 1969 was never ratified by the federal government — one of the conditions under which the lease was granted.

Lindberg said the government, which owns the land on which Bayside School was built, had notified the district of two things about the lease that made it unacceptable: that it ran for five years instead of one and that only the art center could cancel it.

Lindberg said the new contract will up the rent paid by the center from $80 to $150 per month, include a clause giving the Sausalito district the power to cancel with 90 days notice (a power not included in the old lease) and run for one year.

In other business, the board declined to reopen the question of leasing Manzanita School to the Marin City Learning Center for use as a private school.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks, chairman of the Marin City Council, had requested that the board reconsider its denial of the school building for the learning center.

At tomorrow's adjourned meeting, the board will consider leasing a portion of Central School to College of Marin for an evening adult education program.

Tree-Planting Party Is Set

The Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association has approved a tree-planting party at La Tercera Park for Nov. 20.

Publicity chairman Donna Tyson said association members will seek volunteers to assist in planting 80 trees at the park adjacent to La Tercera School. She said work would begin at 8 a.m. and continue the next day, if necessary, to get the trees planted.

Refreshments will be served and babysitting services will be available. Mrs. Tyson said volunteers should bring wheelbarrows, shovels and picks with them if possible.

Second Session Of Fall Classes Set

The Terra Linda Recreation-Park District has announced its second session of fall classes will begin Monday.

Classes include cake decorating, knitting, upholstering, painting, belly dancing, macrame and ballet for children. Details may be obtained from the parks and recreation office.

Mezzo Will Present Inverness Concert

A program entitled "The Color of Songs," with mezzo-soprano Roberta Wain and pianist Loyd Carroll, will be presented at St. Columba's Episcopal Church, Inverness, at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 21.

The program will feature French folk songs of Britten, the Chansons de Bilitis of Debussy, Israeli songs and works by Handel, Mozart, and Ives. The concert will be presented by the Fine Arts Guild of San Francisco.

Miss Wain recently appeared as "Suzuki" in Madama Butterfly at the Inverness Music Festival. She has performed major roles with the Goldovsky Opera Institute, the East Bay Opera League, the San Francisco Musical Club, the San Francisco Opera Guild Talent Bank, Oakland Symphony, and the University of Southern California Opera Theater and Symphony.

Stage Band Festival Set At College

Four local bands will be among the 21 from 10 counties competing in the second annual Redwood Empire stage band festival Nov. 20 at Sonoma State College.

Local bands will include last year's winner, Kenilworth Junior High School, Petaluma, directed by M. Elaine Gillespie; San Rafael High School jazz ensemble, directed by Terry Summa, and its stage band directed by Charlene Wilkerson; Terra Linda High School band, directed by Gordon Lowe; and Petaluma Senior High School band, directed by John Schuster.

Competition will begin at 8 a.m. and continue through 6 p.m. A mass concert will start at 8:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Trophies will be awarded to the best bands and a special best-player trophy will be given by the musician's union, Local 292. Clinics for brass, woodwinds, percussion and guitar will be held throughout the day.

Guest musician will be Bobby Bryant, lead trumpeter with the National Broadcasting Corp. orchestra in Los Angeles. Bryant will perform with Walt Oster's concert jazz ensemble during the evening concert, as well as at a clinic during the day.

More than 1,500 persons attended last year's evening performance. Information and ticket reservations may be obtained by calling the college office of instructional services.

Comedy By The Bard Due Friday

The Novato High School Drama Club's production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," opens at 8:30 p.m., Friday in the old gymnasium.

The girls roles are double cast. Playing Olivia are Lori Gieleghem and Cindy Crabtree. Viola is played by Jan Denny and Robin Proett. Maria is played by Sue Smith and Leda Secrist.

Orsino will be portrayed by Donald Wilson, Malvolio by Todd Young, Feste by Andrew Cilley, Sir Andrew by Guy Ridley, Sir Toby by Larry Lee and Sebastian by Steven Kollgaard.

The play is directed by Russell J. Dreosch.

Fake Money Seven Are Arraigned

I-J Special Report

Five of the seven have been released on $1,000 bonds and another on $5,000 bail to appear in U.S. District Court for a preliminary hearing Nov. 29.

The seventh person, Billy Ray Neal, 29, of Riverbank, Stanislaus County, was held at San Fancisco City Prison in lieu of $10,000 bail. He has a preliminary hearing set for Nov. 18.

All were charged with possessing counterfeit money.

Lloyd Benny Sanders, 28, of San Rafael, was released on $5,000 bail. Released on $1,000 bonds were: Louise Ann Whitney, 23, Arthur John Shannon, 42, and William Staurt Brockus, 35, all of San Rafael; Duane Edward Worrell, 34, of Novato, and Shirley Evon Neal, 27, of Riverbank.

The arrests, Saturday and Sunday, ended a three-week investigation by U.S. Secret Service agents and San Rafael police which began with the passing of four fake $100 bills at San Rafael businesses last month.

Brockus was arrested with more than $9,000 in phony $20 bills in a Francisco Boulevard parking lot.

Mementos Of World Fairs On Display

Mementos of world fairs from 1895 to the present time, collected by Robert Collins of Olema, are on display this month at the Novato Branch of the Marin County Library.

Black and white photographs by Richard Lilli of Novato are also displayed on the bulletin boards. Art works from Ronald C. Jolliffe's art class at San Marin High School are also on display.

Policeman's Ouster Questioned By Judge

The Sausalito City Council may have exceeded its legal authority in dismissing instead of demoting Sgt. Thomas H. Zink in May of 1970, a Marin Superior Court judge indicated yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, however, asked for more written arguments from attorneys for the city and for Zink before he makes a decision, sometime after Nov. 26.

Zink, 33, was fired in May of last year on various allegations including "emotional instability," inability to get along with his subordinates, appearing late for work, not wearing a necktie, and coming to work with alcohol on his breath.

He won a hearing before state hearing officer Paul A. Winton last December.

Winton found no evidence of "emotional instability" or his inability to get along with his men, but held that he had exercised bad judgment and neglect on some occasions. On that basis, Winton recommended that Zink be reinstated to the police force but demoted to patrolman.

Last Sept. 7, the Sausalito City Council, after a series of closed meetings, upheld its previous firing and refused to reinstate Zink, even as patrolman.

Yesterday, Judge Wilson said he has no quarrel with the recommended demotion, but fears the city council might have abused its discretionary powers in reversing Winton's recommendation without another hearing, noted the council supported Winton's findings, if not his decision.

Throughout the hearing before Winton, "it is quite clear that emotional and mental instability was the principal thrust," said Judge Wilson. Yet, the hearing officer had found no evidence of emotional instability or inability to get along with his men.

The judge wondered how the city council could come up with the identical findings as Winton's and still vote for dismissal when Winton recommended only a demotion.

Leland H. Jordan, city attorney for Sausalito, argued that the city has the authority to come up with a different decision from the same findings.

"The city adopted word for word the findings of the hearing officer and then it changed the penalty," declared Leech. "It clearly abused its discretion. It was 100 per cent political."

The judge took the case under submission and asked the attorneys to submit briefs by Nov. 26.

Art Show To Open Friday

The third annual art show sponsored by Village Frames and Gallery of Fairfax will open Friday and run through Monday at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

Hours on Friday and Monday will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Art Education Workshop Set

An art education workshop and demonstration will be given Nov. 20 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bernard Eldredge School, Petaluma.

Program coordinators are George Gunter of the Sonoma County Office of Education and Robert K. Gronendyke, art professor at Sonoma State College.

A staff of 35 volunteers will conduct art-in-action projects, including wax casting, macrame, Raku ceramics and acrylic painting.

Baroque Concert In Mill Valley

A free public concert of baroque and renaissance music for brass and organ will be presented by the Marin Chamber Ensemble Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, the ensemble will be composed of Jack Tyler and Ellis Anderson, trumpets; David Murray and William Duggin, trombones, and Terry Bozzio, percussion. All are members of the College of Marin community band. Dr. Wolff will play the organ.

The ensemble will perform works by Purcell, Vivaldi, Stanley, J. S. Bach, Handel, Albinoni, Gabrieli, Marcello and Mendelssohn.

Memorial For Garden Club

The Novato Garden Club will dedicate a special grove of rhododendron in Pioneer Memorial Park, Novato, at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

The grove, starting with 10 bushes and serving as a memorial to the 37-year-old club, will be expanded with annual plantings.

Rev. Wilbur J. Bullard of Bethel Baptist Church will give the opening invocation. Joan Whitten of the garden club will be the speaker. Lela Von Tagen is chairman of the dedication.

ATTENDS FBI ACADEMY

Corte Madera's Police Chief Will Put Ideas Into Action

By LARRY MOWELL

Chief David L. McIntosh of the Corte Madera police has returned from the Federal Bureau of Investigation's National Academy in Washington, D.C. brimming with ideas to improve his force.

Back to work only since Monday after 12 weeks of study at the FBI-sponsored school on police work, McIntosh has already begun to revamp police practices in Corte Madera.

He told tme Independent-Journal yesterday that beginning in early December two officers will ride in each prowl car on weekend nights. Although it will reduce the number of patroling vehicles from three to two, it will be safer for patrolmen, he said.

McIntosh, who returned with a shelf of texts on law enforcement, said the courses covered police-community relations, investigation, management, narcotics and laws governing police work.

McIntosh said he picked up useful information in each phase of study, but most of the changes he said he plans are in the areas of management and community relations.

"I want to get involved in some programs with the business people and see what the police department might be able to suggest to cut down crimes," the chief said.

He said police will suggest ways to rearrange shelves, add lighting and change design to discourage shoplifting and robbery.

Police will also meet with homeowners' groups to point out ways to cut down burglaries, the chief said.

Those programs will be the most visible to the public, but the chief is planning some in-house changes he thinks will improve the force.

He spoke of "getting the men in the department involved in actually setting up some objectives for the department" and of delegating more authority to supervisors.

Stricter educational requirements may also be instituted in an effort to upgrade the force, the chief said. "I think that if police departments in general want to be accepted as a profession, they are going to have to raise their education as well as their training."

He said that beginning in two or three years a man seeking promotion to sergeant will need 20 units in college police courses. A lieutenant may need 30 units of college credit, he said.

Presently, the requirement is a high school diploma or equivalent, the chief said.

Structured training will be increased too, McIntosh said. Patrolmen now learn from on-the-job training, he said, but they need more information.

The chief outlined a plan including eight hours of training a month of subjects ranging from court decisions affecting police work to flagging down speeding motorists.

McIntosh graduated from the FBI school in Washington Nov. 3 with 99 other police administrators. Chiefs Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo and Howard C. Clark of Larkspur attended previous sessions of the school.

San Anselmo Council Rejects The Colonel

Upholding a planning commission decision, the council unanimously decided that a Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken establishment proposed for 634 San Anselmo Avenue is barred by the zoning ordinance.

The ordinance bans takeout restaurants from the downtown area so the chicken firm asked first the planners, then the council, to declare its proposed outlet a retail store.

Councilmen shot down the request despite claims by an attorney that the zoning ordinance is unconstitutional and unlawful. Attorney Julius Sellinger, representing the colonel, charged the ordinance is discriminatory.

However, Councilman Warren R. Perry, also an attorney, said takeout restaurants are barred to prevent traffic congestion, not because councilmen dislike takeout restaurants.

The council also refused a request by Sellinger for a statement that applying for variance and for rezoning would be futile. All administrative remedies must be exhausted before such an issue can be taken to court.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

CEDARS ANNEXATION — Refused to annex the property of the Cedars Development School near Red Hill School until proper police and fire access is built.

LIBRARIANS — Appointed Linda Hickman a full-time librarian at $582 a month and Jane Sheeks a part-time librarian at one-third that rate.

TYPEWRITER — Agreed by a 3-2 vote, Warren R. Perry and Woodrow V. Capurro dissenting, to purchase a $567 typewriter for a new employee to be hired with federal funds under the emergency employment program.

DISASTER ORDINANCE — Asked the city attorney to draft an ordinance setting up organizations to deal with disasters.

GAS PUMP — Agreed to purchase a used gasoline pump for the city corporation yard for $185 from Myrich Equipment Company of Santa Rosa.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Nov. 23 and set an adjourned meeting for Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. to discuss the countywide master plan with the planning commission and county planning staff.

Marin Car Thief Gets 60 Days

Daryl Lloyd Waddell, 19, no known address, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail for car theft.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for two years.

Waddell and Robert Ben Choate, 19, of Modesto, were arrested Sept. 17 and charged with burglarizing the residence of Milton Morse, 116 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, and stealing Mrs. Morse's car, as well as misdemeanor counts of reckless driving and hit-and-run.

Waddell pleaded guilty to the car theft and the other charges were dismissed.

Choate is awating trial in superior court.

'71 Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The 1971 cotton crop has been estimated at 10,718,900 bales, slightly above the October forecast and 5 per cent larger than last year's yield.

Education Report For Dinner Meeting

Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee, will discuss "Education Legislation, 1971" at a dinner meeting of the Marin County School Boards Association on Nov. 18.

Greene will give special attention to the new tenure law enacted by Assembly Bill 293, according to Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools. The meeting will be at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael, with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Hub May Break From Flood Unit

The San Anselmo City Council, unhappily wed to the Ross Valley Flood Control District for six years, made noises last night about seeking a divorce.

The council decided to discuss on Nov. 23 whether it should try to disassociate itself with the flood control district which maintains the concrete channel built in Corte Madera Creek by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The idea was raised by Councilman James F. Reed while the council was considering directing its staff to continue to negotiate a joint powers agreement with the Marin County Flood Control Agency, which includes the Ross Valley district.

"If we legally can, I still want out," Reed said. Reed charged the district may use its taxing power to force the city to allow a concrete channel through it.

When the city agreed to a joint powers agreement in 1965, it did not join the flood control zone, but agreed to pay up to five cents per $100 assessed evaluation for maintenance of the creek project downstream.

Since then, the council has shown hostility to the flood control project. In June it refused to listen to an Army Corps of Engineers flood control proposal, calling its work through Ross, Kentfield and Larkspur into Corte Madera a "concrete bathtub."

When Reed called last night for withdrawing from the project and correcting flood problems locally, he was joined by Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro opposed the divorce saying, "We are a part of this district whether we think we are or not."

Horse Ordinance Changes Ordered

The San Anselmo City Council jockeyed around the track an ordinance aimed at horses, then sent it back to the barn for changes in its trappings.

While about 40 persons listened quietly, the council aired the proposed ordinance developed by the planning commission, then referred it to City Atty. John G. Buresh so that changes can be included.

Only minor changes were made during 90 minutes of discussion that began with councilmen stating approval of the rough draft.

The proposed ordinance, inspired by complaints about horses kept on private properties, would require owners of large animals to buy an annual license costing $5, the same fee charged for dog licenses.

An additional fee of $20 would be charged for investigation of complaints received within 20 days after notice of the license application is posted.

Poor sanitary conditions, brutality and odor are listed as causes for revocation of a license.

The ordinance would cover not only horses — estimated by city officials to number about 20 — but ocelots and other pets.

The ordinance was fought at the planning commission level, but no opposition was voiced at its trial run with the city council.

San Franciscan Jailed In Marin

Stanley Charles Brown, 21, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail for burglary.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for a year.

Brown was arrested March 11 after Ruth Wilson of 740 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, found him in her home. He pleaded guilty to that burglary. An additional charge that he burglarized the residence of William V. Heaney, 570 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley, the same day, was dismissed.

Disposal Site's Closing Time

The Sonoma County Refuse Disposal site on Meacham Road, north of Petaluma, will close at 4 p.m. rather than 5 p.m., according to Asst. County Public Works Directer Duane Butler.

He said the earlier closing time is necessary to allow workers time to haul in cover material and spread it over the daily accumulation of refuse.

The refuse site on Stage Gulch Road between Petaluma and Sonoma, meanwhile, will remain open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. All sites are closed only on major holidays.

Report On Grades Due In Larkspur

The Larkspur School District board will consider a report by a committee studying combining seventh and eighth grade students at two schools at its regular meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the district office.

Consolidating the junior high school students at Henry C. Hall and Neil Cummins schools has been under study because of a decrease in enrollment.

Street Blockade In Hub Must Go

The San Anselmo City Council last night ordered that the barricades on embattled Ramona Way be torn down within 72 hours.

The edict was a defeat for property owners adjoining the lane who put posts in the old road Oct. 17 to keep out motorists they claimed kept running into their properties and littering their yards.

The barricades almost immediately drew criticism from motorists and 37 persons petitioned the city Oct. 22 for removal. No action was taken until last night because the little alley between Oak Knoll Avenue in San Anselmo and Hill Avenue in Fairfax was never formally dedicated to the city.

While skirting the issue of whether the lane was tacitly dedicated, the council did decide it has been used by the public more than 60 years and therefore should be open.

The council action came after about five persons called for removal of the posts planted between 125 Oak Knoll Avenue, the home of Michael C. Wigell, and 127 Oak Knoll, the home of John Hubbell.

Minority Pact Signed By Union

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Operating Engineers Union Local 3 has signed the first minority-quota agreement under the state's recently revised apprenticeship standards program.

The union agreed to guarantee minority youth apprenticeships in proportion to the local mix of the population in the 46 Northern California counties in the local's jurisdiction.

The area includes 11.1 per cent persons of Spanish surnames, 7 per cent blacks, 3.7 per cent Orientals and .004 per cent American Indian, the agreement said.

Union spokesman A.A. Pennebaker said Local 3 normally has 450 to 550 apprentices a year in Northern California and the current minority ratio is 16 per cent.

South Proves His Worth In Making An Ice-Cold Contract

"Don't do anything brilliant," North begged his partner. "Just make your ice-cold contracts." It sounded like a very reasonable request, but I suspect that most bridge players would fall into the trap that engulfed poor South.

HIGH CARDS

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and immediately cashed the ace and king of hearts to get rid of the diamond loser. Then he led a club from dummy, finessing with the jack.

West won with the ace of clubs and returned a diamond to make South ruff. Declarer led the jack of spades to force out the queen, and back came a diamond to make South ruff for the third time. Since three rounds of trumps had been led and South had ruffed three times, no trumps were left.

FALLS SHORT

South had taken three trumps and had won three tricks in the red suits. Now he cashed the king of clubs, but his tricks ran out abruptly. East won the next trick with the queen of clubs and led a heart to defeat the contract.

Declarer lost his contract when he cashed the top hearts. He should try a finesse with the jack of clubs at the second trick. West takes the ace of clubs and a diamond trick and then maes declarer ruff a diamond.

MUST SWITCH

South leads a trump to the queen, and now the defenders must switch to hearts. Declarer takes the top hearts, wins a finesse with the ten of clubs and leads a trump to force out the king.

The defenders get three trumps, a diamond and a club, but South makes his ice-cold contract.

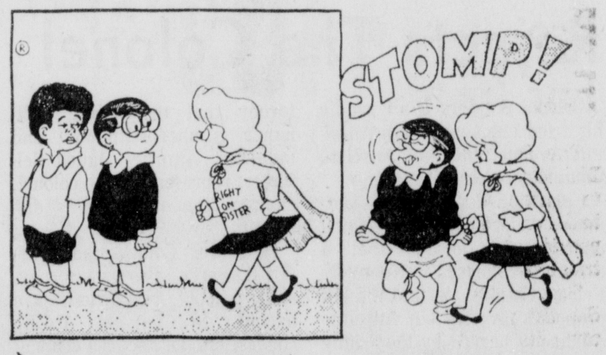
Jail Term For Drug Forgery

Jody Catline, 32, of Petaluma, has been sentenced to 20 days in Marin County Jail for forging a prescription for narcotics.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed her on probation for two years.

Mrs. Catline was arrested May 8 after attempting to fill two prescriptions at Northgate Drugs in Northgate Shopping Center.

WEE PALS



Guilty Plea To Reduced Count

Mardell Green, 45, of Marin City, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon.

She is to be sentenced Dec. 6.

Mrs. Green, who was originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was arrested March 27 after she allegedly shot Johnny A. Young of Marin City at her residence following an argument over another woman, according to the sheriff's office.

MARTI PARACHINI
Eagle scout

Hub Scout Earns His Eagle Rank

Marti Parachini of San Anselmo has received scouting's highest honor — the Eagle rank — during a court of honor at the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

Parachini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Parachini of 118 Sycamore Avenue, is a freshman at Sierra College in Placer County.

A graduate of Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael and Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, he started as a Cub Scout in Pack 5, San Anselmo, then joined Troup 6, also San Anselmo. He has served as an assistant senior patrol leader, senior patrol leader, quartermaster and as a troop instructor. Later, he became junior assistant scoutmaster and a member of the Order of the Arrow.

He attended the Seventh National Jamboree in Idaho and was at the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

Besides scouting, he is interested in forestry. Parachini, after receiving an associate of arts degree in woodwork, plans to study further in forest management.

Tank Will Provide Fuel For Buses

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board last night agreed to install a 1,000-gallon fuel tank on district property to provide gasoline for the district's two new school buses.

Supt. Lester M. Horning said the district, which began operating its own buses this year, could save 15 cents per gallon on gasoline purchased through the county.

He said the board told him to buy the tank either from Petroleum Engineering Inc. of Santa Rosa for $1,370 or to find a lower bidder. He also was instructed to hunt for a gasoline pump for the lowest possible cost.

The board also approved leasing the old Sinson Beach School to the Stinson Beach Youth Center for a teen center and told the group it could proceed with renovating the building.

No class has been conducted at the site since the new Stinson Beach School burned down in April 1970. The old school building was not being used for classes because of earthquake danger, Horning said. A formal lease for $1 per year will be drawn up by the Marin County Counsel's office.

The board also awarded a $2,141 contract to Robert Kunst of San Rafael to paint the old Bolinas School; a $2,000 contract to Modernfold Inc. of Redwood City for portable panels for the new Bolinas school, and agreed to purchase a renovated copy machine for $595.

15 Days In Jail On Dope Charge

A Novato man has been fined and sentenced to jail and his wife fined in Marin Superior Court for possessing marijuana.

Kenneth Edward Freedman, 22, was fined $500 and sentenced to 15 days in Marin County Jail. His wife, Laurie Beth Freedman, 20, was fined $250.

Judge E. Warren McGuire also placed them both on probation for a year.

They were arrested June 23 when Marin drug abuse agents obtained a search warrant for their residence after marijuana plants were seen in their backyard.

Consolidation Is Rejected By Panel

The Novato Sanitary District board has rejected any proposed consolidation with other sanitary districts in Marin County or consolidation with the North Marin County Water District.

Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph said the district board, meeting Monday night, sent a letter to county officials which pointed out that countywide consolidation was ill-advised because Northern Marin conditions are not similar to Southern Marin's and that proposed merger of the sanitary and water districts was defeated at the polls two years ago.

The letter also noted that the district already is working with six other sanitary agencies in the North Marin-Southern Sonoma area on a subregional sewer agency and that the district has completed a $5.5 million upgrading program ordered by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

An amendment to the state constitution in 1950 gave women the right to hold elective office in Oklahoma.

Arraignment For Peterson

David George Peterson, 24, of Woodacre, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of possessing marijuana and a misdemeanor charge of obtaining drugs by false pretenses.

He is to plead to the charges Tuesday.

Peterson was arrested Saturday after returning to a Novato drugstore to have a prescription, made out by a "Dr. Schmitz," refilled.

The druggist became suspicious and called police who discovered that Peterson had been posing as a physician in ordering drugs for fictitious patients by telephone.

Police said Peterson had a quantity of marijuana when he was arrested.

Are You An Intelligent Buyer

Do you buy snow skis in April? Swim suits in October? Christmas cards in January?
If so, then you know the best time to buy a sports car is at the end of summer.
So here it is! Our "End of Summer" Sale. We have the LARGEST selection of roadsters and sports coupes in Marin Co. Quality and prices you can't believe.

In fact, we'll show you what "Kelley Blue Book" prices are and you can come in and make us an offer. You may be surprised at what we will take. Try us.

'69 Fiat 124 Spider — Blue Book $2505 — Make offer

'66 Porsche 912 Coupe — Blue Book $3020 — Make offer

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Outbreaks During Past Decade Lead To 'New Orleans Asthma'

During the past 10 years periodic outbreaks of asthma have occurred in New Orleans. When the wheezing begins, more than 100 victims may be admitted to the Charity Hospital in a 24-hour period. The condition is not as prevalent outside the city and consequently has been dubbed New Orleans asthma.

Studies have demonstrated that many of the victims have a family history of allergy and have the usual manifestations of high sensitivity. Skin tests are positive for a variety of local airborne substances. A group of physicians recently conducted a study of the weather conditions (including climatic factors) during each epidemic. Epidemics reach a peak during September, October and November. Seasonal temperatures are 45 degrees Fahrenheit or less and the relative humidity is 45 per cent or less.

THE LOW humidity favors the spread of airborne allergens and the cooler air induces bronchial spasm. Both of these factors are conducive to asthma but of little help in solving the problem. At this time of year, the wind is from the southwest and of low velocity. In New Orleans, the peak of the ambrosia (ragweed) pollination has been reached and is on the decline. The ragweed causes hay fever but, in many, this is followed by asthma. The victims are still in a state of hypersensitivity and must now also contend with more respiratory infections and molds. Although tests have shown that the allergic condition is not triggered by any specific chemicals in the air, the population is exposed to the dust and the usual urban pollutants that begin to accumulate with the onset of cooler weather.

ALLERGISTS in many parts of the country have noted an increase in asthma at the end of the hay fever season. Molds, infections, and air pollution also play a role, but apparently the condition reaches epidemic proportions in New Orleans and allergists agree that the asthma deserves to be named after our southern metropolis.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

THREE QUART A DAY

D. E. D. writes: Will drinking three quarts of fluids every day make the kidneys work too hard?

REPLY

No. This is their job and I've never known them to complain or balk because they had too much to do. The exception is when the tissues get waterlogged and the legs puffy (edema).

VIRUS AND CANCER

Mr. T. Y. writes: What do you think of the new theory that cancer is caused by a virus?

REPLY

This theory is not new, and there is a possibility that viruses are responsible for certain cancers. There are many different types of cancer, and we have no reason to believe that all have the same causative agent.

BLOOD LOSS

R. W. writes: What do black stools and anemia add up to?

REPLY

Internal bleeding, probably from peptic ulcer, or broken veins in the lower part of the esophagus (gullet). Blood turns black when mixed with stomach acids.

BREAKING THE EARDRUM

T. W. writes: Can you perforate an eardrum by blowing the nose too hard?

REPLY

Yes, but in such instances, the drum usually has been weakened by prior infection.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Consulting Fees Called 'Exorbitant'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California state government has squandered millions since 1966 by spending $32 million for consultant work, most of which could have been performed by state employes, a legislative committee charges.

Democratic Assemblyman Vincent Thomas of San Pedro, chairman of the watchdog Joint Legislative Audit Committee, said Tuesday "This is an exorbitant amount to be paid by state agencies for consultant fees."

He estimated that the state could have saved as much as $20 million over the past five years by doing the work itself.

The 65-page report listed hundreds of contracts ranging from courses on "effective writing" to financial planning and control which were awarded without competitive bidding.

And it said, "No meaningful review is made regularly of consulting contracts by any of the state's control agencies."

The study quoted the state Administrative Manual as stating that agencies "will make conscientious efforts to secure at least three competitive bids on all contracts. . ." Exceptions were made for agreements between state agencies and for architecture and engineering consultant contracts.

The top spender for consulting contracts was the Department of Water Resources which ran up a bill of $8.4 million during the five-year period, according to the report.

The Department of Public Works spent $6.6 million, state colleges $4.1 million, the Department of Education $3.2 million and the Justice Department $1.5 million.

Six organizations, including the University of California, received more than $1 million worth of consulting contracts.

CRIMINALS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment which would require defendants in criminal cases to be represented by attorneys has been approved by the Assembly.

The Assembly passed the measure by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, on a 55-0 vote Tuesday and returned it to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

If the Senate goes along with lower house changes, the proposed constitutional amendment would be submitted to the voters for approval next year.

DEFENDER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state public defender's office would be created under a bill which passed the Assembly and has been returned to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

The measure by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was approved Tuesday on a 48-8 vote.

The state public defender, who would be paid $35,000 a year, would handle appeals by convicted persons unable to pay the cost of an attorney.

Two More Arrests On Phony Bills

San Rafael police said two men were arrested yesterday at their homes on warrants issued by U.S. Secret Service agents. Johnnie Rodriquez, 40, of 23 Sonoma Street, San Rafael and Leonard S. Fabian, 33, of 9 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing counterfeit money.

On Sunday, $9,000 in counterfeit money was seized and seven persons arrested when San Rafael police and Secret Service agents broke up a phony money operation in San Rafael.

Those arrests culminated a three-week investigation begun when four counterfeit $100 bills were passed at San Rafael businesses starting Oct. 15, police said.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

Dale Adrien Hein, 32, of Ukiah, Mendocino County, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of disturbing the peace.

He is to be sentenced Dec. 10.

Hein was arrested Oct. 28 on a warrant charging he hit James Wallace of San Rafael over the head with a barstool and took $810 from him on Oct. 14 at a San Anselmo tavern.

Hein is the uncle of Wallace's wife.

He was originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft, but the assault charge was reduced yesterday and Judge Robert A. Smallman indicated the grand theft charge would be dismissed when Hein is sentenced on the misdemeanor.

Injured Worker Is 'Satisfactory'

A 21-year-old Novato man who suffered severe facial injuries in an industrial accident at a Novato feed mill was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Melvin Sjoblom of 1891 Marion Avenue suffered a shattered jaw and lost numerous teeth Tuesday at the H. Pini and Co. feed mill at 730 DeLong Avenue. The mishap occurred shortly after 9 a.m.

Special Closed-Door Session Tomorrow

The Cotati City Council will meet in a special closed-door session at 7:30 p.m. today to air complaints arising from differences between City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen and Police Chief Tony Locarini.

The council held a similar session last month. Locarini reportedly is looking for another job.

Three Injured In Auto Accidents In Novato

One person has been hospitalized and two others injured in separate accidents in Novato, police reported.

Lois Adalaide McCook, 63, of 1415 Park Avenue, Novato, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured nose and ankle, and facial cuts.

Verna Marie Bennison, 72, of 422A Johnson Street, Sausalito, was treated today at Novato General Hospital for multiple bruises.

Victoria Mary Garner, 46, of 510 Sunset Parkway, Novato, was to see her own doctor for pains in her arms.

Mrs. McCook was crossing Diablo Avenue northbound on George Street at 4:15 p.m., yesterday when she swung her car to the left into a metal street light pole, breaking it, police reported.

N. C. Payne of Novato, according to police, said he was westbound on Diablo Avenue when the McCook car pulled out in front of him. He skidded to avoid a collision and Mrs. McCook swung to the left, hitting the pole, police reported.

The other two were injured in a two-car accident at 8:35 a.m. today at Cambridge and Monte Maria streets. Mrs. Garner was northbound on Cambridge when her car collided with one westbound on Monte Maria, driven by Nora Kathleen Hope, 60, of 284 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, police reported.

Mrs. Bennison was a passenger in the Hope car, according to police.

Innocent Plea To Drug Possession

A felony charge of possessing marijuana and hashish against Michael James De Shane, 23, of Mill Valley, was reduced to a misdemeanor charge yesterday by Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court.

Smallman reduced the charge following a preliminary hearing and decided not to hold De Shane for trial on the felony charge in superior court.

De Shane then pleaded innocent to the misdemeanor charge and a pretrial conference was set for Nov. 24.

He was arrested July 23 when Sausalito police stopped his car on Bridgeway because the vehicle had no headlights. While De Shane searched in the glove compartment for the vehicle's registration, an officer spotted a partially smoked marijuana cigarette in the ash tray, police said.

Officers said a search revealed two pieces of hashish in De Shane's possession.

Marinite Named To Salary Drive

Mrs. Ronald W. Tennler of 122 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, has been appointed Marin County chairman for Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield's initiative effort.

The Republican assemblyman of Los Angeles has circulated petitions around the state in order to get 520,806 valid signatures to place a constitutional amendment on the ballot. His measure would lower the recent legislative pay increase by 25 per cent and return to the people the right to vote on any future increases.

Railroad Legislation Moves To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Transportation Department has sent legislation to Congress under which railroads would be allowed to adjust their freight rates up or down within a certain margin, without asking for specific government approval.

The legislation also would allow railroads, without government approval, to abandon branch lines which are "detrimental to the restoration of their financial health." Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said revisions were needed in "increasingly outdated economic regulatory laws and procedures which constrain all modes of transportation."

Living Cost Hikes Due Recipients

Cost-of-living increases totaling about $9,400 per month have been approved for 1,873 welfare recipients in Marin, the state Department of Social Welfare has announced.

The increases, effective Dec. 1, will be granted to most persons receiving Old Age Security and aid to the disabled and blind grants.

The increases amount to $5 per month for those receiving Old Age Security and Aid to the Disabled and $6. per month for those receiving Aid to the Blind.

According to Donald M. Sanford, assistant director of social services in Marin, the increases have been granted only to persons living in their own homes or apartments.

Those living in convalescent homes, for instance, will not get the increase, he said.

Some 1,100 persons living on Old Age Security are eligible for the increase, he said, as are 732 on Aid to the Disabled and 40 on Aid to the Blind.

About 472,000 persons thoughout California will receive the cost-of-living hike.

Jobs Open For Senior Citizens

Unfilled jobs include maintenance men with some hand tools and transportation, drivers and live-in positions. Information about the jobs can be received by calling the center.

Jupiter And Venus Virtually Invisible

By SHERMAN WALKER

The moon has started on its last-quarter phase. On Sunday Jupiter and Venue are about a degree apart although both are far beyond the sun and virtually invisible to us at this time.

Mercury is also apparently quite near the sun. That is, they are in the same line of sight from earth and the same applies to Uranus. On Nov. 14, too, the moon passes 6 degrees south of Uranus. This is quite a gathering of planets near or rather in the same direction as the sun.

The moon is new on Nov. 17. On Nov. 19 the moon passes 5 degrees south of Jupiter, and on the same day it passes both Venus and Mercury. All this would be a joy to watch except that it takes place pretty close to the sun. You might be able to watch some of it in the early twilight in the western sky if you are a good observer.

On Nov. 23 Mercury is at its greatest apparent distance from the sun, and there is a chance you might see it in the evening twilight in the western sky.

The moon enters its first-quarter phase on Nov. 25, and on the same date Neptune is in conjunction with the sun and Saturn is at opposition. This means that Neptune is on the other side of the sun from us and Saturn and the sun are on opposite sides of the earth also, Saturn rises as the sun sets.

The moon passes 5 degrees north of Mars on Nov. 26 and is at perigee on Nov. 30.

Pacifists Arrested At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Between 100 and 150 demonstrators, wearing paper coolie hats and the names of Vietnamese civilian casualties, were arrested Tuesday after they flopped down on a White House driveway when a guard refused to let them through the gate.

The demonstrators, representing several pacifist groups, handed out leaflets saying "The President is selling a program of ever increasing death to the American people —a program of Asian death in place of American casualties."

Tougher Pollution Standards For New Cars Clears The Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation imposing tougher pollution standards for new cars sold in California than would be required under proposed federal standards was passed today by the Assembly.

The measure by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, was sent to the Senate for concurrence in Assembly amendments on a 44-10 vote.

The new standards, which are stricter than those being studied by the federal Environmental Protection Agency under the Clean Air Act, would apply to new cars sold in California after 1975.

The state would need a federal waiver to impose them.

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, floor sponsor of the bill, said the stricter state standards were "essential and necessary."

"They will say to the nation and the world that we mean serious business," Deddeh said.

But Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, argued that the new regulations "have not been tested from the standpoint of whether or not they can be met."

California, he said "has moved too slowly for some, but nevertheless has done a creditable job."

He said the Assembly should not pass a bill "simply arbitrarily establishing standards" which may not be technically possible.

"I think we're going to end up with egg on our face," he said.

Assembly Panel Kills School Financing Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Ways and Means Committee Tuesday killed a $6 billion school finance bill designed to equalize education spending between rich and poor school districts.

The measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, was defeated on a split voice vote during an informal meeting of the committee in the Assembly lounge.

Greene told the committee he only wanted to bring the bill to the Assembly floor for debate and did "not intend for this measure to become law."

He said he would put the bill on the inactive file after the debate so that legislators would not have to vote on it.

But Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Newport Beach, objected, saying it would be a "poor precedent" to send the bill to the floor with no intention of having a vote on it.

Greene's bill was designed to meet the problem posed by the recent state Supreme Court decision which held that California's system for financing schools was unconstitutional because it relied too heavily on local property taxes.

The measure would impose a statewide property tax of $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation. The money would be collected by the state and returned to local districts. Each district would receive the same amount per child regardless of the local property tax base.

Greene said he wanted the Assembly to debate the proposal so that "the people of California would have the maximum opportunity to know what's in our minds."

"We've got to get this thing going. This is an overwhelming problem," he told the committee.

After the vote, Greene said he had not expected the committee to send the bill to the floor but warned that "time is being wasted."

He said the Supreme Court decision presented an "intolerable situation" which the legislature should attempt to solve as soon as possible.

Nationalist China Will Pick President

TAIPEI (UPI) —The National Assembly announced that it will meet next February for the election of Nationalist China's president.

President Chiang Kai-shek's fourth six-year term expires May 20 next year. He has not said whether he will seek his fifth consecutive term but is likely to be urged to remain in office.

Israel Bond Issue Beaten In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly yesterday turned back "urgency" legislation that would allow California savings and loan associations to immediately buy bonds from Israel.

"This amounts to literally taking sides in an international dispute," protested Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz. "It is not up to us to be messing in these things."

The bill by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, was denied passage on a 39-18 vote. It needed at least 54.

Although the measure was beaten back, Karabian received permission to try for passage again later.

The vote actually occurred on the measure's "urgency" clause which would allow it to take effect immediately upon passage by the legislature and signature by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

An identical bill was approved earlier and signed by the governor but it can't take effect until 60 days after the current legislature adjourns, and no one's taking bets on when that will be.

Karabian noted if the "urgency" bill passes then the California savings and loan firms could start investing in Israel bonds immediately instead of waiting.

Murphy called passage of the first bill a "grievous error" because, among other things, it gave "Preferential treatment to Israel."

"We don't allow them to invest their money in Mexican bonds," he said. "Israel is one of the shakiest nations in the whole world because of its international situation. What security is there for an investor?"

Manson Friend Is Sentenced To Die

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve (Glem) Grogan, 20, is the seventh member of the Charles Manson cult to be sentenced to first-degree murder.

The same Superior Court jury that convicted Grogan returned a verdict of death Monday for the decapitation of movie stuntman Donald (Shorty) Shea, whose body has not been found.

SPORT NOTES

Gomez Left Talking In Long Road Tour

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Today he left for Salinas and a speaking engagement and Saturday he'll be in Visalia. The day after Thanksgiving, he'll be in Scottsdale, Ariz. for a major-minor league baseball meeting. He'll be in Mexico during the Christmas holidays. Then there'll be Miami Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Wichita, Kan., Dallas, Houston, Chicago, Whew!

A public relations representative for Wilson Sporting Goods, Lefty is in demand as a dinner speaker and logs about 100,000 miles of travel a year.

"I remember when I'd come over here to play baseball," Lefty recalled about his early days before becoming a professional star. "We used to play in Tomales, San Rafael, or maybe Two Rock, (in Petaluma). It sure took a long time to get from place to place on those old roads."

It seems everytime you run into Lefty he can give you a column item that's new. One was: "Did you know Del Webb once played baseball in Novato? Just look at him now." Or "My wife was in show business. She used to dance with Sen. George Murphy." Lefty's wife, is a former Broadway musical star whose name then was June O'Dea.

"She did a lot of traveling when she was in show business," said Lefty, "and I did a lot of traveling playing baseball, so all this traveling isn't new. My wife goes with me on some of the trips now."

Lefty won 189 games and lost 102 during his major league career. He started in five of the early All-Star games, including the first one in Chicago in 1933 when he won his first of three victories. He also was in seven World Series games and had a series record of 6 wins and no losses. Four times he went over the 20-win mark and twice led the American League in earned run average and three times led the league in strikeouts.

So I guess you would have to say he was a pretty fair pitcher.

THE BIG FOOTBALL game of the year for Drake High will take place tomorrow, 12:15 p.m., on the school field. It's the annual Powder Puff game, pitting frosh-soph girls against the junior-senior gals, one of the major parts of Spirit Week at the San Anselmo school. More than 100 girls wanted to play but only 32 can be used. Doing the coaching will be Bob Maher and Mike Collins for the frosh-soph team and Mike Convis the junior-seniors.

DRAKE HIGH'S athletic director, Carl Brown, has retired from the North Bay Officials Association for the second time, and word has it that the dean of Marin County officials, Dick Curry, is thinking of retiring from the striped shirt corps. Dick has been officiating North Bay area games for 30 years but has been bothered with a bad back of late.

SAN RAFAEL TIED

Drake Pirates Grab Soccer Lead

Tamalpais held San Rafael to a 1-1 tie yesterday, enabling Drake High School to take over undisputed possession of the lead for the first time in the Marin County Athletic League soccer race.

Drake shut out Terra Linda, 3-0. In other MCAL action, Redwood downed Novato, 2-0, and Marin Catholic defeated San Marin, 2-1.

Adalpho Flores scored a goal in the waning minutes to enable San Rafael to salvage its tie with Tam. The underdog Indians had scored earlier on a goal by Ty Barbour.

Steve Casalnuovo recorded two goals and Doug Harnsberger one as Drake blanked upset-minded Terra Linda. The victory gave Drake a 10-1-2 record for 22 points, one ahead of San Rafael, which is 9-1-3 for 21. Two points are awarded for a victory and one for a tie.

The regular season concludes with a full slate of games Friday. Unless Drake is ahead by three or more points after Friday's play, the Pirates will meet San Rafael Monday in a replay of their disputed 0-0 Oct. 1 tie.

The dispute arose when a San Rafael player was suspended for use of obscene language in the second quarter. Official Henry Landauer, applying international rules, forced San Rafael to play the remainder of the game with 10 men instead of the usual 11.

The MCAL has a newly adopted rule which permits another player to enter the game in situations like that. San Rafael protested, so if the game affects league standings, it will be replayed.

Francisco del Valle and Shariar Sarabi did the scoring for Redwood against Novato, and Dave Stacey scored twice for Marin Catholic.

The standings:

	W-L-T	Pts.
Drake	10-1-2	22
San Rafael	9-1-3	21
Redwood	7-3-3	17
Terra Linda	5-4-4	14
Novato	5-8-0	10
Tamalpais	3-8-2	8
Marin Catholic	3-9-1	7
San Marin	3-9-1	7

FOR TITLE

San Rafael Needs Win

The entire season comes down to a single game.

When San Rafael and Novato high schools vie Saturday at 1 p.m., the Marin County Athletic League football championship will be decided.

The host Novatans already own a share of the title and a win Saturday would wrap up an undisputed crown. A San Rafael victory would make both teams champions.

"It's really going to be a hard hitting game. At least, I know we're going to go out there hitting," Novato coach Al Scott promised.

This settles well with San Rafael, because the Bulldogs know they, too, must come out aggressively. The Red and White have the tools to bump off Novato's Hornets. The Bulldogs approach this contest determined to test the Hornets' heralded rushing defense headed by linemen Russ Weklych, Rick Reis and Pat Karinen.

The visitors' attack centers around All-League halfback Scott Duncan and his sidekicks Mark Farrar, Dirk Gansloser, Dave Urquhart and Jim Grigg. This unit ran roughshod over all but Redwood in quest of a title. Duncan, a gifted breakaway runner with the strength to flatten tacklers, is the key. To date, no team has contained him. In fact, Redwood claims it beat San Rafael by conceding Duncan some 187 yards while shutting off his colleagues.

However, only the powerful Giants have accomplished this feat, because the San Rafael supporting cast is outstanding. Farrar, a hard-nosed fullback, has also broken off several long runs, including two against tough Terra Linda. When joining Duncan in the backfield, the pair has been almost unstoppable. Each can go inside and out with great dexterity, compounding defensive woes.

Yet, if there is a team capable of shutting off this terrific duo, it is Novato. The Hornets are notoriously poor hosts to visiting ball carriers. In fact, Reis, Weklych and Karinen are nothing short of being rude when slamming down halfbacks. They are joined by ends Jeff Eisenhauer and Greg Straw in turning in rushing plays.

Offensively, the Hornets are equally endowed with talent. The Black and Gold tackles have Weklych and Dean Palmer available to open holes for a host of running backs led by Leo Magers. Magers, an exciting runner with great moves, is Scott's top dasher. Terry Johnson and Ed Harris are two other excellent ball toters.

Although their ground game is explosive, the passing assault bulwarks the offense. All-League quarterback Marty Moroski directs aerial circus. He throws long, short and often to ends Joe Robinson, Straw, Charley Chung, Greg Lash, Joe Powell and Magers. Magers is generally the recipient of screen tosses geared to spring him into a one-on-one situation with a less agile linebacker.

Conversely, San Rafael has unveiled its air might lately. When the situation dictates, quarterback Gansloser crosses up the defenses with crisp, short passes to his backs or end Duke Bessee.

Bessee is also a vital cog in coach Bob Muster's defensive plans. The 6-foot-3 senior stead-

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Joe Torre Gets MVP Selection

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Torre vows that he never again will go near those starchy foods that he learned to like as a boy in Brooklyn.

Victoria Torre gave her son a fine Italian upbringing and sent him into manhood with more weight than he needed. But Torre, now 31, trimmed off the fat with a protein-and-water diet last winter and he credits the weight loss with being responsible in great part for his winning the Most Valuable Player award in the National League.

"My good year was coupled with my weight loss," Torre said. "I'm going to stay away from the starchy foods and eat only one piece of bread a week."

Torre's selection as the league's MVP was announced Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America. The St. Louis Cardinal third baseman received 21 of 24 first-place votes for a total of 318 points. Willie Stargell of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates was the runnerup with the other three first-place votes and 222 points. Atlanta's Hank Aaron was third with 180 points.

NHL Commences Hockey Joust; Adds In Atlanta, Long Island

NEW YORK (UPI) —In an apparent effort to strike the first blow in its budding war against the World Hockey Association, the National Hockey League has discarded its own timetable for growth and will expand to 16 teams next season with the additions of Atlanta and Long Island.

NHL President Clarence Campbell admitted Tuesday night, after announcing the decision to expand, that he originally had set a 1974 target for expansion.

"But the Board of Governors have reassessed their position and think it is in the best interests to do it now," he said. Asked if the recent formation of the WHA had anything to do with the hasty reappraisal, the typically candid Campbell replied, "I don't suppose it's a coincidence but we have had these applications on hand."

In addition to Atlanta and Long Island next season, the NHL said it would take on another two teams for the 1974-75 campaign. Among the candidates for those franchises are Baltimore, Cleveland, Kansas City, Washington, D.C., Indianapolis, San Diego, Seattle, Portland and Denver.

Coming at a time when even the first six expansion teams admitted to the NHL in 1967 haven't yet achieved a true parity with the older clubs, plus the intention of the WHA to begin business in 10 cities next season, there is certain to be a woeful drain on player talent. In fact, California Seals' owner Charles Finley was against this early expansion partly because of the players he will lose in the draft.

JOE AMALFITANO

Ex-Giant Returns As Fox Assistant

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Joe Amalfitano is back in Giants flannels today.

Amalfitano, who played for the Giants three different times, joined them as a coach today and starts out on his first assignment with manager Charlie Fox.

The two are here for the opening of the Winter Instructional League. The Giants have a club in the league, which will play 40 games, with a roster filled out by its most promising youngsters.

"The chance to work with all these fine kids had a lot to do with my decision to rejoin the Giants," Amalfitano said of his return. "Mr. (owner Horace) Stoneham talked to me about coming back last week and I jumped at the chance."

Amalfitano, who first signed with the Giants in 1954 for a substantial bonus, gave up a job as first base coach under Leo Durocher and the Chicago Cubs to come back with San Francisco. He'll hold down the same job for Fox, taking over the spot left vacant when Wes Westrum quit as a full-time coach to work as a scout for the Giants.

Westrum, who spent all but three of his 31 years in baseball with the Giants as a player and coach, asked to be relieved of his coaching duties so that he could spend more time with his family.

Amalfitano's signing still leaves the Giants without a pitching coach following the dismissal last week of Larry Jansen. The betting is that Don McMahon will fill the spot and will continue to pitch as well at least for another season.

San Francisco 49ers Prove Defense Can Win

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers are proving that defense wins ball games.

While the offense has been sputtering, the 49ers still lead the National Conference West division and the defensive unit can take most of the credit. In eight games, San Francisco has shut off four teams without a touchdown through the air and have given up an average of less than 128 yards a game through the air.

And the defensive secondary, once considered a 49er weak spot, is largely responsible for that record.

"You don't compile a record like that without the personnel," said 49ers defensive backfield coach Don Heinrich. "Name a club with defensive backs the caliber of cornerbacks Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor and safeties Mel Phillips and Rosey Taylor.

"There are few better," Heinrich said. "I know. I've seen practically all of them."

Basketball Clinic For Officials Set

San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department will hold a basketball officials clinic tonight at 7:30 at San Rafael High School.

There are still openings for officials in the adult program, according to recreation supervisor Ralph Dannenberg, with pay ranging from $15 to $18 per three-hour night.

Rod, Car Show To Start Friday At Cow Palace

The first annual International Rod and Custom Car Show will be held at the Cow Palace in San Francisco Friday through Sunday.

Hundreds of hot rods, customs, drag racers and sports cars will be exhibited along the antiques, dune buggies and other vehicles.

The event will display a number of one-of-a-kind cars like George Barris' "AMX-400," Ray Fahrner's "Boothill Express," Darryl Starbird's "Banana T," and Carl Casper's "San Francisco Trolly Coach." There will also be a Queen's Contest, music from several rock bands and an appearance by auto beauty queen Linda Vaughn.

Show times are 5-11 p.m. Friday and noon-11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets may be purchased at the Cow Palace box office.

FINALE FRIDAY

Petaluma-Cougars Vie

Pride will be on the line when two Sonoma County football rivals renew warfare in the finale Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

At that time, Petaluma High School will host the Sonoma County League champions, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, in an expected offensive show.

Passing sensation Steve Wlodarczyk leads the undefeated Cougars. The Rancho Cotate quarterback has connected on 91 of 145 passes for 1,404 yards and 15 touchdowns. He has thrown only seven interceptions, while completing 62.8 per cent of his tosses. Wlodarczyk's favorite target is flankerback Mike Cooper. Although not endowed with blinding speed, Cooper has managed to snare 40 tosses for 751 yards and 12 scores. Rod Logue, Ray Jones and Frank Garretts round out a capable receiving corps.

Though the air might is awesome, coach Claude Brock insists on utilizing a balanced attack. This means giving the ball off to the Cougar's sensational runner Bob Murray. The speedy back has ripped off an 80-yard run enroute to churning out 1,081 yards on 158 bursts. He has compiled a 6.8 rushing norm and 10 six-pointers.

Much of Murray's success can be attributed to an offensive line which features tackle Frank Mattern plus junior guards Mike Montoya and Dave Codiroli. This trio has been instrumental in keeping Wlodarczyk from suffering the ignominy of being dumped while trying to pass.

However, a determined Petaluma delegation is capable of marring the Rancho Cotate pass protection record, not to mention its unbeaten log. The Trojans have an outstanding middle linebacker in Al Bettman.

Three-year veteran Dan Cader, 6-foot-4, 220-pounds, bulwarks the offensive and defensive lines. Quarterbacks Ken Griffith, a runner, and Steve Crawford, a passer, take turns barking signals in the ground-oriented Purple and White attack. Mike Masselli and fullback Bob Gillis are the top Trojan backfield performers. Masselli is rated the county's best sophomore halfback, while Gillis is considered a powerful ball toter with good balance.

TARS HOST MEET

Marin Runners: Team To Beat

The cloud of confusion which has covered Camino Norte Conference cross-country this season should be lifted Saturday, when College of Marin Tars host the league meet at 11 a.m. at Lagunitas Lake.

West Valley was unbeaten in dual meets against CNC foes, but edged second-place Marin by only one point, 28-29, in their confrontation. Marin lost to nobody else but was scared by Santa Rosa, 28-29. In an invitational meet, both Santa Rosa and Marin beat West Valley.

"The conference has never been stronger," said Marin coach Tony Bailey. "We feel that our top four teams are among the top ten in northern California. This is certainly the best team we've had at College of Marin."

Marin figures to have the individual winner in Mike Arago, who is unbeaten in dual meets and never lower than fifth in invitationals. He holds the record for the 3.9-mile Lagunitas course, 20:37.

The secret to winning in cross-country, however, is not top individuals but "grouping" — having several runners finish high up. "Both West Valley and Santa Rosa group well," said Bailey, "and we have to hope that some runners from other schools get in there to break up their groups."

Television Sports: A Booming Business

From time to time the television industry is criticized for studio produced turkeys. And there has been criticism of TV in other areas, such as insufficient educational programs for children. But there is one area where TV does a superb job for at least one segment of the populace — sports.

Competition among the three national networks brought this about, not altruism. Sports have been good to television. And, of course, television has been good to sports, particularly pro football. College football hasn't exactly suffered from its TV relationship.

ASIDE FROM the $65 million a year the three networks pay for the privilege of televising pro and college football games, TV does a unique service for football fans with instant replays and stop action flashbacks.

Techniques developed by TV in covering the fast-moving action on a football field have aided armchair strategists in a deeper understanding of the game.

Before the days of the isolated camera and split screen, the average football fan saw only the start and finish of a pass play. Now, not one but two isolated cameras provide instant replays of receivers running pass patterns, sometimes criss-crossing or flooding a defensive zone. There even are flashbacks to show what happened to the quarterback after he released the pass.

POWER SWEEPS on ground plays similarly have been stripped of all complexities by stop-action flashbacks of a guard pulling out of the line to lead interference for the ball carrier. Football fans were well aware of the mechanics of a power sweep but only saw them from start to finish recently.

Instant replays also give immediate approval or disapproval of close calls by officials on out-of-bounds or in-bounds pass catches at the sidelines. And the replays often, but not always, will show holding or pushing infractions called, but not always, by officials.

SO WHILE THE television industry deserves some of the criticism it gets in other areas, it is entitled to a bow for its football coverage. But the ever-increasing cost of TV rights to pro and college games has resulted in ever-increasing headaches for the industry.

"If we dropped pro football our affiliates would crucify us," says William C. MacPhail, vice president of CBS TV sports. "This thing has got to level off or our stockholders will start screaming."

"The prices we pay for telecast rights are valid only in relation to each other," says Roone Arledge, president of ABC sports. "Since antitrust laws won't let the networks talk with each other about prices for certain events, we have to go in swinging with the biggest dollar we dare to spend so the competition doesn't cream us. It's absurd, but we're trapped."

Cleveland Indians Select Aspromonte

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ken Aspromonte was named manager of the Cleveland Indians Tuesday and he said his top job will be to "motivate the team" to recover from its second worst season in history.

"Last year the team last 102 games and I will have to motivate the team," Aspromonte said. "There is a lot of talent on this ball club and all it needs is a little experience.

"I believe I have had the experience to manage in the big leagues because I have worked with the Cleveland players for the last four years."

Aspromonte, 40, a former Indians infielder, has managed Cleveland's Class AAA Wichita farm club the past two seasons, He succeeds Johnny Lipon, who rose to the managership in mid summer when Alvin Dark was fired. Under Dark and Lipon, the Indians had a 60-102 record, their worst since 1914.

As manager of the Wichita Aeros, Aspromonte guided his players to a third place finish in the western division last season.

KEN ASPROMONTE
Cleveland manager

The year before, the Aeros finished fourth. Wichita and the Indians severed their working agreement at the end of the 1971 season.

Aspromonte's other managerial experience in the Cleveland organization includes a stint at Reno in the Class A League in California in 1969 and the Indians' Sarasota team in the Gulf Coast Rookie League in 1968.

Indians president and general manager Gabe Paul announced the signing of Aspromonte as manager and said, "We hope this is the first of many one-year contracts."

According to the new manager, one of the "bright spots for the future" is Cleveland's pitching staff. He also labeled third baseman Graig Nettles, first baseman Chris Chambliss, catcher Ray Fosse and newly acquired outfielder Alex Johnson as the "strength" of the team.

"As far as trades go, many teams are interested in the players I mentioned, plus Sam McDowell," Aspromonte said, "But I have no plans right now about trades."

Paul said he selected Aspromonte for the job because, "I feel he knows the players and has proven he can handle a ball team."

Player Picks U.S. To Win World Cup Golf Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—South Africa's favorite golfer and horse fancier, Gary Player, is offering good odds on the outcome of the 19th World Cup golf tournament.

"They're outright favorites," said Player, who is trying to attract the international tournament to South Africa in 1973. "I'd lay 8-to-1 that they win it."

Even Trevino, after a round on the PGA national golf club's water-logged east course, was less than modest.

"I'm going to tell you he (Nicklaus) is going to be a tough man to beat this week," he said. "If I play anyway near decent there is no reason we shouldn't win."

And Trevino added, "I think I have a chance at the individual honors with that small ball."

Trevino, who has already this year won the U.S., Canadian, and British Opens, was referring to the World Cup rules which gives the golfer the option of using the standard-sized American ball or a smaller one used primarily in Britain.

He feels most will use the small ball because it drives straighter and putts easier.

The two balls weigh the same but the English ball is slightly smaller in diameter.

Two-man teams from 46 nations tee off Thursday in the international tournament, returning to the U.S. mainland for the first time in 16 years. Nicklaus and Trevino were in a pro-am foursome today with comedians Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason.

Ralston Reveals Coaching Ploys

Ralston told the Northern California Sportswriters luncheon Tuesday that the Indians, who clinched a Rose Bowl berth last Saturday by defeating UCLA, 20-9, were always "willing to work hard.

"I always felt they could beat anyone when they got their minds together," he said. "That seems a big part of coaching nowadays."

But Ralston hedged a bit when asked to compare this year's team to the squad that upset Ohio State in the Jan. 1 classic last season.

"It's hard to say because the personalities of the players differ and so does the character of the team," he said. "But this year's players have a wonderful attitude."

Coach Dewey King of San Jose State, Stanford's opponent in Saturday's game at Palo Alto, obviously expects a tough contest, even though the Spartans are coming off a 45-7 upset of San Diego State.

"They have a quarterback who can come up with the big play and they've just won one of the toughest leagues in the country," King said. "We will show up for the game."

Two linebackers from Stanford and San Jose State shared honors for major college defensive player of the week. The Indians' Jeff Siemon was selected by the writers for his 23 tickets against UCLA. The Spartans' Bill Brown was picked for his 15 unassisted stops, six assists, a fumble recovery and three sackings of the quarterback.

MOLLER STUNS HUTTON

Redwood High Harriers Lead Qualifiers For Division III

Redwood High School's Jan-Eric Moller and Mike Killeen pulled an upset by defeating Novato's Don Hutton yesterday in the Marin County Athletic League cross-country meet at Bon Tempe Lake.

Top finishers at the meet qualified for the Division III meet in Vallejo tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. The four qualifying teams were Redwood, San Rafael, Novato and Terra Linda. One individual not on a top team also qualified: Gary Lathrop of San Marin.

Hutton was unbeaten in dual meets this year and had bested Moller and Killeen in the Redwood-Novato confrontation. But this time he was 20 seconds behind the winner, as Moller set a new record of 15:39 for the 2.9-mile course. Lathrop was fourth and Doug Green of San Rafael fifth.

Among the frosh-soph runners, Redwood's Kevin Glasner set a course record for 1.8 miles, 8:06, to lead the pack. Pete Demarais of Redwood was second, Tony Biancalana of Tamalpais third, Tom Stibich of San Rafael fourth and Tom Murk of Redwood fifth.

John Ladd of Redwood was the individual winner and Drake the team champion in junior varsity. The JVs do not send anybody to Division III.

The top finishers at Division III will continue on to the North coast Sectional meet Nov. 17.

Team point totals:

FROSH-SOPH — Redwood 28, San Rafael 50, Tamalpais 59, Drake 90.

ies a "pit" which also has the Lechners, John and Bill, backed by Dirk Correnti.

Duncan is the secondary ace and works with Jeff White, Urquhart and Grigg to give San Rafael anti-pass protection.

Novato has some rugged pass defenders to speak of in Tom Conklin and the Renniers, Mike and John. All have had moments of stardom against MCAL rivals this year.

Since both teams enjoy comparable defensive and offensive components, it is not surprising that each is gifted with fine place kicking. San Rafael has an exceedingly accurate booter in Rick Klarkowski, while Novato owns the reliable toe of Bob Cooper.

The pair work well under pressure, if Cooper's 41-yard field goal earlier this year is any indication.

With so much at stake, small wonder that a capacity crowd is expected to witness this battle scheduled for KTIM's live coverage.

Seattle Seeks Pyrrhic Victory In War With American League

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If Seattle wins the first round in its suit against the American League it will take some of the blame off the backs of its politicians, but it will never bring back the baseball Pilots.

The city, King County and the state of Washington are fighting to have their suit against the American League heard in a state cgurt and if they win that tussle there yet may be redress for a domed stadium bond issue.

Seattle went to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday in an effort to have a lower court order turned over. A ruling by the appeals court is not expected for at leat a week or 10 days.

The American Laague also is in the fight on the appeals court level and if it wins then there is a good chance the league will get off scott free.

That's the score as of today while a three-man appeals court panel ponders the jurisdictional question.

The American League is hoping to have the case heard in a federal court because baseball then would have precedent on its side. When Milwaukee sought to keep its baseball Braves from moving to Atlanta it won on the state level only to be over-turned by the U.S. Supreme Court. However, in that case Milwaukee wanted to keep its franchise.

Warriors Surge Past Houston By 16

Attles can afford to say things like that because the Warriors are sailing along with a 10-4 record, their fastest National Basketball Association start since coming to the West Coast in 1962.

Tuesday night the Warriors downed Houston, 115-99, coming back from a 57-48 halftime deficit, to remain 1-2 game behind the Los Angeles Lakers in the Pacific division.

The Warriors were outshot by the sagging Houston team, which lost its 12th game compared to two wins, until Cazzie Russell and Nate Thurmond sparked a third quarter outburst with a combined total of 21 points.

Russell, who has added needed firepower to the club since being acquired in a trade with New York, hit only one of nine shots in the first half, but pumped in 10 of 19 in the second half.

Thurmond, too, was cold in the first half, hitting on two of six tries, but came back to sink four of eight in the second half.

Russell topped the Warriors with 23 points and Clyde Lee pulled down a game-high of 27 rebounds.

California Seals Leave For 7-Game Road Swing

OAKLAND (UPI) —The California Golden Seals, playing at an unusual winning pace in the National Hockey League, leave today on a seven-game road tour that begins Thursday night against Boston.

The Seals have a 5-6 record for the young NHL season, and after Sunday's 8-1 spanking of Toronto occupied third place in the West division—a spot they haven't attained since 1968.

After Thursday's game, the Seals continue the road trip Saturday against St. Louis followed by a Sunday game against Chicago. They return home Nov. 24 and play Detroit.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Federal Regulation May Increase Costs

It is apparent now that the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, which became law in August, will tend to raise the cost of boating. Maybe not much, but it's certain that the potential for manufacturers' and dealers' costs to increase is there.

For the first time, the law makes a manufacturer directly responsible for meeting federal safety standards. A dealer also comes under this obligation if he installs any additional equipment on a boat to which the federal standards apply.

Even if nothing else changes, a manufacturer must of necessity increase inspections of his products if his responsibilities to the consumer are greater. By the same token a dealer must take greater care with everything he does if his liability is greater.

Standards for all materials, equipment, and gadgetry that goes into a boat are now being developed by the Coast Guard in co-operation with the industry and public representatives. Actually, many of the standards are already in effect by the boating industry, but there are bound to be some changes.

Any new standards are almost certain to be higher and more demanding. This again will increase costs.

The new law, although little understood by most boat owners, has focused much more attention on boat safety. Many of the questions we've been asked this fall indicate this.

Q. What particular materials, or facet of boat building, will come under new standards first?

A. Rear Admiral Austin C. Wagner, the Coast Guard's boating safety chief says the first thing to come under scrutiny will be safe loading and powering of small pleasure boats. Specific standards and limits will be set on how much weight and how much power any given boat can carry.

Q. Will boat trailers be included in the standards? For instance will turn signals be required?

A. Trailers do not come under provisions of the Boat Safety Act. But already most states require turn indicators on trailers of recent manufacture under highway traffic laws.

Q. I am told that in the future all boats will have the steering wheel on the right hand side, for better visibility in the "danger zone" because boats approaching from the right have right of way.

A. I'm sorry I can't find out whether this has been considered to date. But it's obviously such a good idea that I'm sure it will be given some thought after this.

Smallest Buck Aids Triumph

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Guard Jon McGlocklin may be the smallest player on the Milwaukee Bucks' starting five but he made a big contribution Tuesday night.

McGlocklin hit a free throw and a basket in the last 22 seconds to preserve the Bucks' 118-113 victory over the Phoenix Suns. Kareem Jabbar scored 44 points to lead the Milwaukee attack but it was McGlocklin who came through when Phoenix made its biggest threat.

Dick Van Arsdale and Paul Silas teamed to bring the Suns to within two points at 115-113, but McGlocklin hit a free throw with 22 seconds left and scored again with eight seconds to go after Bobby Dandridge stole the ball from the Suns' Clem Haskins.

Emmette Bryant scored 12 of his 13 points in the last period as Buffalo downed the Trail Blazers. Bob Kauffman had 30 points for the Braves while Sidney Wicks led Portland with 34.

Bob Moore, Jackson Lead Pac-8 Runners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Just 13 little yards separate Oregon's Bobby Moore and Bernard Jackson of Washington State in their battle for Pacific Eight rushing honors.

Moore has carried for 1115 yards and Jackson for 1102 so that both men are guaranteed 100-yard plus rushing averages in this 11-game season.

Meanwhile, latest statistics also show, that Stanford's Don Bunce not only holds on to his Pacific Eight total offense lead with 222.1 yards per game, but has also passed up season-long leader Sonny Sixkiller of Washington in the passing statistics with a 204.8 average to 196.4 for the Huskies' Indian star.

Jackson is the scoring leader with 72 points while Stanford kicker Rod Garcia has 64 and Moore, trying for a remarkable third straight conference title, has 60.

California's Geoff DeLapp has moved into a tie with Oregon's Leland Glass with 41 catches apiece. Glass is battling injuries.

Stanford's Benny Barnes picked off two UCLA aerials last week in the Indians' Rose Bowl clinching victory and now shares the conference interception lead with seven.

In team figures, Stanford's champs are tops in team defense (246.8) and pass defense (112.1) while Washington State leads in total offense (387.4) and rushing (271.4). Washington leads the other two major categories, rushing defense (120.7) and passing offense (251.1).

Mark Binstein Gets Pittsburgh Moving

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mark Binstein may not have much coaching experience but he's got the Pittsburgh Condors on the right track.

Binstein, the Condor's general manager, took over as head coach last week when Jack McMahon was fired. Though his only experience has been as a freshman coach in college, Binstein seems to have found the winning formula for the Condors.

Pittsburgh surged to its third victory in four games under Binstein Tuesday night when the Condors stunned the Indiana Pacers 133-123. George Thompson had 33 points and John Brisker added as Pittsburgh evened its record at 77.

The Pacers scored the first eight points of the second half but Pittsburgh bounced back with 10 consecutive points to take the lead for keeps.

Rick Mount led Indiana with 27 points and George McGinnis added 26.

In other American Basketball Association play, the Kentucky Colonels beat the Denver Rockets 106-96 and the Utah Stars downed the Memphis Pros 93-90 in a doubleheader at Memphis and the Dallas Chaprrals edged the New York Nets 90-86.

Cincy Powell scored 37 points to lift the Colonels past Denver. Kentucky trailed by as many as 19 points in the first half before Artis Gilmore and Dan Issel sparked a second half rally. Ralph Simpson led the Rockets with 28.

American Equestrians Secure Jumping Honors

NEW YORK (UPI) —The United States equestrian team won the international jumping championship over Canada by a narrow margin Tuesday night at the concluding session of the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden.

The U.S., which was dethroned last year by West Germany, scored 80 points to 74 for Canada and 36 for Argentina.

Almost Persuaded, ridden by Bob Ridland of Rancho Sante Fe., Calif., won the Grand Prix of New York, the final of the international jumping series. Pushover, handled by Carol Hofmann of Elmont, N.Y., was second.

But neither of the two were "designated" riders for the U.S., and so their scores did not count in the team standings. Only four riders on each team are permitted to be designated.

Neal Shapiro of Elmont, N.Y., who rode Sloopy to third place in the Grand Prix, won the international individual award with 34 points. Barbara Simpson of Canada was the leading foreign rider with 22 points.

JERRY WILLIAMS

Former Eagles' Boss Hired By Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Jerry Williams, fired last month as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, was hired by the Cleveland Browns Tuesday as an assistant coach in charge of the passing offense.

Browns owner Art Modell said Coach Nick Skorich asked that Williams be hired to fill the post left vacant by the death of Howard Keys three weeks ago. Skorich and Williams were together once before when Skorich coached the Eagles.

Skorich said having Williams in charge of the passing attack will give himself more time to concentrate on the overall coaching of the team. Mike Nixon of the Browns' scouting department was pressed into duty as a coach when Keys died and will now continue to coach the running backs.

"Jerry Williams and Howard Keys worked closely together for four years with the Calgary team of the Canadian League," Skorich said. "In addition, he worked for me three seasons at Philadelphia. I know he can help us."

Williams succeeded Joe Kuharich as head coach of the Eagles in 1969 and held the post until the Eagles management hired Ed Khayat in his place last month.

Williams started coaching in 1955 in Montana.

He went to the Eagles as an assistant coach in 1958 under Buck Shaw and continued there for three seasons under Skorich.

INVESTING

Outlook Good For Aluminum

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you kindly advise what I should do with my shares of Harvey Aluminum(NYSE)? I do not know exactly what is happening, but the dividend has been reduced and the shares are constantly declining. — J.M.

A. The entire aluminum industry has suffered this year — getting more of its share of stormy weather. Harvey Aluminum's (83 per cent owned by Martin Marietta) sliding share price and slashed dividend are only two manifestations of the many problems facing this firm and the group in general. Production overcapacity amidst recession-reduced domestic demand hit profit columns extremely hard in this year's initial half, a situation which was further aggravated by a slackening in export demand. And, as dismal as first half earnings were, it is distressing to note that this period's results were boosted by customer hedge-buying in anticipation of an aluminum industry strike.

For the first nine months ended Sept. 30, Harvey's earnings per share fell 63 per cent to 42 cents on a 6.5 per cent gain in sales. The remainder of 1971 may see little or no improvement year-to-year. Frozen aluminum prices plus expenses involved in the start up of a new 100,000-ton aluminum plant this fall may continue to depress earnings this year.

For next year and beyond, however, the outlook is brighter. The new plant should make a significant profit contribution to Harvey's operations, while the de facto devaluation of the dollar will not only encourage aluminum exports but will aid export sales of major industrial concerns which are large users of the metal. Further, the reinstatement of the investment tax credit will stimulate industrial construction — another important aluminum growth market. Encouraging also is the already-evident self restraint being shown by individual members of the worldwide aluminum industry in cutting back production.

Most of the major producers have cut back to 80-90 per cent of capacity. Thus, while near-term recovery may not be in the offing for Harvey Aluminum, longer-term retention may prove rewarding three to five years out.

NOT A TOY FOR JUNIOR

This unique research vehicle, developed by GTE Sylvania Inc., at its Mountain View plant, is used in evaluating a buried antenna highway communications system for the Federal Highway Administration. The vehicle measures signal strength and noise levels for several antenna models which are buried in a test roadway. Through experiments, GTE will recommend antenna models and related equipment for development of the system whereby drivers and authorities can exchange messages.

SIGN OF TIMES

Here Comes What? A Floating Bank

NEW YORK (UPI)—Time was when America's 14,000 full service banks were stone monuments standing on Main Street in downtown business areas, along with the shoe store, the apparel shop and the jeweler.

But this isn't necessarily the case anymore.

Consider, for instance, this experience by Raymond J. Carpenter, a Los Angeles stockbroker. A few weeks ago he was having a fairly predictable sightseeing jaunt around Newport Beach, Calif., until a local business friend showed up.

"Well, here she comes," the friend said.

"Here what comes?" Carpenter asked.

"The bank. Here comes the bank."

Sure enough, a speedboat marked "Centinela Bank" skittered across the waters of Newport Bay. As the local businessman explained it, that pickup and delivery service for the nautical trade amounts to a daily ritual.

Unique? No. Centinela isn't the only American bank with its own sea-going branch. Security National Bank of New York's Long Island tours a houseboat bank through offshore summer colonies. The Chesapeake National Bank of Kilnarnock, Va., runs a fibreglass boat through the bay area to service commercial fishermen.

In addition to the nautical banks, buses, trailers and mobile modular units all serve as branch banks nowadays.

In St. John's, Mich., for example, the Clinton Bank and Trust Company uses a special 28-foot truck to handle deposits and withdrawals in five neighboring communities. The Lincoln National Bank of Chelsea, Mass., developed a Bankmobile to meet customer demand. After a fire, a bank in Mount Vernon, Ind., did business from a made-over used bus.

Banks follow the rustle of money in other ways. The First National Bank of Arlington, Va. has a branch at the Pentagon which offers what may be the longest bank lobby in the world. A New York City bank has a branch right down with all the clanging hysteria of the subway.

Other banks have opened special branches at army bases like Ft. Benning and Ft. Knox, at service academies, at Air Force bases here and abroad, at world fair sites, at commercial airports.

In Rio Vista, Tex., the First State Bank went so far as to run up a 2,800-foot runway in an adjoining field for 50 depositors who fly their own small airplanes.

"With all our modern technology it isn't difficult to expand or put up a new facility in quick time," says Henry Fletcher, president, Merchants National Bank, Aurora, Ill.

Indeed it isn't. Just recently a small pre-built structural steel Diebold porta-branch bank literally went up over one weekend on a busy intersection in downtown Philadelphia.

Still, the most improbable bank in America today isn't a houseboat, or at a military base or down some mineshaft.

It's the Bank of Franklin, in Franklin, Ark. —total population—would you believe it?—75.

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

Off-Sale Licenses Purchased For Two Ernie's Liquor Stores

Off-sale general liquor licenses have been purchased by Golden Gate Stores, Inc. of South San Francisco for two new Ernie's Liquors stores to be opened in Marin County next year.

One of these will be in the new shopping center now going up at Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, which will have an Alpha Beta Market as its focal point. The other store will be in the Novak Square Shopping Center at Novato Boulevard and Wilson Avenue in Novato. Neither store is expected to open before late spring or in the early summer.

Both licenses were negotiated by Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty. One was formerly held by Quinn's Tavern in Mill Valley and the other by the recently closed Tamalpais Market in San Rafael.

Meanwhile, Golden Gate Stores has signed for still another Ernie's to go in the shopping center scheduled for Lomita Avenues and East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley. No opening is expected here for another year. This center will also have an Alpha Beta Market.

A NEW SERVICE for photographers who need a darkroom to do their work is being offered by Miss Christine Enos of Woodacre.

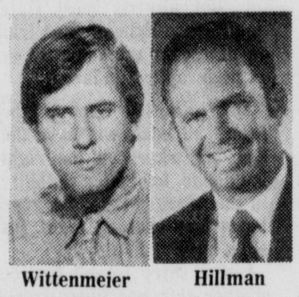
She has opened Let A Dark at 933 D Street, San Rafael. It's a big darkroom with 13 enlargers and she is adding four more. Rental charge is $1.50 per hour, including use of chemicals.

JOHN M. GALLAGHER of San Rafael, principal in the San Francisco-based advertising agency carrying his name, has opened a branch office in the Reynolds-Johnson Building, 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael. He is also executive director of Truck Ads, Inc., a new national advertising medium using large ad displays on common carriers.

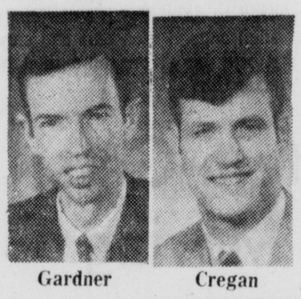
THE PROPERTY AND CASUALTY insurance business of the Wittenmayer Insurance Agency has been merged into the insurance office of Peck, Stanton and Muller, Inc., 174 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Joseph Wittenmeier will continue active in his specialized field of estate planning, business and personal life from his firm's office at 4 Sunset Lane, Mill Valley.

MEANWHILE, Gary Wittenmeier of Mill Valley (his son) has been appointed to the management trainee program in domestic government sales by Connell Bros. Co., Ltd., San Francisco export and import firm. He was a 1970 graduate of University of California in Berkeley.



Wittenmeier — Hillman



Gardner — Cregan

THREE NORTH BAY MEN, Roger K. Hillman of Petaluma, Robert W. Gardner of San Rafael and Kevin J. Cregan of Tiburon, professional representatives for Merck Sharpe and Dohme, pharmaceuticals firm, have completed a course of advance education and orientation at the company's home office in West Point, Va. Hillman has been with the company 10 years, Gardner three years and Cregan over two years.

Stocks In A Drift Downward

NEW YORK (UPI) —With little in the news to encourage investors, the stock market drifted slowly downhill in quiet trading today.

Labor's unhappiness with the Pay Board's decision on post-freeze wage guidelines was a major area of uncertainty for investors, and was not likely to be cleared up until the AFL-CIO opens its convention at Miami Beach next week to take up this question.

The economy's sluggish response to President Nixon's economic program, and concern about world currency conditions also served as unsettling influences on Wall Street.

After about two hours, the Dow Jones industrial average showed a loss of 2.12 at 835.79. Other leading indicators also retreated, and declines led advances by around 225 issues.

Among the most active Amex issues were Reeves Telecom Corp. down fractionally on around 20,000 shares, Delta Corp. down more than 2 on 18,000 shares, and Scottex up slightly on 15,000 shares.

On the Big Board, active stocks also were mostly in reverse gear. Trans-World Airlines lost 1/4, Occidental Petroleum was unchanged, Georgia-Pacific eased 1/2.

Steels and motors generally surrendered fractions, as did most airlines.

Consolidated Foods Declares Dividend

CHICAGO (BW) — The board of directors of Consolidated Foods Corp. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on the company's comon stock.

The dividend, the 104th consecutive one declared by Consolidated, will be payable Jan. 1 to shareholders of record Dec. 13.

Negev Findings May Change Bible Views

LONDON (UPI)—An international team of archaeologists probing the southern area of the Negev Desert known as "King Solomon's Mines" has made a discovery which they think may require a reconsideration of current interpretations of the Bible.

They have found evidence that Egyptians were present at Timna, 20 miles north of Eilat, at about the time the Jews fleeing Egypt under the command of Moses, were presumably in the same area in their search for the promised land.

The Egyptian presence in the 13th Century B.C. was confirmed and dated by seals of the Pharaohs of the era uncovered during the excavations under Prof. Beno Rothenberg of the Archaeology Institute of Hebrew University in Tel Aviv and other experts from Britain, Germany, the United States and Israel.

That Egyptians were prospecting in the Negev, even though it was on the land bridge between Asia and Africa, a crossroads of biblical times, had not hitherto been suspected.

But fascinating as Dr. Rothenberg finds the Egyptian question it is only a byproduct of a study the international team made of the copper mines of Timna which 6,000 years ago evolved a method of smelting so sophisticated it endured into the middle ages in Europe. Those mines still are being plumbed.

How man made this giant leap so early in his technological career is puzzling because the process involves the ability to ensure a steady degree of heat. It appears that more than 40 centuries before the Christian era a technician of genius was at work in the Negev.

Dr. Rothenberg said the team had found the expression "King Solomon's Mines" more imaginative than actual. Dating procedures on material from the mines showed that it was in operation centuries before his time and, in fact, was inactive during his reign.

"Timna is unique in that there is a well-preserved record of 60 centuries of copper mining and smelting," Dr. Rothenberg said.

"Even today copper is being extracted in the same area."

He said the Negev has always been inhospitable desert—blistering heat by day, cold by night—and the men who worked there over the centuries labored in "excruciating conditions." These included Christians, perhaps convicts, who were sent there in the 2nd century A.D. when the third Roman legion occupied the area.

Among other discoveries, the team found at the foot of cliffs known as "King Solomon's Pillars" the remnants of a temple site also dating back 6,000 years.

Robbed, Blinded

22 Children Injured In School Bus Crash

COVINA (UPI)—A school bus packed with children returning from a skating party was struck broadside by an auto Tuesday night injuring 22 of the youngsters and the two occupants of the car.

Authorities said the children, ranging in age from 10 to 14, were taken to two hospitals in the area suffering from broken teeth, lacerations, and broken bones. None was critically injured.

DeGaulle's Widow Still Wears Black

LOMBEY-LES-DEUXE GLISES, France (UPI) — Each day at sunset, when dense fog boils out from nearby hills and peace settles over the champagne fields, a fleeting figure of a woman clad in mourning black slips into the village church.

The late visitor is Madame Yvonne de Gaulle, 71, the shy, wife of the late French president, who has come for evening prayers to escape notice from tourists crowding around the general's tomb in daylight.

A year after his sudden death on Nov. 9, 1970, de Gaulle, who influenced France's course of destiny for 30 years, casts a spell over his compatriots from his grave. As the first anniversary of his death is drawing near, the flow of visitors to his humble tomb is swelling into a human stream.

Local police officials estimate the number of Frenchmen and foreigners who came here since de Gaulle's burial Nov. 12, 1970, at one million. This, they said, is more than twice the number drawn by Napoleon's Tomb or the Arch of Triumph, and nearly as much as the Louvre Museum or Versailles Palace.

The tourist traffic to what has become a national shrine second in Europe only to Lenin's Tomb in Moscow is so heavy on Sundays that Madame de Gaulle sometimes goes to Mass in neighboring villages or to Chaumont, a small town 15 miles away, to avoid public attention.

Since de Gaulle's sudden death Madame de Gaulle has allowed no change to be made at their rambling home, la Boisserie, where she lives in virtual seclusion with their old maids, Honorine and Charlotte.

No one is allowed to enter de Gaulle's study where he had penned most of his works and where he used to meditate for hours in silence on world affairs. Madame de Gaulle spends much of her time answering carefully all letters she gets from her husband's admirers in France or abroad, or knitting for her grandchildren.

But the atmosphere in the village has changed a good deal. An enterprising local milk plant owner has built a 32-room hotel with a dining room seating 300 at the outskirts of the farming commune. A young village-born cook has opened an equally prosperous restaurant while perhaps the most prosperous business is a shop selling de Gaulle memorabilia from minature busts of the general to key chains, ashtrays and other oddities bearing the Free French leader's likeness.

Soon, a huge 132-foot Cross of Lorraine, the general's favorite wartime emblem, will be built from granite on a hilltop overlooking Colombey thanks to a fund-raising campaign aiming at $900,000. Half of the sum already has been collected.

The influx of tourists has prompted authorities to set up one way traffic signs in this tiny commune plus a parking space for 1,200 motor cars and buses. A platoon of 60 gendarmes has been posted in Colombey to keep traffic moving and keep things organized in a village where, until de Gaulle's death, only an occasional farm tractor or truck rumbled through the main street.

For the first time ever all members of the de Gaulle family—about 160 persons including distant cousins and inlaws, will get together to attend a memorial mass for the general in Paris.

Youths Need Real Draft Counseling

Youths approaching their 18th birthdays face a tough decision, and will for at least another year, since Congress has seen fit to extend the draft.

The decision is whether they should (a) sign up and wait for the draft, perhaps hoping that a high lottery number will exempt them, (b) end the uncertainty by enlisting in one of the armed services as soon as they complete high school, or (c) try to avoid the draft by some means, legitimate or otherwise.

The young man, not yet old enough to vote, is placed in a difficult position, asked to make decisions he is not qualified to make.

He needs help.

HE SHOULD BE ABLE to turn for help to the Selective Service System itself, which presumably knows all the rules. But he will get no help from his draft board. None whatever.

There are, however, no lack of draft counselors to whom he may turn. They have set up shop all over the place.

THE TROUBLE is that these draft counselors — with perhaps a few exceptions — are not really draft counselors at all. They are how-to-avoid-the-draft counselors.

They start from the premise that military service — any military service, but especially the compulsory kind — is all wrong and the youth wants no part of it.

Usually they are young men who have avoided the draft themselves, either by donning the ministerial collar, by winning continued education and teaching deferments, or by other perhaps less legitimate methods.

They operate on the assumption that the youth's difficult decision already is made, and that it is adamantly against military service. They counsel him on how to avoid it — first by legitimate means, and if he cannot escape that way, by other means, questionable or downright dishonest — but always, of course, "within the law."

QUITE A FEW million Americans who have served in the military would not agree that the experience is all bad. In fact, a fair share of them think it did them good.

They, of course, are not "draft counselors."

WHAT IS NEEDED is a draft counseling service which really is what the name implies, and what the young man needs: an organization that will give him as true as possible a picture of what military service means, of its advantages and its drawbacks, of the reasons for and against a draft.

The youth needs someone who will help him make up his mind — not who proceeds from the premise that it is already made up. He then needs someone who will explain what legitimate steps are open to him, and how he should go about taking them — but not to counsel him in how to "beat the law" and start on his adulthood as a cheat.

Veterans' organizations would seem the obvious ones to set up such a committee. But it is doubtful that many youths would go to them, for fear their counseling would be as one-sided — on the other side — as that of the present "draft counselors."

PERHAPS THE Marin County veterans service officer could take the lead in setting up a citizen committee and procuring all the applicable laws, rules and court decisions for its use, to give the youth approaching draft age someone to whom he could go with his tough questions and get some real help —the kind he needs and to which he is entitled.

We'd like to see him start it.

Concert Convinces Youth On Right Road

Our family had the wonderful opportunity to attend the autumn chamber concert last evening (Nov. 4) at the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

This concert was presented by Tamalpais High School featuring chorus, madrigal singers, and chamber ensemble.

We were surprised at the professional handling of the program and the poise of the students entertaining, along with such beautiful voices and choice of materials. The chamber ensemble were at their best.

It was a night of restful, peaceful entertainment set in a beautiful church with acoustics that brought out the best in harmony.

Thanks to Robert Greenwood, director; Bill Shallock, director; Laurence Nelson, choral director, and all who made the night an enjoyable one.

This family is being convinced that the youths of this country are turning in the right direction! After last night's performance which showed many hours of time and practice, one can't help but feel they are on the right road for the future.

We are looking forward to the coming events for more such pleasures.

Writer Changes Mind On Taiwan Expulsion

Last night's I-J (Nov. 4) carried a letter written by me on Oct. 25 re the entrance of the Peoples' Republic of China to the United Nations. I was in error in my statement that Taiwan was "expelled" from the U.N., and would like to correct that statement now.

Like most Americans, I was caught up in the emotion of the minute and did not reflect that what had just taken place in the United Nations was a result of over 20 years of myth-building by my government. . .

Myth 1: "A founding nation of the U.N. was expelled from the U.N." The fact is that no nation was expelled. Chiang Kai-shek has for the past 20-plus years claimed to represent all of China . . . and China still sits in the United Nations today. The only thing which happened with the China vote was that the governmental representation of China was changed. . .

Myth 2: "The member-state expelled was a model of goodness and virtue." The fact is that the Nationalist Chinese government was over three years in arrears in its payments to the United Nations, and that the Nationalist Chinese government has kept the peoples of Taiwan (a country invaded by Chiang Kai-shek after he was expelled from the mainland) in subjection and poverty all the time Chiang has remained in power.

Myth 3: "The United States pays a disproportionate share of the U.N. budget." The assessment of member-states is based upon ability to pay, and net national product. The USA consumes well over 60 per cent of the world's resources, and yet we are asked to repay only a little over ⅓ of the U.N. budget. I think we are getting off easy as it is! . . .

Wringing Hands Over U.N. Vote Vs. Looking To National Interest

WASHINGTON — Quite a few politicians and commentators are continuing to wring their hands because, as they say, the U.N. vote against Taiwan shows how unpopular the United States is.

Not so. Before they foist another miss on a harried public, we'd better take a clear look at why it isn't so.

Let me suggest two basic propositions:

THERE IS NOTHING more empty, more unimportant, more irrelevant than for a nation to want gratitude from other nations for what it does in its own national interests.

Second, the vote in the General Assembly of the United Nations on the two Chinas was not a measure of whether the United States is liked or not liked. Bluntly, it was a vote against Taiwan, not against the United States.

Those who argue that a vote expelling Taiwan shows worldwide anti-Americanism are simply not taking into account the wide range of factors which produced that vote. They are assuming that the target of the vote was the United States. This conjures up an unlikely picture of high officials in foreign offices scratching their heads to find out how they can use a U.N. vote to embarrass the United States.

It doesn't wash.

IT NEEDS TO BE remembered that more than a majroity of the U.N. members had already established diplomatic relations with mainland China. Most of them had withdrawn recognition of Nationalist China. Therefore, their U.N. vote for Peking and against Taiwan was an extension of their established policy, not a plot against the United States.

Most of the nations which voted to expel Taiwan had been working for more than a decade to get Red China into the United Nations. They were convinced that it was hurtful to the United Nations, hurtful to the world and unfair that 600 million mainland Chinese should be without a voice in the United Nations.

Their goal of bringing mainland China into membership was long frustrated primarily by the United States.

IT IS OBVIOUS that these countries wanted to be sure that Peking would accept membership. They voted to remove Nationalist China to make absolutely certain there would be no barrier which would cause the People's Republic of China to stay out.

I don't happen to agree with this proposition. I believe it was neither wise nor necessary to punish the people of Taiwan in order to sweeten the invitation to mainland China.

It should have been left to Peking to decide whether it wanted to join the United Nations under that condition. But putting Peking's entrance into the United Nations as the controlling goal was not an expression of anti-Americanism.

NO GOVERNMENT can justify any course of action in world affairs or the use of a single penny of the taxpayers' dollar which is not in the best interest of the nation. This applies to the United States as well as every other country.

As a matter of fact, a nations' motives become suspect when its actions are defended on the ground they are taken primarily to benefit some other country, not primarily in its own highest national interest.

When the United States promises to respond to an attack on a NATO country as though it were an attack on itself, when it extends its nuclear umbrella to Japan or to India, such commitments are the more credible and the more reliable when it is openly evident the United States is acting to protect itself.

A nation can't buy friends and ought not to try. The United States is not trying. But when some senators try to penalize the United Nations because a vote goes againstthe United States, they are doing America great harm by giving that impression.
harm by giving that impression.

America needs only to be true to itself — and it will have plenty of friends.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Getting Vote Is Great, But Why Not For All?

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Registering to vote for the first time is, or should be, an event in a man's life comparable to getting his first long pants. A grownup is likely to remember it among his big days, like Pearl Harbor Day or the day he got his military discharge at Treasure Island and went up to the top of the hotel and looked at San Fancisco Bay and had his first drink as a free man.

Now some U.S. senators are trying to take all the magic out of that moment by making registration as simple as filling out a post card and dropping it in a mailbox. And some other senators, and the President himself, see this as an evil idea because, among other things, it theoretically would make too much data about citizens available to the federal government. (This, please note, from the administration which has given us John Mitchell for attorney general and William Rehnquist for the Supreme Court.)

ON SECOND THOUGHT, maybe registering to vote is a memorable achievement only for those of us who grew up in the South. People from Bismarck and Phoenix may take it for granted, but not us. For in the very recent past, voting in much of the South was guarded by the local establishment as a privilege, not a right.

As an example, back where I turned 21, the courthouse was owned, lock, stock and voting lists, by the political machine headed somewhere far up the hierarchy by the late Harry Flood Byrd. To get yourself registered, you had to find out the registrar's eccentric office hours, which were something like alternate Tuesdays between 1:45 p.m. and 2:15 p.m. except during the full moon. You also had to know where his cubbyhole was hidden, for there was no sign directing you to it.

If you were a certified friend or relative of the Byrd organization, this tightly held intelligence would be passed along to you, sort of confidentilaly. If not, you could brazen it out, as I did. And, providing your pedigree passed muster, your poll taxes had been paid. and you looked the registrar steady in the eye, you could register to vote.

This procedure for decades held the typical turnout of voters in Virginia to something like 10 per cent or 15 per cent of those eligible. And of course the to-do I have described was for literate white. God help you if you were black or illiterate or both.

ALL THAT MAY SOUND old-fashioned, or peculiar to that region below the Potomac and Ohio rivers. But in fact, variations of it continue in the form of complicated local and state laws, racial and partisan discrimination and other abuses that still keep some 27 million legally eligible Americans off the voting rolls.

That is why the Senate Post Office Committee approved a bill last week to order the Census Bureau to send form post cards to every address in the country, which could be filled out by the eligible residents and sent to their local registration offices. That simply, they would be officially registered to vote.

One of the hitches, a threat to eventual passage of the bill into law, is that most of those eligible but not registered are poor, black, young or undereducated. Statistically, they are thus likely to vote Democratic. That makes the bill a partisan measure, according to the administration. Therefore most Republicans in Congress will vote against it, and so will some conservative Southern Democrats. The bill was handled by Sen. Gale McGee's (D-Wyo.) Post Office Committee in the first place because there was little hope that Sen. James Eastland's (D-Miss.) Judiciary Committee would ever clear it for floor action.

The prospect is that when it approaches the floor there will be an effort to reroute it back to judiciary, and thus probably kill it. When it comes, the vote on the motion to re-refer, or on the bill itself, will be another showdown between the conservative bipartisan coalition and the Democratic majority joined by a few stray Republicans.

BEFORE THEN, it is well to take a hard look at the principal administration objection. Sen. Robert Dole of Indiana, the GOP national chairman, and a deputy assistant attorney general both maintained that the bill was a menace to privacy because it would place voter data in federal hands. That contention was specious to start with, because such information is legally public property wherever it is kept.

And as for the quieter, more urgent fear that registering the unregistered will mean a net addition to the rolls of the Democratic Party, the obvious answer is for the Republican Party to make itself more attractive to the poor, the black, the young and the undereducated.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Loophole After Loophole Found By Project Team

By MARY K. SHELL

The state has lost $100 million in tax revenues from insurance companies since 1950 because of a little-known 60-year-old tax loophole;

Ten of the largest banks received almost $100,000 in free auto license plates from the state in 1970 under California's system of in-lieu bank taxation;

Hertz Car Leasing Co., doesn't have to pay license plate costs to the Department of Motor Vehicles for the 78 cars it leases to the state for use by assemblymen (because of the in-lieu bank taxation); and

The five largest California-based insurance companies paid no state income taxes on $153 million investment income they realized last year.

THE 19-MEMBER task force of undergraduate and graduate students organized Project Loophole last summer under sponsorship of Democratic Caucus Chairman Sen. Mervyn Dymally. They intended to make it a summer-only project. However, from involvement they say they have found so many tax inequities they feel should be exposed, their studies have extended into the fall.

Richard Budnick, a 23-year-old, 1970 graduate of UCLA, conducted a study of tax laws applying to insurance companies. He points out, that, unlike other corporations, insurance companies that have their main office headquarters in California are allowed to deduct from their state taxes all local property taxes on the building. In some instances this deduction was higher than the amount owed to the state.

At least 12 companies paid no income tax at all last year. Budnick says the loss to the state in tax revenues from this source was $11 million in 1970 and he predicts within the next three years it will jump to $18 million a year.

IN HIS STUDY of in-lieu bank taxation practices, Arthur Mills learned banks do not have to pay for auto license plates because under state law they are exempt from these fees, as well as most other state and local fees. Instead they pay income, corporation and property taxes. The four per cent in-lieu tax on banks is designed to offset the amount that would be due. In Mills' opinion, however, this is a tax inequity.

Project Loophole also found GMAC, General Motors' nationwide auto financing firm, also received nearly $10,000 in free plates because 50 years ago it was ruled to be a bank under California law.

Hertz Car Leasing isn't a bank, but it too is exempt from paying auto license fees for the 78 cars it leases to the state for use by assemblymen.

Mills found a total of 3,646 cars qualified for free "P.S." plates in 1971 at a total fee loss of $163,620.

IN HER INVESTIGATION of insurance company taxation, Karen Porter came to the conclusion current laws are discriminatory and allow some firms tax exemptions not enjoyed by other companies engaged in the same business.

She explained the insurance firms are taxed on the basis of gross premiums. However, they pay no income taxes on revenue received from stocks and bonds, rents or real estate loans.

Trouble Seems To Follow Virginia Franklin Around

(Reprinted from Oroville Mercury)

Trouble follows Virginia Franklin around.

Winning a law suit in Butte County did not help this teacher much, except in a financial way. Leaving the Paradise School District, she was turned down by 62 boards of education when she applied for teaching posts. They were not looking for trouble. Finally the San Rafael High School board gave her a part-time position. Soon they had all the trouble that others had avoided.

Mrs. Franklin likes to expose her students to the evil of modern times. Presumably she believes they are immune, will not believe what they read - will, instead, view the articles by Abbie Hoffman, Stokely Carmichael et al with a cool, impersonal eye if found in a "textbook".

Having been a high school boy once upon a time, this writer is not sure that she is right. We found that a high school boy (or girl, we presume) always is open to suggestion.

The "text book" she provided declared that orgasms should be understood. The boy (or girl), noting that the teacher, a handsome, virile person, might implicitly be suggesting something, might decide to give the suggestion a laboratory test.

If the book recommended "grow your own marijuana," as it does, the child may just do that. The book urges revolt in the high schools, describes the "Politics of Vandalism".

THERE IS NO WAY to check up on Mrs. Franklin. The unsupported tales of children are not given much weight by a school board.

A boy in her class in Paradise thought that if he could provide a recording of what she said he would have the evidence he wanted. He hollowed a book, concealed a recording device in the book and took it to class.

Somehow Mrs. Franklin got word of the plot, uncovered it, and got nationwide credit in magazine Time for exposing the dastardly trick. The boy was humiliated before his classmates, disgraced. He'll never try anything like that again.

Some thought Mrs. Franklin gave the boy a bum deal, thought she might have taken him to one side and explained that it wasn't nice to plot against teacher. They thought she went too far when she called the Time man in and dramatically exposed the boy in front of everyone.

BUT MRS. FRANKLIN got away with it. Some patriots in Paradise said too much. She sued them and collected upwards of $8,000 in Butte Superior Court.

She made such a hit with the judge, called in from Quincy, that he said in solemn tones from the bench that the children of Paradise were lucky to have such a fine teacher. He must have been right for shortly thereafter he was elevated to the appellate court in Sacramento.

But trouble is soon there once Mrs. Franklin alights. The school board of San Rafael is wondering whether "academic freedom" or common sense is best and Mrs. Franklin, who persuaded them to buy 35 copies ($5.95 each) of the 752-page book of four-letter words and obscenity, now has a new test applied to her clever winsomeness.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

Middle Income Group Has Most Difficult Day In Court

An assistant state attorney general recently said in a talk in Marin County that justice for the middle class is probably the weakest spot in American courts.

Arlo Smith, who is in charge of the criminal trial division of the attorney general's office, said the poor get court-appointed attorneys, the rich can afford whomever they want, but middle-income people are the most likely to suffer in paying for counsel.

THIS REPORTER remembers one sad instance which illustrates Smith's thesis. A couple of years ago a San Rafael man was accused of murder. While the case was a rather tawdry one, it was not an open and shut affair.

The man, who by all accounts had been extremely drunk at the time of the shooting, called his business attorney when he awoke the next morning in the county jail. The attorney, who was not known for criminal cases, much less murder defenses, represented the defendant until the man, who had operated a small business which stopped on his arrest, ran out of money.

At that time the public defender was appointed by the court, and the man eventually was allowed to plead to manslaughter and was sent to state prison. Actually, the public defender did a pretty good job for him, but the man spent many unnecessary months in jail when he could have started the prison sentence he was going to have to serve.

MURDER IS the most dramatic and serious crime, of course, but many middle-income people also take a beating on such misdemeanors as drunken driving.

Again, the poor get the public defender, who has certainly had a lot of experience with such cases, and the rich get the famous lawyers. The middle group not only is often hurt by having to take several days off from work to appear in court but also is forced to hire lawyers who really can't do much in such cases.

Since the Marin County district attorney's office just about never will take a plea to a lesser charge in a drunken driving case if a blood alcohol test is available, an attorney can't do much more than hold his client's hand in court.

Judges, however, often insist that defendants in even misdemeanor cases have attorneys because of rulings by higher courts. Thus the person with a moderate income has to pay a lawyer, take time off from work, and finally pay a fine — a combination of events which hits him harder than it does either the poor or the rich.

SPEAKING OF paying lawyers, apparently many of the well-known attorneys who make a specialty of representing radicals are having more money problems than would appear to the public.

"I don't want anything more to do with any of those 'defense funds,' " one of them snapped recently. First, he said, such groups seldom raise much money, and second, the client thinks the lawyer is getting rich off the fund when he isn't.

Angela Davis's defense fund apparently is no exception. Her attorneys comment often how little money the defense has and a hastily prepared book put together by her backers, "If They Come in the Morning," is seemingly a last hope at putting money in the coffers. The hard-backed version is on the market now at $6.95 while a paperback is due out soon, according to her lawyers.

Mariner Camera Test — A-OK

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists successfully tested the cameras aboard America's Mariner 9 Monday night as the 2,200-pound spacecraft entered the homestretch of its six-month voyage to Mars.

Twenty-seven pictures of the Red Planet were snapped by cameras aboard the $65 million space explorer and radioed back to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here, from where the flight is controlled.

"We had a little trouble at first while we unscrambled the computer system at the ground station," a JPL spokesman said. "But they came in fine."

The pictures had no scientific worth themselves and the exercise was to make sure the mechanical components of the craft were working properly.

No Leopard Skins For Bass Drummers

LONDON (UPI)—The ministry of defense has bowed to protests from animal conservationists and ordered military bands to stop buying leopard or tiger skins for the bass drummers to wear.

The bands in the future will buy imitation skins, a ministry spokesman said Monday. He said the decision was made after a protest from the World Wildlife Fund, among other groups.

ART BUCHWALD

We Need U.N. In New York; Spies Are Good For Business

NEW YORK — There was a very angry reaction by some Americans to the United Nations vote on China. Sen. Barry Goldwater suggested we kick the United Nations out of New York. Sen. James Buckley called for the United States to refuse to fund it.

In purely economic terms we believe that those calling for the end of the United Nations are making a mistake. The United Nations brings in far more money to New York than it takes out.

For example, the budget for spying among the U.N. members is estimated to be over a billion dollars.

WE HAVE THE WORD of J. Edgar Hoover himself that the United Nations has more spies in it than any international organization. And the most important thing about this fact is that spies spend money.

A recent survey revealed that U.N. spies were the biggest spenders of any group in New York City. They ate at the best restaurants, stayed at the best hotels, hired the most attractive women and were the biggest tippers.

An American economist told me that if it wasn't for the money that foreign spies spend in the United States, our balance of payments deficit would be twice what it is today.

A top restaurateur said, "We've been in a terrible slump in the past few years since legitimate businessmen have been ordered to cut out lavish spending at lunch or dinner. If it wasn't for the spies attached to U.N. delegations, we would have to close our doors."

"I DIDN'T THINK they counted that much," I said.

"It isn't just the spies that bring in the business," he said, "it's what they bring in with them, too. Every time a Russian spy reserves a table for dinner, we also get a reservation for a table from the FBI and one from the CIA and one from the KGM — The Soviet secret police."

"Why would the KGB reserve an extra table if one of their own spies were having dinner there?"

"They don't trust each other."

A HOTEL MANAGER confirmed that U.N. spies were keeping his place going. "When a Cuban U.N. delegate takes a hotel room, the Secret Service takes the room next to him," he said. "Navy intelligence takes the room on top of him, the State Department security people take the room below him and we rent out the entire basement for equipment to bug his room.

"We couldn't afford to take care of New York policemen for free if it wasn't for money that U.N. spies bring in."

Another hotel manager said he had rented out an entire floor to Arab U.N. delegates directly over Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban's suite, when Eban last came to town.

He said, "The nice thing about spies at the United Nations is that they don't cause any trouble. They are very quiet. All they're interested in doing is getting information and they usually talk in whispers."

THERE IS GREAT excitement over the Red Chinese coming here to the United Nations. "They will have to assume every Chinese U.N. delegate is a spy," a Chinese restaurant owner said, "and I understand the FBI has already doubled its entertainment budget for its New York office."

"But," I said, "suppose the Red Chinese delegates turn out not to be big spenders?"

"Who cares," he replied. "Every person in New York of Chinese descent will be suspect, and what we don't make on Red Chinese U.N. spies, we'll recoup on the FBI following Chinese people who were born in Brooklyn."

School Principal Shot

GROVE, OKLA. (UPI)—T.J. Melton, 46, principal of Grove Elementary School, was shot to death Monday in a janitor's storeroom at the school. Police held a janitor who had worked at the school for 20 years. Melton was killed by three shots to the chest and head.

$42,000 In Damages For Businesses

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Two black mechanics have been awarded $42,000 in damages from the mayor, police chief and city council members of their town because they were driven out of business.

A federal court jury assessed the penalty Monday night against Mayor Philip H. Calabrese and other officials of Sand City, a community of 681 persons on the Central California coast.

The jury of three men and three women returned its verdict after a civil rights trial in which the two black mechanics contended that the city put up "no parking" signs in front of their shop deliberately to drive them out of business because of their color.

Their attorney argued before District Judge Robert Peckham's court that the no parking ordinance was drawn up in such a way that it affected only the A and W repair shop which the two men operated, and was so strictly enforced by Police Chief Frank Zabrowski that it was impossible for any prospective customer to stop at the place.

The shop eventually had to close and the two men left the city. They originall asked $110,000 damages. The award included $32,000 actual damages and $10,000 punitive damages.

Those ordered to share in paying it, as well as Calabrese and Zabrowski, were council members Pearl Pendergrass, Mark R. Meadows, Ellis D. Potter, and Wilson G. Oliver.

The verdict was reached unanimously by the jury after five hours deliberation. It was the first six-member federal jury used in Northern California District.

KODIAK KUT-UPS

Another Front In Tax Fuss

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The cigarette tax emerged today as the next battleground for legislators attempting to balance the state's red-ink budget with a "mini-package" featuring income tax withholding.

A Democratic-sponsored proposal supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan which would impose withholding starting Jan. 1 was approved Tuesday by the Senate Revenue and Taxation Committee.

ONE-TWO PUNCH

"We're going to be banging the income taxpayer with a one-two punch," remarked one committee member, Sen. John W. Holmdahl, D-Oakland, referring to the initial double tax that withholding would cause.

The bill was sent on a voice vote to the Senate Finance Committee, where chairman Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, promptly announced he will try to amend it with a cigarette tax increase.

The author, Sen. Walter W. Stiern, D-Bakersfield, said he was opposed to a cigarette tax hike because "not everybody would pay it. It's unfair to finance the state by taxing just that segment of the public which smokes."

But Collier, an ardent nonsmoker who has banned smoking from his committee room, said cigarette and other "sin taxes" should be increased to assure that the legislature won't have to raise taxes again next year.

BOOST TAXES

Stiern's bill would boost taxes by an estimated $343 million for the remainder of this fiscal year, just barely enough to plug a revenue gap in the $6.8 billion state budget. But it would fall roughly $110 million short of balancing the following year's budget and even more than that during the 1973-74 fiscal year.

"I'm not going to vote for a tax increase to cover a deficit expected three years from now," insisted Holmdahl, who presided over the meeting. "If the recession gets worse we're going to need more money anyway. If it gets better, we won't need as much."

The Revenue and Taxation Committee, chaired by Stiern, declined to approve a rival "mini-package" by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, which would have balanced budgets for the foreseeable future and increased cigarette taxes by 3 cents a pack.

Bagley estimated by raising the cigarette tax from 10 to 13 cents a pack the state could pull in another $57 million annually.

REAGAN VIEWS

Reagan aides said the governor would support a cigarette tax increase, but also probably would sign the Stiern bill without it. The main thing, they emphasized, was to enact withholding and level out the state's erratic cash flow situation.

How to implement the federal pay-as-you-go system without overburdening citizens with initial double taxation dominated the committee's debate.

The double tax would occur because citizens would be having their taxes withheld for current income starting next January and still face a lump sum tax payment in April for their previous year's wages. Thus, without a tax "forgiveness," they would pay two year's taxes in one 12-month period.

The committee amended the Stiern Bill to provide a 30 per cent credit on taxes owed for 1970 income.

EX-AIDE TO REINECKE CHARGES TILL TAPPING

Says Former Boss Using State Funds For Governor's Bidding

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The former top aide of Lt. Gov. Ed Reinecke today accused him of spending hundreds of thousands of taxpayer dollars to campaign for governor and of conducting an "undercover" conspiracy against Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The charges by Hal Steward, No. 1 assistant to the lieutenant governor, were contained in a letter released today to newsmen and sent Reinecke yesterday.

Steward said he wanted to explain why he "resigned" his $20,000-a-year post as special executive assistant. Other top aides privately said he was fired.

Reinecke said Steward, on the job only seven weeks, left by "mutual consent." The shakeup followed a dispute over release of a prepared speech text in which Reinecke criticized state employe efficiency and salary increases.

Reinecke and other top aides were not immediately available for comment on Steward's letter.

Steward told Reinecke he "resigned" because:

"The use by you and members of your staff of hundreds of thousands of dollars in taxpayers' money solely to conduct a campaign for your election to governor in 1974."

"The efforts by senior members of your staff, with your knowledge, to conduct a conspiracy, undercover, against Gov. Reagan, his administration, and his staff."

"Your refusal, despite repeated recommendations and urging by me to attempt to identify with or consider the ethnic problems and aspirations of members of California's minority groups."

"The blatant cynicism practiced by you and the senior members of your staff in regard to public issues where your and their only motivation was whether your position on the issues would help get you elected governor rather than an interest in the concern and needs of the citizens of California."

"Your refusal, despite my repeated urgings, to do your homework and keep yourself prepared on the vital issues . . . "

Rehnquist Gains An Ally

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., charged today that William H. Rehnquist had been "badly persecuted" by some witnesses seeking to kill his appointment to the Supreme Court.

Eastland, who had said little previously during hearings by the Senate Judiciary Committee, which he heads, on the nominations of Rehnquist and Lewis F. Powell to the Supreme Court, spoke out and said he intended to rectify some of the "falsehoods" which have surfaced.

Eastland called Rehnquist, who is being opposed by organized labor and civil rights groups, "an honorable man."

"He is an outstanding lawyer and he will become an outstanding justice," said Eastland. He also said "I think he is a badly persecuted man, persecuted by those opposed to him."

The committee chairman said he would enter into the panel's records later today statements to rebut what he described as falsehoods uttered against Rehnquist.

Eastland made clear that he was not referring to testimony of an AFL-CIO spokesman, Andrew Biemiller, who was testifying at that point, but to the strong opposition in charges made Tuesday by representatives of civil rights groups.

Eastland did not indicate what "falsehoods" he referred to but both Clarence Mitchell of the NAACP and Joseph L. Rauh, Jr., legal counsel for the National Leadership Conference on Civil Rights, charged that Rehnquist up to 1968 went out of his way to keep blacks and poor people from voting in two Phoenix election precincts.

Biemiller, joining the Leadership Conference, the NAACP and the Americans for Democratic Action in opposing Rehnquist, called Rehnquist a right wing zealot and urged his rejection by the Senate.

Like the other groups that have forcefully opposed Rehnquist, Beimiller's position paper for organized labor took no position on Powell's nomination.

"We do so because Rehnquist's public record demonstrates him to be a right wing zealot whose sole distinctions in public life are that he was the only major person of stature who opposed the Arizona civil rights bill in 1964 and that he has been one of the prime theoreticians of and an apologist for this administration's root and branch assault on the constitutional system of checks and balances," Biemiller said in his prepared statement.

The only reason Rehnquist's name was submitted for the Supreme Court, Biemiller said, was because he had demonstrated his "complete fealty" to Nixon administration programs.

Anne Ellinwood To Seek Wornum's Spot On Board

With the June election still seven months away, Tiburon City Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood yesterday announced her candidacy for the Marin County Board of Supervisors Third District seat now held by Michael Wornum of Mill Valley.

Miss Ellinwood, rumored to be contemplating running for supervisor for some months, previously had announced she would not seek reelection in April to a third term on the Tiburon council.

She said she had become increasingly concerned about what she termed "leadership lag" on the present board and added:

"The times require a recognition by elected leaders of what the accelerated rate of change is doing to our society. We need leaders who will lead in meeting that change."

Miss Ellinwood, 52, of 1810 Mountain View Drive, served on the original Tiburon City Council from 1964 to 1966 and was elected to her present term in 1968. She is chairman of the City-County Planning Council and a member of the Board of the Marin Comprehensive Health Planning Council.

ANNE L. ELLINWOOD
Seeks supervisor job

She said Wornum's "decision-making pattern has been one on equivocation and accomodation. This is not what the people of the third district have come to expect from their supervisor. 'Followship' has replaced leadership."

She said she is "disappointed the incumbent has dropped the baton. As an architect and planner we looked for continued imaginative leadership from him in fighting the conservation-environment battles." That leadership failed to materialize, she said.

Miss Ellinwood was born in San Francisco and graduated from the University of California at Berkeley with an economics degree. She has lived in Tiburon since 1954.

INCIDENT AT ORLY

Red China's Paris 'Capitulation'

PARIS (UPI) —Communist China's delegation to the United Nations arrived today on its way to New York—and lost its first diplomatic confrontation.

The confrontation was over use of the VIP lounge at Orly airfield. Shortly before the delegation, led by deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua, flew in from Shanghai and Cairo, Chinese embassy officials sought to take over the entire three-room suite at the airfield.

They were turned down. Mrs. Ne Win, wife of the prime minister of Burma, was due in from Rangoon about the same time for a shopping trip to the French capital and had reserved one of the rooms long in advance.

Burmese officials supported by Orly airport authorities refused to give it up to the Chinese—although China is a neighbor of Burma. The Chinese capitulated and when the 44-member Chinese delegation arrived, wearing Mao suits, they squeezed into the remaining two rooms of the suite.

On hand to greet them was Huang Hua, former Chinese ambassador to Canada, who flew in 2 1-2 hours earlier from Montreal so the entire delegation could arrive together in New York Thursday.

The Chinese arrived amid heavy security that recalled the measures taken to protect Soviet Communist Party leader Leonid I. Brezhnev when he visited France last month.

Heavy details of riot police surrounded the VIP lounge and cordoned the area from newsmen. Other armed police lined the highway from the airport when the Chinese, in a motorcade led by four embassy Mercedes limousines, sped into downtown Paris.

The Chinese officials made no statements, unlike their stopover in Cairo earlier today when, according to Egypt's Middle East News Agency, they told Cairo officials they will back the Arab side against Israel in the United Nations.

In Cairo, they were greeted by Mohammed Riad, director of the prime minister's office, who told them Egypt felt "pleasure and relief" for China's admission to the United Nations.

Supervisors Say Townhouse Plan Too Big For Upper Lcas Valley

By ERIK M. INGRAM

The Marin County Board of Supervisors yesterday rejected as controversial, a townhouse proposal from Kaiser Aetna Co. of Oakland and ordered it scaled down. (Other supervisors stories, page 7.)

The proposal, which called for construction of 145 townhouse units on 18 acres in Marinwood, was returned to the county planning commission for modification to 108 units.

The action culminated a three-hour hearing and was applauded by some 80 Marinwood residents who complained that a higher-density development would adversely affect their community.

Last month, many of the same residents urged the planning commission to limit the size of the development but were only successful in getting the commission to reduce the number of units by nine.

Kaiser Aetna attorney Albert Bianchi of San Rafael told the board yesterday it had to consider "the greater good" the project offered in providing badly needed moderate-income family housing.

In urging the development be approved for 145 units, Bianchi said the homes would range from $27,000 to $33,000 with 70 per cent in the lower price range. Buildings would be clustered, with one-story townhouses mixed with two-story structures.

He added that Kaiser Aetna also would agree to 21 units to be administered by a nonprofit organization and made available to low and moderate income families.

However, he ran into stiff

Salfen Quits In Wake Of Squabbles

Cotati City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen has resigned after months of disagreement with the city council.

Salfen said today he submitted letters to each of the councilmen making his resignation effective on Jan. 31, 1972. He had been city manager since July 1970 after having been assistant city manager at Milpitas.

Disagreements between Salfen and the council have grown in recent months with several closed sessions held to discuss charges of unfair dealings with other city employees and enforcement of city policies.

The council also has held sessions in an attempt to iron out a reported rift between Salfen and police chief Tony Locarini on what authority a city manager has over the operation of the police department.

The council will meet in a special closed session at 7:30 p.m. today to consider Salfen's resignation and has scheduled action to follow in open session.

Tax-Forms Job Awarded Oregon

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—State tax forms which about 3 million Californians will use to report their 1971 incomes will be printed in Oregon.

The California State Printing Plant, which has cut back its work force during the past few years, says it is unable to handle the entire job of printing 8 million state tax forms for 1971.

So, part of the job will be undertaken by the Daily Journal of Commerce in Portland, Ore. a spokesman for the State General Services Department said.

Another Sausalito Schools Aide Quits, Criticizes Board Actions

Sausalito School District trustee Robert A. Thompson resigned from the board yesterday, saying he's "lost effective contact with some of the board members" and his activities therefore were becoming "counterproductive."

"I just ran out of steam, so I decided it was time to move on," said the 40-year-old San Francisco attorney, elected in September 1970. His resignation was contained in a handwritten letter given to Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg early yesterday at the close of Monday's board meeting.

The surprised resignation was the second in slightly more than a month. Nathaniel Johnson, the final member of the board which integrated the district in 1965 and generally considered the board's lone liberal, quit Oct. 6, citing personal reasons.

Thompson, one of the most outspoken members of the board's conservative majority, said he thought the board "was beginning to indulge in endless and repetitive confrontations, interminable and indecisive dialogue and we appeared to have lost the ability to come to grips with the problems, make a decision and move on."

ROBERT A. THOMPSON
'Ran out of steam'

Thompson and Robert R. Lyon came to office in a special election in September 1970 to replace C. Gerald Clear and James E. Muldoon, who resigned following the recall of two other trustees, David E. Freedheim and Martha Freebairn-Smith. Board president Delta Christ and Jerry L. Whitcomb were elected to replace the ousted trustees.

The elections of Mrs. Christ, Thompson and Lyon were considered victories for the more conservative factions in the school district. Lyon since has resigned to be replaced by Warren Hansen, also considered a conservative.

Thompson blamed the schism between himself and other trustees on "the apparently irresistible urge of most board members to be somehow loved by everybody while doing a particularly thankless job. Thus they were spending an extraordinary amount of time addressing themselves not to the imme-

Span Collapses; 12 Feared Dead

COBLENZ, Germany (UPI)—Part of a new bridge being built over the River Rhine collapsed into the river today blocking traffic along Europe's biggest waterway.

Police said at least 12 workers were feared killed and 18 injured when the collapse plunged them about 56 feet into the river among the falling masonry.

Unofficial reports circulating at the scene of the disaster in Cobienz said the death toll might be as high as 20.

Most of the victims were foreign construction laborers, mainly Turks and Yugoslavs.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Media Takeover

LIMA (UPI) — The government announced officially today it is taking over radio and television stations, a move it said was necessary for reasons of "security and for mass education."

The new law passed by the military government was published in the official government newspaper El Peruano today. It said the government would take over at least 51 per cent of the shares in the 17 private television stations and at least 25 per cent of the 209 radio stations.

There were indications in the new law that some private radio stations would be allowed to continue functioning. However, all radio stations must broadcast at least one hour of educational programs daily.

Okinawa Violence

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI) — Rioting students beat an Okinawan policeman to death today during a general strike by 100,000 Okinawan workers protesting plans to maintain U.S. military bases on the occupied island after it reverts to Japan.

The death came when 12,000 demonstrators were marching towards the headquarters of the U.S. civil administration which governs Okinawa, the only Japanese territory still occupied by U.S. troops from World War II.

Troops Angered

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — British troops, angered by the death of 36 of their comrades this year, carried out widespread searches today for suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists they blame for the killings.

The raids, carried out by nearly 1,000 troops in Roman Catholic areas of Belfast and the countryside, were the second in two days.

Two teen-age girls accused of dating British soldiers reported today they had been assaulted by crowds yelling "soldier lover" and that their heads were shorn. One was tied to a post by three masked women, shorn and tarred and feathered to the encouragement of a crowd in a Roman Catholic area of Belfast. The other was threatened with death.

An Ailing Jersey Joe Sworn In

CAMDEN, N.J. (UPI) — Famed ex-heavyweight boxing champion Jersey Joe Walcott was released temporarily from a local hospital Tuesday to be sworn into office as New Jersey's first black sheriff.

Walcott

The 57-year-old Walcott, whose real name is Arnold Cream, took the oath of office on the steps of the Camden County Courthouse in 30-degree weather. He returned almost immediately to Cooper Hospital where he has been recovering from what his doctors say is exhaustion resulting from his campaign.

The ex-champ's son, the Rev. Vincent Cream, pastor of the Bethlehem Baptist Church in nearby Woodbury, delivered the invocation and held the Bible.

Court Denies Citizenship Plea

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UPI) — The next stop for Thomas G. Jolley, 27, a man without a country, likely will be Canada. How long he can remain there is a question.

Jolley

Jolley was left in his position by the Supreme Court, which yesterday denied his appeal to be allowed to stay in the United States.

A native of Greensboro, N.C., and currently a courthouse reporter for the Tallahassee Democrat, Jolley left the United States and went to Canada in 1967.

When his Selective Service Board refused to reclassify him a conscientious objector and instead made him 1A, he formally renounced his U.S. citizenship.

But he later returned to the U.S. and was charged with illegal entry. He is fighting deportation, claiming he renounced his citizenship under the duress of his desire to avoid breaking U.S. draft laws.

Funds Defeated

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI) — For the seventh time in two years, voters yesterday rejected a tax hike to finance schools. The schools in this Kansas City suburb, home of former President Harry S. Truman, stayed closed today for the 12th straight day.

The school board closed the system to the city's 17,000 students after classes Oct. 29 and has not opened them since, saying there was not enough money in the budget to pay faculty salaries.

The 95-cent tax increase, which needed a two-thirds majority to go into effect, was soundly defeated yesterday, 9,107 against the measure to 8,846 in favor. It was the worst defeat in the seven elections going back two years.

Rare-Book Sale Report Denied

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Reports that the Reagan Administration recommended the University of California's libraries sell some of their rare books have been denied by state Finance Director Verne Orr.

Orr, commenting on the widely published reports, said Tuesday the book-selling idea was one of a series of "comments" sent to UC officials by Finance Department auditors who reviewed the university's operations.

But, he said, "these are not recommendations. These are comments that our audits division sent over for reply by the university in rough-draft form."

A Smog Alarm

RIVERSIDE (UPI) — The Air-Quality Committee of the Environmental Quality Study Council yesterday asked the governor to require all motor vehicles operating in the Los Angeles Basin be converted to use natural gas or propane within five years.

The council, created by Gov. Ronald Reagan and the Legislature to recommend environmental action, said the state's Emergency Services Act gives the governor power to make such a demand.

Under the act, the governor could require conversion of all motor vehicles by declaring a state of emergency, which could be called if "conditions of disaster or of extreme peril to the safety of persons and property within the state are caused by such conditions as air pollution."

Guilty Verdict In Mass Slayings

SHEBOYGAN, Wis. (UPI)— Douglas Dean, 19, was convicted Tuesday on five counts of first degree murder in the slayings of his mother and four other persons.

The jury of eight men and four women deliberated a little more than an hour before returning the guilty verdict.

Dean was charged with the July 19 murders of his mother, Mrs. Hildegarde Dean, his girlfriend's mother, Mrs. Naomi Rammer, 45, and Mrs. Rammer's three sons, Thomas, 10, Paul, 11, and John, 16.

Cong Hit Cambodia Airport

PHNOM PENH (UPI)—Viet Cong guerrillas carried out coordinated attacks today against Pochentong International Airport and a nearby radio transmitter and blew up a major bridge north of Phom Penh.

The attacks killed 30 persons, including seven children and five women, and injured 20 others. The destruction of the bridge cut all roads north, northeast and northwest out of Phnom Penh.

It was the heaviest attack against Pochentong, Cambodia's only international airport, since January. The barrage of morta and six-foot-long 122mm rockets destroyed two of Cambodia's six UH1 Huey helicopters, two L19 observation planes and a C47 gunship. Two other helicopters were damaged.

A YEAR AGO

The Viet Cong in its attack nearly a year ago wiped out 75 per cent of Cambodia's small air force.

The heaviest loss of life was at the radio transmitter, which was not damaged.

Lt. Col. Am Rong, the official Cambodian military spokesman, said "damage to equipment is practically none but the toll in personnel is terrible."

The director of the station and his wife were killed as they fled a hail of Communist B40 rockets only to find their bunkers filled with rainwater, soldiers said. Seven children were killed when the Viet Cong tossed a grenade into another bunker.

NEWSMEN BARRED

Newsmen were barred from the military side of the airport where most of the damage was caused by a barrage of 50 122mm rockets. The Cambodians called in two C47 Spooky gunships from South Vietnam. They sprayed the ungle at the edge of the airport with machinegun fire until dawn.

Later the airport reopened to civilian and military air traffic.

Am Rong said the casualties at Pochentong were six killed, five of them women, and five wounded.

The Viet Cong blew up a bridge on the main road north out of Phnom Penh, killing four Cambodians, including one child.

Flag-Burner's Sentence Upheld

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals upheld the four-year prison sentence of a Dallas man convicted of burning the American flag, rejecting arguments Tuesday he was exercising his right of free speech.

"Such an act does involve a rather crude form of communicating a person's belief," the court held, but added flag-burning "is not essential to any exposition of idea."

Judge Wendell A. Odom said in the court's unanimous decision that the First Amendment to the Constitution protects certain forms of "symbolic conduct" but "a sufficiently important governmental interest can justify incidental limitations on the right of expression."

The court upheld the conviction of Garry Allen Deeds, 20, who burned a flag in a Dallas park during a demonstration April 19, 1970.

Assassins Kill Ally Of Thieu's

SAIGON (UPI) — Terrorists today assassinated Nguyen Van Bong, a leading South Vietnamese politician. Bong, 42, was killed when a time bomb exploded in his automobile.

Bong generally has been a supporter of President Nguyen Van Thieu, although when the campaign for the presidency turned into a one-man race he declined to actively support Thieu on grounds the one-man election was illegal and improper.

The plastic explosive charge went off as Bong and three bodyguards were driving home for lunch, police said. The blast also killed one of his three bodyguards.

Spokesmen for the Progressive party, of which Bong was cochairman, said Bong was heavily protected because of frequent threats on his life.

It was the first slaying of a progovernment politician in South Vietnam since the firebombing death of Education Minister Le Minh Tri in early 1969.

27 Die In Bus Crash

BANGKOK (UPI) — Police said today 27 people were killed when a bus collided head-on with a truck Monday on the American-built Friendship Highway near Korat in northeast Thailand.

U.S. Jets Destroy N. Viet Missile Site

SAIGON (UPI) — American jets crossed into North Vietnam and destroyed a Communist antiaircraft missile emplacement in the fourth attack north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) in as many days, the U.S. command said today.

The U.S. command said Air Force F105 Thunderchief jets reacted after the Communists fired a missile at American B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in nearby Laos.

The Thailand-based F105s struck the surface-to-air missile site three miles inside North Vietnam and 45 miles north of the DMZ near Ben Karai Pass, a major Communist infiltration route into South Vietnam.

"Reports indicated that the site was destroyed," the U.S. command said.

Military spokesmen said the F105s were on a mission to protect B52s on the mission over Laos and they got "visual and electronic confirmation" that the North Vietnamese had fired one of the 30-foot-long "flying telephone pole" missiles against the U.S. planes.

Earlier this week, U.S. planes attacked Communist gun positions at three points inside North Vietnam in what the command said were reactions to the Communists' firing at unarmed U.S. photo reconnaissance planes.

The U.S. command earlier announced that four waves of B52 bombers dropped more than 350 tons of bombs on suspected North Vietnamese troop positions in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

In neighboring Cambodia, Viet Cong commando units killed 25 persons and wounded 16 others in coordinated attacks early today against Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport, a radio transmitting station and a major bridge, which was blown up.

The attacks destroyed two of Cambodia's six UH1 Huey helicopters, damaged two others and destroyed two observation planes and a C47 gunship. The bridge blown up is 12 miles northeast of Phnom Penh.

Amchitka Test Aids Science

AMCHITKA, Alaska (UPI)— The five megaton nuclear test under Amchitka Island has left behind clues which may help man predict and control future earthquakes.

Seismologist E. R. Engdahl of Alaska's Palmer Observatory said Tuesday the explosion provided the "best data in the world—the best we've ever had" on earth stresses.

The data may help man determine whether earthquakes can be prevented by relieving natural earth strains, he said.

Also left after the explosion Saturday were dead birds, sea otters, seals and fish found in the area around the island. Autopsies were ordered to determine what killed them.

Another scientist, Dr. Phil Romeg of the Colorado School of Mines said, "We hope, by use of our instruments, to move toward a solution to finding a way to predict earthquakes."

DESTRUCTION

Before the explosion, environmentalists argued that the blast could cause earthquakes and tidal waves and destroy sea life.

When it was finally triggered a mile below the surface of the island Saturday, the ground shook, dust flew and trailers overhead tipped, but there was no earthquake or tidalwave. A crater formed on the island Monday when the surface soil crumbled inward.

Atomic Energy Commission scientists scouring the area have found dead birds and sea animals in offshore kelp, and were attempting to determine if they died from effects of the blast or a windstorm which battered the island Friday.

In Houston, Interior Secretary Rogers C. B. Morton said, "There may have been a few injuries from the impact, however the reaction of the biological life has been very light."

'A STRAIN'

"The tests are a strain for the country," he said. "But you have to realize that if we make an investment in nuclear devices as this country has been forced to make, they have to be properly tested. Otherwise, you have no idea of the value of your investment."

Romeg said he was anxious to retrieve his "superduper yard-sticks" — quartz devices he used in an attempt to measure earth strain.

The World's finest Bourbon since 1795
JIM BEAM
Generation gap? We never heard of it.
Orson Welles and his daughter Rebecca are both performers. Different generations. But with the same love for their craft. The Beams too have a craft—the distilling of Kentucky Bourbon. And for 6 generations, sons have followed fathers with a love for that craft. The result is a proud Bourbon. Smooth, light, mellow. The world's finest since 1795.

Eight Arrested In Drugs Raids

A scion of the Levi Strauss clothing family and seven others were jailed yesterday after raids on two Marin Homes netted almost $40,000 in marijuana and cocaine.

Booked on suspicion of possessing narcotics and marijuana and marijuana for sale was Walter Jerome Haas, 21, of 76 Fair Drive, San Rafael, son of Walter A. Haas Jr., board chairman of Levi Strauss and Co.

Arrested with Haas on suspicion of the same offenses were Rebecca White Burgwin, 21, and Charles Frederick Weck, 21, of the same address; and Sereno Samuel Scranton III, 22, of Santa Barbara. All were released on $3,000 bail and ordered to appear in Marin Municipal Court Friday.

Lt. James Schwedhelm, who heads the Marin Drug Abuse Bureau, gave this account of the roundup:

Narcotics agents got a call from the sheriff's office in Port Orchard, Ore. that they had picked up two people with a small amount of hashish and about $18,000. They told officers that Haas had sent them to Oregon to buy a boat.

Marin drug agents, aided by federal agents and San Rafael police called on Haas who invited them inside. They noticed some marijuana, got a search warrant and found about 10 pounds of marijuana and some cocaine and hashish. Agents said marijuana sells for as much as $175 per pound.

During the search, agents noticed Scranton trying to hide a book match under some cushions. On it was a telephone number of a Mill Valley home. Agents called the home at 65 West Blithedale Avenue, negotiated for purchase of some cocaine and paid a mass call.

Working with Mill Valley police, the agents picked up 200 pounds of marijuana and two ounces of cocaine, which sells for about $1,000 per ounce. They arrested Phillip Leroy Boardman, 25, Jonathan V. Smith, 20, and Guy Thomas Irvine, 25, all of 65 West Blithedale Avenue; and Mary Catherine Judd, 22, of no known address.

These four were held in Marin County Jail for federal authorities on suspicion of marijuana and cocaine possession.

Judge Opens Transcript On Bingham

Attorneys for the father of missing East Bay attorney Stephen M. Bingham may see the transcript of proceedings that led to Bingham's indictment in connection with the August violence at San Quentin Prison, Marin Superior Court Judge E. Warren McGuire ruled yesterday.

But the decision was immediately appealed to the state district court of appeal in San Francisco by deputy Marin district attorney Vernon F. Smith.

Smith claimed the elder Bingham's attorneys do not represent the son who has been missing since shortly after his Aug. 21 visit to inmate George Jackson.

Young Bingham is accused of smuggling a gun to Jackson with which Jackson allegedly launched an escape attempt which ended in his death.

Stuart R. Pollak and Robert Treuhaft, attorneys for the father — former Connecticut state senator Alfred M. Bingham — want to see the transcript of the proceedings that indicted young Bingham and six San Quentin inmates on charges of murder, conspiracy and assault rising from the Aug. 21 shooting at the prison that left six dead.

McGuire previously sealed the transcript from release to the public or press. That seal was scheduled to run out Nov. 15, but the judge yesterday extended it to Dec. 10.

The seal was extended he said, because new attorneys have been appointed in the case and they want to read the transcript to see if they want portions of the testimony kept sealed.

Vista Point Ideas Sought

The state Division of Highways has asked tourist businesses and groups for plans for kiosks bearing tourist information and advertising of tourist businesses have been solicited for all rest areas in the Bay Area, and nothing has been specifically planned for Vista Point.

In a letter to Gov. Ronald Reagan, Mailliard said any building at the scenic turnoff would be "totally incompatible" with the campaign to create a Golden Gate National Recreation area covering the Marin Headlands.

Sausalito Girl, 2, Hurt In Collision

A 2-year-old Sausalito girl was treated at Marin General Hospital yesterday for a cut forehead after a car in which she was riding rear-ended another in San Anselmo.

San Anselmo police said Erinn Levin of 815 Spring Street was injured at 2:45 p.m. when a car driven by Michael P. Kircher, 20, of 100 H Lane, Novato, hit another driven by Fred Schoolman, 25, of 210 San Francisco Boulevard, at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and El Cerrito Avenue.

He said it is "impossible to attempt to win love, trust and admiration from all the citizens and still run the school district. Instead of being the leaders of public opinion, it was my impression the board wished the public to tell it what to think. I am not the willing follower."

Since the election of Thompson, Lyon and Mrs. Christ, board meetings, which often had been disrupted by angry audiences, had settled into a more routine pattern.

Thompson praised Lindberg and principals Armando Renzullo and Henry Hopkins, calling them "outstanding." In his 14 months in office, he said, racial tension in the district had diminished, board meetings are run "like business meetings" and the district "has a reading program which is the envy of many school administrators in the county."

As an example of "interminable, indecisive dialogue," Thompson cited the question of the Sausalito Art Center lease, which has been before the board since July 11 when the federal government informed Sausalito the lease was invalid.

The board should have given the center a choice between a new lease acceptable to the district and the government or eviction, Thompson said. Instead, trustees are "still unable to issue notice to this intransigent tenant."

Meeting Set On Engineering

The Marin chapter of the California Society of Professional Engineers has set a meeting for 7:30 p.m. Monday at the College of Marin to explain engineering to Marin students.

The college said the meeting will be in Room 115 of the college's new Science Center. All high school and college engineering students are invited, the college said.

Loan Will Keep Home Care Going

Financially troubled Marin Home Care nursing service has been granted a bank loan to carry it through January, its board of directors was told last night.

According to Ray K. Bolinger, first vice president of the service, Wells Fargo Bank has agreed to loan the agency about $6,000 to see it through the first of the year when federal funds are expected to reimburse the nursing agency for losses treating Medicare patients.

Bolinger said he didn't have the exact details of the loan, but said it will enable the agency to continue operation.

Last month, Executive Director Patricia Ferjanesik told the board she was doubtful the agency could meet its November payroll without outside financing.

The nonprofit agency was created in 1965 and offers home nursing care to both private and publicly supported patients who require post-hospital care.

Basically it operates on reserve funds throughout the year and is reimbursed each January by the federal government for losses incurred on Medicare patients.

This year, however, reserve funds ran out because of inflation and increased cost in operation, Mrs. Ferjanesik said.

PLANS

opposition from James Winter of the Marinwood Homeowners Association who said he didn't quarrel with development of the area in general but rather the Miller Creek Townhouse project as proposed.

He said his main objection was that the project's high density two-story buildings would destroy the character of Marinwood's single-family residential neighborhoods.

He also complained that the added residents would overtax recreational and fire protection services while adding little in the way of taxes.

To emphasize community opposition to the development, he presented a petition containing 1,299 signatures against and another petition containing one signature for.

"The residents of Marinwood and Upper Lucas Valley are opposed to it," Winter said. "It's a dangerous development."

Other members of the large audience voiced similar fears.

They were supported by Supervisor John F. McInnis who said the planning commission had originally approved the project based on concepts in the yet unadopted preliminary county-wide plan.

"It's my belief that Lucas Valley is a product of the finest planning that Marin County has ever done," he said of the tract home communities, adding they have kept their neighborhood atmosphere.

He added that until the preliminary county-wide plan is adopted Marinwood development should be based on the existing master plan which calls for less density on the Kaiser parcel.

McInnis said he felt Marinwood residents would not object to a 108-unit project, providing it blended in with the rest of the community and provided no serious traffic problems.

He was supported by Supervisors Arnold Baptiste and Peter R. Arrigoni, but was opposed on the motion by Supervisor Michael Wornum and chairman Louis H. Baar who didn't feel the board should set a maximum number of units before another review by the Planning Commission.

ert H. Finch went to Washington with President Nixon, has announced his intention to run for governor in 1974.

Steward, a retired Army information officer and former assistant communications director for the state Department of Human Resources, charged that Reinecke knew "the personnel and resources of your tax-supported office are being used almost entirely to operate a long-term political campaign to get you elected."

He said the state Department of Commerce under director Ed Gillenwaters "is solely a political campaign headquarters. An examination of the travel expenses, correspondence and activities of Gillenwaters will support this."

He said Gillenwaters' office time and travel was "devoted entirely to political matters" and was in effect "a full-time political and campaign finance chairman for you while drawing a salary paid by taxpayers."

Steward charged that while Reagan was visiting in the Far East and Reinecke was acting governor last month members of Reinecke's staff "with your knowledge and certainly without any objection from you, attempted to launch an undercover conspiracy against Gov. Reagan, his administration and his staff."

He said that another reinecke aide, Ron Frankum, told Reinecke at a two-hour lunch "how the governor's office and the state legislature had planned to take advantage of you while you were acting governor.

"His proposal to counteract his imagined conspiracy by the governor's office and the legislature was for you and your staff to engage in a counterconspiracy. You expressed no opposition to Frankum's proposal and he attempted, fortunately unsuccessfully, to execute it during the 16 days you were acting governor."

"If Frankum had succeeded you would have both signed and vetoed legislative bills that would have run counter to what you had agreed on with Gov. Reagan in a cabinet meeting shortly before the governor departed on his trip to the Orient."

The below-the-surface friction in the lieutenant governor's office boiled to a head publicly Tuesday when it was disclosed that Steward had been severed from the office payroll.

Reagan's office defended Reinecke against Steward's unprecedented attack. "We're not aware of any conspiracy against the governor," said a Reagan spokesman. As for spending taxpayers' money to run for governor, the spokesman said "the lieutenant governor's conduct of his office is obviously entirely proper and correct."

$15,000 To Mill Valley For Land

The developer of Shelter Ridge apartments in Mill Valley agreed last night to donate $15,000 to the city in exchange for permission to declare part of the project off-limits to the public.

Tom W. Newton, director of community development, said the planning commission voted to allow Security Capital Corp. to enlarge Shelter Ridge's private recreation building and pool and build two tennis courts.

The changes will remove about one-acre of land from the public greenbelt in the development, Newton said, so commissioners said the developer must do $15,000 worth of improvements to a city-owned baseball diamond near the small craft harbor in exchange.

The diamond, off Kipling Drive at the base of Shelter Ridge, which now consists of a dirt field and backstop, will be levelled and seeded.

OBITUARIES

Grant B. Thompson Jr., 39

Grant B. Thompson Jr., a Fairfax resident and former San Anselmo police sergeant, died today at a local hospital after a long illness. He was 39.

Thompson, who lived at 119 Olema Drive, moved to Fairfax 16 years ago after six years in the Army.

He joined the San Anselmo police shortly after his arrival, but left the force two years ago and went to work for Pacific Telephone.

He was born in Gary, Ind., and left there at 17 to join the Army.

He was a member of the George S. Ladd Pioneer Radio Club of San Francisco, the Ross Valley Camera Club, the Sierra Club, and was treasurer of the Mill Valley Church of Christ.

Surviving are his wife, Barbara A. Thompson of Fairfax; a son, Matthew A. Thompson of Fairfax; a daughter, Ruth Thompson of Fairfax; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant B. Thompson Sr. of Gary, Ind.; and a sister, Mrs. John Brown of Terre Haute, Ind.

Funeral is pending at Harry M. Williams Mortuary in San Rafael.

The family asked that memorial contributions be made to the Linear Accelerator Fund of Marin General Hospital or to the Christian Studies Center Memorial Fund of his church.

CATHERINE MAGUIRE

Catherine Maguire, 81, of San Rafael, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital after a long illness.

She was born in Barrow, England, and worked as a waitress in Scotland before emigrating to the United States in 1950. She had lived in California since 1953 and moved to Marin seven years ago.

She lived at 1111 Fourth Street, San Rafael, until entering a convalescent hospital in May. She leaves no immediate relative.

Mass of the Resurrection will be at 10 a.m. tomorrow at St. Raphael's Church, San Rafael, with burial at Mount Olivet Cemetery, San Rafael.

Recitation of the Rosary will be at 8 p.m. today at Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley.

G. O. HANSEN

Gustave O. Hansen, 80, a retired San Jose glass blower, died yesterday at a Marin convalescent hospital after a short illness.

A native of La Salle, Ill., Hansen came to the Bay Area to work as a glass blower. He fabricated neon lighting for over 40 years in San Jose, retiring in the 1950s.

A year ago, Hansen came to San Rafael, where a son, Alfred, lives. He had been in ill health the past three months at a local convalescent home.

He was a member of Local 332, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, and San Francisco Elks Lodge 3.

Besides his son, business representative for Operating Engineers Local 3, Hansen is survived by a brother, Cud Hansen of Santa Cruz; a sister, Elizabeth, a granddaughter and a great-grandson.

Funeral will be held at 11:00 a.m. tomorrow at Keaton's Chapel in Novato. Inurnment will be private.

MRS. JONES

Blanche W. Jones, 83, of 50 Gregory Drive, Fairfax, died yesterday in a local convalescent hospital following a long illness.

Mrs. Jones, widow of Peter Colburn Jones, was born in Belton, Mo., and lived in Marin the past 18 months with a son, Edwin.

Private funeral was held yesterday, followed by inurnment and scattering of her ashes at sea.

H. H. HOEFENER

Private family services were held Monday for Herman H. Hoefener Jr. of 1862 Novato Boulevard, Novato. Hoefener, 59, died Sunday in a local hospital following a long illness.

Hoefener was a native of New Jersey but had spent most of his life as a warehouseman in Marin and Sonoma counties. For many years he worked for J. B. Rice Co. in San Rafael, then later at the company's Santa Rosa location. In recent years he had been a warehouseman at McNear Brickyard on San Pedro Point.

He is survived by a stepdaughter, Mrs. Leona Powell of San Rafael.

MRS. HEIDEMANN

Private funeral was held in San Anselmo today for Helen Heidemann of Fairfax, a 25-year resident of Marin County.

Mrs. Heidemann, widow of Henry Heidemann, a carpenter, died Saturday in a local hospital following a long illness. She was 86.

Mrs. Heidemann, a native of Oslo, Norway, lived at 60 Taylor Drive.

Survivors are two sons, Donald T. Thompson of San Anselmo and Arthur M. Thompson of Ellensburg, Wash., and four grandchildren.

Burial was in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Crab Catch A Disappointment

Crab season opened yesterday for Bay Area fishermen, but it was a bitter disappointment.

Rough seas severely restricted catches.

Joe Sturiale of Sturiale Bait Co. near Marinship said two boats went out from Southern Marin but only one returned with crabs — and that catch totaled 13.

He said foul offshore weather continued today and fishermen stayed in port.

In West Marin, Lloyd Williams at the Frank Alioto Fish Co. in Inverness said one of eight boats returned this morning from a two-day fish with 600 pounds of crab, at least 400 pounds below what he described as a good day's catch. The other boats, he said, didn't go out.

Frustrating Day in Court For Both Magee And Visiting Judge

San Quentin convict Ruchell Magee, who has been trying "for eight long years," to get his 1963 conviction overturned, yesterday spent a day in court that was probably equally frustrating for him and the judge.

Magee has repeatedly attacked his conviction for robbery-kidnapping in Los Angeles and a retrial two years later as a "railroad" which put him into San Quentin. He has based his defense in his murder-kidnapping conspiracy case stemming from the August 1970 shoot-out on claiming he was illegally in prison at that time.

At issue yesterday were what Magee terms the "fraud transcripts" of his 1963 Los Angeles trial and 1965 retrial. He claimed he cannot proceed with his attempts to reopen the old case through a writ of habeas corpus unless he can get accurate transcripts.

Judge Leonard M. Ginsberg, visiting jurist from Tulare County sitting in Marin Superior Court, yesterday went along with Magee's discard of papers filed in the case by an attorney adviser because Magee said they were based on the "fraud transcripts."

However, when the convict wanted permission to have two "court runners" allowed to visit him at San Quentin so he could send them to Los Angeles to buy new transcripts, the judge balked.

Ginsberg said he did not understand why Magee couldn't either send by mail for the transcripts or ask one of his court-appointed attorneys to get them.

Magee replied he had "no business in having trust in lawyers" and "if you stop me from seeing my peoples," he couldn't get accurate transcripts.

Althought the judge told Magee that one of his attorneys, Ernest L. Graves, who had filed papers in the habeas corpus matter had done a "thorough and scholarly job" which could be of great benefit to him, Magee was unconvinced.

The judge then agreed to take up the matter of the "runners" on Dec. 6, when he will again try to decide whether to reopen the old case.

Frustrated, Magee first tried to dismiss the whole action and then tried to disqualify Judge Ginsberg, as he has many other judges.

The judge denied the first action and announced, "court's adjourned" in response to the second request.

Tiburon Plea On Ferries On Agenda

The joint transportation and finance-auditing committees of the Golden Gate Bridge District board will consider a City of Tiburon request for morning and afternoon ferry stops at a meeting at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at the bridge toll plaza.

Also scheduled for discussion are fares and budget for the district's bus operation.

Library Design Firms Selected

Trustees of the San Rafael Library in closed session Monday night chose two architectural firms to recommend to the city council, asking that it choose one to design expansion of the city library.

The library board had interviewed representatives of 30 architectural firms during the last three months.

In its regular session, the board voted to inaugurate a Friends of the Library organization with an open house at the library during Christmas holiday week.

GOP Chorus Urges Nixon To Run Again

CHICAGO (UPI) — President Nixon looked and sounded like a candidate but did not give the official word last night when his supporters from coast to coast, led by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, raised a chorus urging him actively to seek a second term.

In a jet age swing, Nixon appeared at $500-a-plate Republican fund-raising dinners in New York and Chicago, sweetening the party coffers by nearly $5 million. Nixon's appearances were linked by closed circuit television to 18 other Republican dinners across the country.

In San Francisco, about 350 prominent Northern California Republicans put out $500 a plate at a dinner.

The dinner included Martha Mitchell, wife of Attorney General John N. Mitchell, Presidential Aide Peter Flannigan, and Rep. Philip M. Crane, R-Ill.

She called the president "such a marvelous man" and predicted California "is going right ahead with the president in 1972 as it did in 1968 and 1960."

Outside the St. Francis Hotel banquet, four protesters garbed in black hoods and capes, their faces in white greasepaint, maintained a silent vigil against American involvement in Vietnam.

Nixon's trip to Chicago, regarded by many as the launching pad of his 1972 candidacy, was not without stormy sidelights.

An estimated 2,500 persons opposed to the Vietnam War and Illinois welfare cuts massed in front of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, scene of the riots of the 1968 Democratic National Convention, hours before the president's arrival.

They threw bottles and there were three arrests, but by the time the president slipped in a side door of the hotel, the number of protesters waiting in the chilly night had dwindled to 50.

Union demonstrators were on hand outside the New York Hotel where Nixon spoke.

Agnew sounded the keynote when he told some 1,800 Republican faithful at Chicago's Conrad Hilton Hotel, "let tonight be the moment we launch a united effort to urge a great president to seek reelection."

It was worthy of a nominating convention. But Nixon played it cool.

Taking his turn at the Chicago podium, Nixon heaped praise instead on the vice president in terms that appeared designed to dispel talk of a "dump Agnew" move.

"May I say tonight that I know that all of you will agree with me that this country is fortunate in having as its vice president a man who is loyal, a man who is courageous, and a man who is competent in handling his duties at home and abroad."

Illegal Abortion Kits Bring Fine

REDWOOD CITY, Calif. (UPI)—Abortion crusaders Patricia Maginnis and Rowena Gurner have been fined and placed on probation for distributing "do it yourself" information kits.

San Mateo County Superior Court Judge W. Howard Hartley fined the women $500 each and placed them on one year probation. He upheld immediate imposition of the penalties to give defense attorneys time to appeal.

The two women three years ago were convicted of the same charges —illegally distributing abortion kits and "do it yourself" information —but the verdict was overturned on appeal.

CLEARING MILL VALLEY HAZARD

High over Miller Avenue and east Mill Valley, a bulldozer begins the job of clearing tons of dirt and rock that caved in more than two years ago, creating a major headache for the city. The Miller Avenue landslide occurred on Feb. 11, 1969, blocking part of the street, and Mill Valley has been trying since then to get the mess cleared up. Cleanup work started yesterday when this bulldozer moved on the scene to push dirt down the hill to a waiting truck loader. The job began five days after a Marin Superior Court judge gave the city the right to cross private property to gain access to the slide.

County Plan Board Aide Quits Post

Marin County Planning Commissioner Edward Hageman of Sleepy Hollow has resigned because of poor health and business pressures.

Hageman, a 55-year-old building designer, was named to the commission in June 1970 to fill the unexpired term of Michael R. Praszker.

He was reappointed earlier this year to another two-year term.

Additions To Middle School Are Approved

The San Rafael Board of Education last night approved plans and called for bids for additions and remodeling Santa Venetia Middle School in order that about 300 additional students may attend next year.

The new students will be bused from San Pedro and Glenwood school areas, making a total of about 700 pupils in the middle school, which includes sixth, seventh and eight grades. (Davidson School will also go on a sixth, seventh and eighth grade schedule next year. It currently serves only seventh and eighth grade pupils.)

Architect Chester Bowles last night showed the board plans for the school additions, which include three new classrooms, two locker rooms and a gym platform as well as remodeling of about 5,000 square feet of existing building.

The entire project is estimated to cost about $130,000. Board president Paul L. Jones asked Bowles about the possibilities of frequent glass breakage in the school which will have many large windows.

Bowles replied that "you can't build a fence someone can't climb over" and school officials said there has been little breakage at the present school.

The San Rafael Board Of Education Also:

BOOK — Learned that the controversial book, "Movement Toward a New America," used in a San Rafael High School class, will soon be referred to a committee for study and a report will probably be given at a board meeting in December.

SALARIES — Agreed that teacher salary increases of at least most of the approved 5.75 per cent will be given under Phase II of the Wage and Salary Freeze.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Kathleen Stapp, an instructional aide at Davidson School, who plans to accept another position.

HIRED — Approved hiring of Bette Conrad as a matron in the high school district at $3.11 an hour; David Gibbons, substitute bus driver, $3.11 an hour; Jeri Hutchison, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour; Isabel McPherson, bus driver, $3.11 an hour; Kathleen Stapp, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour, and Anne Tillotson, teacher for educationally handicapped, $8 an hour.

Hongisto Police Pension Lawsuit Was Dropped

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— Sheriff-elect Richard D. Hongisto has scrapped a lawsuit seeking a $553 monthly police pension, court records showed Tuesday.

The suit was dropped five weeks before he was elected to succeed longtime Sheriff Matthew Carberry.

The 35-year-old criminologist filed the suit in Superior Court against the San Francisco Retirement Board on July 2, less than a year after the panel denied his request for a disability pension.

Hongisto said he suffered back injuries on the job while a San Francisco patrolman in 1962, 1968 and 1970.

Health Aid Bill

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Congress has passed and sent to President Nixon legislation to establish a three-year $3.7 billion program of federal grants and loans to train more doctors, nurses and other health personnel.

Petaluman's Hearing Set

Preliminary hearing for Mark D. Souza, 32, of Petaluma, accused of assault with intent to commit murder, has been set for tomorrow in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set the hearing after receiving a report from Sonoma County Superior Court that Souza had been adjudged sane as a result of psychiatric examinations.

San Rafael High Teacher Calls Campus Patrol Duty Too Much

A San Rafael High School teacher, who said "this district has not come to grips with integration," last night asked that a policy of assigning teachers to patrol the campus be abolished.

Instead, said Angelo Duvos, representing the American Federation of Teachers, the school should hire additional personnel to police the campus if this is necessary to prevent disturbances.

Duvos said teachers at other Marin high schools and in San Francisco are not required to give up conference periods to patrol the campus and he did not think San Rafael High teachers should be required to do so either.

Although a recent policy of having women teachers supervise girls' restrooms in order to prevent petty extortions has ended, Duvos said the board should be prepared to hire more than teacher aides to solve problems created by modular scheduling.

The school's principal, Dr. Peter Palches, defended patrolling by teachers, saying the "potty patrol" has now been replaced by teachers on a "ready reserve basis" who are standby for trouble.

He said disorderly conduct has decreased under regular supervision and that spending one hour a week on such patrol can be advantageous to teachers.

Palches called the matter a "standing problem" because of modular scheduling which allows students free time during the school day. He said no other Marin high school has such scheduling.

Trustee Herman L. Childress also cautioned Duvos that adding two "matrons" to the high school staff might mean increasing teacher loads and that pending legislation may cause larger classes and "fewer frills."

37th Transplant At Stanford

STANFORD, Calif. (UPI)— Richard W. Mueller, 38, a New Berlin, Wis., printer has become Stanford University Medical Center's 37th heart transplant recipient.

Mueller, an assistant foreman for the Journal Publishing Co., Milwaukee, was in satisfactory condition today. He received his new heart in an operation Monday after waiting several days for a donor to become available.

Fifteen of Stanford's transplant recipients, including Mueller, still are alive, including one man who was operated on more than three years ago.

Controversial Book Will Be Discussion Topic

"The Movement Toward a New America," a controversial book to be used at San Rafael High School, will be discussed on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board" program at 9 a.m. tomorrow.

Panelists will be Virginia Franklin, San Rafael High School social science teacher who plans to use parts of the book in class; Lothar Salin, who has reviewed the book and has a daughter in Mrs. Franklin's class; and James W. Kirchanski, president of 3 R School and Jameson Hall High School in San Rafael. A fourth panelist will be announced.

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday. Listeners may telephone questions during the live broadcast tomorrow.

Interviews Tonight For Water Seat

Applicants for a vacant seat on the Marin Municipal Water District board will be interviewed by the board at a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. today at the district office.

The seat is that of Ray W. Foreaker Jr. who resigned when he was named Marin County public works director.

Eleven persons filed for the seat. Calvin B. Colt of San Rafael, a research project director for the East-West Institute Inc. in Oakland, was the final applicant to file before last Friday's deadline.

Following tonight's interviews, the district board is expected to make the appointment at its regular meeting Nov. 24.

McGovern Aide

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., has announced that Richard S. Dougherty Jr., New York bureau chief for the Los Angeles Times, will join McGovern's presidential campaign staff as a press aide.

Supervisors' Flap Over Student Paper Dies; A Cordial Session

The county youth commission's controversial newspaper "Free Youth" gained unexpected support yesterday from the Marin County Board of Supervisors which last week called the paper "repugnant and objectionable." (Another supervisors' story, page 1)

But controversy didn't materialize as supervisors told anecdotes, joked about their age and wished the commission "good luck" with its dabblings in journalism..

Last week, all but Supervisor Michael Wornum expressed disenchantment with the newspaper's first issue which was financed with $65 of youth commission funds.

Of particular concern was the paper's "statement of purpose" which proclaimed: "— most kids really get screwed over if they get pregnant, ripped-off, bored, strung out on drugs. . ."

"I will not have it go out on county masthead on county time," Supervisor John F. McInnis vowed last week as the others agreed.

But tensions died yesterday as young Paul Cohen, chairman of the youth commission, explained that while some phrases have one meaning to adults they have a completely different meaning to teen-agers.

"Most of the language used is colloquial," he said adding that "screwed over" doesn't have the sexual connotation to him that it apparently has to some adults. Rather, he said, it means "being messed up."

Supervisor Peter R. Arrigoni agreed and received prolonged applause when he commented that "what is obscene to my 75-year-old grandmother may not be obscene to me and what is obscene to me may not be to you."

He added that the matter probably wouldn't have come up if the board had been given, as it was recently, a redrafted "statement of purpose" which pointedly omits any "colloquial phrases." Other supervisors agreed.

Supervisor Arnold Baptiste said he supported the concept of the paper but warned against it "becoming the tool of any special interest group."

Baptiste, 35, said he would be watching the paper and warned against articles using obscenities, or advocating the breakdown of the family or the overthrow of the government.

"After Arnold's views from a 35-year-old I wonder if a 58-year-old should even say hello," said McInnis, who went on to say county funds shouldn't be used permanently to finance the paper.

He was assured by Cohen that the commission was only trying to get it off the ground.

'Draft Mills' Drive Opens In Capital

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backers of Rep. Wilbur D. Mills D-Ark., have launched their drive for a national Draft Mills for President campaign by opening a Washington office.

Conforming to style, Mills, officially a noncandidate, did not show up at Tuesday night's opening attended by several dozen House members, including Speaker Carl Albert and the entire House Democratic leadership.

Smallman Sentences 10 Drivers

Ten persons have been sentenced in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving.

Sentenced Nov. 4 by Judge Robert A. Smallman were:

Paul K. Clark, 63, of San Francisco, arrested Sept. 12 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $250.

Jerald Ashley Jr., 28, of 255 Canal Street, Apt. 24, San Rafael, arrested June 13 in San Rafael, placed on probation for a year and fined $200.

Emma Lee Robbins, 43, of 1287 Parkwood Drive, Novato, arrested April 3 on South Novato Boulevard, placed on probation for a year and fined $182.

Peter Mural Cosey, 42, of San Francisco, arrested Oct. 29 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $302.

Kenneth Wayne Johnson, 31, of 71 Central Avenue, Sausalito, arrested Aug. 27 in Sausalito, placed on probation for a year and fined $302.

Reginald Wahrgren Shugru, 42, of 261 Brookside Drive, San Anselmo, arrested Aug. 17 in San Anselmo, placed on probation for a year and fined $175.

Charles William Zetterquist, 40, of Point Reyes Station, arrested Oct. 31 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $250.

Millard Danile Wallace, 50, of 51 Nova Lane, Novato, arrested Nov. 3 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year, fined $302 and ordered to jail for five days.

William Arthur Entwisle, 47, of 438 Calle Arbowda, Novato, arrested Oct. 9 on Highway 101, placed on probation for a year and fined $250.

Thomas Eaman Montgomery, 39, of San Francisco, arrested July 25 on Highway 101, placed on probation for one year and fined $302.

Youth Dies From Mauling By Tiger

BOMBAY, India (UPI)—A 12-year-old boy died in a Bombay hospital Tuesday night after being mauled by a circus tiger that leaped into the audience following a performance, authorities reported.

They said the boy, Hiren Mehra, died several hours after being admitted to the hospital. The circus ringmasters and an attendant who got the tiger back into its cage also required hospital treatment.

'72 County Fair Dates Are Set

The dates were approved without protest from operators of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire, who last week suggested different dates be set to avoid conflict with their production scheduled to begin the same weekend.

Marcelle B. McCoy told the board the Labor Day weekend appeared to be the best possible time to attract fair-goers since many would spend the holiday at home as school starts that week.

Also, she said, it would allow time to prepare the fair site properly and would give home gardeners more of the gardening season to grow exhibits.

Marin County Board of Supervisors Also:

LAND SWAP — Approved trading a parcel of county land at the rear of 911 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard for a strip in front needed for widening the street in front of the College of Marin. Owner of the property is John DeVries of Kentfield.

SEASHORE — Received a letter from the National Park Service expressing its interest in a transportation study at the Point Reyes National Seashore. The letter also indicated favor to expanding the area to be designated for wilderness.

CABLE TV — Declared a forfeiture of Storer Cable TV's license to install cable television to West Marin since the company reported no way of installing a profitable system in the lightly-populated area. It was also reported that the area possibly receives better reception with "rabbit-ear" antennas than with cable.

SANDBAGS — Authorized the purchase of 2,000 sandbags for use by county residents threatened with flooding during the winter rainy season.

FIRE RATING — Authorized the purchase of about $2,000 worth of fire hose and nozzles for fire equipment in the Santa Venetia and Point Reyes Station areas so as to reduce their fire insurance rating from nine to eight.

WEED CONTROL — Awarded contract totaling $8,802 to six bidders for weed control chemicals.

PINE TREES — Agreed to pay the contractor of the Stafford Lake Park project an additional $170 to save 19 pine trees located on the construction site.

WATER CHILLER — Awa.ded a $34,000 contract to Aladdin Heating Corp. for a second "water chiller" for the Marin Veterans Memorial Building air conditioner.

LAND PURCHASE — Approved a contract with the Marin County Redevelopment Agency for purchase of about four acres of Marin City land as a fire station site.

CREEK PROJECT — Approved an agreement with the Ross Valley Sanitary District to continue its sewer line installation along Phase 4 of the Corte Madera Creek flood control project.

EDITORIAL — Heard a report from County Administrator John F. Barrows that Friday's Independent-Journal editorial on crowded jail conditions erred in saying the jail was not constructed to hold sentenced prisoners. Barrows said it was, but that the prisoner population has simply increased over expectations. (Ed. Note: It was not the editorial which made that assertion, but Sheriff's Lt. Newell D. Snyder who did so.)

Clinic To Stop Smoking Is Set

A free five-day clinic to help persons stop smoking will start at 7:30 p.m. Sunday in the Novato General Hospital dining room.

The clinic will continue four successive nights, sponsored by the Novato Seventh-day Adventist Church and Novato General Hospital.

Dr. Ralph J. Weseman, Novato doctor, will describe the physiological aspects of nicotine addiction and the practices necessary to break the habit.

Mauritz Peterson, pastor of the Novato Seventh-day Adventist Church and an ex-smoker, will discuss stabilizing features that reduce the psychological trauma in breaking the habit.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1:31 p.m., Novato — Burned pot of beans on stove at home of S/Sgt. Raymond Crockett at 687 Morgan Drive, Rafael Village; both Novato and Hamilton Air Force Base fire departments responded.

2:50 p.m., Petaluma — Fire caused extensive damage to garage and contents at the home of Rodney L. Cameron, 1537 Lauren Drive; cause under investigation; no estimate of damage available.

3:02 p.m., Mill Valley — Grass fire at 172 Tamalpais Avenue burnt area 200 by 60 feet; fire deliberately set; no damage.

3:35 p.m., Santa Venetia — Roof fire responed to at 605 Galerita Way; fire caused by sparks did $20 damage to roof.

9:01 p.m., San Rafael — Box alarm sounded at Belle Avenue and Rafael Drive; no fire found.

TODAY:

8:21 a.m., San Rafael — High voltage transformer fire opposite San Rafael High School; cause unknown; no estimate of damage.

Ironworkers To Train Blacks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The Ironworkers' Union, in an unprecedented court agreement, will active seek, hire and train blacks in California.

The five-year agreement was approved Tuesday by U.S. District Judge Stanley Weigel in a civil rights action filed in May by the civil rights section of the Justice Department.

The International Association of Bridge, Structural and Ornamental Iron Workers—with help from contractors and the steel companies—will train 170 Negroes a year.

Cats No Longer Mice Catchers

WARRINGTON, England (UPI)—Luxury meals from a can have reduced the average cat from a hungry mouse catcher to a lazy snoozer, according to public health inspector Norman Buckley.

In his annual report, Buckley said Monday that the town's mice infestation has risen 33 per cent—and much of the blame is due the family cat who is a pampered, overfed layabout.

GOODS FROM RED CHINA

Petaluma Board Fears Study On Schools Doomed Before Hearing

The Petaluma Board of Education said last night it fears rumors and misinformation may doom the 12-month school study plan before it's given a fair hearing.

Board members said they had heard reports that some Petalumans feel a decision has already been made to extend the school year to 12 months. All said they had no preconceived views about the plan and would await reports from the steering committee before making a decision.

The board agreed it was definitely giving the plan serious consideration since it named Dr. Dan Montgomery to head the 23-man steering committee with the 1972-73 school year as the possible implementation date.

Board members said that both the feasibility of the plan and the starting date would depend on reports from the committee.

Board member Arthur L. Lafranchi said he also heard reports that educators dominate the committee and were "leading" lay members.

Montgomery said that 10 of the 23 members were appointed by local organizations, 10 are connected with the school district although not all educators and three students.

He said the committee has had only one meeting and that he hoped rumors would subside as meetings progress and more questions can be answered. Montgomery said he would participate in a speaker's bureau to take information about the study to local organizations.

Lay committee members and their appointing organizations include Pat Loomis, American Association of University Women; Mrs. Clyde Nelson, Petaluma Council Parent-Teachers Association; Rev. Roland Bond, Petaluma Ministerial Alliance; Michael Serpelio, Petaluma Chamber of Commerce; John Nolan, City of Petaluma; Lester Petersen, City of Cotati; Oscar Petersen, Sonoma County Taxpayers Association; Robert Brown, Sonoma County Central Labor Council; William Russell, Northern Educational Advisory Council. Montgomery said the City of Rohnert Park has not yet named a representative.

Others on the committee are Margery Baur and Julia Caldwell, Association of Petaluma Area Teachers; Ronald Russell, California School Employees Association; Susan Appleton, Cotati School District; Glen Whitney, Petaluma Federation of Teachers; Carlton Reinaldo and Daniel Ongaker, Old Adobe School District; school principals, Gene Dornbush, Douglas Arthur and Robert Daggett; Robert G. Evans, Sonoma County Office of Education, and students Lisa Colwell, Michael Champlin and James Lahti.

Montgomery told the board that many methods of extending the school year will be studied by the committee with a feasibility recommendation to be made in early February.

The Petaluma Board of Education also:

STREET — Awarded the contract for street widening on Casa Grande and Ely roads to Teichert Construction at the low bid of $248,363. The work will be done in front of Casa Grande High School.

LUNCHES — Approved a policy to extend bag lunches to all elementary students. Schools Supt. Lesly H. Meyer said hot dog sales by the parent-teacher association would become illegal in January, but that the district would reimburse them for lost sales. Proceeds normally finance field trips.

ELECTION — Asked Meyer to report at the Nov. 23 meeting on the prospects of holding a tax rate increase election next year for the elementary district.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Dale Nelson, a part-time teacher at Rancho Cotate High School, who will move from the area to seek full-time teaching.

Adds Five Parts

OTTAWA (UPI)—Five new national parks have been added to Canada's tourist attractions —Gros Moren in Newfoundland, Kouchibouguac in New Brunswick, Forillon and La Maurice in Quebec, and Pacific Rim in British Columbia.

Bid On Park Play Area Rejected

The Novato City Council last night rejected the only bid for construction of the play area in Pioneer Memorial Park and then authorized the city staff to negotiate with that bidder for a lower contract.

Ghilotti Brothers of San Rafael with a bid of $19,150 was the only bidder. Previously, the city received no bid.

Clifford E. Temps, public works director, said that the city had only $14,000 to spend on the project. He said that the city crews could work with Ghilotti Brothers on grading and drainage and save approximately $5,000 on the contract. The council authorized Temps to negotiate with Ghilotti Brothers on a contract not to exceed $14,150.

Councilman David Price Jones said that he had heard that the vandalism which had been occurring at Lions Park was now being done at Pioneer Memorial Park.

Police Chief Allen V. Klemme reported that the police had had two cases of assault in the park and that most of the vandalism had been carving on tables.

The Novato City Council Also:

CONTAINERS — Postponed until Nov. 23 consideration of any proposed ordinance banning nonreturnable containers in the city. This was to give the staff time to see if any city or state had been successful in doing this.

PROJECT — Approved adding $623 to the Chase-Cherry Street project to complete it. The money will come from gasoline tax revenues.

PARADE — Authorized Novato High School to hold a homecoming parade Saturday down South Novato Boulevard from Diablo Avenue to Arthur Street and up Arthur to the high school.

DIAGONAL PARKING — At the request of the Downtown Merchants Association and the chamber of commerce, postponed for four months consideration of eliminating diagonal parking on the south side of Grant Avenue between Fifth and First streets. This would eliminate approximately 21 parking spaces.

RETIREMENT — Approved an amended contract with the public employees retirement system to include new city employees immediately after their hiring.

AUDIT — Approved the 1969-70 audit by Robert P. Simmons, Corte Madera accountant, and hired him to make the audit for the current year at $2,250.

SIDEWALKS — Approved eliminating sidewalks on the south side of Mendocino Lane in Mendocino Gardens, south of Novato Boulevard and west of Eucalyptus Avenue for Herman Bauer.

JUNIOR MISS — Referred a request by the Novato Jaycees for $300 of the $750 needed for the Dec. 12 Junior Miss Pageant to the Novato Chamber of Commerce. The Jaycees have received money during past years from the $8,000 given to the chamber, by the city to conduct the pageant.

MASTER PLAN — At the request of Richard W. Fowler, introduced an ordinance changing the San Marin master plan to allow three lots of 6,500-square-feet on San Mateo Way, north of San Marin Drive where one acre lots had been designated.

CROSSROADS — Introduced an ordinance changing from planned residential to planned commercial for about six acres in the crossroads development at the northwest corner of Highways 101 and 37 for McKuhn Construction Co. This rezoning was based on an agreement yet to be drawn that the shopping center would not be developed before the remaining residential area.

PLANS — Introduced an ordinance approving development plans for a seven unit apartment east of Railroad Avenue at Grant Avenue for Fred Mauroni, but postponed until Nov. 23 consideration of plans for three apartments on San Marin Drive and San Mateo Way for F and F Enterprises.

APPOINTMENT — After a 20-minute closed meeting, named James R. Gordon of 415 Country Club Drive to fill the unexpired term of Paul A. Oatis on the planning commission. The term runs until Dec. 31 of this year. Gordon is a landscape architect with the state Division of Highways.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned until 8 p.m., next Tuesday at the Novato Community House to take up the matter of the city seal.

Inmates Plead Innocent To Pot Charges

Two Marin County Jail inmates have pleaded innocent in Marin Municipal Court to charges stemming from the discovery of marijuana in their cell last Wednesday.

Preliminary hearing was set for Tuesday for Dennis James Angelica, 20, of Novato, and Stephen Robert Carrino, 24, of San Rafael.

The two, both serving sentences for burglary, are charged with possessing pot, possessing it in jail, being under the influence of marijuana and being in a place where it was smoked.

They were booked on the new charges after jailers smelled the odor of burning marijuana coming from the cell area.

Petaluma Theft

John C. Petersen, 920 Middlefield Drive, Petaluma, told police that items totaling $220 in value were stolen from his car Monday. The items included binoculars, a watch and sunglasses.

Officer Kayoed In Car Wreck

A Rohnert Park policeman was injured at 4:20 a.m. today when his patrol car struck a bridge abutment during a high-speed chase of suspected vandals.

Larry Lewis, 29, was reported in good condition at Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with head injuries. Police said he was found unconscious in his patrol car at 4:28 a.m. when it had struck the bridge on Snyder Lane.

Police said Lewis had been on routine patrol when he apparently saw vandals damaging cars in the parking lot at Rancho Cotate High School. They said he was apparently chasing them on Snyder Lane when the accident occurred.

Petaluma Principals Appointed

Two new high school principals were named last night by the Petaluma Board of Education.

Gerald J. Dadey was promoted from acting principal to principal at Petaluma Senior High School and William T. Anderson, principal at San Antonio High School, was named to head the new Casa Grande High School.

Dadey, 42, had been acting principal since Dr. Dan Montgomery left in September to head a steering committee study on a 12-month school plan. It is expected Montgomery will remain on the superintendent's staff.

Dadey received his bachelors degree from Gonzaga University, Spokane, Wash. and masters degrees from the University of Oregon at Eugene and Portland State College.

Anderson, 38, has been principal at the continuation high school since it opened in 1967.

He received his bachelor and masters degrees from San Jose State College and taught at Kenilworth Junior High School and Petaluma Senior High School before being named principal at the continuation school.

Firm Makes Pitch For Natural Gas-Run Bus

A handful of Golden Gate Bridge District officials took a ride yesterday on a five-year-old, much-traveled bus. Its makers claim it is more modern than the district's shiny new fleet that will start rolling early in 1972.

The Flxible bus is powered by liquefied natural gas. Its engine, a converted diesel, is the only engine now existing that can meet the California vehicle pollution standards that will take effect in 1975, according to Rohr Corp. of Chula Vista, San Diego County.

The demonstration bus's 125-gallon tank is good for more than 350 miles at highway speeds, Davis said.

On its way to the demonstration ride around the Golden Gate Transit District bus yards in San Rafael, the bus ran handily up the Waldo Grade at 45 miles per hour.

George Nelson, shop foreman for the bridge district fleet, said he had some experience with vehicles powered by liquefied gas when he worked for Pan American Airways.

Among the difficulties that firm encountered were short range — liquefied gas, pound for pound, supplies less energy than gasoline or diesel fuel — and mechanical difficulties with storing and refueling with the highly compressed, volatile stuff.

Liquefied natural gas is better than conventional fuels or propane, Davis said, because it vaporizes instantly and rises into the air to disperse.

Onlookers observed what seemed to be faint wisps of smoke coming from the forward section of the bus, where the liquefied gas is stored at 276 degrees below zero in a giant, steel vacuum bottle. Davis opened a hatch to show that the "smoke" was condensing water vapor.

80 Strep Cases During Last Week

Eighty streptococcus infections were reported in Marin last week, according to Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer. Half the cases were in Novato.

Also reported were 31 cases of gonorrhea, three of syphillis, one of salmonella and five of infectious hepatitis.

Salvador Way Can Remain A Dead End

Salvador Way can remain a dead-end street for the time being, the San Rafael Planning Commission decided last night.

Extending Salvador Way to connect with Los Gamos Road has been a long standing requirement of the city's master plan, and the planning commission asked that the extension be incorporated in the multimillion-dollar development by Firemen Fund. But neighborhood residents and representatives of the fund persuaded the commission to withdraw the requirement and accept instead a buffer zone at the end of Salvador Way.

Jo Ann Flath of 19 Corte Miguel and and president of the San Rafael Park Civic Association, reported that the developer and the association had agreed that Fireman's would set aside a one-acre perpetual buffer zone below the end of Salvador Way to separate expected development from surrounding homes.

Thomas Nardi of 36 Salvador Way, who said he had paid $2,000 extra for his traffic-free lot, asked whether the city would extend his street down the hill to Las Gamos Road.

"Why, yes," said commissioner Thomas R. O'Toole, "that's what the master plan states." O'Toole went on to describe fire safety needs while Nardi pointed out the dangers to school children if traffic was diverted onto the extension instead of existing Las Gallinas Avenue.

Noting that few if any in the large audience favored the road's extension, commissioner Albert J. Boro said, "We shouldn't shove this plan down their throats."

The audience applauded Boro. Commissioners found the necessary language to make the fate of Salvador Way less specific in the zoning plan.

The San Rafael Planning Commission Also:

AUTO ROW — Requested owners of Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury and Dominic's restaurant make a joint agreement by Nov. 23 over future access route(s) to their two properties. Delayed until then decision to lease city controlled (state owned) land to Marin Bay for expanded car pad area.

OUTDOOR ANTIQUES — Granted permission to John W. Fearn to hold one more outdoor sale at Northgate Park Antique and Used Furniture, 4240 Redwood Highway, with condition he submit a complete outdoor advertising plan to council.

NYE STREET PARKING — Permitted Warren E. Nute to set up monthly leased parking at his 903 Mission Avenue lot and connect it to adjoining parking property at 907 Mission.

SCHOOL — Granted Anthony Schools of Marin, 4380 Redwood Highway, permission to continue real estate school in the Margarita Plaza, with no more than 30 daytime students.

MIRAMAR AVENUE — Unanimously denied Charles J. Freeman of 246 Miramar Avenue to convert his single family home into a duplex. Existing structure was nonconforming and posed parking problems.

CAR WASH — Approved construction of a 10-by-18 foot concrete block storage building at rear of self-service car wash, 1290 Second Street.

SHOWROOM — Granted Al Lamperti permit to use existing warehouse at 60 Belvedere Street as a wholesale showroom.

PHONE SHACKS — Granted Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. permission to construct two small metal storage sheds at 220 Shaver Street yard.

SIGNS — Postponed to Dec. 7 discussion of shopping center sign regulations. Crocker Bank and Standard Brand Paints have been unable to put up new signs in Montecito Shopping Center because no sign standard applies at the center.

PHONE BOOTHS — Postponed to Nov. 23 discussion of color and style compatibility of telephone booths with city's new design standards.

COURTHOUSE — Reviewed city plan to construct 83 leased stalls and 65 metered spaces on the old courthouse lot. Parking was to be landscaped and screened by a park along Fourth Street. Made no recommendation.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned at 12:02 a.m. to Nov. 23 to complete remaining agenda items and new business.

Committee Due Power On Decisions

The Larkspur Planning Commission learned last night it cannot delegate any decision-making authority to its architectural review committee, but took steps to give it more say in commission decisions.

The city staff had recommended that the architectural review committee be given authority to make binding decisions. At present the planners hear all architectural supervision requests after the committee makes recommendations.

Robert H. Lee, chairman of the planning commission, said the commission will not rehear presentations already made to the committee in the future, but will rely more heavily on the committee's recommendations.

Lang said the action amounted to an informal agreement that the committee's recommendations will be binding. He said that in the past year the commission has accepted 95 per cent of the committee's suggestions.

The planners also set an adjourned meeting for Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall to discuss left-over items from last night's meeting, Lang said. These include a proposal for a Larkspur Creek nature preserve, parking regulation revisions and discussion of revising the sign ordinance sections pertaining to the downtown area.

Rubber Check Plea Is Innocent

Robert Lee Lissi, 39, of Sausalito, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to three counts of passing bad checks.

Preliminary hearing was set for Nov. 23.

Lissi, also known as Robert Ritti Jr. and Robert Dalton Ricci, was arrested last Wednesday on a warrant charging he passed three bad checks in Marin in 1966 and 1967.

A TEEN-AGER DISCOVERS HIS CALLING

I-J Special Report

SEATTLE — Allen Mitchell's future was changed because, when he applied for a summer job as a custodian in the Neighborhood Youth Corps office, he was directed to "Operation Waterlog."

Allen, a soft-spoken black teen-ager, found Waterlog was a marine-biology course sponsored by Pitch In and the Youth Corps. He, like 40 others, was paid $1.60 an hour to gather marine specimens for the University of Puget Sound.

The director of the project called Allen his "star pupil" and now this 17-year-old has found a new interest and a new direction: He wants to become a marine biologist. Steve Romero, his teacher, is sure Allen will realize his ambition.

Van Hine Enters Innocent Plea

Paul Martin Van Hine, 24, of 20 Meadow Way, San Geronimo, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to charges he possessed marijuana and cocaine and carried a loaded weapon in public.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 7.

Van Hine was arrested Oct. 4 after a Sausalito police officer noticed him hitchhiking on Bridgeway and thought he appeared "nervous." When the officer slowed to turn around, Van Hine ran across the street and started to reach into his coat, as if for a weapon, police said.

A search revealed a loaded .22 caliber derringer under Van Hine's belt, police said. Also found were eight packets of cocaine and a plastic bag of marijuana in his jacket pockets, police said.

Muir Beach Pair Plead Innocence

William Mansfield Graham, 21, and Jeffery James Morse, 26, both of Muir Beach, have pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to possessing marijuana, possessing it for sale and selling it.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 7.

They were arrested at their residence Sept. 29 after a San Francisco undercover agent arranged to purchase a large amount of marijuana in Marin.

Marin agents raided the residence while the San Francisco agent was inside working out the sale. About two pounds of the weed was seized, agents said.

Fulbright Hits Aid Maneuvering

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., accused the Nixon Administration today of trying to revive foreign aid by promoting the program as a boost to the domestic economy.

Fulbright charged that the Agency for International Development (AID) has conducted an "absurd" campaign by release of statistics to show how much each state and city derived from the program.

"I object to this high-pressure public affairs campaign. I think it's an absurd waste of money."

Fulbright said that, in effect, the government was subsidizing American business "to buy something to give away."

The assistant Senate Democratic leader, Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., said foreign aid must be stopped.

He said Americans were "foolish if we ever believed we could buy friends" by giving billions of dollars to other nations. All it has brought the United States is a $400 billion national debt, he said.

In the House, leaders called up a resolution to allow (AID) and other federal agencies which have not yet received their regular appropriations to continue spending at the levels of the fiscal year which ended June 30.

George Mahon, D-Tex., chairman of the House Appropriations committee in charge of steering the resolution through the House and on to the Senate, said he hoped members, regardless of their feelings about foreign aid, would allow both chambers time to put together a substitute for the aid authorization recently killed by the Senate. The continuing resolution, which would expire with the end of the current congressional session, would do that, he said.

"I can't see how we can responsibly do anything but continue the program until we decide what to do," Mahon said before the debate.

The beginnings of that decision were taking place in the Senate.

Aid supporters there warily made to plans to seek an increase in the separate $1.2 billion military and $1.1 billion economic aid bills that were fashioned out of the wreckage of the Oct. 29 Senate defeat of the $2.9 billion aid bill.

Their fear was that the aid package might collapse again if they added too much to it. Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., was leading the fight to increase the economic aid measure. He planned to start with an amendment to strike a section of the bill that the administration claims would wreck the development assistance program. This provision, which the Senate adopted before the earlier bill was defeated, would bar loans at a lesser interest rate than U.S. government must pay to borrow money itself.

Innocent Plea To Heroin Sale

Roger Wayne Ploof, 22, of San Rafael, has pleaded innocent in Marin Superior Court to two counts of selling heroin.

Trial was set for the week of Feb. 14.

Ploof is charged with selling the drug to an undercover police officer Aug. 2 and 3, both times near Ploof's residence at 10 Broadview Street.

Series Of Hearings On Clean Air Act Set

The California Air Resources board will hold a series of hearings, commencing Dec. 7, on implementation of the federal Clean Air Act.

A Bay Area session will be held Dec. 20 at 10 a.m. in Room 1194 of the State Office Building, 455 Golden Gate Avenue, San Francisco. It will consider the state's general plan and a plan submitted by the Bay Area Air Pollution Control District.

Financial Committee Approved

The Lagunitas School District board, in response to a resident's suggestion, has decided to create a standing citizen advisory committee on finance.

Supt. William E. Johnson, in reporting the board action at Monday night's meeting, said the group would serve apart from a special finance committee to be created in connection with a planned tax rate election next June 11.

Johnson said the board acted on the recommendation of Jack Felson, who supported more citizen involvement in district financial affairs. Felson was named chairman pro tem of the panel by the board. Other members will be picked later.

The Lagunitas School District board also:

BALLOT — Formed a committee, whose members will be named later, to draw up a ballot argument in favor of the June 11 election. It will be composed of teachers, parents and board members. On June 11, voters will be asked to extend for two years a special 90-cent rate approved last year.

HIRED — Named Lisu Ekberg as a noon playground supervisor at San Geronomio Valley School at a salary of $2.62 hourly.

BUS — Decided to seek bids, on a date not yet specified, to obtain a new school bus.

GOALS — Was told the next meeting of a "town hall" group establishing overall district goals would be at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at San Geronimo Valley School.

WORKSHOP — Set Dec. 7 for another in a series of teacher board meetings to dicuss general problems.

Term In Jail For Burglary

Richard Sheldon Knowles, 20, of San Rafael has been sentenced to nine months in Marin County Jail for burglary.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for a year.

Knowles was arrested July 19 when San Rafael police said they found him and an 18-year-old girl carrying property from the residence of Roy H. Warden at 70 Forrest Avenue, San Rafael.

The girl's case was transferred to Marin Juvenile Court.

Bicycle Safety Tips For Cotati Students

The Cotati School District board approved a plan last night to bring bicycle safety instruction into the classroom.

Dennis F. Hays, Rohnert Park safety officer, said he planned to visit each classroom to review safety rules with youngsters. He told the board the visits would be very casual with classes sitting on the floor discussing why it is important to follow safety rules.

He said the plan also includes using students from Rancho Cotate High School as safety patrolmen for elementary students. Hays said that monthly safety tips would also be sent home for parents.

The board commended Hays for his work and also asked him to survey schools during his visits to see if further steps can be taken to reduce bicycle thefts.

The district board also named Waldo Rohnert School principal Richard Lyman as acting superintendent when Schools Supt. James Davidson is out of town. Lyman will receive $504 extra pay per year for the assignment.

The board named Marjorie Lewis of Rohnert Park and Eugene Bennett of Cotati to the Citizens Advisory committee and voted against membership in the California School Boards Association, despite urgings to join from Dr. Walter Eagan, Sonoma County schools superintendent.

Nobel Winner To Get Heart Award

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Dr. Earl W. Sutherland Jr., a 1971 winner of the Nobel Prize, will receive the American Heart Association's 1971 research achievement award, it was announced Tuesday.

Sutherland, a professor of physiology at Vanderbilt University school of medicine, Nashville, Tenn., will get the award at the group's annual scientific meeting Thursday.

LBJ Opens Exhibit Dedicated To Himself

SAN MARCOS, Tex. (UPI)— Former President Lyndon B. Johnson helped open an exhibit dedicated to him Monday at Southwest Texas State University where he went to college.

The "Lyndon B. Johnson at San Marcos" exhibit emphasized Johnson's interest in education. The exhibit was housed in a restored home in which Johnson lived when he was a student.

Japan Clubs Sure Gauge Of Economy

TOKYO (UPI)—One of the surest gauges of the Japanese economy is the nightclub activity which thrives on the glittering Ginza in downtown Tokyo. When the economy slumps, the nightclubs feel the pinch.

And there are no tougher times than now for the nightclub owners who say that business has dipped by more than 20 per cent since Aug. 15, the day President Nixon slapped on the 10 per cent surcharge on imports.

The import surcharge coupled with the flotation of the yen has forced Japan's big business concerns to revamp their expense account rules. To the middle-range Japanese worker, such a clampdown means a virtual cut in pay, because his overall salary is based on a certain amount of expense account latitude.

"Our company set up new guidelines on expense accounts in early September to reduce our expense accounts," says one trading official who asked not to be quoted.

Japanese companies are notoriously secretive about their expense accounts. One reason may be suspicious wives who must spend their evenings alone while their husbands are entertaining.

Another reason is that the size of the expense accounts here is becoming a national scandal. The national tax agency reports that Japanese business firms spent $2.28 billion on expense accounts in 1969, the latest year figures were available.

That total very nearly equals the total funds spent in Japan for education and scientific research the dame year.

Because of the slowdown of expense account spending, some cabaret owners are trying to broaden the range of their clientele.

Hideo Kageyama, 31, owner of the "Queen Bee" nightclub says he is planning a new program to attract the average worker instead of the business executive.

"Our business has gone down 20 per cent since the middle of August," Kageyama says. "Because of our sluggish business, we are not projecting a new program to induce the average person to come intothe club rather than the high brow businessman."

Whether the average person can afford Kageyama's prices is another question. It costs about $300 for two men to spend a period of four hours in his club, being entertained by a minimum of two hostesses.

Kageyama's club located in the Ginza, is one of the smaller, more exclusive caberets in town. He employes about 120 hostesses.

"We are not suffering much from the Nixon decision," Ota said. "But our sales are slower than the activity before Nixon announced his new economic policy."

A spokesman for the national tax agency said projected tax revenue figures have been cut due to the new American economic policies, but he declined to specify how much revenue would be lost.

An official from the Tokyo metropolitan tax office said tax revenues from entertainment establishments in the month of July totaled about $20 million.

"The consensus is that the total tax revenue this year from entertainment sources will be much lower than he had originally estimated," the metropolitan official said. "But I would hesitate to say how much."

Cranberry Muffins A Treat

Muffins made with fresh (or frozen raw) cranberries are a treat. The trick in making muffins of any type that are light and tender, with medium-fine grain and rounded, pebbly tops is not to overmix. Too much stirring overdevelops flour gluten, causing loss of carbon dioxide.

This results in tunnels and uneven grain in the muffins which are likely to be heavy and tough and have smooth, peaked tops. By using more sugar than is necessary for sweetening, and extra fat, the gluten development is better controlled and the effects of overmixing lessened.

Fifteen stir-strokes, including those used in filling the muffin cups, is enough to mix these rich cranberry muffins. To make about 12 to 18 large or small sizes halve 1 cup of washed and drained cranberries. Mix in ¼ cup of sugar to sweeten and to develop more of a cranberry flavor.

Then make up a plain muffin recipe using proportions for 2 cups flour (with 3 teaspoons of baking powder and ½ teaspoon of salt) but increase sugar to ⅓ cup in this variation to reduce gluten development. For better distribution of fat particles, cut ⅓ cup butter or margarine into the sifted dry ingredients instead of melting and adding with the combined liquids 1 beaten egg, ¾ cup milk, and 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Mix quickly, stirring only enough to moisten dry ingredients, lumpily. Fold in the sugared cranberries plus ⅓ cup chopped nuts. Spoon into greased muffin cups until ⅔ full. Bake at once in a preheated 400-degree oven for about 15 to 20 minutes.

Impressive For Holiday Serving

Impressive to serve during the holidays are these easy to make, individual fruit cakes.

Combine 1½ cups biscuit mix, one teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon cloves and ¼ teaspoon each nutmeg and allspice. Cream ¼ cup butter with one cup brown sugar. Beat in one egg. Add ¼ cup grape jelly, ¼ cup brandy and the dry ingredients. Blend thoroughly. Stir in one cup each raisins, mixed candied fruit, candied fruit cherry halves and coarsely chopped walnuts. Fill paper lined muffin cups ¾ cup full. Top with walnut halves.

Sprinkle tops with a bit of sherry. Store in air-tight container. Makes two dozen 2-inch cakes.

DATE-FILLED CAKE

A Rich Dessert For Your Table

Pilgrim persimmon pudding cake is a rich dessert to serve to a dozen dinner guests or to give to neighbors and friends during the holidays.

The moist, date-filled cake will be served at "Pilgrim's Folly," a benefit dance and buffet dinner sponsored by Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church Women's Club on Nov. 20 at 8 p.m. in Mill Valley, and the recipe from Mrs. George Lino is shared with I-J readers.

PILGRIM PERSIMMON PUDDING CAKE

- 1 cup flour
- 1 cup granulated sugar
- 1½ teaspoon baking soda
- 1½ teaspoon baking powder
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- 1 cup persimmon pulp (two persimmons)
- 1 cup dates, pitted and chopped (or raisins)
- ¾ cup walnuts, chopped
- 1½ tablespoon milk
- 1 tablespoon butter
- ½ teaspoon salt

Peel two persimmons and mash or put them in blender.

Mix in mixer, butter, milk, sugar, vanilla, persimmon pulp. With spoon stir in dry ingredients. Batter will be stiff.

Pour into greased, floured, small loaf pan, 2 x 4 x 8 inches or a four-cup pudding mold. If you use a mold, lengthen cooking time by 15 minutes.

Bake at 350 degrees for one hour. Sprinkle with confectioners sugar. Serves 12. Recipe may be doubled.

For Christmas giving, this cake may be made a week ahead and refrigerated.

What's The Holiday Without Eggnog?

Holiday times means special buffet dishes and egg nog.

MOLASSES EGGNOG

- 4 eggs
- ¼ cup molasses
- ¾ to 1 cup rum
- 3 cups milk
- 1 pint heavy cream
- Nutmeg

YIELD: 12 half-cup servings.

COFFEE NOG: Add 2 tablespoons instant coffee to eggs. Beat until dissolves; then stir in molasses.

FRUITCAKE BONBONS

- ½ cup molasses
- ¼ cup water
- 1 package (15 ounces; raisings
- 1 jar (1 pound) mixed candied fruit
- ½ cup butter or margarine
- ⅔ cup sugar
- 3 eggs
- 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
- ⅛ teaspoon baking soda
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¾ teaspoon nutmeg
- ¼ teaspoon allspice
- ¼ teaspoon ground cloves
- ¼ cup orange juice or rum
- ½ cup chopped nuts

Blend together molasses and water in a large, deep sauce pan. Place over low heat; stir constantly until mixture comes to a boil. Add raisins; bring to a boil again to plump the raisins. Reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Remove from heat; stir in candied fruit. Reserve. Cream together butter and sugar. Blend in eggs one at a time. Sift together flour, soda and spices; add to butter mixture alternately with orange juice (or rum). Add molasses-fruit mixture and chopped nuts; blend. Line a ¾-inch cupcake pan with paper cups. Spoon in fruitcake mixture. If desired, garnish with pecan half or additional candied fruit. Bake in 325 degree oven 25 to 30 minutes. Cool before storing.

YIELD: 5 to 6 dozen fruitcake bonbons.

HOT SPICED CIDER

- 4 lemon slices, halved
- 12 whole cloves
- 2 quarts cider
- ½ cup molasses
- 2 cinnamon sticks, 2 inches long
- Juice of 2 lemons

Stud lemon pieces with cloves. Combine cider, molasses, cinnamon and lemon slices in a large saucepan. Bring to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 15 minutes. Remove cinnamon sticks. Add lemon juice. Serve hot in mugs.

YIELD: 8 one-cup servings.

Prepare This Entree In Advance

Another hearty but caloric entree that can be prepared in advance and popped into the oven a half hour before serving:

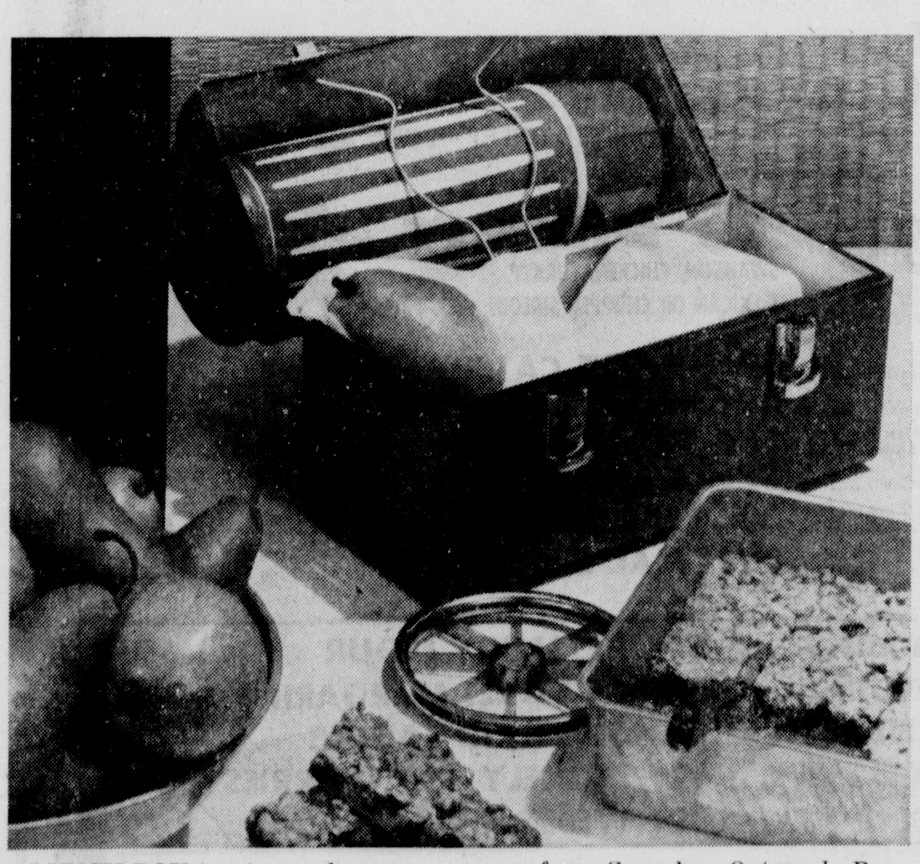
ASPARAGUS HAM AU GRAS

- 1 cup (1 pound 3 ounces) green asparagus spears, drained
- 2 cups cooked ham, sliced or cubed
- 3 cups cooked rice
- 1¼ teaspoons salt
- ⅛ teaspoon each black pepper and cayenne
- ¼ cup chopped pimiento
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 cup grated Swiss cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Arrange asparagus in a buttered baking pan (9 x 12 x 2 inches). Lay slices of ham over asparagus. Season rice with 1 teaspoon salt, pepper and cayenne. Add pimiento and toss lightly. Spoon over ham. Add remaining salt, dry mustard, and cheese, to the whipped cream. Spread over top of rice. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Cream Storage

Milk and cream may be stored in original containers and should be refrigerated at 40 degrees fahrenheit until used. Unopened cans of evaporated or sweetened condensed milk may be stored at room temperature.



LUNCH BOX treats can be nourishing as well as good. One such combination is a fresh pear and a few Crunchy Oatmeal Bar cookies. The cookies are easy to make and keep well.

Tempt Your Lunchbox Toters — Try Some Crunchy Oatmeal Bars

Tempt your lunchbox toters to peek in their packets before the noon buzzer sounds and reward them with a fresh pear and a couple of Crunchy Oatmeal Bars. The pears need no preparation since the skins are tender enough that there is no need to peel them.

Fresh winter pears become available on the Pacific Coast at the time when other fruits are in limited supply from October through May. The varieties of winter pears are easily recognized. The Anjou pear is round and full with a light-green skin. Bosc pears have long tapering necks and warm russet-colored skins. Comice has a full plump shape and yellow-green skin, sometimes with a red blush.

Crunchy Oatmeal Bars, quick to make and bake ahead, are loaded with the universal favorite —chocolate bits. Add a pear, a tasty sandwich, some relishes and a thermos of milk and you've provided a healthy happy noontime meal.

CRUNCHY OATMEAL BARS

- ½ cup flour
- ½ teaspoon baking powder
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup shortening
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1½ teaspoons vanilla
- 3 tablespoons water
- 1 cup semi-sweet chocolate bits
- 1 cup rolled oats

Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Cream shortening, sugar and vanilla. Add remaining ingredients and mix. Spread into greased 8-inch-square pan. Bake at 375 degrees 25 minutes. Cut while warm into 1 x 2-inch bars. Makes 32 bar cookies.

Alas, poor Adult Nut, you have but little chance of ever going to a party.

Sad, but true. We've seen it happen time and time again.

You buy a can of Sun Giant Almonds, the Adult Nut, for the big bash and your big lug of a husband can't keep his hands off the can.

By party time, the Adult Nut is long gone.

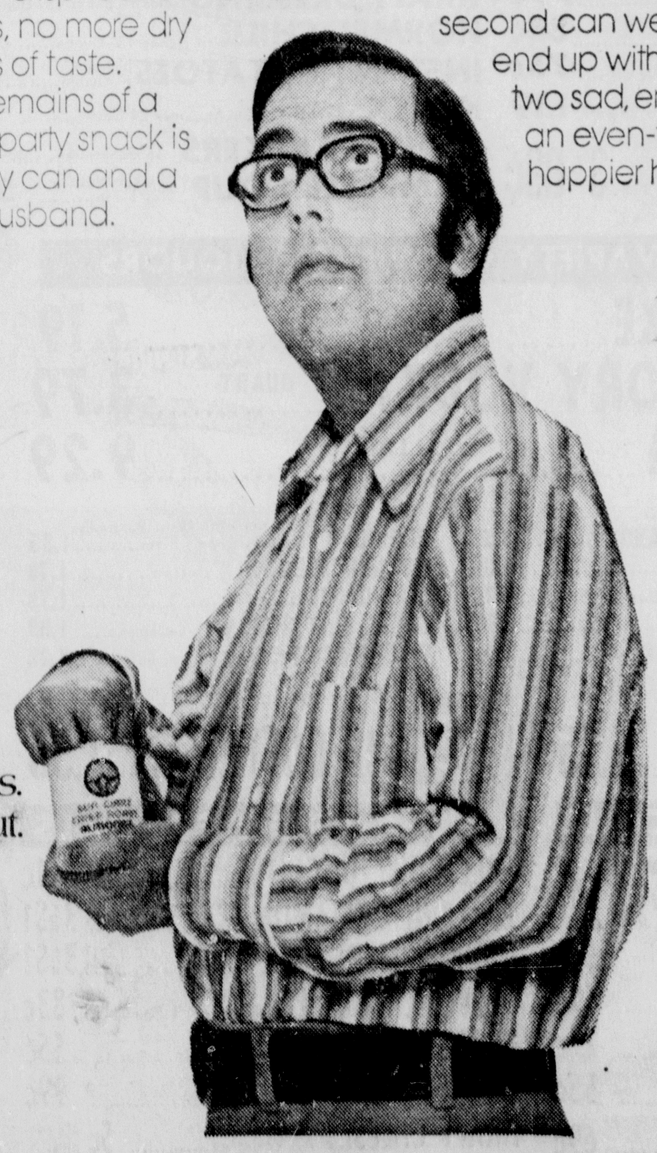
No more crisp-roasted kernels of goodness, no more dry salted tidbits of taste.

All that remains of a once-great party snack is a sad, empty can and a full, happy husband.

But rejoice. Elation is but an extra can of Sun Giant Almonds away.

Next party, buy two cans of the Adult Nut. One to throw your husband off guard, and the other to guard against dull snacking at the party you're going to throw.

But be certain to hide the second can well; lest you end up with naught but two sad, empty cans and an even-fuller, even-happier husband.



Sun Giant Almonds.
The Adult Nut.

Puchero? It's Argentine Version Of Boiled Dinner

Almost every country has its version of a boiled dinner. New Englanders have one; so do "old" Englanders. The French call theirs pot au feu. In Argentina they serve an especially colorful and hefty one called puchero.

It takes a while to cook puchero, although actual preparation is fairly simple. This isn't a dish you'll make every day but rather one you'll save for occasions when you want to entertain friends casually. Unlike most party dishes, puchero won't break the bank. Start by simmering beef short ribs with tomato sauce with mushrooms, water and garlic; the tomato sauce adds rich color to the stock and blends the flavors of meat and vegetables. At subsequent intervals add a plump young chicken and smoked sausage or chorizos. Spanish sausages, chorizos, are traditional, but we suggest your using the kind of smoked sausage you particularly like.

Also add onions, potatoes, carrots, garbonzo beans, cabbage and crookneck squash.

Serving puchero is half the fun. Lift the meat and vegetables from the broth and arrange in a heated serving platter; spoon a bit of the broth over the meat and vegetables to keep them moist and place the platter in a very low oven to stay hot.

Ladle the broth into soup cups or bowls and serve as a first course. Then bring out your meat and vegetable platter. Serve with crusty bread and avocado and grapefruit salads. For dessert flavor chilled vanilla pudding with nutmeg; fold in sliced bananas and whipped or sour cream. Spoon into individual sherbet or dessert dishes and keep chilled till serving time.

PUCHERO

Argentinian Meat and Vegetable Stew

2 pounds beef short ribs
1 quart water
2 cans (8 ounces each) tomato sauce with mushrooms
1 teaspoon salt
1 clove garlic, minced
1 broiler-fryer (1½ to 2 pounds), cut up
1 pound smoked sausage or chorizos
8 small white onions
4 potatoes, pared and quartered
4 carrots, pared and quartered
1 can (1 pound) garbanzo beans, drained
1 head cabbage, cut into 8 wedges
2 yellow crookneck squash, quartered, if desired

In large Dutch oven or kettle bring short ribs and water to boil; stir in tomato sauce with mushrooms, salt and garlic. Simmer, covered, one hour. Add broiler-fryer, sausage, onions, potatoes and carrots; simmer an additional 45 minutes. Stir in garbanzos, cabbage and squash; cook about 10 minutes more. Skim off fat. Arrange meat and vegetables on heated platter; spoon some of broth over and keep warm. Ladle soup into bowls or cups and serve separately. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

A Dessert Treat For A Special Autumn Occasion

There's no trick to preparing a dessert treat to serve for a special autumn occasion such as Thanksgiving. Simply blend together pumpkin, molasses, spices, ice cream and pecans. Pile this filling in tart shells and freeze.

FROSTY PUMPKINETTES

1 cup canned pumpkin
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons molasses
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
½ teaspoon cinnamon
1 quart vanilla ice cream
⅓ cup chopped pecans
6 baked pastry tart shells

Combine pumpkin, sugar, molasses, salt, ginger and cinnamon. Soften ice cream and fold into pumpkin mixture. Mix well. Place ½ cup mixture into each tart shell. Sprinkle with chopped nuts. Freeze until firm.

Descriptive terms for oven temperatures are (in degrees fahrenheit) 250 to 275, very slow oven; 300 to 325, slow oven; 350 to 375, moderate oven; 400 to 425, hot oven; 450 to 475, very hot oven; and 500 to 525, extremely hot oven.

Some Mashed Yams With New Flavor

Try Grandmother's old fashioned mashed yams with a new flavor. Drain a 30-ounce can yams. Place in mixer bowl and beat until smooth. Blend in ¼ cup brown sugar, ¼ cup melted butter, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ½ teaspoon vanilla and ¼ cup chopped walnuts.

Place half of mixture in buttered casserole. Drain an 8-ounce can apricot halves. Arrange on top of the potatoes. Top with remaining mixture. Garnish with walnut halves and 5 or 6 marshmallows. Bake at 350 degrees 20 minutes.

Audience Hears Many Fields Of Medicine Wide Open To Women

By BARBARA HOSMER

New areas and fields in which men are not interested hold the most promise for the woman in medicine and othersciences, Dr. Linda Hawes Clever of Tiburon said last night.

Speaking in the series, "Women: Past, Present, Future," the physician suggested that the fields of health education, epidemiology, community health, nutrition, public health and sanitation were areas in which men scientists have showed little interest and thus offered more opportunity for women.

SHE EMPHASIZED that the allied health professionals in speech and hearing therapy, counseling, social work, and radiology technicians, medical secretaries, lab technicians and other such assistants were vital to recovery and well-being of a patient and his family. Women, she said, can do well in these fields.

"In many ways they are much more responsible for the patient getting well than a physician, who is with a patient probably only briefly," said the internist who is medical director of St. Mary's Hospital diagnostic and treatment center in San Francisco and is associate physician and clinical instructor at the University of California Medical Center.

She added that new fields such as the nurse practitioner, who takes care of patients with chronic stable illnesses, will grow to meet the shortage of physicians and require less training, so that they offer a more readily open field to women.

As a physician who is also a wife and mother, she warned that medicine combined with family is a difficult career and any woman who would be "doing anything hard" would have to have an exceptional husband.

"THE REASONS I chose internal medicine as a specialty are that I like to solve problems, making diagnoses, and that I can work three or four days a week," Dr. Clever said.

She said that the life of a doctor is lonely — "you haven't much time for friends" — and as a woman you must be prepared to be unpopular with some people. She said she met the most antipathy while at Stanford Medical School and on into her internship and residency from the wives of fellow students.

"But it is a definite advantage to be married. I avoided the unnecessary business that an unmarried medical woman might get," she said.

Dr. Clever mentioned women who have made large contributions to medicine and science, yet generally received little recognition for their efforts.

SOME WERE Dr. Tausig, who with Dr. Blaylock made contributions in the study and treatment of "blue babies," — she as the engineer and he as the technician on the projects — yet he was elected to the National Academy of Science and she stayed an assistant professor for 15 years afterward.

She also mentioned the development by Dr. Apgar of the Apgar Score, a quantitative system to assess a baby immediately after birth; Dr. Judy Pool, who developed a safe method for treating hemophiliacs; Dr. Paine, who discovered that white blood cells had types as red do; Alice Hamilton, who pioneered the occupational medicine field; Florence Sabin, who described the lymphatic system; Dr. Pennington, who developed requirements for food refrigeration that has led to our enjoying foods imported from other areas all year; Dr. Lillian Gilbreath, who studied and devised industrial psychology; Dr. Florence Siebert who developed the current tuberculosis test; and Margaret Mead, who was the first anthropologist to study a culture by living in it.

Women have a very special contribution they can make to sciences, she said.

SANTA ROSA WOMAN

Prime Mover For Nursing Program

By DYANNE FORTNER

Registered nurses with an associate of arts degree or its equivalent will be accepted for a two-year upper division nursing program to begin next September at Sonoma State College. Mary W. Searight of Santa Rosa has been named chairman of the program, the first of its kind in California.

During the year, Mrs. Searight, a registered nurse for more than 30 years and former University of California at Berkeley faculty member, will prepare a feasibility study for the program's needs and develop proposals for nursing as a major for Sonoma State's faculty and the state college system chancellor. In addition, initial accreditation from the California State Board of Nursing Registration must be received.

"Everyone is entitled to all the education she is capable of achieving," says Mrs. Searight. I firmly believe a nurse should be allowed career mobility. To accentuate the mobility of a nursing career communication, independent decision making, self awareness, the process of change and beginning teaching skills will be emphasized throughout both years of the integrated program.

"The graduate will develop an aptitude to teach not only patients but families and staff as well. They also will be in a position to plan and implement patient care as well as provide leadership for those less well prepared," she added.

She said that the student's initial focus will be upon the promotion of community health. A core course incorporating current concepts from physics, chemistry and physiology, and a course on group processes to include theory and practice will be required. Upper division chemistry, physics or biology can be selected as electives if the student plans to study episodic nursing. For those interested in distributive nursing, psychology, sociology, anthropology, ethnic or environmental studies may be selected.

DURING THE second year contractual study is planned. This might include field studies, surveys, clinical practice, leadership projects or investigatory studies. All students will participate in a seminar in current nursing problems. Under consideration will be a required course in concepts of change in the field. The student will qualify for a baccalaureate degree and certification as a public health nurse upon completion of the two-year program.

Community health facilities of neighboring counties will be utilized, as will extended care facilities, the visiting nurses association, outpatient clinics and schools for the handicapped and mentally retarded.

Nursing department chairmen throughout Northern California meet regularly with Mrs. Searight and the chairmen of Sonoma State's division of natural sciences — of which the nursing department is a part. Dr. Joe Brumbaugh and Dr. Wesley Ebert along with Lyla Cromer, College of Marin; Margretta Fortuin, Santa Rosa Junior College; Ellen Gibson, Pacific Union at Angwin; Doris Zylinsky, Napa Junior College, and Donna Harris, Solano Junior College, are planning cooperatively for an orderly advancement of each student so there will be no duplication of experiences.

"A high priority of the committee is to seek staff members with creativity and interest in new, innovative teaching techniques," said Mrs. Searight.

Acknowledging that it will be necessary to allow people to meet the equivalent of an AA degree, Mrs. Searight said that junior colleges will determine a student's status by examinations. Licensed vocational nurses and corpsmen will be allowed to take the nursing courses and take the evaluating exams.

"This approach is to avoid the usual snags one might encounter when going into the diploma program because of the frequent lack of articulation between various nursing programs. Persons need a better idea of what to expect and where to begin," Mrs. Searight said.

MARY SEARIGHT said that she always wanted to be a nurse. A graduate of Chico High School, she enrolled in the three-year nursing program at San Francisco's St. Francis Memorial Hospital school.

Following graduation, getting out into the field was of more interest to her than taking more courses and her first assignment was with the Tulare County Hospital. During her five years in Tulare she drifted into extension courses.

"I realized I wanted to know more about other things," she said. "Twenty years later I received my bachelor's degree."

Marriage, children and career accounted for her lapse in studies.

She enjoyed a stint as an industrial nurse during World War II at the Kaiser shipyards and nursed for a year at a sugar plantation hospital on the island of Maui, Hawaii.

"Years went by trudging around working, going to school and I made up my mind finally to go to school full-time and finish in one year," she said.

She subsequently enrolled at the University of California at Berkeley and there became interested in future nursing clubs and senior scout groups. She organized a hospital experience program for young people at the Concord Community Hospital.

"THIS EXPOSURE to students stimulated my interest in teaching, and the following year I entered the master's program for a junior college credential," she said.

There were only 10 junior colleges in the state at the time and Mrs. Searight remembers that many of her colleagues felt it uninspiring to teach at that level. She was instrumental in organizing the nursing program at Merritt College in Oakland and served on its faculty for five years. From this experience she determined that nursing programs had to fulfill certain obligations for their students.

Soon after, Mrs. Searight was invited to join the U.C.faculty to prepare graduate students for junior college teaching. She admitted that it was "a wonderful opportunity" to travel in the U.S. and meet other educators.

Mrs. Searight also has spent several summers at the University of Minnesota, serving on its nursing faculty.

The new chairman left the U.C. faculty five years ago to enjoy a brief retirement. The Searights' 16-year-old daughter attends Piner High School and their son is a graduate of Evergreen College in Olympia, Wash. Mrs. Searight's husband is a stationery store owner in the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center.

She is the author of "Your Career In Nursing;" one of a series of career books aimed at junior and senior high school students. Her professional memberships include the Sonoma County board of directors for comprehensive health planning; Sonoma County health facility planning committee; Sigma Theta Tau; American Nurses Association; California Nurses Association, for which she serves as publicity chairman and a member of its education committee, and the Santa Rosa chapter of American Association of University Women.

PREPARING FOR the opening of Sonoma State College's new Department of Nursing next fall, its chairman, Mrs. Mary Searight (right) consults with Mrs. Lois Simpson, director of nursing for Sonoma County's health department. Community health will be emphasized in the new program, using health care facilities in the area.

Albuquerque Housewife Bucks Tradition — Wins A City Post

By JOHN A. WESTER

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI)—A 40-year-old housewife who ran for office "just to get my feet wet and find what it was like to be a candidate" found out quickly. She now is this city's first woman commissioner.

"I think being a woman made a difference," said Mrs. James A. Koch. "The timing has a great deal (to do) as far as any candidate is concerned. I think Albuquerque was ready to have a woman as city commissioner and I just happened to be there at the right time." Nancy Koch, mother of three and wife of a physician, bucked tradition in gaining a 19-month term to fill an unexpired one. Not only had a woman never won a commission post before, but Mrs. Koch ran as an "independent" in a field of 30 candidates.

ALTHOUGH CITY elections are non-political, groups of candidates frequently combine forces to run as a slate. And traditionally, persons without a slate fare poorly at the polls.

NANCY KOCH
Campaign expert

During her campaign, Mrs. Koch repeatedly stressed communications—"communications within the commission itself, between the commission and City Hall and between the commission and citizens."

She believes a woman commissioner will help—"I think a woman is generally a good mediator. I think we get used to the role as wife and mother."

Then there is the time element. She believes she will have more time for the unsalaried post than a man. "As I see it, a man has three responsibilities, to his job, his family and to the commission. I only have two, to my family and to the commission."

THE CAMPAIGN was very much a folksy, family style matter — at the start. "We just wanted to get our feet wet and find out what it is like to be a candidate.

"My husband was my campaign manager and the children helped. At Candidates' Day (at an Albuquerque shopping center) they were there talking to people and saying, "Come meet my mother who is running for the city commission."

"Then," she said, "we began to get all these offers of help." She estimated that by election day, there were about 200 volunteers, mostly women, working for her.

"We also wanted to prove the day was not gone when a candidate could run successfully without vast sums of money," she said. Her starting campaign fund was $8, but she found women donating "which is a phenomenon...

"IF THERE is to be a political contribution from a family, it almost always comes from the husband. And you could talk yourself blue in the face to them (husbands) and they would just sort of walk the other way."

The new commissioner said that naturally she would be interested in matters of importance to women but would not serve to represent "women any more than I would expect a man to represent men."

Mrs. Koch said she believes the role of women in politics is increasing rapidly. "I'm not a card carrying member of a women's liberation group," she said, "but I feel I'm doing very much what they're talking about, which is becoming involved."

BEVERLY SISLER
To be married

Spring 1972 Wedding Set

Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Sisler of San Anselmo announce the engagement of their daughter Beverly Rae to Steven Randall Rikala, son of Mr. and Mrs. U. W. Rikala of San Carlos.

A wedding in the spring of 1972 is planned by the couple, both graduates of the University of California at Davis.

Beverly is the sister of Edmund, Diane and John Sisler, and her local grandmother is Mrs. Edmund C. Kain of Aptos. She is a graduate of Marin Catholic High School.

The future bridegroom is the brother of Susan Rikala. He was graduated from San Carlos High School and was elected to Phi Beta Kappa at U.C. Steven is a graduate student at the University of Wisconsin.

THE SUBURBAN SCENE

Sausalitans Back For African Tour

By MOLLY MARIN

Dr. and Mrs. Emmet L. Rixford of Sausalito have just returned from 23 days in Africa, describing their trip to Kenya, Tanzania and Uganda as "the greatest trip we have ever had."

They flew first to London for four days and then to Nairobi, where they began their safari in minibuses. Most amazing, Mrs. Rixford says, was the way the luxurious hotels, such as the Mount Kenya Safari Club, were located near natural water holes and a constant stream of wild animals.

The Rixfords were also impressed with Dr. Leakey's excavations, where early evidence of man was discovered by Dr. Leakey's wife, Mary.

Dr. Rixford took more than 1,100 pictures of the scenes they saw.

MRS. SAMUEL F. B. Morse and Milton C. Coburn were married yesterday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Kennedy in Kentfield.

The Kennedys, who are long time friends of Mr. Coburn, entertained for the couple at a luncheon following the 11:30 a.m. ceremony.

THE FRANK J. Enzenspergers, who are home in Sausalito from nearly a month in Japan, say that they fell in love with that country.

The main purpose of their trip was to visit their son, James Enzensperger, his wife, Marie, and their children, Steven, Jason and Martha Mary, who are living in Yokohama for two years.

Among other places in Japan the Enzenspergers visited were Tokyo, Kobe and Schimizi, an historic place where they stayed in the famed Japanese inn that is said to be 400 to 500 years old.

THE GEORGE R. Chapmans have returned to Sausalito from a trip to Europe they had planned 10 years ago but were unable to take until this year.

In New York they joined a group of 28 people who flew to Rome and visited among other places in Italy Sorrento, Capri and Florence.

Going by train to Switzerland, at Lake Lucerne they had one of the most interesting experiences, going to the top of Mount Pillatus. From Zurich they flew to London and Paris.

On their return trip they stopped at Rumson, N.J., where they were entertained extensively by Mrs. Chapman's cousin and other relatives.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Hope Your Freeloader Friend Has Taught You A Good Lesson

DEAR HELEN:

I treat my expensive deer rifle like a member of the family, and lend it only to people I can trust — even then, grudgingly.

This guy at the office is not in that category. He freeloads everything from cigarettes to weekends at your beach house (he just shows up), and he's good at turning "No" into "Yes."

When he asked to borrow my rifle for a deer trip, I made my big mistake. I didn't give a flat "No!" because his cousin (a guy I can trust) has used it the week before, which put me in an embarrassing spot. So I implied every way I could that he should go rent a gun: told him mine was worth $350 and could he afford a replacement? Said it didn't have a scratch on it — and besides I needed it in five days. I figured I'd discouraged him. But the next morning he came by the house and told my wife he was there to pick up the gun I'd so kindly offered him. Assured her he'd have it back by the time I needed it. What could she do? She lent it to him.

Well, the night before my deer trip, I called his house and his wife said, "Didn't you know? John won't be back till Sunday!"

I suppressed some choice phrases and asked, "What am I going to do without my rifle?" She suggested I go out and rent one!

The gun came home two weeks later (I went after it!). There's a big scratch on the stock and the scope is knocked out of line. I spent a whole day cleaning it and must take it to the shop for other work, perhaps major.

Would any jury convict me if I did what I'd like to do? — SEEING RED

DEAR S.R.:

Don't take a chance: all jurors aren't gun buffs.

Instead, send John the repair bill, plus an added fee for rent. And if he doesn't kick through, keep reminding him at the office — in front of your coworkers.

When people stop being polite to freeloaders, maybe they'll start paying their own way. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

The neighborhood alley cat crawls in my car when it's parked outside. The other day I took off in a hurry and suddenly there was a screeching clawing fiend on my neck. (The cat likes cars, hates riding.)

Trying to fend the beast off, I lost control and rear-ended the car in front of me, which in turn hit the car in front of it.

I'm judged at fault, but the cat is the culprit. My insurance company may raise my premiums, not to speak of getting slapped with damage suits, plus having my car wrecked, and out of commission.

No one claims the cat. He just appeared one day, and scrounges food from people on the block. I can't sue an animal with no master. What recourse do I have? — CAT HATER

DEAR C.H.:

You need a lawyer, not a columnist! My only advice would be: find a home for that darn cat — perferably 500 miles away! — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Here's a suggestion:

As well all know, hospitals and nursing homes are notoriously understaffed. They epsecially need semitrained people who ill take the load off nurses. Patients need more tender loving care between shots and professional visits. There's also a shortage of janitors.

States are troubled with unemployment, spiraling relief rolls, etc. Why not put these unemployed persons to work where they could do the most good: in hospitals? If hospitals were unable to pay them, then let welfare recipients earn their checks. There's plenty to do! — SADLY NEGLECTED PATIENT

(This column is dedicated to family living so if you're having trouble, let Helen help you. She will also welcome your amusing experiences. Write to Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

From Posh White House Post To Viet Scene

By HELEN THOMAS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Air Force officer is leaving a posh post at the White House to put in her stint in Vietnam. She hopes to become a general some day.

Capt. Darlene Brewer, 28, of LaHabre, leaves her job as White House social aid in December to take on her new military chores in Saigon as a communications officer.

Of her life at the White House, she said, "It's been a fantastic experience. But I'm leaving at a very good time — while I really enjoy it."

Captain Brewer wears dress uniforms for her duties at the First Lady's teas and receptions and she dons a long blue skirt with a matching jacket when she helps out at state dinners.

SHE IS one of five or six women who serve as presidential aides among some 20 other bachelor officers from the different services.

What impressed her the most was the First Family.

"They're so real," she said, "so down to earth. People in power are so warm."

Her job was to make guests feel at home in the White House and to see that the plans for the evening were carried out according to protocol.

She confesses that her evenings at the White House cut into her own personal night life, but they did not inhibit her. She found time at the end of the parties to get out on the dance floor for a few rock and roll numbers.

SHE IS a graduate of the University of California, where she majored in philosophy and minored in math.

But she said that she decided to join the military because "I wanted to do something. I believe in America. I had to be a helpful part."

Asked if she would like to reach the rank of general some day, she replied: "I would very much. That's what I'm shooting for."

Nader's Aid: Help From The Citizenry

By ARTHUR E. ROWSE

WASHINGTON — During a question-and-answer session after announcing his massive probe of Congress, Ralph Nader was asked, "What do you consider the single most important shortcoming in this nation today?"

There was not the slightest pause.

"That's easy," he said. "It's abdication of citizenship."

HE WENT on to explain that he was not merely talking about the duty of voting in elections every few years.

"We can't just wait for elections in order to rid the country of pollution and other major problems," he said.

Nader said he was concerned about "the absence of small commitments from all kinds of people."

Also needed, he said, is the help of "full-timers."

"Part-time citizenship cannot work," he said, "if full-timers don't help. This is the essence of the democratic system."

He suggested that hordes of volunteers are needed to perform relatively minor roles in the larger struggles for improved living conditions and outlined how they could start the job.

He charged that Congress has abdicated its function of representing the people by allowing itself to be manipulated by special interests and government bureaucracy itself.

"MANY OF its (government) noblest programs are squandered or looted by the corporate state or turned into shocking opposites of what they were supposed to achieve," he said.

What is needed, he said, is a sweeping investigation of Congress. His aim is to furnish information to the public.

"What does the public know of Congress? he asked. "Not much at all."

He ventured an opinion that past efforts at internal reform by some Congressmen had failed "because they were largely undertaken with little understanding and less participation by citizens."

He called Congress "the prime lever of change and justice in our country."

"NOTHING REMOTELY compares with the Congress," he said, "as the hope of reclaiming America. In reclaiming the Congress, American revolutionizes itself. For in so doing, there is a required emergence of citizenship, expertise and stamina such as this country has never seen.

"It is every citizen's right and duty to strive for such development. And it should not have to be the equivalent of reaching for the stars . . .

"Traditionally, the political system in this country has led Americans to look to the Presidency for inspiration and leadership. But the Congress can be a more effective leader and shaper and receiver of democratic values in just action . . .

"IF INFORMATION is the currency of democracy, it is time to apply that principle to the sinews of citizenship involvement with their representatives in Congress. Who is to say that our Congressmen and Senators would not welcome the participation of the people?"

One questioner asked if he had any ambitions to become President.

None whatever, he said. "I am not interested at all in elective or appointive politics."

He said his goal was to work for "responsible citizenship, full-time!"

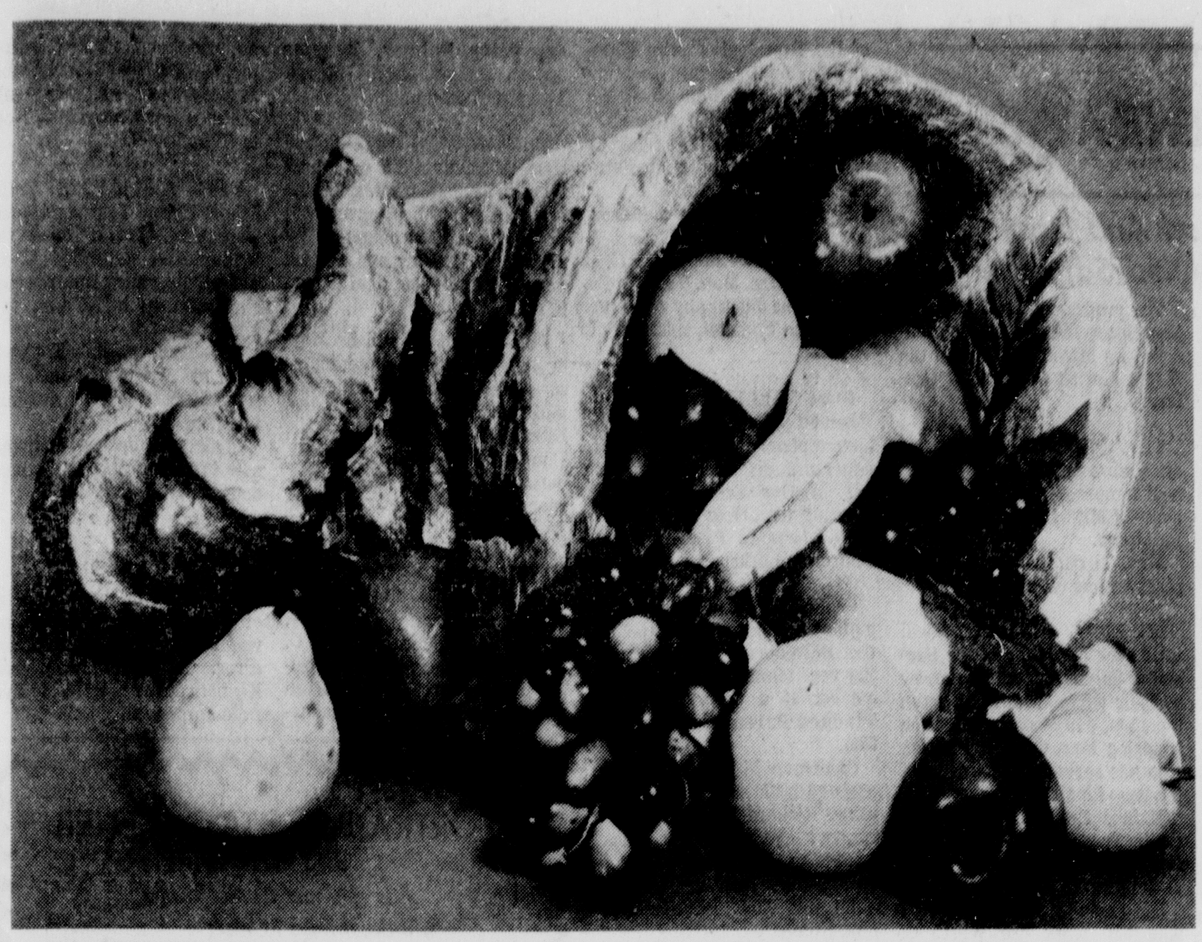
the bath and closet Corner of 4th at C Sts. San Rafael



THIS FESTIVE Thanksgiving table decoration is made with chicken wire covered with a fabric impregnated with plaster of Paris. The cornucopia can be painted with a gilt paint and filled with fruits, flowers or decorations.

Festive, Economical Thanksgiving Look

The base is chicken wire or wire screening about 18 inches square, rolled diagonally to form a cone. Fasten edges with wire or twine so they do not spring apart. When cone is finished, twist the narrow end into the curling shape of the horn. Bend the wide edges of the wide mouth section back to form a rolled edge.

Cover the cone with eight-inch strips cut from a fabric impregnated with strong plaster of Paris available in three-inch rolls at hobby, art supply and department stores. Dip each strip in water, wring out gently and apply it over wire base. Smooth each strip with your fingers so that it blends and adheres to the wire and to adjacent strips. Continue until the entire horn is covered.

Allow the material to dry completely. This will take about 12 hours. To shorten drying time the finished cornucopia may be placed in a moderate oven, 300 degrees, for about one hour or it may be dried under a heat lamp.

The cornucopia can be painted with a gilt spray paint. However, a brushed-on gilt paint, enamels, oil based or latex base paints will work equally well.

Maternity Look In Grey Flannel

The gray flannel vest and pantsuit will be a popular maternity style for spring, according to Women's Wear Daily.

Smocked vest and cuffless pants in acrylic gray flannel and the soft business shirt with pointed collars in mauve rayon jersey are part of the spring suit look for mothers-to-be.

Big Band Era

It will be back to the big band era tomorrow night for the Oakland Symphony Guild extravaganza at the Leamington Hotel in Oakland. Dinner dance guests will dance to the swing era bands of Freddy Martin, Les Brown and his Band of Renown and Bob Crosby and the Bobcats playing their brand of Dixieland music.

Vows Said By Couple In San Rafael

Karen S. Zile and Capt. Albert V. Sangermano were married in San Rafael on Thursday.

Karen is the daughter of Lt. Col. (ret.) and Mrs. Glen E. Zile, and Captain Sangermano is the son of Mrs. Margaret Sangermano of Novato and Albert V. Sangermano of Glendale, Md.

The bride's only attendant was Michelle Courtz of Fairfax, and Tony Cahill of San Rafael served as best man.

The bride was graduated from Novato High School and attended the University of Northern Colorado in Greeley and College of Marin. She was employed at the Emporium in Northgate. Donald G. Zile of Novato is her brother.

The bridegroom was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. He is the brother of Anna Maria Sangermano of Novato.

Dental Society Group Elects New Slate

Mrs. George S. Payne, a dental hygienist and wife of a Santa Rosa dentist, has been named prsident of the Women's Auxiliary to the Redwood Empire Dental Society.

Mrs. Payne has been a member 11 years and formerly served as hospitality, publicity and dental health chairman.

"Promoting the spirit of friendliness among dental families and seeking better dental health for children and adults is the prime purpose of the auxiliary," the new president stated.

Activities planned for the coming year include a joint meeting with the Napa Auxiliary; presentations of the Toy Dental Office in the Sonoma County Public Schools; a bookmark contest among elementary school students, and appearances of "The Magic Words," its puppet show. Any woman whose husband is a member of the Redwood Empire Dental Society is welcome to join.

Marilyn Payne is a native Californian. She is a graduate of the University of California and its dental school program for hygienists. The Paynes have been Sonoma County residents for 12 years and are the parents of Warren, 13, Janice, 12, and 10-year-old twins, Brian and John. She is a member of the Northern California Dental Hygienist Association. Her special interests include cooking, sewing, winter skiing, tennis and bicycling.

Serving with Mrs. Payne are Mmes. Robert Weis, president-elect; James McCartney, treasurer; Dudley Moore, corresponding secretary; Elwyn Thompson, recording secretary; Ray Olmo, dental health chairman; and Leo Lane, publicity and historian.

Mrs. Ralph Bright Is Head Of P-TA Unit

Petaluma Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association has named Mrs. Ralph Bright as its president.

Activities planned for the coming school year include a Christmas program and spring fashion show for students. Mrs. Bright states all parents are welcome to join the association and its primary purpose is to help the students.

A P-TA member for eight years, Marilyn Bright previously served as librarian, hot dog chairman, room mother and corresponding secretary for the McNear elementary school P-TA. She lists her special interests as children and being a primary teacher for the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints. Born in Susanville, she is a graduate of Corning Union High School.

The Brights are the parents of Timothy and Steven and have lived in Sonoma County 17 years. Mr. Bright is a counselor at Rohnert Park Junior High School.

Serving on the board of directors with Mrs. Bright are Mmes. Arthur Hagopian, vice president; Robert Stimson, secretary; and William Montgomery, treasurer.

Engagement Is Announced

Dr. and Mrs. David S. Sowell of Atlanta, Ga., announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth to Lawrence L. Hoenig, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hoenig of San Rafael.

The sister of Jenny, Julie, Susan and David Sowell, the future bride was graduated from high school in Atlanta and from Vanderbilt University School of Nursing in Nashville, Tenn. She is employed by the Georgia Mental Health Institute in Atlanta.

Lawrence is the brother of Peter R. Hoenig. He was graduated from high school in Grand Junction, Colo., and from the University of Denver. The future bridegroom is in the Army stationed at Fort Gordon, Ga.

The couple plans to be married Jan. 16 in East Point, Ga.

Reason For Weight

No one food alone can cause an increase in weight, it is the excess in total calories over and above the body's needs that is stored as fat in the body, say nutrition consultants from the Dairy Council of California. For this reason, no one food or food group should be eliminated from the daily diet. You need foods from the milk group, the meat group, the vegetables and fruits group, and breads and cereals group.

Opera Star Simon Estes Finds Time To Experiment In Kitchen

By JEANNE LESEM

NEW YORK (UPI) — Horatio Alger himself couldn't have topped Simon Estes' life story as a poor boy who made good.

Estes, an opera star, is grandson of a slave and a pioneer labor organizer and son of a poor coal miner who became a school dropout in the third grade.

At high school in Centerville, Iowa, young Estes won letters for football and basketball and became the school's leading high-jumper and starting baseball pitcher. He sang regularly in both the school chorus and his church choir.

He washed dishes to work his way through college, won a full scholarship to New York's prestigious Juilliard School of Music, and paid for his room and board there by more dishwashing and working the 5 a.m. shift on a building demolition crew.

AFTER LEAVING Juilliard, he won the silver medal of Moscow's First International Tschaikovsky Vocal Competition. He sings with many of Europe's and America's leading opera companies and symphony orchestras. The National Symphony Orchestra of Washington, D.C., chose him as soloist with Antal Dorati for a performance of William Schuman's "A Free Son" on the opening night of the concert hall of Washington's John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts. This summer he presented a concert in Marin County.

Along the way, he also learned to cook.

In an interview here, Estes said he had to learn "for survival on a limited budget in college."

He added the he still enjoys cooking as a hobby. That in fact, it can't be separated from his singing career.

"We opera singers have to watch our diet. We have to eat well to have the energy to sing well.

"All the foods I cook are terribly fattening. You burn up so much energy performing, studying and rehearsing." Engagements throughout Europe and America mean a lot of eating out.

"I don't really go in for complicated cooking when I'm on tour," he said. He usually eats in restaurants on European tours. But if the engagement is a long one, he sometimes sets up housekeeping.

ESTES SAID he does most cooking in the kitchen of his upper Fifth Avenue apartment here, with ingredients from a nearby supermarket. "I like basic foods, a nice meat loaf, spaghetti, chili, fillets of sole, steak, pork chops, soul fried chicken.

Estes said his ideas for cooking come from his mother. But he's innovative. He uses sirloin instead of a cheaper cut of beef for both chili and meat loaf. He cooks meat loaf only to the medium stage, so it's still pink in the center. He sometimes skins chicken before preparing it for frying, and he uses butter for the more traditional lard or vegetable shortening in frying it. Sometimes, he also substitutes garlic salt for plain salt.

He surely didn't learn that from his mother.

No, said Estes with a smile.

One of his favorite recipes is for mashed potatoes. Even they differ from the usual. He said he uses about eight red-skinned spuds about two or three inches in diameter, plus one-fourth pound of butter and an unspecified amount of heavy cream. He boils and mashes the unskinned potatoes, first by hand and then with a battery-operated gadget. This amount serves four.

He cooks them in authentic skillet size with a filling of raw apples, cinnamon and sugar. Powdered sugar is the usual topping, but he sometimes uses blue cheese instead.

Estes said that cooking is fun, but it is not his major hobby.

"I know it sounds corny, but my biggest hobby is people. I like to see them get along."

Drawing on his college studies in behavorial sciences, he lectures to university and high school groups. The subjects he covers include narcotics and social relationships between blacks and whites, between religious groups and between students and faculty, students and parents and students and students.

Art Center Gets A Chance On Tenancy

The Sausalito School District board has given the Sausalito Art Center one more chance to settle its differences with the district and retain its tenancy in the old Bayside School.

Supt. Lawrence A. Lindberg said the board Monday directed him to prepare a written lease with the center and bring it back at an adjourned meeting at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow at the district office.

If the board approves, the lease will be sent to the art center board for approval. If the lease has not been returned to the district by Nov. 22, Lindberg said, the board said it will evict the art center.

The squabble over the lease began July 11 when the board voted to evict it within 30 days because a lease signed in April 1969 was never ratified by the federal government — one of the conditions under which the lease was granted.

Lindberg said the government, which owns the land on which Bayside School was built, had notified the district of two things about the lease that made it unacceptable: that it ran for five years instead of one and that only the art center could cancel it.

Lindberg said the new contract will up the rent paid by the center from $80 to $150 per month, include a clause giving the Sausalito district the power to cancel with 90 days notice (a power not included in the old lease) and run for one year.

In other business, the board declined to reopen the question of leasing Manzanita School to the Marin City Learning Center for use as a private school.

Rev. Samuel L. Banks, chairman of the Marin City Council, had requested that the board reconsider its denial of the school building for the learning center.

At tomorrow's adjourned meeting, the board will consider leasing a portion of Central School to College of Marin for an evening adult education program.

Stage Band Festival Set At College

Four local bands will be among the 21 from 10 counties competing in the second annual Redwood Empire stage band festival Nov. 20 at Sonoma State College.

Local bands will include last year's winner, Kenilworth Junior High School, Petaluma, directed by M. Elaine Gillespie; San Rafael High School jazz ensemble, directed by Terry Summa, and its stage band directed by Charlene Wilkerson; Terra Linda High School band, directed by Gordon Lowe; and Petaluma Senior High School band, directed by John Schuster.

Competition will begin at 8 a.m. and continue through 6 p.m. A mass concert will start at 8:30 p.m. in the gymnasium.

Trophies will be awarded to the best bands and a special best-player trophy will be given by the musician's union, Local 292. Clinics for brass, woodwinds, percussion and guitar will be held throughout the day.

Guest musician will be Bobby Bryant, lead trumpeter with the National Broadcasting Corp. orchestra in Los Angeles. Bryant will perform with Walt Oster's concert jazz ensemble during the evening concert, as well as at a clinic during the day.

More than 1,500 persons attended last year's evening performance. Information and ticket reservations may be obtained by calling the college office of instructional services.

Tree-Planting Party Is Set

The Petaluma Valley Homeowners Association has approved a tree-planting party at La Tercera Park for Nov. 20.

Publicity chairman Donna Tyson said association members will seek volunteers to assist in planting 80 trees at the park adjacent to La Tercera School. She said work would begin at 8 a.m. and continue the next day, if necessary, to get the trees planted.

Refreshments will be served and babysitting services will be available. Mrs. Tyson said volunteers should bring wheelbarrows, shovels and picks with them if possible.

Second Session Of Fall Classes Set

The Terra Linda Recreation-Park District has announced its second session of fall classes will begin Monday.

Classes include cake decorating, knitting, upholstering, painting, belly dancing, macrame and ballet for children. Details may be obtained from the parks and recreation office.

Mezzo Will Present Inverness Concert

A program entitled "The Color of Songs," with mezzo-soprano Roberta Wain and pianist Loyd Carroll, will be presented at St. Columba's Episcopal Church, Inverness, at 3:30 p.m. Nov. 21.

The program will feature French folk songs of Britten, the Chansons de Bilitis of Debussy, Israeli songs and works by Handel, Mozart, and Ives. The concert will be presented by the Fine Arts Guild of San Francisco.

Miss Wain recently appeared as "Suzuki" in Madama Butterfly at the Inverness Music Festival. She has performed major roles with the Goldovsky Opera Institute, the East Bay Opera League, the San Francisco Musical Club, the San Francisco Opera Guild Talent Bank, Oakland Symphony, and the University of Southern California Opera Theater and Symphony.

Comedy By The Bard Due Friday

The Novato High School Drama Club's production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," opens at 8:30 p.m., Friday in the old gymnasium.

The girls roles are double cast. Playing Olivia are Lori Gieleghem and Cindy Crabtree. Viola is played by Jan Denny and Robin Proett. Maria is played by Sue Smith and Leda Secrist.

Orsino will be portrayed by Donald Wilson, Malvolio by Todd Young, Feste by Andrew Cilley, Sir Andrew by Guy Ridley, Sir Toby by Larry Lee and Sebastian by Steven Kollgaard.

The play is directed by Russell J. Dreosch.

Fake Money Seven Are Arraigned

I-J Special Report

Five of the seven have been released on $1,000 bonds and another on $5,000 bail to appear in U.S. District Court for a preliminary hearing Nov. 29.

The seventh person, Billy Ray Neal, 29, of Riverbank, Stanislaus County, was held at San Fancisco City Prison in lieu of $10,000 bail. He has a preliminary hearing set for Nov. 18.

All were charged with possessing counterfeit money.

Lloyd Benny Sanders, 28, of San Rafael, was released on $5,000 bail. Released on $1,000 bonds were: Louise Ann Whitney, 23, Arthur John Shannon, 42, and William Staurt Brockus, 35, all of San Rafael; Duane Edward Worrell, 34, of Novato, and Shirley Evon Neal, 27, of Riverbank.

The arrests, Saturday and Sunday, ended a three-week investigation by U.S. Secret Service agents and San Rafael police which began with the passing of four fake $100 bills at San Rafael businesses last month.

Brockus was arrested with more than $9,000 in phony $20 bills in a Francisco Boulevard parking lot.

Mementos Of World Fairs On Display

Mementos of world fairs from 1895 to the present time, collected by Robert Collins of Olema, are on display this month at the Novato Branch of the Marin County Library.

Black and white photographs by Richard Lilli of Novato are also displayed on the bulletin boards. Art works from Ronald C. Jolliffe's art class at San Marin High School are also on display.

Policeman's Ouster Questioned By Judge

The Sausalito City Council may have exceeded its legal authority in dismissing instead of demoting Sgt. Thomas H. Zink in May of 1970, a Marin Superior Court judge indicated yesterday.

Judge Joseph G. Wilson, however, asked for more written arguments from attorneys for the city and for Zink before he makes a decision, sometime after Nov. 26.

Zink, 33, was fired in May of last year on various allegations including "emotional instability," inability to get along with his subordinates, appearing late for work, not wearing a necktie, and coming to work with alcohol on his breath.

He won a hearing before state hearing officer Paul A. Winton last December.

Winton found no evidence of "emotional instability" or his inability to get along with his men, but held that he had exercised bad judgment and neglect on some occasions. On that basis, Winton recommended that Zink be reinstated to the police force but demoted to patrolman.

Last Sept. 7, the Sausalito City Council, after a series of closed meetings, upheld its previous firing and refused to reinstate Zink, even as patrolman.

Yesterday, Judge Wilson said he has no quarrel with the recommended demotion, but fears the city council might have abused its discretionary powers in reversing Winton's recommendation without another hearing, noted the council supported Winton's findings, if not his decision.

Throughout the hearing before Winton, "it is quite clear that emotional and mental instability was the principal thrust," said Judge Wilson. Yet, the hearing officer had found no evidence of emotional instability or inability to get along with his men.

The judge wondered how the city council could come up with the identical findings as Winton's and still vote for dismissal when Winton recommended only a demotion.

Leland H. Jordan, city attorney for Sausalito, argued that the city has the authority to come up with a different decision from the same findings.

"The city adopted word for word the findings of the hearing officer and then it changed the penalty," declared Leech. "It clearly abused its discretion. It was 100 per cent political."

The judge took the case under submission and asked the attorneys to submit briefs by Nov. 26.

Art Show To Open Friday

The third annual art show sponsored by Village Frames and Gallery of Fairfax will open Friday and run through Monday at the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club.

Hours on Friday and Monday will be 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. and from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday.

Participating artists will be Meredith Abbott, Delfa Fuchs, James Lannert, Jeane Noble, Tom Quinn, George Sheppard, Gwen Stone, Mary Ellen Wehrli, Marcella Winer, Shirley Howe, Dennis Hodgson, Jon Peaty, Dorothea Ridenour and E. John Robinson.

Art Education Workshop Set

An art education workshop and demonstration will be given Nov. 20 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at Bernard Eldredge School, Petaluma.

Program coordinators are George Gunter of the Sonoma County Office of Education and Robert K. Gronendyke, art professor at Sonoma State College.

A staff of 35 volunteers will conduct art-in-action projects, including wax casting, macrame, Raku ceramics and acrylic painting.

Baroque Concert In Mill Valley

A free public concert of baroque and renaissance music for brass and organ will be presented by the Marin Chamber Ensemble Sunday at 4 p.m. at the Episcopal Church of Our Saviour in Mill Valley.

Directed by Dr. S. Drummond Wolff, the ensemble will be composed of Jack Tyler and Ellis Anderson, trumpets; David Murray and William Duggin, trombones, and Terry Bozzio, percussion. All are members of the College of Marin community band. Dr. Wolff will play the organ.

The ensemble will perform works by Purcell, Vivaldi, Stanley, J. S. Bach, Handel, Albinoni, Gabrieli, Marcello and Mendelssohn.

Memorial For Garden Club

The Novato Garden Club will dedicate a special grove of rhododendron in Pioneer Memorial Park, Novato, at 1:30 p.m. Sunday.

The grove, starting with 10 bushes and serving as a memorial to the 37-year-old club, will be expanded with annual plantings.

Rev. Wilbur J. Bullard of Bethel Baptist Church will give the opening invocation. Joan Whitten of the garden club will be the speaker. Lela Von Tagen is chairman of the dedication.

ATTENDS FBI ACADEMY

Corte Madera's Police Chief Will Put Ideas Into Action

By LARRY MOWELL

Back to work only since Monday after 12 weeks of study at the FBI-sponsored school on police work, McIntosh has already begun to revamp police practices in Corte Madera.

He told tme Independent-Journal yesterday that beginning in early December two officers will ride in each prowl car on weekend nights. Although it will reduce the number of patroling vehicles from three to two, it will be safer for patrolmen, he said.

McIntosh, who returned with a shelf of texts on law enforcement, said the courses covered police-community relations, investigation, management, narcotics and laws governing police work.

McIntosh said he picked up useful information in each phase of study, but most of the changes he said he plans are in the areas of management and community relations.

"I want to get involved in some programs with the business people and see what the police department might be able to suggest to cut down crimes," the chief said.

He said police will suggest ways to rearrange shelves, add lighting and change design to discourage shoplifting and robbery.

Police will also meet with homeowners' groups to point out ways to cut down burglaries, the chief said.

Those programs will be the most visible to the public, but the chief is planning some in-house changes he thinks will improve the force.

He spoke of "getting the men in the department involved in actually setting up some objectives for the department" and of delegating more authority to supervisors.

Stricter educational requirements may also be instituted in an effort to upgrade the force, the chief said. "I think that if police departments in general want to be accepted as a profession, they are going to have to raise their education as well as their training."

He said that beginning in two or three years a man seeking promotion to sergeant will need 20 units in college police courses. A lieutenant may need 30 units of college credit, he said.

Presently, the requirement is a high school diploma or equivalent, the chief said.

Structured training will be increased too, McIntosh said. Patrolmen now learn from on-the-job training, he said, but they need more information.

The chief outlined a plan including eight hours of training a month of subjects ranging from court decisions affecting police work to flagging down speeding motorists.

McIntosh graduated from the FBI school in Washington Nov. 3 with 99 other police administrators. Chiefs Raymond R. Buchignani of San Anselmo and Howard C. Clark of Larkspur attended previous sessions of the school.

San Anselmo Council Rejects The Colonel

Upholding a planning commission decision, the council unanimously decided that a Colonel Sanders Kentucky Fried Chicken establishment proposed for 634 San Anselmo Avenue is barred by the zoning ordinance.

The ordinance bans takeout restaurants from the downtown area so the chicken firm asked first the planners, then the council, to declare its proposed outlet a retail store.

Councilmen shot down the request despite claims by an attorney that the zoning ordinance is unconstitutional and unlawful. Attorney Julius Sellinger, representing the colonel, charged the ordinance is discriminatory.

However, Councilman Warren R. Perry, also an attorney, said takeout restaurants are barred to prevent traffic congestion, not because councilmen dislike takeout restaurants.

The council also refused a request by Sellinger for a statement that applying for variance and for rezoning would be futile. All administrative remedies must be exhausted before such an issue can be taken to court.

The San Anselmo City Council Also:

RETAINING WALL — Ordered the Ross Valley Sanitary District to make interim repairs to a wall around a sewer in Sleepy Hollow Creek at Brennfleck Avenue.

CEDARS ANNEXATION — Refused to annex the property of the Cedars Development School near Red Hill School until proper police and fire access is built.

LIBRARIANS — Appointed Linda Hickman a full-time librarian at $582 a month and Jane Sheeks a part-time librarian at one-third that rate.

TYPEWRITER — Agreed by a 3-2 vote, Warren R. Perry and Woodrow V. Capurro dissenting, to purchase a $567 typewriter for a new employee to be hired with federal funds under the emergency employment program.

DISASTER ORDINANCE — Asked the city attorney to draft an ordinance setting up organizations to deal with disasters.

GAS PUMP — Agreed to purchase a used gasoline pump for the city corporation yard for $185 from Myrich Equipment Company of Santa Rosa.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Nov. 23 and set an adjourned meeting for Nov. 30 at 8 p.m. to discuss the countywide master plan with the planning commission and county planning staff.

Marin Car Thief Gets 60 Days

Daryl Lloyd Waddell, 19, no known address, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail for car theft.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for two years.

Waddell and Robert Ben Choate, 19, of Modesto, were arrested Sept. 17 and charged with burglarizing the residence of Milton Morse, 116 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, and stealing Mrs. Morse's car, as well as misdemeanor counts of reckless driving and hit-and-run.

Waddell pleaded guilty to the car theft and the other charges were dismissed.

Choate is awating trial in superior court.

'71 Cotton Crop

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The 1971 cotton crop has been estimated at 10,718,900 bales, slightly above the October forecast and 5 per cent larger than last year's yield.

Education Report For Dinner Meeting

Assemblyman Leroy F. Greene, D-Sacramento, chairman of the Assembly Education Committee, will discuss "Education Legislation, 1971" at a dinner meeting of the Marin County School Boards Association on Nov. 18.

Greene will give special attention to the new tenure law enacted by Assembly Bill 293, according to Virgil S. Hollis, county superintendent of schools. The meeting will be at Dominic's Harbor Restaurant in San Rafael, with dinner at 7:30 p.m.

Hub May Break From Flood Unit

The San Anselmo City Council, unhappily wed to the Ross Valley Flood Control District for six years, made noises last night about seeking a divorce.

The council decided to discuss on Nov. 23 whether it should try to disassociate itself with the flood control district which maintains the concrete channel built in Corte Madera Creek by the Army Corps of Engineers.

The idea was raised by Councilman James F. Reed while the council was considering directing its staff to continue to negotiate a joint powers agreement with the Marin County Flood Control Agency, which includes the Ross Valley district.

"If we legally can, I still want out," Reed said. Reed charged the district may use its taxing power to force the city to allow a concrete channel through it.

When the city agreed to a joint powers agreement in 1965, it did not join the flood control zone, but agreed to pay up to five cents per $100 assessed evaluation for maintenance of the creek project downstream.

Since then, the council has shown hostility to the flood control project. In June it refused to listen to an Army Corps of Engineers flood control proposal, calling its work through Ross, Kentfield and Larkspur into Corte Madera a "concrete bathtub."

When Reed called last night for withdrawing from the project and correcting flood problems locally, he was joined by Mayor Kenneth L. Anderson. Councilman Woodrow V. Capurro opposed the divorce saying, "We are a part of this district whether we think we are or not."

Councilman Lewis W. Stewart moved to put the question on the Nov. 23 agenda.

Horse Ordinance Changes Ordered

The San Anselmo City Council jockeyed around the track an ordinance aimed at horses, then sent it back to the barn for changes in its trappings.

While about 40 persons listened quietly, the council aired the proposed ordinance developed by the planning commission, then referred it to City Atty. John G. Buresh so that changes can be included.

Only minor changes were made during 90 minutes of discussion that began with councilmen stating approval of the rough draft.

The proposed ordinance, inspired by complaints about horses kept on private properties, would require owners of large animals to buy an annual license costing $5, the same fee charged for dog licenses.

An additional fee of $20 would be charged for investigation of complaints received within 20 days after notice of the license application is posted.

Poor sanitary conditions, brutality and odor are listed as causes for revocation of a license.

The ordinance would cover not only horses — estimated by city officials to number about 20 — but ocelots and other pets.

The ordinance was fought at the planning commission level, but no opposition was voiced at its trial run with the city council.

San Franciscan Jailed In Marin

Stanley Charles Brown, 21, of San Francisco, has been sentenced to 60 days in Marin County Jail for burglary.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed him on probation for a year.

Brown was arrested March 11 after Ruth Wilson of 740 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, found him in her home. He pleaded guilty to that burglary. An additional charge that he burglarized the residence of William V. Heaney, 570 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley, the same day, was dismissed.

Disposal Site's Closing Time

The Sonoma County Refuse Disposal site on Meacham Road, north of Petaluma, will close at 4 p.m. rather than 5 p.m., according to Asst. County Public Works Directer Duane Butler.

He said the earlier closing time is necessary to allow workers time to haul in cover material and spread it over the daily accumulation of refuse.

The refuse site on Stage Gulch Road between Petaluma and Sonoma, meanwhile, will remain open daily from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. All sites are closed only on major holidays.

Report On Grades Due In Larkspur

The Larkspur School District board will consider a report by a committee studying combining seventh and eighth grade students at two schools at its regular meeting tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the district office.

Consolidating the junior high school students at Henry C. Hall and Neil Cummins schools has been under study because of a decrease in enrollment.

Street Blockade In Hub Must Go

The San Anselmo City Council last night ordered that the barricades on embattled Ramona Way be torn down within 72 hours.

The edict was a defeat for property owners adjoining the lane who put posts in the old road Oct. 17 to keep out motorists they claimed kept running into their properties and littering their yards.

The barricades almost immediately drew criticism from motorists and 37 persons petitioned the city Oct. 22 for removal. No action was taken until last night because the little alley between Oak Knoll Avenue in San Anselmo and Hill Avenue in Fairfax was never formally dedicated to the city.

While skirting the issue of whether the lane was tacitly dedicated, the council did decide it has been used by the public more than 60 years and therefore should be open.

The council action came after about five persons called for removal of the posts planted between 125 Oak Knoll Avenue, the home of Michael C. Wigell, and 127 Oak Knoll, the home of John Hubbell.

Minority Pact Signed By Union

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Operating Engineers Union Local 3 has signed the first minority-quota agreement under the state's recently revised apprenticeship standards program.

The union agreed to guarantee minority youth apprenticeships in proportion to the local mix of the population in the 46 Northern California counties in the local's jurisdiction.

The area includes 11.1 per cent persons of Spanish surnames, 7 per cent blacks, 3.7 per cent Orientals and .004 per cent American Indian, the agreement said.

Union spokesman A.A. Pennebaker said Local 3 normally has 450 to 550 apprentices a year in Northern California and the current minority ratio is 16 per cent.

HIGH CARDS

Declarer took the first trick in dummy with the ace of diamonds and immediately cashed the ace and king of hearts to get rid of the diamond loser. Then he led a club from dummy, finessing with the jack.

West won with the ace of clubs and returned a diamond to make South ruff. Declarer led the jack of spades to force out the queen, and back came a diamond to make South ruff for the second time.

South led the ten of spades, and East took both top trumps. East then led his last diamond to make South ruff for the third time. Since three rounds of trumps had been led and South had ruffed three times, no trumps were left.

FALLS SHORT

South had taken three trumps and had won three tricks in the red suits. Now he cashed the king of clubs, but his tricks ran out abruptly. East won the next trick with the queen of clubs and led a heart to defeat the contract.

Declarer lost his contract when he cashed the top hearts. He should try a finesse with the jack of clubs at the second trick. West takes the ace of clubs and a diamond trick and then maes declarer ruff a diamond.

MUST SWITCH

South leads a trump to the queen, and now the defenders must switch to hearts. Declarer takes the top hearts, wins a finesse with the ten of clubs and leads a trump to force out the king.

The defenders get three trumps, a diamond and a club, but South makes his ice-cold contract.

DAILY QUESTION

As dealer, you hold:
♠ - Q 4
♥ - Q J 9 6 3

♣ - A 9.
What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass.

The hand is not worth an opening bid. Do not bid a borderline hand when you have only one of the eight top cards in the deck.

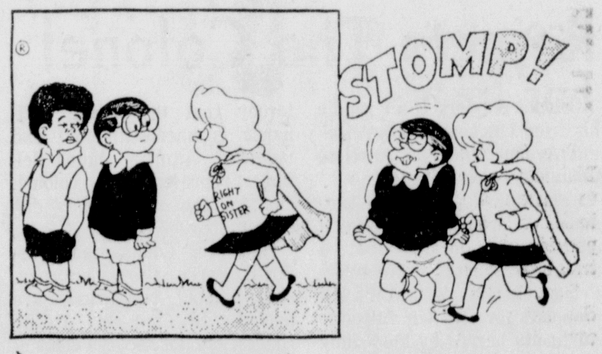
Jail Term For Drug Forgery

Jody Catline, 32, of Petaluma, has been sentenced to 20 days in Marin County Jail for forging a prescription for narcotics.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court also placed her on probation for two years.

Mrs. Catline was arrested May 8 after attempting to fill two prescriptions at Northgate Drugs in Northgate Shopping Center.

WEE PALS



Guilty Plea To Reduced Count

Mardell Green, 45, of Marin City, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of exhibiting a deadly weapon.

She is to be sentenced Dec. 6.

Mrs. Green, who was originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon, was arrested March 27 after she allegedly shot Johnny A. Young of Marin City at her residence following an argument over another woman, according to the sheriff's office.

MARTI PARACHINI
Eagle scout

Hub Scout Earns His Eagle Rank

Marti Parachini of San Anselmo has received scouting's highest honor — the Eagle rank — during a court of honor at the First Presbyterian Church, San Anselmo.

Parachini, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Parachini of 118 Sycamore Avenue, is a freshman at Sierra College in Placer County.

A graduate of Davidson Junior High School in San Rafael and Tamalpais High School in Mill Valley, he started as a Cub Scout in Pack 5, San Anselmo, then joined Troup 6, also San Anselmo. He has served as an assistant senior patrol leader, senior patrol leader, quartermaster and as a troop instructor. Later, he became junior assistant scoutmaster and a member of the Order of the Arrow.

He attended the Seventh National Jamboree in Idaho and was at the Philmont Boy Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

Besides scouting, he is interested in forestry. Parachini, after receiving an associate of arts degree in woodwork, plans to study further in forest management.

Tank Will Provide Fuel For Buses

The Bolinas-Stinson School District board last night agreed to install a 1,000-gallon fuel tank on district property to provide gasoline for the district's two new school buses.

Supt. Lester M. Horning said the district, which began operating its own buses this year, could save 15 cents per gallon on gasoline purchased through the county.

He said the board told him to buy the tank either from Petroleum Engineering Inc. of Santa Rosa for $1,370 or to find a lower bidder. He also was instructed to hunt for a gasoline pump for the lowest possible cost.

The board also approved leasing the old Sinson Beach School to the Stinson Beach Youth Center for a teen center and told the group it could proceed with renovating the building.

No class has been conducted at the site since the new Stinson Beach School burned down in April 1970. The old school building was not being used for classes because of earthquake danger, Horning said. A formal lease for $1 per year will be drawn up by the Marin County Counsel's office.

The board also awarded a $2,141 contract to Robert Kunst of San Rafael to paint the old Bolinas School; a $2,000 contract to Modernfold Inc. of Redwood City for portable panels for the new Bolinas school, and agreed to purchase a renovated copy machine for $595.

15 Days In Jail On Dope Charge

A Novato man has been fined and sentenced to jail and his wife fined in Marin Superior Court for possessing marijuana.

Kenneth Edward Freedman, 22, was fined $500 and sentenced to 15 days in Marin County Jail. His wife, Laurie Beth Freedman, 20, was fined $250.

Judge E. Warren McGuire also placed them both on probation for a year.

They were arrested June 23 when Marin drug abuse agents obtained a search warrant for their residence after marijuana plants were seen in their backyard.

Consolidation Is Rejected By Panel

The Novato Sanitary District board has rejected any proposed consolidation with other sanitary districts in Marin County or consolidation with the North Marin County Water District.

Engineer-Manager Charles A. Joseph said the district board, meeting Monday night, sent a letter to county officials which pointed out that countywide consolidation was ill-advised because Northern Marin conditions are not similar to Southern Marin's and that proposed merger of the sanitary and water districts was defeated at the polls two years ago.

The letter also noted that the district already is working with six other sanitary agencies in the North Marin-Southern Sonoma area on a subregional sewer agency and that the district has completed a $5.5 million upgrading program ordered by the Regional Water Quality Control Board.

An amendment to the state constitution in 1950 gave women the right to hold elective office in Oklahoma.

Arraignment For Peterson

David George Peterson, 24, of Woodacre, has been arraigned in Marin Municipal Court on a felony charge of possessing marijuana and a misdemeanor charge of obtaining drugs by false pretenses.

He is to plead to the charges Tuesday.

Peterson was arrested Saturday after returning to a Novato drugstore to have a prescription, made out by a "Dr. Schmitz," refilled.

The druggist became suspicious and called police who discovered that Peterson had been posing as a physician in ordering drugs for fictitious patients by telephone.

Police said Peterson had a quantity of marijuana when he was arrested.

When we say Park Terrace is in Mill Valley, we mean it's IN Mill Valley.

Park Terrace is Mill Valley's newest residential area. Mill Valley, not overlooking Mill Valley or near Mill Valley. Location is such a big factor in a home that you can scarcely expect to find an older home, let alone a new home, in Mill Valley for anything under $35,000. YET PARK TERRACE TOWNHOUSES START AT $33,900 for 2 bedrooms, 1¾ baths, luxury features, & room to expand. If you're in the market for a new home, you've got to see what Park Terrace has for you & how living IN Mill Valley can make life a whole lot easier for you and your family.

Off Miller Ave. before La Goma St. as you approach the village.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Outbreaks During Past Decade Lead To 'New Orleans Asthma'

During the past 10 years periodic outbreaks of asthma have occurred in New Orleans. When the wheezing begins, more than 100 victims may be admitted to the Charity Hospital in a 24-hour period. The condition is not as prevalent outside the city and consequently has been dubbed New Orleans asthma.

Studies have demonstrated that many of the victims have a family history of allergy and have the usual manifestations of high sensitivity. Skin tests are positive for a variety of local airborne substances. A group of physicians recently conducted a study of the weather conditions (including climatic factors) during each epidemic. Epidemics reach a peak during September, October and November. Seasonal temperatures are 45 degrees Fahrenheit or less and the relative humidity is 45 per cent or less.

THE LOW humidity favors the spread of airborne allergens and the cooler air induces bronchial spasm. Both of these factors are conducive to asthma but of little help in solving the problem. At this time of year, the wind is from the southwest and of low velocity. In New Orleans, the peak of the ambrosia (ragweed) pollination has been reached and is on the decline. The ragweed causes hay fever but, in many, this is followed by asthma. The victims are still in a state of hypersensitivity and must now also contend with more respiratory infections and molds. Although tests have shown that the allergic condition is not triggered by any specific chemicals in the air, the population is exposed to the dust and the usual urban pollutants that begin to accumulate with the onset of cooler weather.

ALLERGISTS in many parts of the country have noted an increase in asthma at the end of the hay fever season. Molds, infections, and air pollution also play a role, but apparently the condition reaches epidemic proportions in New Orleans and allergists agree that the asthma deserves to be named after our southern metropolis.

Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.

THREE QUART A DAY

D. E. D. writes: Will drinking three quarts of fluids every day make the kidneys work too hard?

REPLY

No. This is their job and I've never known them to complain or balk because they had too much to do. The exception is when the tissues get waterlogged and the legs puffy (edema).

VIRUS AND CANCER

Mr. T. Y. writes: What do you think of the new theory that cancer is caused by a virus?

REPLY

This theory is not new, and there is a possibility that viruses are responsible for certain cancers. There are many different types of cancer, and we have no reason to believe that all have the same causative agent.

BLOOD LOSS

R. W. writes: What do black stools and anemia add up to?

REPLY

Internal bleeding, probably from peptic ulcer, or broken veins in the lower part of the esophagus (gullet). Blood turns black when mixed with stomach acids.

BREAKING THE EARDRUM

T. W. writes: Can you perforate an eardrum by blowing the nose too hard?

REPLY

Yes, but in such instances, the drum usually has been weakened by prior infection.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Consulting Fees Called 'Exorbitant'

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — California state government has squandered millions since 1966 by spending $32 million for consultant work, most of which could have been performed by state employes, a legislative committee charges.

Democratic Assemblyman Vincent Thomas of San Pedro, chairman of the watchdog Joint Legislative Audit Committee, said Tuesday "This is an exorbitant amount to be paid by state agencies for consultant fees."

He estimated that the state could have saved as much as $20 million over the past five years by doing the work itself.

The 65-page report listed hundreds of contracts ranging from courses on "effective writing" to financial planning and control which were awarded without competitive bidding.

And it said, "No meaningful review is made regularly of consulting contracts by any of the state's control agencies."

The study quoted the state Administrative Manual as stating that agencies "will make conscientious efforts to secure at least three competitive bids on all contracts..." Exceptions were made for agreements between state agencies and for architecture and engineering consultant contracts.

The top spender for consulting contracts was the Department of Water Resources which ran up a bill of $8.4 million during the five-year period, according to the report.

The Department of Public Works spent $6.6 million, state colleges $4.1 million, the Department of Education $3.2 million and the Justice Department $1.5 million.

Six organizations, including the University of California, received more than $1 million worth of consulting contracts.

CRIMINALS

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A proposed constitutional amendment which would require defendants in criminal cases to be represented by attorneys has been approved by the Assembly.

The Assembly passed the measure by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, on a 55-0 vote Tuesday and returned it to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

If the Senate goes along with lower house changes, the proposed constitutional amendment would be submitted to the voters for approval next year.

DEFENDER

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A state public defender's office would be created under a bill which passed the Assembly and has been returned to the Senate for concurrence in amendments.

The measure by Sen. Mervyn Dymally, D-Los Angeles, was approved Tuesday on a 48-8 vote.

The state public defender, who would be paid $35,000 a year, would handle appeals by convicted persons unable to pay the cost of an attorney.

Two More Arrests On Phony Bills

San Rafael police said two men were arrested yesterday at their homes on warrants issued by U.S. Secret Service agents. Johnnie Rodriquez, 40, of 23 Sonoma Street, San Rafael and Leonard S. Fabian, 33, of 9 Vendola Drive, Santa Venetia, were booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing counterfeit money.

On Sunday, $9,000 in counterfeit money was seized and seven persons arrested when San Rafael police and Secret Service agents broke up a phony money operation in San Rafael.

Those arrests culminated a three-week investigation begun when four counterfeit $100 bills were passed at San Rafael businesses starting Oct. 15, police said.

Guilty Plea To Reduced Charge

Dale Adrien Hein, 32, of Ukiah, Mendocino County, pleaded guilty yesterday in Marin Municipal Court to a reduced misdemeanor charge of disturbing the peace.

He is to be sentenced Dec. 10.

Hein was arrested Oct. 28 on a warrant charging he hit James Wallace of San Rafael over the head with a barstool and took $810 from him on Oct. 14 at a San Anselmo tavern.

Hein is the uncle of Wallace's wife.

He was originally charged with assault with a deadly weapon and grand theft, but the assault charge was reduced yesterday and Judge Robert A. Smallman indicated the grand theft charge would be dismissed when Hein is sentenced on the misdemeanor.

Three Injured In Auto Accidents In Novato

One person has been hospitalized and two others injured in separate accidents in Novato, police reported.

Lois Adalaide McCook, 63, of 1415 Park Avenue, Novato, was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with a fractured nose and ankle, and facial cuts.

Verna Marie Bennison, 72, of 422A Johnson Street, Sausalito, was treated today at Novato General Hospital for multiple bruises.

Victoria Mary Garner, 46, of 510 Sunset Parkway, Novato, was to see her own doctor for pains in her arms.

Mrs. McCook was crossing Diablo Avenue northbound on George Street at 4:15 p.m., yesterday when she swung her car to the left into a metal street light pole, breaking it, police reported.

N. C. Payne of Novato, according to police, said he was westbound on Diablo Avenue when the McCook car pulled out in front of him. He skidded to avoid a collision and Mrs. McCook swung to the left, hitting the pole, police reported.

The other two were injured in a two-car accident at 8:35 a.m. today at Cambridge and Monte Maria streets. Mrs. Garner was northbound on Cambridge when her car collided with one westbound on Monte Maria, driven by Nora Kathleen Hope, 60, of 284 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, police reported.

Mrs. Bennison was a passenger in the Hope car, according to police.

Innocent Plea To Drug Possession

A felony charge of possessing marijuana and hashish against Michael James De Shane, 23, of Mill Valley, was reduced to a misdemeanor charge yesterday by Judge Robert A. Smallman of Marin Municipal Court.

Smallman reduced the charge following a preliminary hearing and decided not to hold De Shane for trial on the felony charge in superior court.

De Shane then pleaded innocent to the misdemeanor charge and a pretrial conference was set for Nov. 24.

He was arrested July 23 when Sausalito police stopped his car on Bridgeway because the vehicle had no headlights. While De Shane searched in the glove compartment for the vehicle's registration, an officer spotted a partially smoked marijuana cigarette in the ash tray, police said.

Officers said a search revealed two pieces of hashish in De Shane's possession.

Injured Worker Is 'Satisfactory'

A 21-year-old Novato man who suffered severe facial injuries in an industrial accident at a Novato feed mill was reported in satisfactory condition today at Novato General Hospital.

Melvin Sjoblom of 1891 Marion Avenue suffered a shattered jaw and lost numerous teeth Tuesday at the H. Pini and Co. feed mill at 730 DeLong Avenue. The mishap occurred shortly after 9 a.m.

Special Closed-Door Session Tomorrow

The Cotati City Council will meet in a special closed-door session at 7:30 p.m. today to air complaints arising from differences between City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen and Police Chief Tony Locarini.

The council held a similar session last month. Locarini reportedly is looking for another job.

Marinite Named To Salary Drive

Mrs. Ronald W. Tennler of 122 Bretano Way, Greenbrae, has been appointed Marin County chairman for Assemblyman Floyd L. Wakefield's initiative effort.

The Republican assemblyman of Los Angeles has circulated petitions around the state in order to get 520,806 valid signatures to place a constitutional amendment on the ballot. His measure would lower the recent legislative pay increase by 25 per cent and return to the people the right to vote on any future increases.

Railroad Legislation Moves To Congress

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Transportation Department has sent legislation to Congress under which railroads would be allowed to adjust their freight rates up or down within a certain margin, without asking for specific government approval.

The legislation also would allow railroads, without government approval, to abandon branch lines which are "detrimental to the restoration of their financial health." Transportation Secretary John A. Volpe said revisions were needed in "increasingly outdated economic regulatory laws and procedures which constrain all modes of transportation."

Living Cost Hikes Due Recipients

Cost-of-living increases totaling about $9,400 per month have been approved for 1,873 welfare recipients in Marin, the state Department of Social Welfare has announced.

The increases, effective Dec. 1, will be granted to most persons receiving Old Age Security and aid to the disabled and blind grants.

The increases amount to $5 per month for those receiving Old Age Security and Aid to the Disabled and $6. per month for those receiving Aid to the Blind.

According to Donald M. Sanford, assistant director of social services in Marin, the increases have been granted only to persons living in their own homes or apartments.

Those living in convalescent homes, for instance, will not get the increase, he said.

Some 1,100 persons living on Old Age Security are eligible for the increase, he said, as are 732 on Aid to the Disabled and 40 on Aid to the Blind.

About 472,000 persons throughout California will receive the cost-of-living hike.

Jupiter And Venus Virtually Invisible

By SHERMAN WALKER

The moon has started on its last-quarter phase. On Sunday Jupiter and Venue are about a degree apart although both are far beyond the sun and virtually invisible to us at this time.

Mercury is also apparently quite near the sun. That is, they are in the same line of sight from earth and the same applies to Uranus. On Nov. 14, too, the moon passes 6 degrees south of Uranus. This is quite a gathering of planets near or rather in the same direction as the sun.

The moon is new on Nov. 17. On Nov. 19 the moon passes 5 degrees south of Jupiter, and on the same day it passes both Venus and Mercury. All this would be a joy to watch except that it takes place pretty close to the sun. You might be able to watch some of it in the early twilight in the western sky if you are a good observer.

On Nov. 23 Mercury is at its greatest apparent distance from the sun, and there is a chance you might see it in the evening twilight in the western sky.

The moon enters its first-quarter phase on Nov. 25, and on the same date Neptune is in conjunction with the sun and Saturn is at opposition. This means that Neptune is on the other side of the sun from us and Saturn and the sun are on opposite sides of the earth also, Saturn rises as the sun sets.

The moon passes 5 degrees north of Mars on Nov. 26 and is at perigee on Nov. 30.

Pacifists Arrested At White House

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Between 100 and 150 demonstrators, wearing paper coolie hats and the names of Vietnamese civilian casualties, were arrested Tuesday after they flopped down on a White House driveway when a guard refused to let them through the gate.

The demonstrators, representing several pacifist groups, handed out leaflets saying "The President is selling a program of ever increasing death to the American people —a program of Asian death in place of American casualties."

Tougher Pollution Standards For New Cars Clears The Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation imposing tougher pollution standards for new cars sold in California than would be required under proposed federal standards was passed today by the Assembly.

The measure by Sen. Nicholas C. Petris, D-Oakland, was sent to the Senate for concurrence in Assembly amendments on a 44-10 vote.

The new standards, which are stricter than those being studied by the federal Environmental Protection Agency under the Clean Air Act, would apply to new cars sold in California after 1975.

The state would need a federal waiver to impose them.

Assemblyman Wadie P. Deddeh, D-Chula Vista, floor sponsor of the bill, said the stricter state standards were "essential and necessary."

"They will say to the nation and the world that we mean serious business," Deddeh said.

But Assemblyman Peter F. Schabarum, R-Covina, argued that the new regulations "have not been tested from the standpoint of whether or not they can be met."

California, he said "has moved too slowly for some, but nevertheless has done a creditable job."

He said the Assembly should not pass a bill "simply arbitrarily establishing standards" which may not be technically possible.

"I think we're going to end up with egg on our face," he said.

Assembly Panel Kills School Financing Bill

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly Ways and Means Committee Tuesday killed a $6 billion school finance bill designed to equalize education spending between rich and poor school districts.

The measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, was defeated on a split voice vote during an informal meeting of the committee in the Assembly lounge.

Greene told the committee he only wanted to bring the bill to the Assembly floor for debate and did "not intend for this measure to become law."

He said he would put the bill on the inactive file after the debate so that legislators would not have to vote on it.

But Assemblyman Robert Badham, R-Newport Beach, objected, saying it would be a "poor precedent" to send the bill to the floor with no intention of having a vote on it.

Greene's bill was designed to meet the problem posed by the recent state Supreme Court decision which held that California's system for financing schools was unconstitutional because it relied too heavily on local property taxes.

The measure would impose a statewide property tax of $3.50 per $100 assessed valuation. The money would be collected by the state and returned to local districts. Each district would receive the same amount per child regardless of the local property tax base.

Greene said he wanted the Assembly to debate the proposal so that "the people of California would have the maximum opportunity to know what's in our minds."

"We've got to get this thing going. This is an overwhelming problem," he told the committee.

After the vote, Greene said he had not expected the committee to send the bill to the floor but warned that "time is being wasted."

He said the Supreme Court decision presented an "intolerable situation" which the legislature should attempt to solve as soon as possible.

Nationalist China Will Pick President

TAIPEI (UPI) —The National Assembly announced that it will meet next February for the election of Nationalist China's president.

President Chiang Kai-shek's fourth six-year term expires May 20 next year. He has not said whether he will seek his fifth consecutive term but is likely to be urged to remain in office.

Israel Bond Issue Beaten In Assembly

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Assembly yesterday turned back "urgency" legislation that would allow California savings and loan associations to immediately buy bonds from Israel.

"This amounts to literally taking sides in an international dispute," protested Assemblyman Frank Murphy, R-Santa Cruz. "It is not up to us to be messing in these things."

The bill by Assemblyman Walter Karabian, D-Monterey Park, was denied passage on a 39-18 vote. It needed at least 54.

Although the measure was beaten back, Karabian received permission to try for passage again later.

The vote actually occurred on the measure's "urgency" clause which would allow it to take effect immediately upon passage by the legislature and signature by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

An identical bill was approved earlier and signed by the governor but it can't take effect until 60 days after the current legislature adjourns, and no one's taking bets on when that will be.

Karabian noted if the "urgency" bill passes then the California savings and loan firms could start investing in Israel bonds immediately instead of waiting.

Murphy called passage of the first bill a "grievous error" because, among other things, it gave "Preferential treatment to Israel."

"We don't allow them to invest their money in Mexican bonds," he said. "Israel is one of the shakiest nations in the whole world because of its international situation. What security is there for an investor?"

Manson Friend Is Sentenced To Die

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Steve (Glem) Grogan, 20, is the seventh member of the Charles Manson cult to be sentenced to first-degree murder.

The same Superior Court jury that convicted Grogan returned a verdict of death Monday for the decapitation of movie stuntman Donald (Shorty) Shea, whose body has not been found.

SPORT NOTES

Gomez Left Talking In Long Road Tour

By RALPH CHATOIAN

Today he left for Salinas and a speaking engagement and Saturday he'll be in Visalia. The day after Thanksgiving, he'll be in Scottsdale, Ariz. for a major-minor league baseball meeting. He'll be in Mexico during the Christmas holidays. Then there'll be Miami Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Wichita, Kan., Dallas, Houston, Chicago, Whew!

A public relations representative for Wilson Sporting Goods, Lefty is in demand as a dinner speaker and logs about 100,000 miles of travel a year.

"I remember when I'd come over here to play baseball," Lefty recalled about his early days before becoming a professional star. "We used to play in Tomales, San Rafael, or maybe Two Rock, (in Petaluma). It sure took a long time to get from place to place on those old roads."

It seems everytime you run into Lefty he can give you a column item that's new. One was: "Did you know Del Webb once played baseball in Novato? Just look at him now." Or "My wife was in show business. She used to dance with Sen. George Murphy." Lefty's wife, is a former Broadway musical star whose name then was June O'Dea.

"She did a lot of traveling when she was in show business," said Lefty, "and I did a lot of traveling playing baseball, so all this traveling isn't new. My wife goes with me on some of the trips now."

Lefty won 189 games and lost 102 during his major league career. He started in five of the early All-Star games, including the first one in Chicago in 1933 when he won his first of three victories. He also was in seven World Series games and had a series record of 6 wins and no losses. Four times he went over the 20-win mark and twice led the American League in earned run average and three times led the league in strikeouts.

So I guess you would have to say he was a pretty fair pitcher.

THE BIG FOOTBALL game of the year for Drake High will take place tomorrow, 12:15 p.m., on the school field. It's the annual Powder Puff game, pitting frosh-soph girls against the junior-senior gals, one of the major parts of Spirit Week at the San Anselmo school. More than 100 girls wanted to play but only 32 can be used. Doing the coaching will be Bob Maher and Mike Collins for the frosh-soph team and Mike Convis the junior-seniors.

DRAKE HIGH'S athletic director, Carl Brown, has retired from the North Bay Officials Association for the second time, and word has it that the dean of Marin County officials, Dick Curry, is thinking of retiring from the striped shirt corps. Dick has been officiating North Bay area games for 30 years but has been bothered with a bad back of late.

SAN RAFAEL TIED

Drake Pirates Grab Soccer Lead

Tamalpais held San Rafael to a 1-1 tie yesterday, enabling Drake High School to take over undisputed possession of the lead for the first time in the Marin County Athletic League soccer race.

Drake shut out Terra Linda, 3-0. In other MCAL action, Redwood downed Novato, 2-0, and Marin Catholic defeated San Marin, 2-1.

Adalpho Flores scored a goal in the waning minutes to enable San Rafael to salvage its tie with Tam. The underdog Indians had scored earlier on a goal by Ty Barbour.

Steve Casalnuovo recorded two goals and Doug Harnsberger one as Drake blanked upset-minded Terra Linda. The victory gave Drake a 10-1-2 record for 22 points, one ahead of San Rafael, which is 9-1-3 for 21. Two points are awarded for a victory and one for a tie.

The regular season concludes with a full slate of games Friday. Unless Drake is ahead by three or more points after Friday's play, the Pirates will meet San Rafael Monday in a replay of their disputed 0-0 Oct. 1 tie.

The dispute arose when a San Rafael player was suspended for use of obscene language in the second quarter. Official Henry Landauer, applying international rules, forced San Rafael to play the remainder of the game with 10 men instead of the usual 11.

The MCAL has a newly adopted rule which permits another player to enter the game in situations like that. San Rafael protested, so if the game affects league standings, it will be replayed.

Francisco del Valle and Shariar Sarabi did the scoring for Redwood against Novato, and Dave Stacey scored twice for Marin Catholic.

The standings:

	W-L-T	Pts.
Drake	10-1-2	22
San Rafael	9-1-3	21
Redwood	7-3-3	17
Terra Linda	5-4-4	14
Novato	5-8-0	10
Tamalpais	3-8-2	8
Marin Catholic	3-9-1	7
San Marin	3-9-1	7

FOR TITLE

San Rafael Needs Win

The entire season comes down to a single game.

When San Rafael and Novato high schools vie Saturday at 1 p.m., the Marin County Athletic League football championship will be decided.

The host Novatans already own a share of the title and a win Saturday would wrap up an undisputed crown. A San Rafael victory would make both teams champions.

"It's really going to be a hard hitting game. At least, I know we're going to go out there hitting," Novato coach Al Scott promised.

This settles well with San Rafael, because the Bulldogs know they, too, must come out aggressively. The Red and White have the tools to bump off Novato's Hornets. The Bulldogs approach this contest determined to test the Hornets' heralded rushing defense headed by linemen Russ Weklych, Rick Reis and Pat Karinen.

The visitors' attack centers around All-League halfback Scott Duncan and his sidekicks Mark Farrar, Dirk Gansloser, Dave Urquhart and Jim Grigg. This unit ran roughshod over all but Redwood in quest of a title. Duncan, a gifted breakaway runner with the strength to flatten tacklers, is the key. To date, no team has contained him. In fact, Redwood claims it beat San Rafael by conceding Duncan some 187 yards while shutting off his colleagues.

However, only the powerful Giants have accomplished this feat, because the San Rafael supporting cast is outstanding. Farrar, a hard-nosed fullback, has also broken off several long runs, including two against tough Terra Linda. When joining Duncan in the backfield, the pair has been almost unstoppable. Each can go inside and out with great dexterity, compounding defensive woes.

Yet, if there is a team capable of shutting off this terrific duo, it is Novato. The Hornets are notoriously poor hosts to visiting ball carriers. In fact, Reis, Weklych and Karinen are nothing short of being rude when slamming down halfbacks. They are joined by ends Jeff Eisenhauer and Greg Straw in turning in rushing plays.

Offensively, the Hornets are equally endowed with talent. The Black and Gold tackles have Weklych and Dean Palmer available to open holes for a host of running backs led by Leo Magers. Magers, an exciting runner with great moves, is Scott's top dasher. Terry Johnson and Ed Harris are two other excellent ball toters.

Although their ground game is explosive, the passing assault bulwarks the offense. All-League quarterback Marty Moroski directs aerial circus. He throws long, short and often to ends Joe Robinson, Straw, Charley Chung, Greg Lash, Joe Powell and Magers. Magers is generally the recipient of screen tosses geared to spring him into a one-on-one situation with a less agile linebacker.

Conversely, San Rafael has unveiled its air might lately. When the situation dictates, quarterback Gansloser crosses up the defenses with crisp, short passes to his backs or end Duke Bessee.

Bessee is also a vital cog in coach Bob Muster's defensive plans. The 6-foot-3 senior stead-

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Joe Torre Gets MVP Selection

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Joe Torre vows that he never again will go near those starchy foods that he learned to like as a boy in Brooklyn.

Victoria Torre gave her son a fine Italian upbringing and sent him into manhood with more weight than he needed. But Torre, now 31, trimmed off the fat with a protein-and-water diet last winter and he credits the weight loss with being responsible in great part for his winning the Most Valuable Player award in the National League.

"My good year was coupled with my weight loss," Torre said. "I'm going to stay away from the starchy foods and eat only one piece of bread a week."

Torre's selection as the league's MVP was announced Tuesday by the Baseball Writers Association of America. The St. Louis Cardinal third baseman received 21 of 24 first-place votes for a total of 318 points. Willie Stargell of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates was the runnerup with the other three first-place votes and 222 points. Atlanta's Hank Aaron was third with 180 points.

NHL Commences Hockey Joust; Adds In Atlanta, Long Island

NEW YORK (UPI) —In an apparent effort to strike the first blow in its budding war against the World Hockey Association, the National Hockey League has discarded its own timetable for growth and will expand to 16 teams next season with the additions of Atlanta and Long Island.

NHL President Clarence Campbell admitted Tuesday night, after announcing the decision to expand, that he originally had set a 1974 target for expansion.

"But the Board of Governors have reassessed their position and think it is in the best interests to do it now," he said. Asked if the recent formation of the WHA had anything to do with the hasty reappraisal, the typically candid Campbell replied, "I don't suppose it's a coincidence but we have had these applications on hand."

In addition to Atlanta and Long Island next season, the NHL said it would take on another two teams for the 1974-75 campaign. Among the candidates for those franchises are Baltimore, Cleveland, Kansas City, Washington, D.C., Indianapolis, San Diego, Seattle, Portland and Denver.

Coming at a time when even the first six expansion teams admitted to the NHL in 1967 haven't yet achieved a true parity with the older clubs, plus the intention of the WHA to begin business in 10 cities next season, there is certain to be a woeful drain on player talent. In fact, California Seals' owner Charles Finley was against this early expansion partly because of the players he will lose in the draft.

JOE AMALFITANO

Ex-Giant Returns As Fox Assistant

PHOENIX, Ariz. (UPI)—Joe Amalfitano is back in Giants flannels today.

Amalfitano, who played for the Giants three different times, joined them as a coach today and starts out on his first assignment with manager Charlie Fox.

The two are here for the opening of the Winter Instructional League. The Giants have a club in the league, which will play 40 games, with a roster filled out by its most promising youngsters.

"The chance to work with all these fine kids had a lot to do with my decision to rejoin the Giants," Amalfitano said of his return. "Mr. (owner Horace) Stoneham talked to me about coming back last week and I jumped at the chance."

Amalfitano, who first signed with the Giants in 1954 for a substantial bonus, gave up a job as first base coach under Leo Durocher and the Chicago Cubs to come back with San Francisco. He'll hold down the same job for Fox, taking over the spot left vacant when Wes Westrum quit as a full-time coach to work as a scout for the Giants.

Westrum, who spent all but three of his 31 years in baseball with the Giants as a player and coach, asked to be relieved of his coaching duties so that he could spend more time with his family.

Amalfitano's signing still leaves the Giants without a pitching coach following the dismissal last week of Larry Jansen. The betting is that Don McMahon will fill the spot and will continue to pitch as well at least for another season.

San Francisco 49ers Prove Defense Can Win

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The San Francisco 49ers are proving that defense wins ball games.

While the offense has been sputtering, the 49ers still lead the National Conference West division and the defensive unit can take most of the credit. In eight games, San Francisco has shut off four teams without a touchdown through the air and have given up an average of less than 128 yards a game through the air.

And the defensive secondary, once considered a 49er weak spot, is largely responsible for that record.

"You don't compile a record like that without the personnel," said 49ers defensive backfield coach Don Heinrich. "Name a club with defensive backs the caliber of cornerbacks Jimmy Johnson and Bruce Taylor and safeties Mel Phillips and Rosey Taylor.

"There are few better," Heinrich said. "I know. I've seen practically all of them."

Basketball Clinic For Officials Set

San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department will hold a basketball officials clinic tonight at 7:30 at San Rafael High School.

There are still openings for officials in the adult program, according to recreation supervisor Ralph Dannenberg, with pay ranging from $15 to $18 per three-hour night.

FINALE FRIDAY

Petaluma-Cougars Vie

Pride will be on the line when two Sonoma County football rivals renew warfare in the finale Friday evening at 8 o'clock.

At that time, Petaluma High School will host the Sonoma County League champions, Rancho Cotate of Rohnert Park, in an expected offensive show.

Passing sensation Steve Wlodarczyk leads the undefeated Cougars. The Rancho Cotate quarterback has connected on 91 of 145 passes for 1,404 yards and 15 touchdowns. He has thrown only seven interceptions, while completing 62.8 per cent of his tosses. Wlodarczyk's favorite target is flankerback Mike Cooper. Although not endowed with blinding speed, Cooper has managed to snare 40 tosses for 751 yards and 12 scores. Rod Logue, Ray Jones and Frank Garretts round out a capable receiving corps.

Though the air might is awesome, coach Claude Brock insists on utilizing a balanced attack. This means giving the ball off to the Cougar's sensational runner Bob Murray. The speedy back has ripped off an 80-yard run enroute to churning out 1,081 yards on 158 bursts. He has compiled a 6.8 rushing norm and 10 six-pointers.

Much of Murray's success can be attributed to an offensive line which features tackle Frank Mattern plus junior guards Mike Montoya and Dave Codiroli. This trio has been instrumental in keeping Wlodarczyk from suffering the ignominy of being dumped while trying to pass.

However, a determined Petaluma delegation is capable of marring the Rancho Cotate pass protection record, not to mention its unbeaten log. The Trojans have an outstanding middle linebacker in Al Bettman.

Three-year veteran Dan Cadder, 6-foot-4, 220-pounds, bulwarks the offensive and defensive lines. Quarterbacks Ken Griffith, a runner, and Steve Crawford, a passer, take turns barking signals in the ground-oriented Purple and White attack. Mike Masselli and fullback Bob Gillis are the top Trojan backfield performers. Masselli is rated the county's best sophomore halfback, while Gillis is considered a powerful ball toter with good balance.

Rod, Car Show To Start Friday At Cow Palace

The first annual International Rod and Custom Car Show will be held at the Cow Palace in San Francisco Friday through Sunday.

Hundreds of hot rods, customs, drag racers and sports cars will be exhibited along the antiques, dune buggies and other vehicles.

The event will display a number of one-of-a-kind cars like George Barris' "AMX-400," Ray Fahrner's "Boothill Express," Darryl Starbird's "Banana T," and Carl Casper's "San Francisco Trolly Coach." There will also be a Queen's Contest, music from several rock bands and an appearance by auto beauty queen Linda Vaughn.

Show times are 5-11 p.m. Friday and noon-11 p.m. Saturday and Sunday. Tickets may be purchased at the Cow Palace box office.

TARS HOST MEET

Marin Runners: Team To Beat

The cloud of confusion which has covered Camino Norte Conference cross-country this season should be lifted Saturday, when College of Marin Tars host the league meet at 11 a.m. at Lagunitas Lake.

Three teams stand an excellent chance of winning the meet — the Tars, West Valley Junior College of Campbell and Santa Rosa Junior College. De Anza is rated as a dark horse threat.

West Valley was unbeaten in dual meets against CNC foes, but edged second-place Marin by only one point, 28-29, in their confrontation. Marin lost to nobody else but was scared by Santa Rosa, 28-29. In an invitational meet, both Santa Rosa and Marin beat West Valley.

"The conference has never been stronger," said Marin coach Tony Bailey. "We feel that our top four teams are among the top ten in northern California. This is certainly the best team we've had at College of Marin."

Marin figures to have the individual winner in Mike Arago, who is unbeaten in dual meets and never lower than fifth in invitationals. He holds the record for the 3.9-mile Lagunitas course, 20:37.

The secret to winning in cross-country, however, is not top individuals but "grouping" — having several runners finish high up. "Both West Valley and Santa Rosa group well," said Bailey, "and we have to hope that some runners from other schools get in there to break up their groups."

Television Sports: A Booming Business

From time to time the television industry is criticized for studio produced turkeys. And there has been criticism of TV in other areas, such as insufficient educational programs for children. But there is one area where TV does a superb job for at least one segment of the populace — sports.

Competition among the three national networks brought this about, not altruism. Sports have been good to television. And, of course, television has been good to sports, particularly pro football. College football hasn't exactly suffered from its TV relationship.

ASIDE FROM the $65 million a year the three networks pay for the privilege of televising pro and college football games, TV does a unique service for football fans with instant replays and stop action flashbacks.

Techniques developed by TV in covering the fast-moving action on a football field have aided armchair strategists in a deeper understanding of the game.

Before the days of the isolated camera and split screen, the average football fan saw only the start and finish of a pass play. Now, not one but two isolated cameras provide instant replays of receivers running pass patterns, sometimes criss-crossing or flooding a defensive zone. There even are flashbacks to show what happened to the quarterback after he released the pass.

POWER SWEEPS on ground plays similarly have been stripped of all complexities by stop-action flashbacks of a guard pulling out of the line to lead interference for the ball carrier. Football fans were well aware of the mechanics of a power sweep but only saw them from start to finish recently.

Instant replays also give immediate approval or disapproval of close calls by officials on out-of-bounds or in-bounds pass catches at the sidelines. And the replays often, but not always, will show holding or pushing infractions called, but not always, by officials.

SO WHILE THE television industry deserves some of the criticism it gets in other areas, it is entitled to a bow for its football coverage. But the ever-increasing cost of TV rights to pro and college games has resulted in ever-increasing headaches for the industry.

"If we dropped pro football our affiliates would crucify us," says William C. MacPhail, vice president of CBS TV sports. "This thing has got to level off or our stockholders will start screaming."

"The prices we pay for telecast rights are valid only in relation to each other," says Roone Arledge, president of ABC sports. "Since antitrust laws won't let the networks talk with each other about prices for certain events, we have to go in swinging with the biggest dollar we dare to spend so the competition doesn't cream us. It's absurd, but we're trapped."

Cleveland Indians Select Aspromonte

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Ken Aspromonte was named manager of the Cleveland Indians Tuesday and he said his top job will be to "motivate the team" to recover from its second worst season in history.

"Last year the team last 102 games and I will have to motivate the team," Aspromonte said. "There is a lot of talent on this ball club and all it needs is a little experience.

"I believe I have had the experience to manage in the big leagues because I have worked with the Cleveland players for the last four years."

Aspromonte, 40, a former Indians infielder, has managed Cleveland's Class AAA Wichita farm club the past two seasons, He succeeds Johnny Lipon, who rose to the managership in mid summer when Alvin Dark was fired. Under Dark and Lipon, the Indians had a 60-102 record, their worst since 1914.

As manager of the Wichita Aeros, Aspromonte guided his players to a third place finish in the western division last season.

KEN ASPROMONTE
Cleveland manager

The year before, the Aeros finished fourth. Wichita and the Indians severed their working agreement at the end of the 1971 season.

Aspromonte's other managerial experience in the Cleveland organization includes a stint at Reno in the Class A League in California in 1969 and the Indians' Sarasota team in the Gulf Coast Rookie League in 1968.

Indians president and general manager Gabe Paul announced the signing of Aspromonte as manager and said, "We hope this is the first of many one-year contracts."

According to the new manager, one of the "bright spots for the future" is Cleveland's pitching staff. He also labeled third baseman Graig Nettles, first baseman Chris Chambliss, catcher Ray Fosse and newly acquired outfielder Alex Johnson as the "strength" of the team.

"As far as trades go, many, teams are interested in the players I mentioned, plus Sam McDowell," Aspromonte said, "But I have no plans right now about trades."

Paul said he selected Aspromonte for the job because, "I feel he knows the players and has proven he can handle a ball team."

Player Picks U.S. To Win World Cup Golf Tourney

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—South Africa's favorite golfer and horse fancier, Gary Player, is offering good odds on the outcome of the 19th World Cup golf tournament.

He figured the United States team of Jack Nicklaus and Lee Trevino is almost unbeatable.

"They're outright favorites," said Player, who is trying to attract the international tournament to South Africa in 1973. "I'd lay 8-to-1 that they win it."

Even Trevino, after a round on the PGA national golf club's water-logged east course, was less than modest.

"I'm going to tell you he (Nicklaus) is going to be a tough man to beat this week," he said. "If I play anyway near decent there is no reason we shouldn't win."

And Trevino added, "I think I have a chance at the individual honors with that small ball."

Trevino, who has already this year won the U.S., Canadian, and British Opens, was referring to the World Cup rules which gives the golfer the option of using the standard-sized American ball or a smaller one used primarily in Britain.

He feels most will use the small ball because it drives straighter and putts easier.

The two balls weigh the same but the English ball is slightly smaller in diameter.

Two-man teams from 46 nations tee off Thursday in the international tournament, returning to the U.S. mainland for the first time in 16 years. Nicklaus and Trevino were in a pro-am foursome today with comedians Bob Hope and Jackie Gleason.

Ralston Reveals Coaching Ploys

Ralston told the Northern California Sportswriters luncheon Tuesday that the Indians, who clinched a Rose Bowl berth last Saturday by defeating UCLA, 20-9, were always "willing to work hard.

"I always felt they could beat anyone when they got their minds together," he said. "That seems a big part of coaching nowadays."

But Ralston hedged a bit when asked to compare this year's team to the squad that upset Ohio State in the Jan. 1 classic last season.

"It's hard to say because the personalities of the players differ and so does the character of the team," he said. "But this year's players have a wonderful attitude."

Coach Dewey King of San Jose State, Stanford's opponent in Saturday's game at Palo Alto, obviously expects a tough contest, even though the Spartans are coming off a 45-7 upset of San Diego State.

"They have a quarterback who can come up with the big play and they've just won one of the toughest leagues in the country," King said. "We will show up for the game."

Two linebackers from Stanford and San Jose State shared honors for major college defensive player of the week. The Indians' Jeff Siemon was selected by the writers for his 23 tickets against UCLA. The Spartans' Bill Brown was picked for his 15 unassisted stops, six assists, a fumble recovery and three sackings of the quarterback.

MOLLER STUNS HUTTON

Redwood High Harriers Lead Qualifiers For Division III

Redwood High School's Jan-Eric Moller and Mike Killeen pulled an upset by defeating Novato's Don Hutton yesterday in the Marin County Athletic League cross-country meet at Bon Tempe Lake.

Top finishers at the meet qualified for the Division III meet in Vallejo tomorrow at 3:30 p.m. The four qualifying teams were Redwood, San Rafael, Novato and Terra Linda. One individual not on a top team also qualified: Gary Lathrop of San Marin.

Hutton was unbeaten in dual meets this year and had bested Moller and Killeen in the Redwood-Novato confrontation. But this time he was 20 seconds behind the winner, as Moller set a new record of 15:39 for the 2.9-mile course. Lathrop was fourth and Doug Green of San Rafael fifth.

Among the frosh-soph runners, Redwood's Kevin Glasner set a course record for 1.8 miles, 8:06, to lead the pack. Pete Demarais of Redwood was second, Tony Biancalana of Tamalpais third, Tom Stibich of San Rafael fourth and Tom Murk of Redwood fifth.

John Ladd of Redwood was the individual winner and Drake the team champion in junior varsity. The JVs do not send anybody to Division III.

The top finishers at Division III will continue on to the North coast Sectional meet Nov. 17.

Team point totals:

FROSH-SOPH — Redwood 28, San Rafael 50, Tamalpais 59, Drake 90.

ies a "pit" which also has the Lechners, John and Bill, backed by Dirk Correnti.

Duncan is the secondary ace and works with Jeff White, Urquhart and Grigg to give San Rafael anti-pass protection.

Novato has some rugged pass defenders to speak of in Tom Conklin and the Renniers, Mike and John. All have had moments of stardom against MCAL rivals this year.

Since both teams enjoy comparable defensive and offensive components, it is not surprising that each is gifted with fine place kicking. San Rafael has an exceedingly accurate booter in Rick Klarkowski, while Novato owns the reliable toe of Bob Cooper.

The pair work well under pressure, if Cooper's 41-yard field goal earlier this year is any indication.

With so much at stake, small wonder that a capacity crowd is expected to witness this battle scheduled for KTIM's live coverage.

Seattle Seeks Pyrrhic Victory In War With American League

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—If Seattle wins the first round in its suit against the American League it will take some of the blame off the backs of its politicians, but it will never bring back the baseball Pilots.

The city, King County and the state of Washington are fighting to have their suit against the American League heard in a state cgurt and if they win that tussle there yet may be redress for a domed stadium bond issue.

Seattle went to the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals Tuesday in an effort to have a lower court order turned over. A ruling by the appeals court is not expected for at leat a week or 10 days.

The American Laague also is in the fight on the appeals court level and if it wins then there is a good chance the league will get off scott free.

That's the score as of today while a three-man appeals court panel ponders the jurisdictional question.

The American League is hoping to have the case heard in a federal court because baseball then would have precedent on its side. When Milwaukee sought to keep its baseball Braves from moving to Atlanta it won on the state level only to be over-turned by the U.S. Supreme Court. However, in that case Milwaukee wanted to keep its franchise.

Warriors Surge Past Houston By 16

Attles can afford to say things like that because the Warriors are sailing along with a 10-4 record, their fastest National Basketball Association start since coming to the West Coast in 1962.

Tuesday night the Warriors downed Houston, 115-99, coming back from a 57-48 halftime deficit, to remain 1-2 game behind the Los Angeles Lakers in the Pacific division.

The Warriors were outshot by the sagging Houston team, which lost its 12th game compared to two wins, until Cazzie Russell and Nate Thurmond sparked a third quarter outburst with a combined total of 21 points.

Russell, who has added needed firepower to the club since being acquired in a trade with New York, hit only one of nine shots in the first half, but pumped in 10 of 19 in the second half.

Thurmond, too, was cold in the first half, hitting on two of six tries, but came back to sink four of eight in the second half.

Russell topped the Warriors with 23 points and Clyde Lee pulled down a game-high of 27 rebounds.

California Seals Leave For 7-Game Road Swing

OAKLAND (UPI) —The California Golden Seals, playing at an unusual winning pace in the National Hockey League, leave today on a seven-game road tour that begins Thursday night against Boston.

The Seals have a 5-6 record for the young NHL season, and after Sunday's 8-1 spanking of Toronto occupied third place in the West division—a spot they haven't attained since 1968.

After Thursday's game, the Seals continue the road trip Saturday against St. Louis followed by a Sunday game against Chicago. They return home Nov. 24 and play Detroit.

BOATING

By STAN DAVIES

Federal Regulation May Increase Costs

It is apparent now that the Federal Boat Safety Act of 1971, which became law in August, will tend to raise the cost of boating. Maybe not much, but it's certain that the potential for manufacturers' and dealers' costs to increase is there.

For the first time, the law makes a manufacturer directly responsible for meeting federal safety standards. A dealer also comes under this obligation if he installs any additional equipment on a boat to which the federal standards apply.

Even if nothing else changes, a manufacturer must of necessity increase inspections of his products if his responsibilities to the consumer are greater. By the same token a dealer must take greater care with everything he does if his liability is greater.

Standards for all materials, equipment, and gadgetry that goes into a boat are now being developed by the Coast Guard in co-operation with the industry and public representatives. Actually, many of the standards are already in effect by the boating industry, but there are bound to be some changes.

Any new standards are almost certain to be higher and more demanding. This again will increase costs.

The new law, although little understood by most boat owners, has focused much more attention on boat safety. Many of the questions we've been asked this fall indicate this.

Q. What particular materials, or facet of boat building, will come under new standards first?

A. Rear Admiral Austin C. Wagner, the Coast Guard's boating safety chief says the first thing to come under scrutiny will be safe loading and powering of small pleasure boats. Specific standards and limits will be set on how much weight and how much power any given boat can carry.

Q. Will boat trailers be included in the standards? For instance will turn signals be required?

A. Trailers do not come under provisions of the Boat Safety Act. But already most states require turn indicators on trailers of recent manufacture under highway traffic laws.

Q. I am told that in the future all boats will have the steering wheel on the right hand side, for better visibility in the "danger zone" because boats approaching from the right have right of way.

A. I'm sorry I can't find out whether this has been considered to date. But it's obviously such a good idea that I'm sure it will be given some thought after this.

NBA ROUNDUP

Smallest Buck Aids Triumph

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Guard Jon McGlocklin may be the smallest player on the Milwaukee Bucks' starting five but he made a big contribution Tuesday night.

McGlocklin hit a free throw and a basket in the last 22 seconds to preserve the Bucks' 118-113 victory over the Phoenix Suns. Kareem Jabbar scored 44 points to lead the Milwaukee attack but it was McGlocklin who came through when Phoenix made its biggest threat.

Dick Van Arsdale and Paul Silas teamed to bring the Suns to within two points at 115-113, but McGlocklin hit a free throw with 22 seconds left and scored again with eight seconds to go after Bobby Dandridge stole the ball from the Suns' Clem Haskins.

Connie Hawkins led the Suns with 28 points and Van Arsdale added 22.

In other National Basketball Association action, Los Angeles ripped Chicago 122-109 and Buffalo downed Portland 109-100.

Emmette Bryant scored 12 of his 13 points in the last period as Buffalo downed the Trail Blazers. Bob Kauffman had 30 points for the Braves while Sidney Wicks led Portland with 34.

Bob Moore, Jackson Lead Pac-8 Runners

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Just 13 little yards separate Oregon's Bobby Moore and Bernard Jackson of Washington State in their battle for Pacific Eight rushing honors.

Moore has carried for 1115 yards and Jackson for 1102 so that both men are guaranteed 100-yard plus rushing averages in this 11-game season.

Meanwhile, latest statistics also show, that Stanford's Don Bunce not only holds on to his Pacific Eight total offense lead with 222.1 yards per game, but has also passed up season-long leader Sonny Sixkiller of Washington in the passing statistics with a 204.8 average to 196.4 for the Huskies' Indian star.

Jackson is the scoring leader with 72 points while Stanford kicker Rod Garcia has 64 and Moore, trying for a remarkable third straight conference title, has 60.

California's Geoff DeLapp has moved into a tie with Oregon's Leland Glass with 41 catches apiece. Glass is battling injuries.

Stanford's Benny Barnes picked off two UCLA aerials last week in the Indians' Rose Bowl clinching victory and now shares the conference interception lead with seven.

In team figures, Stanford's champs are tops in team defense (246.8) and pass defense (112.1) while Washington State leads in total offense (387.4) and rushing (271.4). Washington leads the other two major categories, rushing defense (120.7) and passing offense (251.1).

Mark Binstein Gets Pittsburgh Moving

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Mark Binstein may not have much coaching experience but he's got the Pittsburgh Condors on the right track.

Binstein, the Condor's general manager, took over as head coach last week when Jack McMahon was fired. Though his only experience has been as a freshman coach in college, Binstein seems to have found the winning formula for the Condors.

Pittsburgh surged to its third victory in four games under Binstein Tuesday night when the Condors stunned the Indiana Pacers 133-123. George Thompson had 33 points and John Brisker added as Pittsburgh evened its record at 77.

The Pacers scored the first eight points of the second half but Pittsburgh bounced back with 10 consecutive points to take the lead for keeps.

Rick Mount led Indiana with 27 points and George McGinnis added 26.

In other American Basketball Association play, the Kentucky Colonels beat the Denver Rockets 106-96 and the Utah Stars downed the Memphis Pros 93-90 in a doubleheader at Memphis and the Dallas Chaprrals edged the New York Nets 90-86.

Cincy Powell scored 37 points to lift the Colonels past Denver. Kentucky trailed by as many as 19 points in the first half before Artis Gilmore and Dan Issel sparked a second half rally. Ralph Simpson led the Rockets with 28.

JERRY WILLIAMS

Former Eagles' Boss Hired By Cleveland

CLEVELAND (UPI)—Jerry Williams, fired last month as head coach of the Philadelphia Eagles, was hired by the Cleveland Browns Tuesday as an assistant coach in charge of the passing offense.

Browns owner Art Modell said Coach Nick Skorich asked that Williams be hired to fill the post left vacant by the death of Howard Keys three weeks ago. Skorich and Williams were together once before when Skorich coached the Eagles.

Skorich said having Williams in charge of the passing attack will give himself more time to concentrate on the overall coaching of the team. Mike Nixon of the Browns' scouting department was pressed into duty as a coach when Keys died and will now continue to coach the running backs.

"Jerry Williams and Howard Keys worked closely together for four years with the Calgary team of the Canadian League," Skorich said. "In addition, he worked for me three seasons at Philadelphia. I know he can help us."

Williams succeeded Joe Kuharich as head coach of the Eagles in 1969 and held the post until the Eagles management hired Ed Khayat in his place last month.

Williams started coaching in 1955 in Montana.

He went to the Eagles as an assistant coach in 1958 under Buck Shaw and continued there for three seasons under Skorich.

American Equestrians Secure Jumping Honors

NEW YORK (UPI) —The United States equestrian team won the international jumping championship over Canada by a narrow margin Tuesday night at the concluding session of the National Horse Show in Madison Square Garden.

The U.S., which was dethroned last year by West Germany, scored 80 points to 74 for Canada and 36 for Argentina.

Almost Persuaded, ridden by Bob Ridland of Rancho Sante Fe., Calif., won the Grand Prix of New York, the final of the international jumping series. Pushover, handled by Carol Hofmann of Elmont, N.Y., was second.

But neither of the two were "designated" riders for the U.S., and so their scores did not count in the team standings. Only four riders on each team are permitted to be designated.

Neal Shapiro of Elmont, N.Y., who rode Sloopy to third place in the Grand Prix, won the international individual award with 34 points. Barbara Simpson of Canada was the leading foreign rider with 22 points.

Outlook Good For Aluminum

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. Would you kindly advise what I should do with my shares of Harvey Aluminum(NYSE)? I do not know exactly what is happening, but the dividend has been reduced and the shares are constantly declining. — J.M.

A. The entire aluminum industry has suffered this year — getting more of its share of stormy weather. Harvey Aluminum's (83 per cent owned by Martin Marietta) sliding share price and slashed dividend are only two manifestations of the many problems facing this firm and the group in general. Production overcapacity amidst recession-reduced domestic demand hit profit columns extremely hard in this year's initial half, a situation which was further aggravated by a slackening in export demand. And, as dismal as first half earnings were, it is distressing to note that this period's results were boosted by customer hedge-buying in anticipation of an aluminum industry strike.

For the first nine months ended Sept. 30, Harvey's earnings per share fell 63 per cent to 42 cents on a 6.5 per cent gain in sales. The remainder of 1971 may see little or no improvement year-to-year. Frozen aluminum prices plus expenses involved in the start up of a new 100,000-ton aluminum plant this fall may continue to depress earnings this year.

For next year and beyond, however, the outlook is brighter. The new plant should make a significant profit contribution to Harvey's operations, while the de facto devaluation of the dollar will not only encourage aluminum exports but will aid export sales of major industrial concerns which are large users of the metal. Further, the reinstatement of the investment tax credit will stimulate industrial construction — another important aluminum growth market. Encouraging also is the already-evident self restraint being shown by individual members of the worldwide aluminum industry in cutting back production.

Most of the major producers have cut back to 80-90 per cent of capacity. Thus, while near-term recovery may not be in the offing for Harvey Aluminum, longer-term retention may prove rewarding three to five years out.

NOT A TOY FOR JUNIOR

This unique research vehicle, developed by GTE Sylvania Inc., at its Mountain View plant, is used in evaluating a buried antenna highway communications system for the Federal Highway Administration. The vehicle measures signal strength and noise levels for several antenna models which are buried in a test roadway. Through experiments, GTE will recommend antenna models and related equipment for development of the system whereby drivers and authorities can exchange messages.

SIGN OF TIMES

Here Comes What? A Floating Bank

NEW YORK (UPI)—Time was when America's 14,000 full service banks were stone monuments standing on Main Street in downtown business areas, along with the shoe store, the apparel shop and the jeweler.

But this isn't necessarily the case anymore.

Consider, for instance, this experience by Raymond J. Carpenter, a Los Angeles stockbroker. A few weeks ago he was having a fairly predictable sightseeing jaunt around Newport Beach, Calif., until a local business friend showed up.

"Well, here she comes," the friend said.

"Here what comes?" Carpenter asked.

"The bank. Here comes the bank."

Sure enough, a speedboat marked "Centinela Bank" skittered across the waters of Newport Bay. As the local businessman explained it, that pickup and delivery service for the nautical trade amounts to a daily ritual.

Unique? No. Centinela isn't the only American bank with its own sea-going branch. Security National Bank of New York's Long Island tours a houseboat bank through offshore summer colonies. The Chesapeake National Bank of Kilnarnock, Va., runs a fibreglass boat through the bay area to service commercial fishermen.

In addition to the nautical banks, buses, trailers and mobile modular units all serve as branch banks nowadays.

In St. John's, Mich., for example, the Clinton Bank and Trust Company uses a special 28-foot truck to handle deposits and withdrawals in five neighboring communities. The Lincoln National Bank of Chelsea, Mass., developed a Bankmobile to meet customer demand. After a fire, a bank in Mount Vernon, Ind., did business from a made-over used bus.

Banks follow the rustle of money in other ways. The First National Bank of Arlington, Va. has a branch at the Pentagon which offers what may be the longest bank lobby in the world. A New York City bank has a branch right down with all the clanging hysteria of the subway.

Other banks have opened special branches at army bases like Ft. Benning and Ft. Knox, at service academies, at Air Force bases here and abroad, at world fair sites, at commercial airports.

In Rio Vista, Tex., the First State Bank went so far as to run up a 2,800-foot runway in an adjoining field for 50 depositors who fly their own small airplanes.

"With all our modern technology it isn't difficult to expand or put up a new facility in quick time," says Henry Fletcher, president, Merchants National Bank, Aurora, Ill.

Indeed it isn't. Just recently a small pre-built structural steel Diebold porta-branch bank literally went up over one weekend on a busy intersection in downtown Philadelphia.

Still, the most improbable bank in America today isn't a houseboat, or at a military base or down some mineshaft.

It's the Bank of Franklin, in Franklin, Ark. —total population—would you believe it?—75.

Off-Sale Licenses Purchased For Two Ernie's Liquor Stores

Off-sale general liquor licenses have been purchased by Golden Gate Stores, Inc. of South San Francisco for two new Ernie's Liquors stores to be opened in Marin County next year.

One of these will be in the new shopping center now going up at Doherty Drive and Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, which will have an Alpha Beta Market as its focal point. The other store will be in the Novak Square Shopping Center at Novato Boulevard and Wilson Avenue in Novato. Neither store is expected to open before late spring or in the early summer.

Both licenses were negotiated by Harry Abras of Don Timmer Realty. One was formerly held by Quinn's Tavern in Mill Valley and the other by the recently closed Tamalpais Market in San Rafael.

Meanwhile, Golden Gate Stores has signed for still another Ernie's to go in the shopping center scheduled for Lomita Avenues and East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley. No opening is expected here for another year. This center will also have an Alpha Beta Market.

A NEW SERVICE for photographers who need a darkroom to do their work is being offered by Miss Christine Enos of Woodacre.

She has opened Let A Dark at 933 D Street, San Rafael. It's a big darkroom with 13 enlargers and she is adding four more. Rental charge is $1.50 per hour, including use of chemicals.

JOHN M. GALLAGHER of San Rafael, principal in the San Francisco-based advertising agency carrying his name, has opened a branch office in the Reynolds-Johnson Building, 1299 Fourth Street, San Rafael. He is also executive director of Truck Ads, Inc., a new national advertising medium using large ad displays on common carriers.

THE PROPERTY AND CASUALTY insurance business of the Wittenmayer Insurance Agency has been merged into the insurance office of Peck, Stanton and Muller, Inc., 174 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley.

Joseph Wittenmeier will continue active in his specialized field of estate planning, business and personal life from his firm's office at 4 Sunset Lane, Mill Valley.

MEANWHILE, Gary Wittenmeier of Mill Valley (his son) has been appointed to the management trainee program in domestic government sales by Connell Bros. Co., Ltd., San Francisco export and import firm. He was a 1970 graduate of University of California in Berkeley.

Stocks In A Drift Downward

NEW YORK (UPI) —With little in the news to encourage investors, the stock market drifted slowly downhill in quiet trading today.

Labor's unhappiness with the Pay Board's decision on post-freeze wage guidelines was a major area of uncertainty for investors, and was not likely to be cleared up until the AFL-CIO opens its convention at Miami Beach next week to take up this question.

The economy's sluggish response to President Nixon's economic program, and concern about world currency conditions also served as unsettling influences on Wall Street.

After about two hours, the Dow Jones industrial average showed a loss of 2.12 at 835.79. Other leading indicators also retreated, and declines led advances by around 225 issues.

Prices also eased in light turnover on the American Stock Exchange.

Among the most active Amex issues were Reeves Telecom Corp. down fractionally on around 20,000 shares, Delta Corp. down more than 2 on 18,000 shares, and Scottex up slightly on 15,000 shares.

On the Big Board, active stocks also were mostly in reverse gear. Trans-World Airlines lost 1/4, Occidental Petroleum was unchanged, Georgia-Pacific eased 1/2.

Steels and motors generally surrendered fractions, as did most airlines.

Consolidated Foods Declares Dividend

CHICAGO (BW) — The board of directors of Consolidated Foods Corp. has declared a regular quarterly dividend of 30 cents per share on the company's comon stock.

The dividend, the 104th consecutive one declared by Consolidated, will be payable Jan. 1 to shareholders of record Dec. 13.

Negev Findings May Change Bible Views

LONDON (UPI)—An international team of archaeologists probing the southern area of the Negev Desert known as "King Solomon's Mines" has made a discovery which they think may require a reconsideration of current interpretations of the Bible.

They have found evidence that Egyptians were present at Timna, 20 miles north of Eilat, at about the time the Jews fleeing Egypt under the command of Moses, were presumably in the same area in their search for the promised land.

The Egyptian presence in the 13th Century B.C. was confirmed and dated by seals of the Pharaohs of the era uncovered during the excavations under Prof. Beno Rothenberg of the Archaeology Institute of Hebrew University in Tel Aviv and other experts from Britain, Germany, the United States and Israel.

That Egyptians were prospecting in the Negev, even though it was on the land bridge between Asia and Africa, a crossroads of biblical times, had not hitherto been suspected.

But fascinating as Dr. Rothenberg finds the Egyptian question it is only a byproduct of a study the international team made of the copper mines of Timna which 6,000 years ago evolved a method of smelting so sophisticated it endured into the middle ages in Europe. Those mines still are being plumbed.

How man made this giant leap so early in his technological career is puzzling because the process involves the ability to ensure a steady degree of heat. It appears that more than 40 centuries before the Christian era a technician of genius was at work in the Negev.

Dr. Rothenberg said the team had found the expression "King Solomon's Mines" more imaginative than actual. Dating procedures on material from the mines showed that it was in operation centuries before his time and, in fact, was inactive during his reign.

"Timna is unique in that there is a well-preserved record of 60 centuries of copper mining and smelting," Dr. Rothenberg said.

"Even today copper is being extracted in the same area."

He said the Negev has always been inhospitable desert—blistering heat by day, cold by night—and the men who worked there over the centuries labored in "excruciating conditions." These included Christians, perhaps convicts, who were sent there in the 2nd century A.D. when the third Roman legion occupied the area.

Among other discoveries, the team found at the foot of cliffs known as "King Solomon's Pillars" the remnants of a temple site also dating back 6,000 years.

Robbed, Blinded

22 Children Injured In School Bus Crash

COVINA (UPI)—A school bus packed with children returning from a skating party was struck broadside by an auto Tuesday night injuring 22 of the youngsters and the two occupants of the car.

Authorities said the children, ranging in age from 10 to 14, were taken to two hospitals in the area suffering from broken teeth, lacerations, and broken bones. None was critically injured.

DeGaulle's Widow Still Wears Black

LOMBEY-LES-DEUXE GLISES, France (UPI) — Each day at sunset, when dense fog boils out from nearby hills and peace settles over the champagne fields, a fleeting figure of a woman clad in mourning black slips into the village church.

The late visitor is Madame Yvonne de Gaulle, 71, the shy, wife of the late French president, who has come for evening prayers to escape notice from tourists crowding around the general's tomb in daylight.

A year after his sudden death on Nov. 9, 1970, de Gaulle, who influenced France's course of destiny for 30 years, casts a spell over his compatriots from his grave. As the first anniversary of his death is drawing near, the flow of visitors to his humble tomb is swelling into a human stream.

Local police officials estimate the number of Frenchmen and foreigners who came here since de Gaulle's burial Nov. 12, 1970, at one million. This, they said, is more than twice the number drawn by Napoleon's Tomb or the Arch of Triumph, and nearly as much as the Louvre Museum or Versailles Palace.

The tourist traffic to what has become a national shrine second in Europe only to Lenin's Tomb in Moscow is so heavy on Sundays that Madame de Gaulle sometimes goes to Mass in neighboring villages or to Chaumont, a small town 15 miles away, to avoid public attention.

Since de Gaulle's sudden death Madame de Gaulle has allowed no change to be made at their rambling home, la Boisserie, where she lives in virtual seclusion with their old maids, Honorine and Charlotte.

No one is allowed to enter de Gaulle's study where he had penned most of his works and where he used to meditate for hours in silence on world affairs. Madame de Gaulle spends much of her time answering carefully all letters she gets from her husband's admirers in France or abroad, or knitting for her grandchildren.

But the atmosphere in the village has changed a good deal. An enterprising local milk plant owner has built a 32-room hotel with a dining room seating 300 at the outskirts of the farming commune. A young village-born cook has opened an equally prosperous restaurant while perhaps the most prosperous business is a shop selling de Gaulle memorabilia from minature busts of the general to key chains, ashtrays and other oddities bearing the Free French leader's likeness.

Soon, a huge 132-foot Cross of Lorraine, the general's favorite wartime emblem, will be built from granite on a hilltop overlooking Colombey thanks to a fund-raising campaign aiming at $900,000. Half of the sum already has been collected.

The influx of tourists has prompted authorities to set up one way traffic signs in this tiny commune plus a parking space for 1,200 motor cars and buses. A platoon of 60 gendarmes has been posted in Colombey to keep traffic moving and keep things organized in a village where, until de Gaulle's death, only an occasional farm tractor or truck rumbled through the main street.

For the first time ever all members of the de Gaulle family—about 160 persons including distant cousins and inlaws, will get together to attend a memorial mass for the general in Paris.

Youths Need Real Draft Counseling

Youths approaching their 18th birthdays face a tough decision, and will for at least another year, since Congress has seen fit to extend the draft.

The decision is whether they should (a) sign up and wait for the draft, perhaps hoping that a high lottery number will exempt them, (b) end the uncertainty by enlisting in one of the armed services as soon as they complete high school, or (c) try to avoid the draft by some means, legitimate or otherwise.

The young man, not yet old enough to vote, is placed in a difficult position, asked to make decisions he is not qualified to make.

He needs help.

HE SHOULD BE ABLE to turn for help to the Selective Service System itself, which presumably knows all the rules. But he will get no help from his draft board. None whatever.

There are, however, no lack of draft counselors to whom he may turn. They have set up shop all over the place.

THE TROUBLE is that these draft counselors — with perhaps a few exceptions — are not really draft counselors at all. They are how-to-avoid-the-draft counselors.

They start from the premise that military service — any military service, but especially the compulsory kind — is all wrong and the youth wants no part of it.

Usually they are young men who have avoided the draft themselves, either by donning the ministerial collar, by winning continued education and teaching deferments, or by other perhaps less legitimate methods.

They operate on the assumption that the youth's difficult decision already is made, and that it is adamantly against military service. They counsel him on how to avoid it — first by legitimate means, and if he cannot escape that way, by other means, questionable or downright dishonest — but always, of course, "within the law."

QUITE A FEW million Americans who have served in the military would not agree that the experience is all bad. In fact, a fair share of them think it did them good.

They, of course, are not "draft counselors."

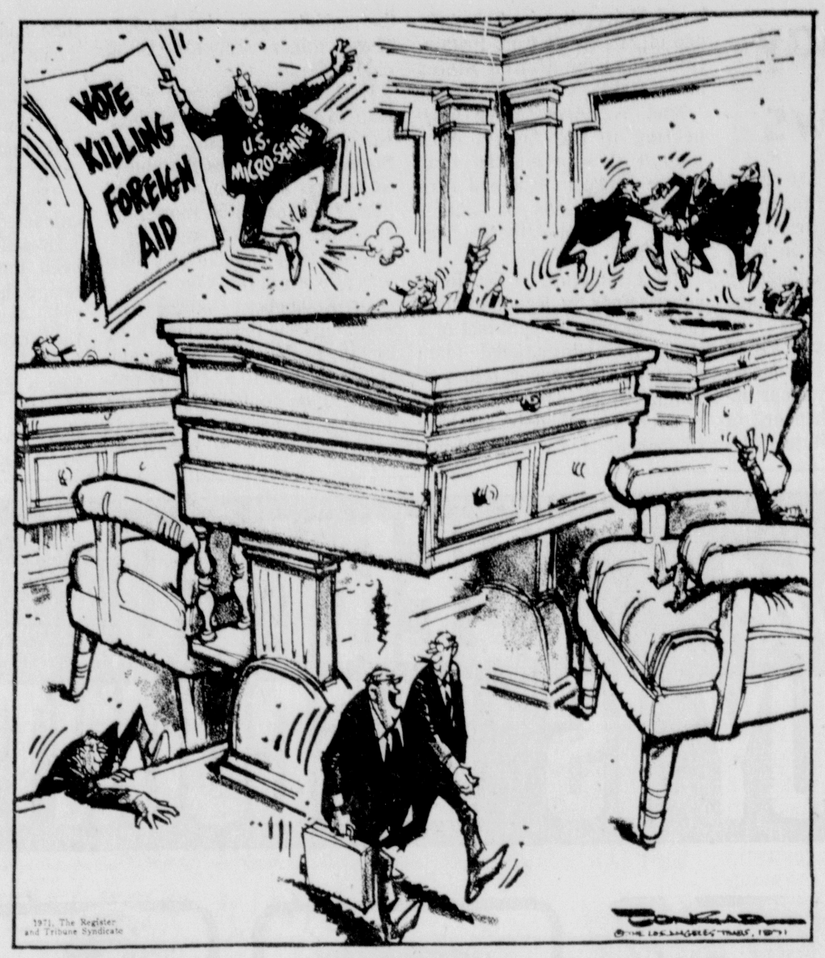
WHAT IS NEEDED is a draft counseling service which really is what the name implies, and what the young man needs: an organization that will give him as true as possible a picture of what military service means, of its advantages and its drawbacks, of the reasons for and against a draft.

The youth needs someone who will help him make up his mind — not who proceeds from the premise that it is already made up. He then needs someone who will explain what legitimate steps are open to him, and how he should go about taking them — but not to counsel him in how to "beat the law" and start on his adulthood as a cheat.

Veterans' organizations would seem the obvious ones to set up such a committee. But it is doubtful that many youths would go to them, for fear their counseling would be as one-sided — on the other side — as that of the present "draft counselors."

PERHAPS THE Marin County veterans service officer could take the lead in setting up a citizen committee and procuring all the applicable laws, rules and court decisions for its use, to give the youth approaching draft age someone to whom he could go with his tough questions and get some real help —the kind he needs and to which he is entitled.

We'd like to see him start it.



"That'll teach those U.N. micro-nations a thing or two!"

Concert Convinces Youth On Right Road

Our family had the wonderful opportunity to attend the autumn chamber concert last evening (Nov. 4) at the Mill Valley Methodist Church.

This concert was presented by Tamalpais High School featuring chorus, madrigal singers, and chamber ensemble.

We were surprised at the professional handling of the program and the poise of the students entertaining, along with such beautiful voices and choice of materials. The chamber ensemble were at their best.

It was a night of restful, peaceful entertainment set in a beautiful church with acoustics that brought out the best in harmony.

Thanks to Robert Greenwood, director; Bill Shallock, director; Laurence Nelson, choral director, and all who made the night an enjoyable one.

This family is being convinced that the youths of this country are turning in the right direction! After last night's performance which showed many hours of time and practice, one can't help but feel they are on the right road for the future.

We are looking forward to the coming events for more such pleasures.

Writer Changes Mind On Taiwan Expulsion

Last night's I-J (Nov. 4) carried a letter written by me on Oct. 25 re the entrance of the Peoples' Republic of China to the United Nations. I was in error in my statement that Taiwan was "expelled" from the U.N., and would like to correct that statement now.

Like most Americans, I was caught up in the emotion of the minute and did not reflect that what had just taken place in the United Nations was a result of over 20 years of myth-building by my government. . .

Myth 1: "A founding nation of the U.N. was expelled from the U.N." The fact is that no nation was expelled. Chiang Kai-shek has for the past 20-plus years claimed to represent all of China . . . and China still sits in the United Nations today. The only thing which happened with the China vote was that the governmental representation of China was changed. . .

Myth 2: "The member-state expelled was a model of goodness and virtue." The fact is that the Nationalist Chinese government was over three years in arrears in its payments to the United Nations, and that the Nationalist Chinese government has kept the peoples of Taiwan (a country invaded by Chiang Kai-shek after he was expelled from the mainland) in subjection and poverty all the time Chiang has remained in power.

Myth 3: "The United States pays a disproportionate share of the U.N. budget." The assessment of member-states is based upon ability to pay, and net national product. The USA consumes well over 60 per cent of the world's resources, and yet we are asked to repay only a little over ⅓ of the U.N. budget. I think we are getting off easy as it is! . . .

Wringing Hands Over U.N. Vote Vs. Looking To National Interest

WASHINGTON — Quite a few politicians and commentators are continuing to wring their hands because, as they say, the U.N. vote against Taiwan shows how unpopular the United States is.

Not so. Before they foist another miss on a harried public, we'd better take a clear look at why it isn't so.

Let me suggest two basic propositions:

THERE IS NOTHING more empty, more unimportant, more irrelevant than for a nation to want gratitude from other nations for what it does in its own national interests.

Second, the vote in the General Assembly of the United Nations on the two Chinas was not a measure of whether the United States is liked or not liked. Bluntly, it was a vote against Taiwan, not against the United States.

Those who argue that a vote expelling Taiwan shows worldwide anti-Americanism are simply not taking into account the wide range of factors which produced that vote. They are assuming that the target of the vote was the United States. This conjures up an unlikely picture of high officials in foreign offices scratching their heads to find out how they can use a U.N. vote to embarrass the United States.

It doesn't wash.

IT NEEDS TO BE remembered that more than a majroity of the U.N. members had already established diplomatic relations with mainland China. Most of them had withdrawn recognition of Nationalist China. Therefore, their U.N. vote for Peking and against Taiwan was an extension of their established policy, not a plot against the United States.

Most of the nations which voted to expel Taiwan had been working for more than a decade to get Red China into the United Nations. They were convinced that it was hurtful to the United Nations, hurtful to the world and unfair that 600 million mainland Chinese should be without a voice in the United Nations.

Their goal of bringing mainland China into membership was long frustrated primarily by the United States.

IT IS OBVIOUS that these countries wanted to be sure that Peking would accept membership. They voted to remove Nationalist China to make absolutely certain there would be no barrier which would cause the People's Republic of China to stay out.

I don't happen to agree with this proposition. I believe it was neither wise nor necessary to punish the people of Taiwan in order to sweeten the invitation to mainland China.

It should have been left to Peking to decide whether it wanted to join the United Nations under that condition. But putting Peking's entrance into the United Nations as the controlling goal was not an expression of anti-Americanism.

NO GOVERNMENT can justify any course of action in world affairs or the use of a single penny of the taxpayers' dollar which is not in the best interest of the nation. This applies to the United States as well as every other country.

As a matter of fact, a nations' motives become suspect when its actions are defended on the ground they are taken primarily to benefit some other country, not primarily in its own highest national interest.

When the United States promises to respond to an attack on a NATO country as though it were an attack on itself, when it extends its nuclear umbrella to Japan or to India, such commitments are the more credible and the more reliable when it is openly evident the United States is acting to protect itself.

A nation can't buy friends and ought not to try. The United States is not trying. But when some senators try to penalize the United Nations because a vote goes againstthe United States, they are doing America great harm by giving that impression.

harm by giving that impression.

America needs only to be true to itself — and it will have plenty of friends.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

Getting Vote Is Great, But Why Not For All?

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — Registering to vote for the first time is, or should be, an event in a man's life comparable to getting his first long pants. A grownup is likely to remember it among his big days, like Pearl Harbor Day or the day he got his military discharge at Treasure Island and went up to the top of the hotel and looked at San Fancisco Bay and had his first drink as a free man.

Now some U.S. senators are trying to take all the magic out of that moment by making registration as simple as filling out a post card and dropping it in a mailbox. And some other senators, and the President himself, see this as an evil idea because, among other things, it theoretically would make too much data about citizens available to the federal government. (This, please note, from the administration which has given us John Mitchell for attorney general and William Rehnquist for the Supreme Court.)

ON SECOND THOUGHT, maybe registering to vote is a memorable achievement only for those of us who grew up in the South. People from Bismarck and Phoenix may take it for granted, but not us. For in the very recent past, voting in much of the South was guarded by the local establishment as a privilege, not a right.

As an example, back where I turned 21, the courthouse was owned, lock, stock and voting lists, by the political machine headed somewhere far up the hierarchy by the late Harry Flood Byrd. To get yourself registered, you had to find out the registrar's eccentric office hours, which were something like alternate Tuesdays between 1:45 p.m. and 2:15 p.m. except during the full moon. You also had to know where his cubbyhole was hidden, for there was no sign directing you to it.

If you were a certified friend or relative of the Byrd organization, this tightly held intelligence would be passed along to you, sort of confidentilaly. If not, you could brazen it out, as I did. And, providing your pedigree passed muster, your poll taxes had been paid. and you looked the registrar steady in the eye, you could register to vote.

This procedure for decades held the typical turnout of voters in Virginia to something like 10 per cent or 15 per cent of those eligible. And of course the to-do I have described was for literate white. God help you if you were black or illiterate or both.

ALL THAT MAY SOUND old-fashioned, or peculiar to that region below the Potomac and Ohio rivers. But in fact, variations of it continue in the form of complicated local and state laws, racial and partisan discrimination and other abuses that still keep some 27 million legally eligible Americans off the voting rolls.

That is why the Senate Post Office Committee approved a bill last week to order the Census Bureau to send form post cards to every address in the country, which could be filled out by the eligible residents and sent to their local registration offices. That simply, they would be officially registered to vote.

One of the hitches, a threat to eventual passage of the bill into law, is that most of those eligible but not registered are poor, black, young or undereducated. Statistically, they are thus likely to vote Democratic. That makes the bill a partisan measure, according to the administration. Therefore most Republicans in Congress will vote against it, and so will some conservative Southern Democrats. The bill was handled by Sen. Gale McGee's (D-Wyo.) Post Office Committee in the first place because there was little hope that Sen. James Eastland's (D-Miss.) Judiciary Committee would ever clear it for floor action.

The prospect is that when it approaches the floor there will be an effort to reroute it back to judiciary, and thus probably kill it. When it comes, the vote on the motion to re-refer, or on the bill itself, will be another showdown between the conservative bipartisan coalition and the Democratic majority joined by a few stray Republicans.

BEFORE THEN, it is well to take a hard look at the principal administration objection. Sen. Robert Dole of Indiana, the GOP national chairman, and a deputy assistant attorney general both maintained that the bill was a menace to privacy because it would place voter data in federal hands. That contention was specious to start with, because such information is legally public property wherever it is kept.

And as for the quieter, more urgent fear that registering the unregistered will mean a net addition to the rolls of the Democratic Party, the obvious answer is for the Republican Party to make itself more attractive to the poor, the black, the young and the undereducated.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Loophole After Loophole Found By Project Team

By MARY K. SHELL

The state has lost $100 million in tax revenues from insurance companies since 1950 because of a little-known 60-year-old tax loophole;

Ten of the largest banks received almost $100,000 in free auto license plates from the state in 1970 under California's system of in-lieu bank taxation;

Hertz Car Leasing Co., doesn't have to pay license plate costs to the Department of Motor Vehicles for the 78 cars it leases to the state for use by assemblymen (because of the in-lieu bank taxation); and

The five largest California-based insurance companies paid no state income taxes on $153 million investment income they realized last year.

THE 19-MEMBER task force of undergraduate and graduate students organized Project Loophole last summer under sponsorship of Democratic Caucus Chairman Sen. Mervyn Dymally. They intended to make it a summer-only project. However, from involvement they say they have found so many tax inequities they feel should be exposed, their studies have extended into the fall.

Richard Budnick, a 23-year-old, 1970 graduate of UCLA, conducted a study of tax laws applying to insurance companies. He points out, that, unlike other corporations, insurance companies that have their main office headquarters in California are allowed to deduct from their state taxes all local property taxes on the building. In some instances this deduction was higher than the amount owed to the state.

At least 12 companies paid no income tax at all last year. Budnick says the loss to the state in tax revenues from this source was $11 million in 1970 and he predicts within the next three years it will jump to $18 million a year.

IN HIS STUDY of in-lieu bank taxation practices, Arthur Mills learned banks do not have to pay for auto license plates because under state law they are exempt from these fees, as well as most other state and local fees. Instead they pay income, corporation and property taxes. The four per cent in-lieu tax on banks is designed to offset the amount that would be due. In Mills' opinion, however, this is a tax inequity.

Project Loophole also found GMAC, General Motors' nationwide auto financing firm, also received nearly $10,000 in free plates because 50 years ago it was ruled to be a bank under California law.

Hertz Car Leasing isn't a bank, but it too is exempt from paying auto license fees for the 78 cars it leases to the state for use by assemblymen.

Mills found a total of 3,646 cars qualified for free "P.S." plates in 1971 at a total fee loss of $163,620.

IN HER INVESTIGATION of insurance company taxation, Karen Porter came to the conclusion current laws are discriminatory and allow some firms tax exemptions not enjoyed by other companies engaged in the same business.

She explained the insurance firms are taxed on the basis of gross premiums. However, they pay no income taxes on revenue received from stocks and bonds, rents or real estate loans.

Trouble Seems To Follow Virginia Franklin Around

(Reprinted from Oroville Mercury)

Trouble follows Virginia Franklin around.

Winning a law suit in Butte County did not help this teacher much, except in a financial way. Leaving the Paradise School District, she was turned down by 62 boards of education when she applied for teaching posts. They were not looking for trouble. Finally the San Rafael High School board gave her a part-time position. Soon they had all the trouble that others had avoided.

Mrs. Franklin likes to expose her students to the evil of modern times. Presumably she believes they are immune, will not believe what they read - will, instead, view the articles by Abbie Hoffman, Stokely Carmichael et al with a cool, impersonal eye if found in a "textbook".

Having been a high school boy once upon a time, this writer is not sure that she is right. We found that a high school boy (or girl, we presume) always is open to suggestion.

The "text book" she provided declared that orgasms should be understood. The boy (or girl), noting that the teacher, a handsome, virile person, might implicitly be suggesting something, might decide to give the suggestion a laboratory test.

If the book recommended "grow your own marijuana," as it does, the child may just do that. The book urges revolt in the high schools, describes the "Politics of Vandalism".

THERE IS NO WAY to check up on Mrs. Franklin. The unsupported tales of children are not given much weight by a school board.

A boy in her class in Paradise thought that if he could provide a recording of what she said he would have the evidence he wanted. He hollowed a book, concealed a recording device in the book and took it to class.

Somehow Mrs. Franklin got word of the plot, uncovered it, and got nationwide credit in magazine Time for exposing the dastardly trick. The boy was humiliated before his classmates, disgraced. He'll never try anything like that again.

Some thought Mrs. Franklin gave the boy a bum deal, thought she might have taken him to one side and explained that it wasn't nice to plot against teacher. They thought she went too far when she called the Time man in and dramatically exposed the boy in front of everyone.

BUT MRS. FRANKLIN got away with it. Some patriots in Paradise said too much. She sued them and collected upwards of $8,000 in Butte Superior Court.

She made such a hit with the judge, called in from Quincy, that he said in solemn tones from the bench that the children of Paradise were lucky to have such a fine teacher. He must have been right for shortly thereafter he was elevated to the appellate court in Sacramento.

But trouble is soon there once Mrs. Franklin alights. The school board of San Rafael is wondering whether "academic freedom" or common sense is best and Mrs. Franklin, who persuaded them to buy 35 copies ($5.95 each) of the 752-page book of four-letter words and obscenity, now has a new test applied to her clever winsomeness.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Nov. 10, 1961

Three armed robbers held two bank officials and their families captive overnight in a Greenbrae home, then robbed the Bank of America at Union and Webster streets in San Francisco of $78,000.

A proposal to add wings to the Golden Gate Bridge so it could carry more traffic was presented to the bridge district board by director Dan London.

20 YEARS AGO

Nov. 10, 1951

The historic 30-room Paloma Inn on Lincoln Avenue in San Rafael was purchased by the First Baptist Church for conversion into a house of worship.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By MARY LEYDECKER

Middle Income Group Has Most Difficult Day In Court

An assistant state attorney general recently said in a talk in Marin County that justice for the middle class is probably the weakest spot in American courts.

Arlo Smith, who is in charge of the criminal trial division of the attorney general's office, said the poor get court-appointed attorneys, the rich can afford whomever they want, but middle-income people are the most likely to suffer in paying for counsel.

THIS REPORTER remembers one sad instance which illustrates Smith's thesis. A couple of years ago a San Rafael man was accused of murder. While the case was a rather tawdry one, it was not an open and shut affair.

The man, who by all accounts had been extremely drunk at the time of the shooting, called his business attorney when he awoke the next morning in the county jail. The attorney, who was not known for criminal cases, much less murder defenses, represented the defendant until the man, who had operated a small business which stopped on his arrest, ran out of money.

At that time the public defender was appointed by the court, and the man eventually was allowed to plead to manslaughter and was sent to state prison. Actually, the public defender did a pretty good job for him, but the man spent many unnecessary months in jail when he could have started the prison sentence he was going to have to serve.

MURDER IS the most dramatic and serious crime, of course, but many middle-income people also take a beating on such misdemeanors as drunken driving.

Again, the poor get the public defender, who has certainly had a lot of experience with such cases, and the rich get the famous lawyers. The middle group not only is often hurt by having to take several days off from work to appear in court but also is forced to hire lawyers who really can't do much in such cases.

Since the Marin County district attorney's office just about never will take a plea to a lesser charge in a drunken driving case if a blood alcohol test is available, an attorney can't do much more than hold his client's hand in court.

Judges, however, often insist that defendants in even misdemeanor cases have attorneys because of rulings by higher courts. Thus the person with a moderate income has to pay a lawyer, take time off from work, and finally pay a fine — a combination of events which hits him harder than it does either the poor or the rich.

SPEAKING OF paying lawyers, apparently many of the well-known attorneys who make a specialty of representing radicals are having more money problems than would appear to the public.

"I don't want anything more to do with any of those 'defense funds,'" one of them snapped recently. First, he said, such groups seldom raise much money, and second, the client thinks the lawyer is getting rich off the fund when he isn't.

Angela Davis's defense fund apparently is no exception. Her attorneys comment often how little money the defense has and a hastily prepared book put together by her backers, "If They Come in the Morning," is seemingly a last hope at putting money in the coffers. The hard-backed version is on the market now at $6.95 while a paperback is due out soon, according to her lawyers.

No Leopard Skins For Bass Drummers

LONDON (UPI)—The ministry of defense has bowed to protests from animal conservationists and ordered military bands to stop buying leopard or tiger skins for the bass drummers to wear.

The bands in the future will buy imitation skins, a ministry spokesman said Monday. He said the decision was made after a protest from the World Wildlife Fund, among other groups.

Mariner Camera Test — A-OK

PASADENA, Calif. (UPI)—Scientists successfully tested the cameras aboard America's Mariner 9 Monday night as the 2,200-pound spacecraft entered the homestretch of its six-month voyage to Mars.

Twenty-seven pictures of the Red Planet were snapped by cameras aboard the $65 million space explorer and radioed back to the Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) here, from where the flight is controlled.

"We had a little trouble at first while we unscrambled the computer system at the ground station," a JPL spokesman said. "But they came in fine."

The pictures had no scientific worth themselves and the exercise was to make sure the mechanical components of the craft were working properly.

School Principal Shot

GROVE, OKLA. (UPI)—T.J. Melton, 46, principal of Grove Elementary School, was shot to death Monday in a janitor's storeroom at the school. Police held a janitor who had worked at the school for 20 years. Melton was killed by three shots to the chest and head.

We Need U.N. In New York; Spies Are Good For Business

NEW YORK — There was a very angry reaction by some Americans to the United Nations vote on China. Sen. Barry Goldwater suggested we kick the United Nations out of New York. Sen. James Buckley called for the United States to refuse to fund it.

In purely economic terms we believe that those calling for the end of the United Nations are making a mistake. The United Nations brings in far more money to New York than it takes out.

For example, the budget for spying among the U.N. members is estimated to be over a billion dollars.

WE HAVE THE WORD of J. Edgar Hoover himself that the United Nations has more spies in it than any international organization. And the most important thing about this fact is that spies spend money.

A recent survey revealed that U.N. spies were the biggest spenders of any group in New York City. They ate at the best restaurants, stayed at the best hotels, hired the most attractive women and were the biggest tippers.

An American economist told me that if it wasn't for the money that foreign spies spend in the United States, our balance of payments deficit would be twice what it is today.

A top restaurateur said, "We've been in a terrible slump in the past few years since legitimate businessmen have been ordered to cut out lavish spending at lunch or dinner. If it wasn't for the spies attached to U.N. delegations, we would have to close our doors."

"I DIDN'T THINK they counted that much," I said.

"It isn't just the spies that bring in the business," he said, "it's what they bring in with them, too. Every time a Russian spy reserves a table for dinner, we also get a reservation for a table from the FBI and one from the CIA and one from the KGM — The Soviet secret police."

"Why would the KGB reserve an extra table if one of their own spies were having dinner there?"

"They don't trust each other."

A HOTEL MANAGER confirmed that U.N. spies were keeping his place going. "When a Cuban U.N. delegate takes a hotel room, the Secret Service takes the room next to him," he said. "Navy intelligence takes the room on top of him, the State Department security people take the room below him and we rent out the entire basement for equipment to bug his room.

"We couldn't afford to take care of New York policemen for free if it wasn't for money that U.N. spies bring in."

Another hotel manager said he had rented out an entire floor to Arab U.N. delegates directly over Israeli Foreign Minister Abba Eban's suite, when Eban last came to town.

He said, "The nice thing about spies at the United Nations is that they don't cause any trouble. They are very quiet. All they're interested in doing is getting information and they usually talk in whispers."

THERE IS GREAT excitement over the Red Chinese coming here to the United Nations. "They will have to assume every Chinese U.N. delegate is a spy," a Chinese restaurant owner said, "and I understand the FBI has already doubled its entertainment budget for its New York office."

"But," I said, "suppose the Red Chinese delegates turn out not to be big spenders?"

"Who cares," he replied. "Every person in New York of Chinese descent will be suspect, and what we don't make on Red Chinese U.N. spies, we'll recoup on the FBI following Chinese people who were born in Brooklyn."

$42,000 In Damages For Businesses

SAN JOSE (UPI)—Two black mechanics have been awarded $42,000 in damages from the mayor, police chief and city council members of their town because they were driven out of business.

A federal court jury assessed the penalty Monday night against Mayor Philip H. Calabrese and other officials of Sand City, a community of 681 persons on the Central California coast.

The two men who won the judgment were Melvin Williams, 36, and Brady Avery, 48.

The jury of three men and three women returned its verdict after a civil rights trial in which the two black mechanics contended that the city put up "no parking" signs in front of their shop deliberately to drive them out of business because of their color.

Their attorney argued before District Judge Robert Peckham's court that the no parking ordinance was drawn up in such a way that it affected only the A and W repair shop which the two men operated, and was so strictly enforced by Police Chief Frank Zabrowski that it was impossible for any prospective customer to stop at the place.

The shop eventually had to close and the two men left the city. They originall asked $110,000 damages. The award included $32,000 actual damages and $10,000 punitive damages.

Those ordered to share in paying it, as well as Calabrese and Zabrowski, were council members Pearl Pendergrass, Mark R. Meadows, Ellis D. Potter, and Wilson G. Oliver.

The verdict was reached unanimously by the jury after five hours deliberation. It was the first six-member federal jury used in Northern California District.
